New York City Sides With Teachers System Stand In Birnbaum Retirement Case

New York City has entered the Birnbaum case, supporting the contention of New York State Teachers Retirement System that the system can reduce the annuity of present members of the system by adopting new mortality tables.

Also aligned with the Teachers Retirement System and New York City is the School Boards Association. The case is now in the Court of Appeals.

Opposed to the annuity reduction on the grounds of unconstitutionality are the petitioners in the case, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, and the Civil Service Employees Association. The State constitution guarantees workers against any reductions or impairments in the retirement benefits.

The point involved is whether or not the Teachers Retirement System, can in effect, reduce the annuity of present members of the system by adopting new mortality rates reflecting a longer life expectancy, thereby requiring the member's annuity to be spread over a longer time, resulting in a considerable reduction in the amount of annuity payable each year.

In submitting its brief, the City of New York argues that the practice of reducing annuities by adopting new mortality tables is perfectly proper under the constitution. (New York City pays 75 percent of the contributions for police and firemen pensions. This has sometimes resulted in fiscal difficulties for the City).

Opponents to the Teachers Retirement plan argue that it opens the door for ultimately making the constitutional provision meaningless and ultimate impairment of any of the members of actuarial systems.

Charges Are Upheld Against Lanza Case Parole Officers

ALBANY, May 12 — Charges against two employees of the State Parole Division have been upheld.

The State Parole Board announced its decision in the disciplinary actions against parole officers John Clark and Frank E. Lawrence. The employees were formally suspended from their positions last October for alleged violation of the rules and regulations of the division.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Lawrence were charged with making false entries in official records and in addition, Mr. Lawrence was charged with violating a rule relating to permitting a prisoner in custody to have unauthorized contact with other persons.

The charges grew out of the highly publicized Socks Lanza parole case.

$1,450 Salary Loss

Departmental hearings were held on the charges and the entire board reviewed evidence and testimony taken at the hearings.

ALBANY, May 12 — The Civil Service Employees Association has called for a high level Administration conference on State Police problems.

In a letter to Gov. Harriman, CSEA President John F. Powers cited current newspaper publicity on trooper complaints and asked either to meet with the Governor or a high level committee to settle the police situation before trooper morale disintegrates.

Newspaper stories on the troopers' long working hours, stern discipline, and protests from troopers' wives have received heavy coverage in the Albany area recently.

The most recent event was a protest meeting of several troopers' wives in Albany.

Powers' Letter

In writing to the Governor Mr. Powers said:

"For the past two years this Association has discussed long and seriously with the members of your staff and with the superintendent of State Police the many personnel problems in that division with particular emphasis on the hours of work. We have insisted that the outstanding morale for which the troopers have always been famous is not what it once was, by reason of the failure to give adequate attention to the hours and working problems of the troopers.

"The validity of our position we feel has been demonstrated by the completely spontaneous outbreak of publicity on complaints of working conditions within the division which have received so much space in the papers these past two weeks. If the newspaper reports are accurate, despite general agreement that the troopers' working hours are ridiculously long, the only change in working hours of which we are aware is the increase of duty hours of the Thruway detail from approximately 48 a week to 80 a week.

"Last year when we challenged the failure of the State to accord Civil Service status to members of the division of State Police, you designated a committee composed of Budget Director Ahlberg, Superintendent McGarvey, and William J. Murray, administrative director of the Civil Service Department, to consider the substance of our complaint.

"We feel it imperative that we have an early opportunity to discuss the problem of the State police either with you or with a similar high level committee to that which was appointed by you last year. As you are well aware, the problem of the troopers' working hours goes beyond the Division itself since there are definite budgetary implications and it is therefore desirable to discuss the matter at the level of your office or your designees rather than purely with the division."

James Anderson Heads Southern Conference Slate

James O. Anderson will head an unopposed slate of officers presented for the forthcoming election of the Southern Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association.

Mr. Anderson is at present a vice president of the Conference and a past president of Sing Sing chapter, CSEA.

Other officers nominated are Emil Bollman, Rockland State Hospital, first vice president; Elmer Van Way, Public Works District 8, second vice president; Margaret O'Neill, Rehabilitation Hospital, third vice president; Harriet Clark Sier, Westfield Farms, fourth vice president; Robert Soper, Wassale State, treasurer, and Joseph Grable, Napanoch, sergeant-at-arms.

The announcement was made today by Catherine C. Hafele of the Workmen's Compensation Board, president of the Guild.

The written examinations are open to all 1958 graduates of recognized grade and high schools who are closely related to members of the Guild. Sons and daughters of Guild members, as well as brothers and sisters, nephews and nieces, and grandchildren of members, are eligible.

The winners will be announced at the Guild's Annual First-Friday-in-June dinner on June 6. The scholarship may be applied toward tuition at a Catholic high school or a Catholic college or university of the recipient's choice.

Wider Security Risk Bill Is Vetoed

ALBANY, May 12—A bill which would have extended the effective date of the State's Security Risk Law until June 30, 1959, and broadened its definition of security has been vetoed by Governor Harriman.

Mr. Harriman, pointing out he had signed a similar bill to extend the risk law another year, said the measure "runs directly contrary to the thinking embodied" in a report by the Committee on Public Employee Security Procedures.

The bill also was opposed by the State Civil Service Commission, the Civil Service Employees Association and other groups. The bill would have extended security provisions to every state agency and every state job.

