BROOKLYN PLAYERS OPPOSE STATE HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

By Roy V. Sullivan

The Purple and Gold will write finis to what seems to be a successful basketball season, tomorrow night, when it meets the Brooklyn Branch of the City College of New York in the State College gymnasium.

The New Yorkers haven't a very strong team, but should make the game fairly close.

The regular State lineup will be ready to start with Captain Kuczyński and G. LaVerne Carr, forwards; Goff, center, and Herney, Griffin and Klein, guards.

The record so far this season reads seven wins and two losses; two hundred seventy-two points scored by State and one hundred ninety-three points scored by the opposition. Tomorrow's game ought to push the scoring past the three hundred point margin.

This is the fourth season under the tutelage of Coach Rutherford Baker and the team has boasted a successful record each season. This is also the fourth season that Francis E. Griffin, '28, has played in every game on the schedule. If he gets into tomorrow's game, it will be the forty-ninth and last basketball game of his State College career.

Negotiations are now being made for a debate with Union college.

Mrs. Emma Merrill, '52, Expresses Loyalty To State At 95 In Letter To Oliver Kipp

Mr. Oliver B. Kipp, President of the Half-Century club, received the following letter from Mrs. Sherburn S. Merrill, '52, shortly before her death. Mrs. Merrill was 95 years old at the time of her death.

The letter follows:

Milwaukee, Wis.
3355 Grand Avenue.

Mr. Oliver B. Kipp,
President of Half Century Club.
Dear Sir:

House cleaning time nearly always exposes surprises, even in well-ordered houses, mine, this year has been no exception. In looking over my letters and papers of last summer, when I was too ill for a season, and not able to attend in person to my mail, I came across my "Alumni Quarterly of July 1925", containing the photograph of the alumni group that you so kindly sent me; that was an agreeable surprise; but my chagrin was great that I had so failed to express my appreciation, as my early education in these matters of social etiquette was not neglected.

I greatly admire the "loute ensemble" of the group; a fine gathering of representative teachers from the college.

You will understand the spirit that prompts me to send you a photograph that has recently been taken for my family and special friends to mark my 95th birthday. This birthday explains why I cannot share the pleasures of attendance upon these Commencement Days; but I then live over, in memory, the delights of my graduation. I cherish several group photographs of my associates, then taken, alive to me thereby. Your suggestion of a parlor for your club meets my idea of a place of rest and I enclose herein a gift to aid in the development of the plan if already commenced, or to set it on foot if not.

Kindly accept the expression of my love, loyalty, and best wishes for the accomplishment of the wonderful plans now in prospect of fulfillment for the expansion of the home conveniences and comforts of my dear Alma Mater.

May the coming Commencement Day be the most joyous, and best attended of all.

With greeting for all, I remain,

A faithful alumna,

Ellen Freeman Merrill, '52.

1848-1852.

(Mrs. Sherburn S. Merrill)

That Mrs. Merrill's love and devotion for her Alma Mater was as great at the time of her death as it was when she was attending College, and she was always active in the furtherance of any plan which led to the betterment of State College, was the comment made by Miss Anna Eloise Pierce, dean of women.

COMPULSORY CHAPEL UNITES STUDENTS, DR. BRUBACHER'S OPINION

"The great value of compulsory assembly is in getting the student body to see itself," Doctor A. R. Brubacher pointed out in a joint assembly Friday. "The only way to get facts before all the students is by compulsory assembly," he said.

He gave the above as State College's reason for the present system of compulsory assembly installed only after the voluntary attendance plan failed.

