JAPANESE STUDENTS AT SUNYA FOR SUMMER STUDY

Forty-five students from more than 30 universities in Japan are taking part in a Japanese Summer Studies program this month at State University of New York at Albany. They will attend classes and spend at least one weekend in the homes of Albany area families.

Sponsored by the Council of International Education Exchange, the program provides the students, mostly English and American literature majors, the opportunity to learn more about the United States through first-hand observation of the social and cultural mores as well as academically.

The Japanese students are attending classes in the mass media, which will include a tour of a local television station and the Capital District newspapers, in addition to English and literature courses. Other classes include the American family, American women, race and ethnic groups in America, American economy, and American politics. The latter will be highlighted by a visit to the special session of the State Legislature.

In a show of reciprocity the students will host a Japanese Night on July 27 in the Assembly Hall of the Campus Center. Included in the program will be the ancient and beautiful tea ceremony.

Though facing a heavy academic schedule the students also will have time for special tours. The group is scheduled to visit Hyde Park, Saratoga Battlefield and Dig,* and Cooperstown.

Group leader and spokesman Yoshikazu "Yoshi" Takekoshi, the only student who has been in the United States before, said the group has been impressed with the size of SUNYA and the diversity of races on campus.

"Many of the students were expecting to see only whites here, but were pleased to find that other races were also represented."

"The vastness of the university is also surprising and impressive. The universities in Japan are small, intimate institutions."

Yoshi also commented on the American attitude toward sports, "The American people are very aggressive in their outlook, whether watching or participating in a sport, especially baseball or football.

"In Japan we are as interested in winning as here, but we do not show the emotion such as yelling, clapping, and grabbing people around us when our team scores.

"Our experiences here," he continued, "have been very good and we are looking forward to the rest of our stay in Albany and the tour of the United States after we leave the university."

The group will leave Albany on August 1 and travel to Tennessee State University in Nashville, where they will be hosted by several families. Their itinerary then includes visits to Memphis, Dallas, and El Paso, Carlsbad Caverns, Phoenix, then on to Los Angeles and San Francisco and departure for Japan from Oakland on August 26.

Paul Saimond, director of Summer Sessions, is director of the Japanese Program and Charles Colman, director of SUNYA International Programs, is co-director. Also serving as a university host is John Keleher, assistant director of Summer Sessions.

TWO SUNYA ARTISTS REPRESENTED IN RUSSIAN SHOW

Professor Thomas J. O'Connor and assistant professor Robert Cartmell, both of the State University of New York at Albany Art Department, are among 22 American artists (18 of them from units of SUNY), whose work is on display this summer in Russia. An exhibition of contemporary American graphic art, sponsored by SUNY at Binghamton, is being shown at the Pushkin Museum in Moscow and later will be taken on tour throughout the Soviet Union.

The show is believed to be the first art exhibition sent by an American university to the USSR under terms of cultural agreements between the two countries which date from 1959. Michael Milkovitch, director of the University Art Gallery in Binghamton, organized and personally delivered the exhibition. He has been invited to select Soviet graphic art for a 1975 showing in this country.

Each of the 22 artists represented in the current display has been invited to donate one work to the permanent collection of the Pushkin Museum, the largest in Moscow and noted for its collection of Western art.

Mr. O'Connor has been on the SUNYA faculty since 1962. He has had many previous exhibitions and his work is included in collections at the Museum of Modern Art, the Library of Congress, and several European museums. He uses a limited color scheme of low-contrast tones which give his subjects, usually single figures, a subdued, dream-like atmosphere. He is a graduate of Florida State University and holds a Master of Fine Arts from the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

-continued-

Mr. Cartmell joined the Albany faculty in 1969, after receiving his Master in Fine Arts from the University of Iowa. He previously had studied at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago and the University of Chicago, where he earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts in painting and drawing. His works have been displayed in numerous exhibitions nationwide.

He then will return to one of the three sections for the final three months.

As one of 20 interns across the state selected from the more than 400 who applied, Mr. Humphrey expects, but is not assured of, a position with a state agency at the completion of his internship. Mr. Humphrey earned a Bachelor of Science in physical education at Allen University in Columbia, S.C. After teaching at Brookvale High School in Lancaster County, Va.; however, he decided to pursue a career in public administration.