Harriman Asks Better Career Opportunities For Public Employees

ALBANY, May 12—A plea for greater advancement opportunities and public recognition for the public employee was voiced by Governor Harriman at the New York State Civil Service Jubilee dinner.

Speaking at the 75th anniversary celebration dinner of the State Civil Service Department, Mr. Harriman told some 540 officials and civil service employees:

"If government service is to continue to attract and hold the able men and women needed, opportunities for advancement and greater public recognition must be enlarged.

Mr. Harriman was one of three principal speakers at the dinner. Others were Charles B. Stauffacher and Dr. William C. Greenough.

Week of Celebration

The dinner climaxed a week-long celebration of the 75th anniversary of the signing of New York State's Civil Service Law.

In attendance were most of the top officials of the Civil Service Employees Association and many of its chapter officers.

Alexander A. Falk, president of the State Civil Service Commission, presided at the banquet, which overflowed on two floors of an Albany hotel.

Dr. Greenough and Mr. Stauffacher both have had long careers in promoting the Civil Service System and are active in the National Civil Service League and the Civil Service Reform Association.

Many department heads and personnel officials in State government attended the dinner. Mr. Harriman singled out Mr. Falk for special notice, saying:

"Improvements in the material standards of the civil servants are important and, in the last four years, with the vigorous assistance of the Civil Service Commission, headed by Al Falk, we have made a good deal of progress."

Excerpts from the Harriman text include:

"The civil service reformers, three-quarters of a century ago, were satisfied that if they could make 'merit and fitness' the tests for appointment, the ablest candidates would be attracted to government service. Like in old romances, if the spoils system were once abolished, everybody would live happily ever after. Well, it hasn't worked out quite that way, although certainly, with the doing away of the spoils system, the quality of individual civil servants has risen to meet the greatly expanded needs of public service.

"There were fewer than 3,000 State employees when civil service was inaugurated. Today, 90,000 are required and there are 2,700 different job titles in the State Civil Service. Among the 355 original job classifications we find such mementoes of bygone days as coachman, blacksmith, and teamster.

"To meet the complex needs of today there are such positions as auditors, parole officers, airplane pilots, an assistant director of laboratories for bio-chemistry and immunology, a director of industrial relations and so forth.

"Thirty-three thousand of today's employees are needed to care for the more than 115,000 patients in our mental hospitals and institutions. Others patrol and manage the State forest lands and maintain the more than 14,000 miles of State highways.

"Still others do research on cancer, tuberculosis, and heart disease; inspect breweries, banks and boxing bouts; regulate race-tracks and cemeteries and combat crime.

"But, we have only to think of how many of the most talented leave government service annually to realize that something more is needed than merely placing initial recruitment upon the basis of merit and fitness."

"This year, an important step to broaden advancement opportunities was taken with enactment of a law I recommended making it easier for high level employees to move from one department to another, either by transfer or through promotional examination. But the Legislature short-sightedly cut out of the budget funds I proposed to permit a modest beginning on an incentive program which would have allowed cash awards for efficiency, economy and superior job performance among State employees.

"If the Civil Service is to truly represent a worthwhile career to able minds, in addition to improved material recognition, it is essential that Civil servants be held in the high esteem they merit," Governor Harriman said.

"Too often, uninformed people criticize public service without discrimination—calling it a bureaucracy, or some other slighting term. The facts are that all our great governmental activities, including scientific programs which affect the health and welfare of all of us—the very security of our nation—depend for success on our loyal civil servants."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

HARRIS ELLSWORTH, Chairman, U. S. Civil Service Commission: "Seventy-five years ago the U. S. Civil Service Commission was set up, among other reasons, to help the President improve the efficiency of the public service. Seventy-five years ago the Civil Service Act overthrew the mistaken idea of some people that just anyone could do government work. It substituted for that idea the principle that knowledge, skill, and ability are required to do government work, and that people should possess appropriate qualifications before they are hired. Today we have an equally great need to overthrow another fallacy—the idea that just anyone can be a government executive. We must face the fact that the government's work has become so complex that we must have executives of outstanding competence, breadth of vision, and managerial ability. We now need experienced career executives by the hundreds, rather than by the dozens. And we no longer can rely on haphazard methods or chance."

THE PUBLIC EMPLOYEE

By JOHN F. POWERS
President
Civil Service Employees Association

Many Hurrahs Now, But What About Later?

Governor Harriman has proclaimed the month of May as Civil Service month. Last week there began a series of events emphasizing the work of the public servant in the State and also celebrating the 75th anniversary of the passage of the Civil Service Law.

The theme of Open House Week throughout the State underscores this 75th anniversary.

During the month, at these and other celebrations, many nice and commendatory things will be said about the work and integrity of the public servant. Many people will be impressed and some will be led to a new understanding of what public service is and how dependent the community and the nation are upon it.

So much for the month of May. During the rest of the year, except for occasional and sometimes sensational news stories, the public service and the public servant will rarely be mentioned. Your civil service organization will try to keep alive the public interest, and will try to bring about a better public understanding through its frequent contacts with the public press and the community. However, the real and effective job of selling the value of the public service to the people lies within the power of the civil servants themselves. There are several hundred thousand of them in New York State. Each day, almost every minute of every day, there is a meeting between a civil servant and a citizen. The policeman pursuing crime or trying to regulate traffic, the clerk in the water department discussing a bill with a property owner, the license bureau explaining a regulation to a prospective tradesman, the tax office discussing the thorny and sometimes irritating question of the income or other tax, the Motor Vehicle Bureau testing for a driving license or registering a car, or a forest ranger or game warden watching over the public preserves — the list could be almost endless — are the point where the citizen and the civil servant meet every day.