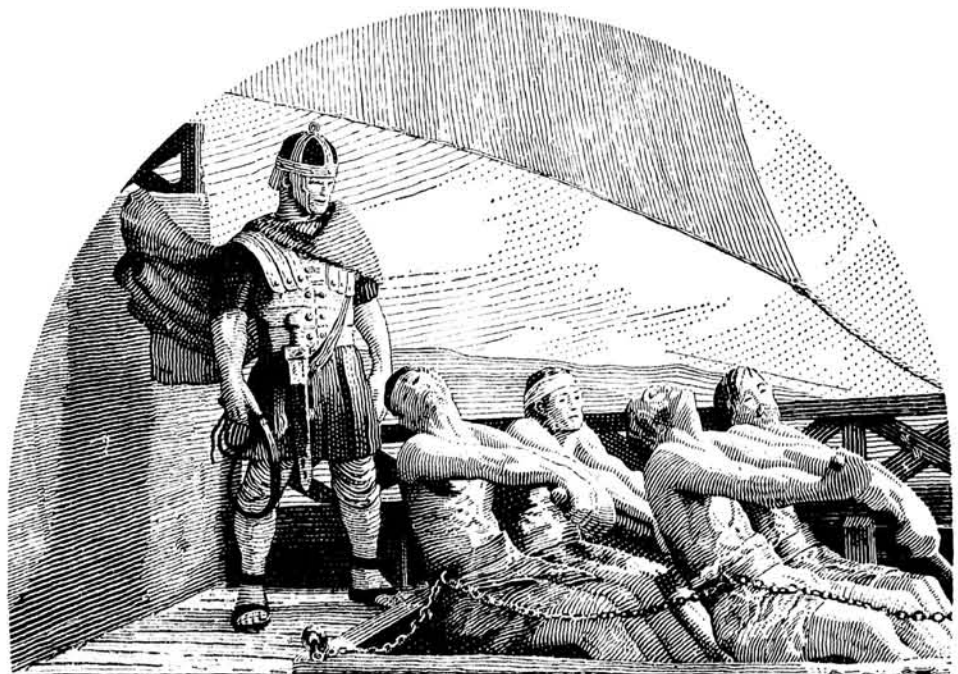

After Doctor Brubacher had outlined the purposes of a weekly assembly, and given his ideas on the subject, he asked for constructive criticism from the floor.

Suggestions were made, (1) that the assembly be made more interesting by the presentation of programs in which either well known artists, or school talent, or both, would appear. (2) that there be only one monthly assembly. (3) that the 3 upper classes meet together, and the freshmen meet alone, weekly.

No action was taken Friday by the student body.

STATE NOSES OUT PROVIDENCE, 31-30

Kuczynski Leads Attack With 14 Points, Followed By Carr With 7

By Roy V. SULLIVAN

The Purple and Gold, Friday night, turned back Providence college by a single point in an extra period game. The contest was probably the best and hardest fought played on the Teachers' court. The score was 31-30.

The State team played an uphill game and showed furious fighting power in coming from behind on at least six different occasions, to finally turn back the fighting five from the East coast.

The game was by far the fastest and hardest fought seen this year on the college court, and probably in the Albany area.

Providence, in its last three starts prior to its game in Albany, had bowled over Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the University of New Hampshire and Boston University. Allen, Troy boy and the scoring threat of the invaders, was effectively checked by Joe Herney, Binghamton ace who held him to a single field.

Griffin Back In Line-up

Captain Tony Kuczynski was back in his best form with a vim, and played an excellent game. He scored fourteen of the Purple and Gold points.

Carr also led the State scoring, getting seven points on two fields and three fouls. Goff, although outscored by his man, McCue, played a good, hard game.

Griffin, who returned to the State line-up after being out for two weeks with an injured knee, played a splendid game, his forty-seventh straight since his entrance into State.

Krieger, McCue and Szylia played best for the visitors but the whole Providence team put itself in bad grace with the audience by talking back to Humphries, the referee. Captain Murphy of Albany was generously booed.

Providence took a six point lead in the first half before State seemed to get started. Szylia, Providence guard, opened the scoring when he scored a field as the state forwards went down the floor on an outside ball, incorrectly believing it State's ball.

Captain Tony Kuczynski of State scored the first point for the Teachers, on a foul. They trailing by a 1-7 count, State snapped into it and got going to pile up a 12-7 lead within five minutes.

Kuczynski, Carr and Goff scored in this spurt and the Teachers' passing was greatly improved. At this point, Providence braced and before the half ended, succeeding in driving up to within two points of the flying Purple and Gold five. Klein being substituted for Goff, and Whiston for Carr were the only changes in the first half.

In the second half, State opened the scoring with a field by Carr after about thirty seconds of play. Szylia, the visitor's guard, then sank two fields to even the count at 19 up.

Game Hard Fought

The game was a tough fight for each team. Carr put the Purple and Gold ahead by sinking a foul, but the lead did not last long as McCue dropped in a couple fouls.

Goff tied it up with a foul. Herney then broke through for a two pointer. State lead again. McCue tied it again for Providence.