In their thousands of members, the civil servants have a greater force than public relations directors. In meeting the public at points of irritation they have, by their courtesy, willingness, and knowledge, the ability to influence for good or ill the mind of the citizen toward the public service. It is the positive, cheery attitude of the civil servant at the time of meeting with the public which will dominate the impression he is making. Civil servants are human beings. They are subject to fatigue and irritation as are other people. They resent unreasonableness and rudeness as do other people. Yet if they can give the best of themselves and serve well — even when tempers are tried — they will exercise a public relations force greater and more dynamic than scores of speeches or dozens of commendatory articles.

Midstate Armory Elects McCallops

Leonard E. McCallops was elected president of the Midstate chapter of the Conference of Armory Employees at the chapter's annual meeting and election May 4. Mr. McCallops is an employee of the State Armory in Watertown where the meeting was held, and was vice president of the Midstate chapter before the election. He is also serving as secretary of the Conference of Armory Employees.

Other officers elected were George M. Rivers, vice president; and William B. Lawrence, secretary-treasurer. Both men are employed at the Watertown State Armory. Mr. McCallops and Mr. Lawrence were elected delegates. Outgoing president Millard H. Marlowe and Mr. Rivers were elected alternates. Mr. Marlowe will represent the chapter at the meeting of the Conference of Armory Employees at the New Scotland Avenue Armory in Albany May 22 and 23.

Watertown Armory employees arranged a luncheon for the meeting. In the absence of Mr. Marlowe, Mr. McCallops presided.

Letter From Abroad

By VIRGINIA LEATHAM

(The Civil Service Employees Association, for the first time, has sponsored a low-cost tour of Europe for its members. The Leader has asked one of the tour members—Miss Virginia Leatham, of Troy—to give us her impressions along the way and let us know how the trip is going. Here is another of her letters, written to the folks back home. The Editor.)

Back to the first day out. Everything seemed to be going along nicely — and smoothly — until about 5:30. Then it happened! Very gradually we noticed a decided rock and roll, and it wasn't coming from the hi-fi set. Suddenly people were disappearing from the public rooms and heading for their cabins. A few didn't quite make it and had to run for the rail. Wouldn't you know the ocean would act up on our first night out. And wouldn't you know I would be the first to feel it.

I didn't really get sick, but what an awful feeling to think you might at any minute. I gulped dramamine pills and went to bed (without dinner; I was afraid to eat). After a drugged sleep and two attempts to stay on my feet the next morning, I made it up to the deck chair. Skipped breakfast, though. I wasn't that brave. The sunshine and salt air did the trick. By lunch time that day I felt good as new and even ate lunch. The ocean and I had both calmed down by that time, and we've lived happily together ever since. Thank the lord.

Nice Friends

I wasn't the only one who felt that way either. The list of victims includes Sally Plunkett and Lola Aaront of the Tax Department, New York City. Fortunately Sally had Frances Hess of Labor, New York City, close by to make sure she got straightened out. Lola and Jeanette had to help each other since they are cabinmates on the voyage. We call Lola "the Champagne Lady" (and not because she sings). She has kept our table supplied with champagne ordered for her by friends as a bon voyage gift. Nice friends.

Floria Pinkney is also from the Department of Education in New York City, but neither she nor Jeanette knew that the other was on the trip until we got under way. Floria spent considerable time in bed the first day out, but she insists she was not sick, just tired out.

Betty Towey of Westfield State Farm, cleaned up on the horse racing game which is part of the ship's program; Henrietta Hayes of Pilgrim State Hospital won at the Keno game, and Helen Jordan of Kings Park hit the daily run "tote."

Saturday night we had three entries in the "fancy head dress" contest, but we finished out of the money. My creation made the semi-finals (eight out of forty) which pleased me very much. Mae Causey of Westfield State Farm, and Erna Appleby of Norwood, New Jersey, also entered, and really, our prize was the fun we all had getting the junk together to "create" our masterpieces. Baskets, empty boxes, fruit, bedroom slippers, candy, clothes pins, etc.—anything that was handy. The ship's photographer took pictures, which are a riot.

The Dilemma

The women will appreciate this. Imagine two women spending five days on the Queen Mary without any luggage. Well, two of our California group who did just that. Their luggage got separated from them on the plane trip from Los Angeles to New York City and reached New York after we sailed. Specialized Tours has arranged with the airline (whose name we shall omit) to fly the bags to our hotel in London and catch up with us there. The two women have managed beautifully with their one set of clothes and a few friends. I told them they should write a travel book.

We really should be prepared for almost anything on this trip. We have a registered nurse, Mae Freund of Mount Kisco, who is travelling with our two correction officers from Westfield, Mae Causey and Betty Towey. For protection we have the correction gals and also Dorothy Payne, who is a New York City policewoman. She's a very attractive one, too, and we're glad to have her along. Her mother, Mrs. Eva North, is with her. Then, if we should develop any serious problems, we can probably talk them out with one of the two psychiatrists who are part of our group, Dr. Albert Dresner, and his charming wife, Dr. Isaslawa Dresner. Both are supervising psychiatrists at Central Islip State Hospital.