Captain Kuczynski scored a field and a foul, only to have Providence score four points and again take the lead in the see-saw scoring. Providence missed three easy shots in a row, the ball hanging on the lip of the basket only to drop out.

Louis Klein tied the count at 27 all by sinking a foul.

In the extra period, each team gave all it had in its effort to win. Providence scored first on a foul by McCue. This one point lead was short lived, Klein scoring a field.

Murphy, visiting captain, scored a two pointer and then with 45 seconds to play,

STUDENTS ATTACK EDITOR'S CRITICISM

Censure Of Baker Is "A Little Radical," Is Koerner's Statement

TAYLOR UPHOLDS BAKER

"We Ought To Play Worthy Opponents," Is Opinion Of Griffin

The "Sprays from the Sport Shower" column regularly written by Roy V. Sullivan, '29, as a student commentary on athletics, received much fiery criticism by the men students in general because of last week's "bombastic attack," as one person expressed it.

Sullivan expressed the opinion that the basketball management has been wasting its energies as far as playing on the part of the first team is concerned. "What we want," he said in last week's STATE COLLEGE NEWS, "is a game or two to test the varsity, a hair-raiser. We have not beaten a team this year for which we don't feel obliged to apologize." His opinion in general seemed to be that the management procures games with teams which do not try the ability of the varsity team, but rather give practice to the second team. "There is no criticism of the spirit of the seconds," he said, "but the time to train future players is afternoon and not when fans must sit back and be bored."

Student opinion is both pro and con in regard to this statement. Several of the men evidently felt that their opinions were not fit to print, for they absolutely refused to give any statement. However, there were some who were brave enough to express themselves.

Arvid Burke, '28, says, "It is the attitude of most of the boys, I think. However, I don't think we ought to get overambitious. I don't believe we can play any such teams as Dartmouth or Cornell, altho' I think we could manage R. P. L. or Union."

Agrees With Sullivan

Francis Griffin, '28, said, "I agree with Sullivan. Last week I heard people say that they were bored to death and wouldn't watch it. I think we ought to play teams that would be worthy opponents."

Edgar Twining, '28, gives his comment brusquely, as well as adversely. "It (Sully's comment) was rotten. He's knocking the props out of the whole thing that builds the varsity the second team. It's all very good to have good games, but the poorer games are no detriment. It's actual experience on the floor that gives the seconds real practice."

"It's a little radical," says Herman Koerner, '29, "and more or less a personal opinion rather than a school opinion. His comments are only good for his year or next year for after that time our team probably won't be so good."

"I think he's right," says Sam Cooper, '29, "I don't see why such good material as we have to-day should go to waste. The probability is that we won't often have as good a team as we have this year."

Sorry About Criticism

Coach Baker, when interviewed, refused to say anything beyond, "I was very sorry to find that Sullivan would take that attitude toward my department."

Questions Policy

ROY V. SULLIVAN

However, George Taylor, '29, a member of the squad, staunchly upheld the honor of his coach. "I think," he said, "the write-up is quite unfair because a boy who is not on the team at all attempts to criticize the action of the coach, the team, and the management. Every coach puts in his second team, and many a coach of larger colleges puts in the second teams when the score is only a few points ahead. Coach Baker has brought our team up to play bigger teams than they ever played in their former history, not considering such opponents as Clarkson, Alfred, Brooklyn Polytech, St. Bonaventure, and Union as 'set-ups.' As for Sully's criticism of our game with Plattsburgh, Plattsburgh has as many men as State College, and if State College could beat them so easily it certainly is a boost for our coach. Coach Baker works not only to develop the present team, but to build up a future team, and is therefore justified in using his own methods."

DR. RISLEY UMPIRES FOOTBALL CONTEST

Coached Football, Track, And Baseball At Denver High School

Officiating at the Dartmouth-Cornell football games, and Syracuse-Cornell games for the past few years, are not the only important interests of Professor Adna W. Risley, head of the history department.

Prof. Risley has officiated at football games ever since he left college back in the '90, when he played star half-back on the Colgate team. He also served as football coach on the Colgate team, as well as coach for the major athletics of football, track, and baseball at the Denver High school when he was connected there.

"I find the Dartmouth-Cornell games very interesting," he says, "since these games always present spectacular plays and bring out minor players into the limelight of stardom."