Our upstate representation, in addition to yours truly, includes Janet Robertson of Public Works, Albany, and Jane McEwen, also of Albany, who is travelling with her. It also includes Felicia Dente of the Schenectady chapter, whose knowledge of Italian we shall appreciate when we reach Italy. We have already appointed her official interpreter. Then from down Warwick way, we have Margaret King and Janet Middleton of our Orange County chapter.

discussed bills passed by the 1958 session of the Legislature which will affect counties, cities, school districts, and other local units of government. Mayor Norton announced that a grievance committee, consisting of three members of the Ways and Means Committee of the Common Council, the secretary of the local Civil Service Commission, a member of the Cattaraugus county CSEA chapter, and himself, had been set up to hear employee complaints. The dinner was held at the Rock City Hotel in Little Valley.

NYC Bar Assn. to Sift Conflict of Interest Laws

A special committee of 10 lawyers, most of them former federal government officials, has been appointed by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York to study conflict-of-interest laws. Louis M. Loeb, president, made the announcement. He said that existing laws do not sufficiently protect the Federal government against certain subtle forms of corruption, while, at the same time, they seem unreasonably to discourage able persons from accepting government employment.

"Most of those laws," he said, "were passed in earlier, simpler days. Now, they provide loopholes for the unscrupulous and traps for the honest but unwary."

Mr. Loeb appointed Roswell B. Perkins of New York City, former Assistant Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, as chairman of the committee. Other New York City appointees include Paul M. Herzog, executive vice president of the American Arbitration Association and former chairman of the National Labor Relations Board; Alexander C. Hoagland, Jr., former fellow of The Association of the Bar of the City of New York; Everett L. Hollis, corporate counsel to the General Electric Company and former general counsel to the Atomic Energy Commission; John V. Lindsay, a former executive assistant to the Attorney General of the United States; John E. Lockwood, former general counsel for the Office of Inter-American Affairs, and Samuel I. Rosenman, former Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York and former special counsel to Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. Bayless A. Manning, associate professor of law at Yale University Law School, has been appointed staff director.

The study will be financed by a grant of $47,500 from the Ford Foundation.

Livingston Chapter Holds Annual Banquet

The sixth annual banquet of the Livingston County chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association was held May 13 at the National Hotel in Cuylerville.

Committee members for the dinner were Nellie McNulty, chairman; Margaret McCaughey, Lee Perkins, Margaret Eddy, and Loren S. Brink.

Wagner Awaits New Proposed Code of Ethics

A proposal made by State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz to Mayor Robert F. Wagner that New York City adopt a code of ethics for employees similar to the one contained in the State's Public Officers Law was turned down by the Mayor on the ground that the City Charter contains a code of ethics that many regard as stricter, and a new proposed code is being drafted by S. Stanley Kreutzer, special counsel. Mr. Kreutzer was appointed about a year ago, when cases involving possible conflict of interest by members of the City Council arose.

Some employees of the HA, as well as of the City Comptroller's office, were mentioned in possible conflict-of-interest cases involving the Nassau Management Company. Mr. Lefkowitz had investigated the operations of that company.

"I think we had better wait for their report," said Mayor Wagner, referring to Mr. Kreutzer and his coworkers.

Civil Service League Gives 10 Awards, Gets One Itself

Nicholas Kelley (right), president of the National Civil Service League, accepts a special plaque from Chairman Harris Ellsworth of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. The award, part of the 75th anniversary celebration of Civil Service, cited the league for "performing a very significant service by spotlighting the wide range of vital activities for the American people by today's Federal work force."

WASHINGTON, May 12—The skill of government career personnel will be the deciding factor in the battle for survival in the space age, Nicholas Kelley, president of the National Civil Service League, told the fourth annual awards dinner of the league at the Park-Sheraton Hotel. Mr. Kelley said that the changing world conditions place an increasing responsibility on government and thus on the civil service employees.

The dinner featured presentations of the annual League awards to the 10 outstanding Federal career workers.

Guest speakers were Meade Alcorn, Republican National Committee chairman, and Paul Butler, Democratic National Committee chairman. Both called the career service essential in the vast complexity of modern government.

Mr. Alcorn urged that special efforts be made to bring to the attention of young people the desirability and advantages of government service, "especially the inner satisfaction that grows from serving the people and the nation."

"To meet its future needs for scientists, engineers, and other highly trained technicians and executives," Mr. Alcorn said, "it is imperative that government recruit an increasing number of promising graduates by offering a challenging and rewarding career." Mr. Butler stressed the need for strong employee morale.

Among the guests were Secretary Marion B. Folsom, Health, Education and Welfare; Budget Director Maurice B. Stans; Comptroller General Joseph Campbell; Senators Frank Carlson, John D. Hobbitt, Jr., Thomas E. Martin, Richard L. Neuberger, and Ralph W. Yarborough; and Representatives Lindley Beckworth, Robert J. Corbett, Vincent J. Dellay, Robert W. Hemphill, August E. Johansen, John Lesinski, James H. Morrison, Charles O. Porter, and Edward J. Robeson, Jr.

The Job Market

A Survey of Opportunities in Private Industry

By A. L. Peters

The following describes job opportunities in private industry:

The Graduates Are Coming

Within a few weeks 1,500,000 students graduated from high schools and 400,000 graduating from colleges will be added to the group of job-hunters. Many companies which hired these young people right from school ranks, haven't been looking this year, so the competition will grow keener this month. Best bet: try to find your place within the next two weeks. For the long run, it's wise to learn some skill in demand. Most of those looking for jobs have no special training.

No Silence, Please

Here's a dream job for fifty lucky women. They're invited to spend four hours a day talking on the phone — and be paid for it. If you have some spare time, and can use the extra cash, this may be the job for you. You'll be trained to phone people from the employer's office to enlist volunteers for a fund-raising campaign. It's a five-day-a-week job, four hours a day, at $125 an hour. You'll work in the Columbus Circle area of Manhattan and you can pick your shift — either 9:30 A.M. to 1:30 P.M. or 5 to 9 in the evening. Applicants must speak English well and be over 21 years of age. If you're interested, apply today at the State Employment Service, 1 East 19 Street, Manhattan.

Government Needs

A MEDICAL TECHNOLOGIST, male preferred, is wanted by a Federal hospital in New York City at a starting salary of $3,670 a year. A good background in hematology is helpful on this job. And a technologist with lab and X-ray experience is offered $80 a week to work in a doctor's office. This job is open to men and women.

The place to apply? That would be the Nurse and Medical Placement Center at 136 East 57 Street, Manhattan.

From California comes word that PSYCHIATRISTS are wanted in mental hospitals and clinics at salaries up to $13,000 a year. Required are either a California license or graduation from an approved U. S. or Canadian medical school and a license to practice. Applicants must have at least one year of recent psychiatric experience or residency. The Nurse and Medical Placement Center, 136 East 57 Street, Manhattan is the place to apply. Appointment should be made in advance by calling MU 8-0340.

Technicians

DENTAL TECHNICIANS are wanted in Manhattan. If you're a top gold man, you're offered $115 a week and up to work on crowns, bridges and veneers. A technician is also wanted to work on bars and clasps, doing repair, polishing and finishing on acrylic. Salary on this job is $70 a week. Also wanted are WATCHMAKERS experienced in repair of pin lever watches. The pay, depending on experience, ranges from $60-$90 a week. About Time Irony Ended

THE United States government is sensitive to the embarrassment of condoning monetary advantages to employees of private industry denied to Federal employees.

There are various aspects to the disparity, including paying supervisors less than those they supervise, and Federal employees less than industry employees who work beside them performing exactly the same tasks. Remedies for these discrepancies may be slow in coming, for the Federal personnel structure is indeed sprawling, massive, and complex.

Just now a disparity that appears on the way to correction is making new employees pay their travel expenses to the job. The U. S. Civil Service Commission is backing a bill to have the government defray the cost, as private industry does, relating to hard-to-fill jobs. Not only scientists and engineers would benefit, but also "support" categories, which could include anybody else whose services the government urgently needs.

Interviews Included

Commission Chairman Harris Ellsworth hailed the action of a House committee in reporting out H.R. 11133, which would authorize travel expenses also to bring new employees to laboratories and research centers for pre-employment interviews. The Commission drafted the bill; the White House is backing the measure solidly.

"Its purpose," Chairman Ellsworth says of the bill, "is to increase the ability of Federal agencies to recruit the highly qualified and specialized personnel needed by government now, and in the challenging years ahead."

"To ask a person to absorb a moving bill of one or two thousand dollars is like asking him to take that much of a reduction in his first year's salary. A particularly ironic aspect is that the government foots the bill for such expenses when paid by private companies under government contracts."

The accent is on recruitment now, but the same ironical disparity exists in pay rates in Federal, state, and local governments. Contractors working for such government units pay time-and-a-half rates for overtime, and in money, whereas government usually gives compensatory time off, and at regular rates. The Federal government has a limited money rate for overtime.

The base rates in private industry are nearly always higher.

Discrimination cannot endure indefinitely in a free society. If all ills cannot be cured at once at least a start should be made.

U.S. May Set Example

New York City shows signs of readiness to discuss pay for overtime in money, even if only at regular rates, but that in itself would be a welcome improvement. Premium rates should follow eventually, even perhaps the multiple rates for Sunday and holiday work.

The Federal government may have set an example to other areas of government of the need to eliminate irony in personnel administration.

Hard to Reconcile

STATE employees, denied a raise, and New York City employees, who met a similar fate, will have difficulty reconciling their lot with that of employees in private industry. Governor Harriman favored a raise; the Legislature inflicted the denial.

The State Department of Labor reports that an

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTANTS THANK THE LEADER

The Society of Municipal Accountants is grateful to The Leader for supporting us in our fight against the public accountancy bills, Milmoie, Senate Int. 605, and Wilson, Assembly Int. 1075.

We appreciate your strong editorial support as well as the news articles you printed, which played their part in the defeat of this discriminatory legislation.

The veto of the Milmoie bill by Governor Harriman followed similar action by two other illustrious predecessors, Governors Smith and Roosevelt.

I am certain that all civil service accountants appreciate your support of their claim to be included for immediate enrollment as public accountants in any contemplated bill to set up a new class of enrolled public accountants.

PER-DIEM EMPLOYEES SEEK UNIFORM FRINGES

Editor, The Leader:

All per-diem employees who work for New York City owe The Leader gratitude for its efforts to have the fringe benefits of per-diem employees standardized as are those of per-annum employees.

The City government should require its commissioners to grant uniform sick leave to per-diem employees, instead of leaving the decision to the discretion of the commissioners. Some commissioners misconstrue discretion to include utter denial when the clear purport of the grant of discretionary powers was quite to the contrary.