When asked his opinion whether or not State College accentuates athletics, Prof. Risley, remarked: "As a college, I do not think there is an excess of athletics here at State. The field has not been broadened enough and no one man neglects his education in the strenuous way that other college do. Oft-times, athletics in the larger universities have developed to a dangerous extent, robbing the athlete of all the spirit of play and making the sport all-round hard work."

"I have spent a great deal of time in the athletic field," he continued, "but I find that I enjoy my work as a teacher more. Teaching is the big factor in my life."

'31 To Meet Pharmacy Frosh Here Tonight; Yearlings Claim Victory Over Erskins, 16-15

By Roy V. Sullivan

The dispute arising from the basketball game played by the freshmen and the Erskins Saturday in which the Erskins claim a 16-15 victory, and the frosh claim a 16-16 tie, parallels the Dartmouth-Penn. controversy of last week. As was the case in the game played on the Philadelphia court, the argument hinges on whether or not a freshman player scored a foul point. Captain Charles Lyons of the yearlings scored a technical foul which the official scorer did not credit him with, freshmen say. This point would have given the frosh a tie and a chance to win the game in an overtime period. However, as the alleged error was not discovered until all the players had left the floor, the game goes to the Erskins.

The game itself was rather slow and uninteresting. The frosh enjoyed a three point lead in the final quarter but the winners closed fast and won the game on field baskets by Norris and Stanley. Lyons played best for the losers and Norris, Stanley and Sullivan starred for the Erskins.

FRATERNITY CONDUCT INITIATION MARCH 17

Gamma chapter of Kappa Delta Rho will conduct its formal initiation Saturday, March 17, according to an announcement made today by the fraternity's officers.

Several alumni are expected to return for the initiation. Included in the plans are arrangements for a formal dinner at a downtown hotel.

The committee in charge of the events is: G. LaVerne Carr, '29; Joseph F. Herney, '29; and Howard L. Goff, '28.

The State College chapter was founded in June, 1915. It was the third, the other two being Alpha at Middlebury college, and Beta at Cornell university.

Since Gamma was founded, the fraternity has installed chapters at Colgate university, the Delta chapter; Episkopy, Franklin college, Indiana; Zeta, Pennsylvania State college; Eta, University of Illinois; Theta, Purdue university; Iota, Bucknell university; Kappa, Ohio State university; Lambda, University of California.

Mu, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Nu, University of Indiana, Bloomington; Xi, Colby college, Maine; Omicron, Gettysburg college, Pennsylvania; Rho, Lafayette university, Easton, Pennsylvania; and a chapter at Butler university, Indiana.

Arthur M. Ottman, of Schenectady, is national president of the fraternity.

36 STUDENTS VISIT SCIENCE LABORATORIES

Thirty six members of Chemistry club visited the General Electric company laboratories, Friday.

Interesting times were spent, only a few of which will be mentioned here. One was an exhibition of the evolution of radio tubes since 1915. The tubes range from 2 1/2 inches to 3 feet in length. There are also the first phototube used for radio telephony between Schenectady and Pittsburgh in 1914. It was used as a modulator tube in conjunction with an Alexanderson alternator.

The largest Photoelectric cell in the world was made in the laboratories. This cell is so delicate that a micro wire passing between it and the source of light is sufficient to extinguish its incandescence connected with it. By using the photoelectric cell it is possible to accurately measure and record the amount of daylight. It is directed to turn on street lights after the sun goes down.

Two types of loud speakers are now in use in the laboratories. One is the cone speaker, generally used, and the other is a disk or aluminum diaphragm about 2 feet in diameter, with the fat for an ordinary vibrator, and with an electrical pick up which covers the sound to an amplifier. The diaphragm of the loud speaker vibrates with the frequency of the sound waves, thus reproducing the tone of the record. Nine cone speakers are used for reproducing the music recorded on the phonograph. The club was fortunate in being able to see and hear the phonograph. Kohn D. Hager, an alumnus of State, sang. He is rated as the best radio announcer in the country being announcer and director of WGY at Schenectady and the station at Oakland, California.