Risks in Job Stressed

Insurance companies or associations issue income-protection policies (sickness or accident) but a per-diem worker may find himself ineligible. I myself was refused in these terms: "Thank you for your application for membership in our association. It is with reluctance that we must write you that since your present occupation does not come within our preferred risk classification, we are unable to accept you. We are indeed sorry that we cannot reply more favorably but thank you nonetheless for your interest."

Many a per-diem employee is watching the fine job you are doing for them. More power to you.

average raise of 11 cents an hour was provided in collectively bargained agreements reached in New York State last year. In 1956, the average was 10.4 cents an hour. Wage raises were negotiated in 97 percent of the settlements in 1957, the same proportion as in 1956. The 1,341 settlements reported to the Department of Labor in 1957 affected about 955,000 workers.

The report continues:

"Improvements in fringe benefits — paid holidays, vacations, pensions, life insurance, and health insurance — were made in nearly two-thirds of the settlements reached in 1957, affecting over 70 percent of the workers covered."

The annual report on "Collective Bargaining Settlements in New York State, 1957" may be obtained free from the Department of Labor, Room 637, 80 Centre Street, New York 13, N. Y.

Law Cases

Sidney M. Stern, counsel, submitted to the New York City Civil Service Commission the following report on law cases:

JUDICIAL DECISIONS

Court of Appeals

Clare v. Silver. The petitioner, a veteran, was appointed county detective in the office of the district attorney of Kings county in the year 1942. The duties of such position are set forth in section 938 of the County Law. Since 1947 however, the duties of petitioner have been confined only to the service of process and in a classification of positions he was given the title of process server. He objected, claiming that such determination removed him from his position of county detective. The Special Term and the Appellate Division agreed with him, but the Court of Appeals has reversed the order and dismissed the petition pointing out that the classification did not change the nature of petitioner's work, but merely systematized the work in the district attorney's office according to a pattern which has already been worked out. The specialization of petitioner's duties had taken place before the classification, which only formalized what had already occurred.

McCarthy v. Carey. The court has denied a motion for leave to appeal from a judgment which upheld the right of the civil service commission to hold an examination for promotion to Captain (P.D.) in the City of Yonkers. The Supreme Court had held that the commission had the right to hold the examination when they deemed the same necessary even though no vacancy then existed.

Civil Service Forum v. N. Y. C. Transit Authority. The court has affirmed the right of the Transit Authority to enter into an agreement regarding wages, hours and certain working conditions with the unions.

Appellate Division

Raskin v. Board of Higher Education. A motion for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals has been denied. The Appellate Division had previously affirmed the order of Special Term which denied an application to compel the promotion of petitioners to the rank of assistant professor.

Goldberg v. Wagner. Motion for leave to appeal to Court of Appeals has been denied. The original decision denied an application to compel the mayor and the police commissioner to bring charges against a policeman against whom a complaint had been made.

Walf v. Appleby (Third Department).—Petitioner is a beverage control investigator in the State Liquor Authority. His position was allocated to grade 14 by the classification and compensation Appeals Board. The Director of the Budget declined to approve the allocation on the basis of a comparison of the duties of the title with those of other investigative positions in the state service. The court held that the Director of the Budget was not bound by the determination of the appeals board and was not arbitrary or capricious in refusing to recognize the allocation.

Berke v. Schechter. Petitioner was certified for patrolman (P.D.) subject to investigation. No action was taken by the police commissioner upon such certification. Upon completion of investigation he was found not qualified by the civil service commission and his name was removed from the eligible list. He brought this action to rescind such determination. After trial it was held that he had not been duly certified since the certification was subject to the condition referred to. The court, however, in dismissing the petition, ordered that he may apply for certification and in the event of a denial, may apply to the court for an order directing certification. The Appellate Division has modified the order by striking therefrom the provision referred to and affirmed the order as so modified.

McDonnell v. Kennedy. The court upheld the Police Commissioner in finding petitioner guilty of the violations charged, but remitted the matter for reconsideration of the order of dismissal which the court evidently feels is excessive punishment under the circumstances.

Cohen v. Teachers' Retirement Board. Petitioner resigned his teaching position but re-entered service after about two years. In the interim the board of education adopted a resolution crediting war service leaves for retirement purposes, but because petitioner was not in service when the resolution was adopted it was held that he was not among those to be benefited. The Appellate Division has affirmed the order.

Carolan v. Schechter. The appellant has been ordered to notice the appeal for argument at the October term. It involves the propriety of the assignment of certain supervisors of park operations to certain duties.

Nimelman v. Kross. Petitioner was dismissed after a hearing from her position of chief resident physician, Grade 3. The court confirmed the determination in so far as it sustained the charges against her, but found that the punishment of dismissal on what the court considered trivial transgressions "is so shocking to the court's sense of fairness that it constitutes an abuse of discretion". The dismissal was annulled and the proceeding remitted to the commissioner of correction for the imposition of disciplinary measures consistent with its opinion.

Simineri v. Screvane. A motion for leave to reargue or leave to appeal to the Court of Appeals has been denied in this case which held that the commissioner had acted within his powers in terminating the services of an unsatisfactory probationer.

Special Term

Manning v. Schechter. Petitioner, a veteran, was discharged

for misconduct after a hearing. He seeks to compel the civil service commission to grant him the right of appeal to the Commission pursuant to subd. 3 of Sec. 22 of the civil service law, or in the alternative to have his case transferred to the Appellate division for review there. The court held that since his position is in the non-competitive class the right to appeal pursuant to subdivision 3 is non-existent and dismissed the petition as to the civil service commission. As to the commissioner of hospitals the matter was transferred to the Appellate Division for disposition.

Groad v. Supt. of Schools (Kings County). Petitioner was suspended for insubordination for refusing to submit to a medical examination ordered by respondent pursuant to a letter from the petitioner's supervisor. The court held the suspension to be arbitrary in that certain provisions of the Education Law were not complied with in ordering such medical examination.

Special Term

Modugno v. Baumgartner. A motion to dismiss the petition to compel inclusion of funds for mosquito control in the budget of Department of Health was denied on the ground that the Commissioner of Health cannot dictate the budget even for her own department. The budget must be adopted in accordance with the provisions of the New York City Charter.

Schwartz v. Lubin. Motion for a temporary injunction was granted where plaintiff, on trial in an administrative disciplinary proceeding charging misconduct, claims that certain evidence, in the hands of defendant, may be destroyed.

O'Neill et al. v. Schechter. Petitioners sought credit, on examination for promotion to sergeant (P.D.), for answers other than the key answers to certain questions. The application was denied because the proceeding was instituted more than four months after the publication of the final key answers.

Winkle v. Adams. After trial the court decided that petitioner, a former patrolman (P.D.) had resigned without the consent of the police commissioner while he was under indictment. He applied for reinstatement within one year but his application was denied on the ground that he was ineligible as he had not been separated for any cause other than fault or delinquency on his part. His petition was dismissed.

Kelly v. Board of Examiners (Board of Education). The court denied a motion to dismiss the petition for insufficiency where it was alleged that the respondent's appeals committee found petitioner entitled to 5.75 per cent additional credit on her supervision test paper. The court pointed out that such appeals committee has jurisdiction by virtue of respondent's by laws. Permission to serve an answer was granted.

Wynne v. Board of Education (Yonkers) (Supreme Court, Westchester County). Proceeding for reinstatement as an active teacher in the public school system. A motion to dismiss the petition was granted because the petition failed to allege facts which establish a clear legal right to the relief sought.

Shapiro v. Helperu. As permitted by the court, an amended petition has been served. The present petition was found objectionable for the same defects which appeared originally and the court held that it cannot be answered in a manner to frame issues. The application for review was again denied but leave to serve a second amended petition was granted.

Stein v. Kennedy. Petitioner was dismissed as unsatisfactory during his probationary period as patrolman (P.D.) because he failed to disclose, on four occasions, in answer to direct questions, that he had been connected with a certain organization. The court found that the dismissal was made in good faith and upon sufficient evidence and dismissed the petition.

Feaster v. Board of Higher Education. Petitioners, college science assistants and college science technicians, while on the instructional staff, are governed for leave purposes by the regulations of the administrative staff. They assert that such distinction is unlawful and arbitrary. In dismissing the petition the court pointed out that the board has wide discretion in matters relating to management of school systems and the distinction between groups of employees may or may not be arbitrary, but since petitioners failed to set forth facts to show that the failure of the board to accord them the relief sought was unwarranted, arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable, the petition lacks legal sufficiency.

Proceeding Instituted

O'Connor v. Dugan. Petitioner, a deputy clerk of district in the Municipal Court, Fifth District, Brooklyn and only eligible on list for promotion to Clerk of District seeks to annul a transfer of the Clerk of District in the second district, Bronx to Clerk of district, sixth district, Queens.

Vegas v. Schechter. Petitioner was marked not qualified for patrolman (P.D.). He seeks to annul the determination.

Milano, et al. v. Kross. Petitioners, eligibles on list for correction officer, seek to enjoin the employment of provisionals in that title.

Keough v. Cavanagh. A lieutenant in the Fire Department seeks to compel correction of his appointment date to give him seniority from September 16, 1942.

Pearl v. State Department of Civil Service (Albany County). Petitioner, a candidate in examination for promotion in the Insurance Department, failed the oral test and in this proceeding the rating given him. The court, finding that all candidates were examined under similar conditions and their performance measured by the same standards and criteria, dismissed the petition.

O'Leary v. Schechter. Petitioners, candidates in examination for promotion to captain (P.D.), all received rating of 66 percent or better and now seek to have 5 percent on Part II of the written test.

State University Trustees Adopt Personnel Changes

ALBANY, May 12 — Academic administrative officers now are "voting members" of college faculties in the State University system.

The Board of Trustees has announced several amendments to its personnel policies which provide for the voting rights and grant members of academic staffs sabbatical leaves if they have continuing appointments for at least six consecutive years of service.

The changes also include the granting of leaves of absence to academic administrative officers other than the chief administrative officer.

Before the amendments were adopted, deans, directors of education, deans of students, librarians, and other academic administrative officers whose positions are in the unclassified service were not members of the college faculty and could not vote on important matters before the faculty for action.

Also before the changes were adopted, only members of the academic staff who had served for six consecutive years from the initial date of their continuing appointment were eligible for a sabbatical leave. The change reduces from 13 to seven years the period certain members of the academic staff must serve before becoming eligible for leave.