COMMISSION PLANS COLLEGE CITIZENSHIP CAMPAIGN MARCH 5

A College citizenship campaign will be inaugurated by campus commission next week, if plans now contemplated are carried out. Jeanette Wald billie, '28, chairman, announced today "Better college citizenship" is our motto, she explained. Especial attention will be directed, she said, to the study corridor in Husted hall and the maintaining of silence and order there. "Please clean out your lockers," Miss Waldbillie requested. "We plan to have a grand parade which Dr. Brubacher is to be asked to lead, through the halls, locker rooms, etc., and an inspection will be made of individual lockers." The student body has cooperated very helpfully, she said, in the matter of not posting personal notices in the locker rooms. Such notices, she added, should be handed to a member of campus commission, who will post them on the proper bulletin board. Poster, she requested to be handed to Margaret Donahy, '28, who is in charge of placing them. Further notices of campus commissions are posted on the bulletin board to the back door at the foot of the stairs, she added.

Members of the commission will probably wear badges during the campaign work, Miss Waldbillie said.

ATHLETES SEE "HIT THE DECK" EN MASSE

With but one game remaining on the basketball schedule, the State College court squad took a night off this week. Twelve players were guests of the men's athletic union at a performance of the musical comedy "Hit the Deck" Wednesday evening. The theatre party which was arranged by Thomas P. Fuller, '29, basketball manager, was given to the players in lieu of the annual New York trip which was called off because of an unfortunate cancellation by St. Stephen's school.

CLASSICAL CLUB WILL INITIATE 7 WEDNESDAY

Classical club has completed its plans for the initiation of new members at 7 o'clock Wednesday. The program is in charge of a committee of which Evelyn M. Noble is the chairman. Following the initiation Dr. Richardson, head of Latin department, will speak. The meeting is important, according to Marion G. Zast, '28. Those coming are: Mabel Dwyer, Della B. Casman, Edith C. Lawrence, Vera Waldant, Ellen Rice, Marion F. Miles, Betty White, and Misses...

LIBRARIAN SUGGESTS PRACTICE TEACHERS INVESTIGATE LIBRARY

"I plan the College library before giving any examinations" is the advice of Miss Alice Kirkpatrick, in tractor in library, advice to practice teachers. The treasurer of the library may make a difference in the original plan. It will mean, look over the books to be used in Miss Kirkpatrick's class to be sure there is enough material for the number of pupils. It may spend an amount of money to make the library...

"Practice teachers should not only look over the books, but also look over the material needed for a general department, the suggestions. "Look over the books for Miss Kirkpatrick may be used as a personal library. The day of the day is also a good time to look over the material needed for the next year."

"We do not have to criticize the practice teachers, but we do. We and to make suggestions to help and the ability to help them as much as possible."

BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT MOURNS 3 DEAD MICE

The biology department mourns the death of three white mice and a tropical fish. Mrs. Queen H. Faust, instructor in biology, in an autopsy of them, discovered that the albino had died from pneumonia and other internal complications. The fish, unused to the oscillations of the thermometer in the so-called "temperate" zone, succumbed to an attack of influenza. The department is seriously considering inserting a want ad in the News requesting all those interested in the advancement of science to contribute live flies and worms for the subsistence of its frogs, which are now suffering from malnutrition. All contributions will be received in Room 261, Mrs. Faust said today.

Are you anxious to save money, to build a bank account? Can you smile while you are working at a rather trying problem? Have you an "inner drive" and any individuality? Have you the courage to say "If she can do it so can I"? Would you enjoy traveling all summer long with friends—congenial teacher companions? Yes...—should be your ready answer. NEWS COPIES SENT TO CONTEST HEADS

Columbia Press Association To Announce Winner March 9

Copies of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS have been sent to the Columbia Scholastic Press association for entrance in the annual contest sponsored by the association, the NEWS board announced today.

The newspaper will be entered in the teachers college-normal school class. The winner will be announced at the convention of the press group, Friday and Saturday, March 9 and 10.

Delegates who will represent the State College paper are: Miss Higgins; Miss Katherine E. Saxton, business manager; Miss Elizabeth Phetteplace, associate managing editor, and William M. French, managing editor.

Both sectional and general meetings have been scheduled by Joseph M. Murphy, secretary of the association, and instructor in history at Hunter college. An open meeting of all the delegates has been called for Friday morning at ten o'clock.

The association is national in scope, and hundreds of newspaper, magazine and news-magazines are entered in the contest each year. Membership is open for all papers published by kindergartens, primary schools, junior and senior high schools, normal schools and teacher colleges.

Special meetings at the convention will be for faculty advisers of the papers which have faculty advisers or editors. Since the STATE COLLEGE NEWS has no faculty adviser, it will not be represented officially at this meeting. The delegates may attend, however, as prospective advisers to high school publications.

Each year the attendance at the sessions has grown. Founded in 1925, the association has enlarged its scope until it is now national in character. During its first year, it was only for schools east of the Mississippi river. Papers from the Philippines and Hawaii are also listed in the enrollment.

The State college delegates expect to leave early Friday morning, in time to arrive in New York for the opening session of the congress.

DORMITORY LIFE IS TREAT, SAYS GERVIN

"Chance To Broaden Contact," Merrill-Palmer Student Writes In Letter

"The opportunities for meeting interesting people and above all the social life in the dormitories" are the two phases of life at the Detroit Merrill Palmer school of home economics, most enjoyed by Esther Layster, '28, and Altina Gervin, '28, who are studying there this semester, according to letters recently received by Professor Florence E. Winchell, head of the home economics department, under whose auspices the two State representatives are sent.

"Dormitory life is indeed such a great satisfaction and real treat," Miss Gervin writes. "We are grouped in small units of a dozen or so and mingle with girls from colleges all over the United States, thus enjoying opportunities for many broadening and interesting contacts with different people and viewpoints." No two girls from the same college are allowed to room together, so that the growth of new friendships and the formation of new connections and outlooks is greatly encouraged and facilitated, she adds.

By an interesting chance, Miss Gervin mentions, the girls are enjoying the use of the very same rooms in which last year's representatives from State, Marjorie Ott, '27, and Mildred Graves, '27, lived.

Miss Gervin and Miss Layster left at the end of the first semester here and will continue for a four month course in the Detroit school. They are studying courses in child development, home making and child care for elementary and secondary school, and nutrition classes for teacher-born. This work is a substitute for the second semester's work at State College in the home economics department and Miss Layster and Miss Gervin will each receive B.S. in home economics in June from State College.

PEDAGOGUE OBTAINS 547 PAID PLEDGES, GRIFFIN ANNOUNCES

Five hundred forty-seven Pedagogue pledges have been paid up to Tuesday afternoon, according to Francis E. Griffin, '28, business manager. About fifty pledges now remain unpaid.

This year very few extra copies of the Pedagogue have been ordered. "Besides the regular subscriptions, we are ordering about forty complimentary copies and only a few extra ones," Beatrice Wright, '28, editor-in-chief, said today.

Several of the pledge delinquents are paying on the installment plan.

The cover design this year is an unusually striking one and is in keeping with the general theme of the publication, according to Miss Wright. The name of the owner upon the cover will complete the design. So far 127 students have signed on the bulletin board for the inscriptions.

Seniors who have not returned their blanks for their write ups in the Pedagogue and those who have not yet had their pictures taken at the Oberlin studio are urged to do so within this next week, Miss Wright said today. That is positively the last date upon which the photographs may be taken, she declared.

TRAINER AT UNIVERSITY

Amy Reck-strew, '16, is acting as teacher trainer at the University of Delaware at Newark, Delaware.

J. COLE IS HOSTESS

Rose Risonard, ex-'30, was a week-end guest of Genevieve Cole, '29, at the Alpha Rho house.

CLASS OF 1927 GIVES NEARLY $200 TO FUND

The class of 1927 has contributed $189.80 to the fund started in 1919 for an athletic field for State College. The fund now amounts to more than $3,000. "In a few weeks, the finance board will make its report on the athletic field fund," Professor Clarence A. Hidley, chairman of the finance board, announced today.

LACK SYSTEMATIC STUDY

University of Minnesota—College women do not know how to study. So say the members of the physical education department after interviewing 100 freshmen women. Systematic studying habits were noticeably lacking among freshmen living at home. "They spend too much time talking over the telephone or running to answer the doorbell."—The Campus.

COLLEGES EXCHANGE ACTORS

Because feminine men and masculine women are scarce at Amherst College and Smith College respectively, the two institutions have arranged a successful means of co-operation. When the dramatic society of either school has need of one of the opposite sex in one of its plays the other school supplies the character. Success has made itself evident already.