HARRIMAN, WAGNER MAKE COLLEGE APPOINTMENTS

Appointments by Governor Harriman and New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner to the reconstituted Board of Trustees of the New York City Community College of Applied Arts have been announced. They are:

"SERVICE THE SAME DAY"

Ever heard that remark dropped cynically by a hungry diner who has drummed on his empty plate, for what probably seemed to him a millennium, and smoked his last cigarette waiting to be served something more edible than the table silver and a Lazy Susan? We at PETIT PARIS realize our guest comes into a restaurant to eat—not to wait. We try to confine waiting to waiters, and offer service in keeping with our kind and pleasant, comfortable dining areas. Whether it is in the main dining room or the banquet hall, it's a PETIT PARIS rule that guests receive expeditious and courteous attention with something more than perfunctory dispatch. . . . And may we remind you? Our French cuisine faithful to all traditions of that table superior, dine at PETIT PARIS, 1060 Madison Ave., Albany, N. Y.

Questions Answered On Social Security

I BECAME DISABLED in November, 1957, and have been unable to work since that date. I am 53 years of age and have worked steadily under Social Security since 1937. Is it possible for me to receive benefits before age 65? I. L.

Yes, disability insurance benefits were paid for the first time in July, 1957, to workers who were age 50 or over, and had satisfied the other requirements necessary for the payment of this type of benefit. You should contact your local district office for filing appropriate applications.

MY WIFE WAS DISABLED in the same automobile accident that disabled me. I received my disability check a week ago. Why didn't my wife get a check too? J.M.

Your wife is not eligible for disability insurance benefits unless she worked in employment or self-employment covered by Social Security, long enough to qualify under the disability work provisions. There is no provision in the Social Security Law to pay benefits to dependents of disabled workers.

from which I receive a total of $255 a month rent. I plan to retire from my job at the oil company when I am 65 in July this year. Will my income from these houses keep me from drawing my Social Security when I retire? S.W.

No. The money you receive from the houses is considered income from rents. It would not be included in the $1,200 a beneficiary under age 72 is allowed to earn in a year without losing one or more of his benefit checks.

I HAVE A LITTLE WORKSHOP in my cellar where I make trinkets out of wood which I sell to local stores during the tourist season. It nets me about $500 a year. I also have a job with the City of New York as a civil service employee that pays (Continued on Page 10)

Purim Celebrated By State Group

The Association of Jewish State Employees celebrated Purim with its sixth annual dinner and dance at The Boulevard restaurant and night club in Elmhurst, Queens.

Judge Kozin of the Court of Special Sessions and Anthony J. Graziano, deputy executive director of the State Insurance Fund, were guests of honor. Other special guests were Miss Pemberton, president of the St. George Association, and Mr. Ajello of the Columbia Association.

The association also made Passover donations to the poor, a traditional observance of the holiday. The Hebrew Educational Alliance and the Civic Center Synagogue each received $50.

Plans are being made for a supper meeting to mark Shevuoth, the Jewish Arbor Day and celebration.

FEWER THRUWAY ACCIDENTS

ALBANY, May 12 — More arrests and fewer accidents typified State Thruway travel in 1957. State Police made 30,814 arrests during 1957, a gain of 48 percent over the previous year. Accidents dropped 17 percent.

me well over $4,200 a year. Do I have any responsibility to report and pay the social security tax on my workshop earnings? J.W.

You are required to file Schedule C as a part of your income tax form 1040. However, because Social Security tax has already been paid on $4,200 of your wages, you do not pay any self-employment tax.

work and gave my Social Security number to my employer from memory. I have a feeling it was not correct. How can I verify my correct account number? B. H.

You should get a new account number card for your present and future employment. This assures you of proper crediting to your earnings record. Form SS-5 should be completed at your nearest Social Security District Office. In about one week a duplicate account number card will be issued to you, and if you have worked under an incorrect account number it should be brought to the attention of your employer.

Fino Affirms Dignity Of National Lottery

WASHINGTON, May 12 — Representative Paul A. Fino (R., Bronx, New York City) in a speech in the House advocated the holding of a national lottery to help balance the budget and lessen the drain on the Treasury that a tax cut, which he also favors, would create. He said:

"There is only one avenue left open for relief to our overburdened taxpayers — a national lottery that would bring into the coffers of the Treasury $10 billion a year additional revenue."

"In answer to the Treasury's argument that 'it would not be in keeping with the dignity of the government to encourage some citizens to take an action which other citizens consider morally wrong,' I ask the members of this Congress: are our confiscatory rates of taxation less morally wrong; doesn't our discriminatory income tax rate system impose a tax penalty on success, and is this less morally wrong?"

He added that the British Bond Lottery has been in operation for 18 months. Since its inception, the British government has sold almost half a billion dollars in bonds and given out over $13 million in prizes, he added.

The Financial Secretary to the British Treasury replied to a query from Mr. Fino as follows:

"I think we can justly claim that the bonds have proved to be popular with the public, and that this scheme has been a success."

NEWARK HONORS MRS. FITCHPATRICK

The Newark State School psychiatric aide award for 1957 has been conferred on Pauline Fitchpatrick by the National Association for Mental Health.

Mrs. Fitchpatrick, who has been employed at Newark State School since October 18, 1948, received the award at the school's Open House ceremonies May 4.

Before going to Newark, Mrs. Fitchpatrick served at Willard State Hospital for five years.

Only one candidate from a hospital or school is eligible for the award each year. Marie Donaldson, staff attendant, was chosen in 1955, and William Van De Mortel, attendant, in 1956.

The National Association for Mental Health grants this award to psychiatric aides or attendants for outstanding service in the care of the mentally ill and the mentally retarded to focus public attention on the important role played by attendants in the care of patients. Not only is the recipient of the award to be worthy of recognition, but he also is to exemplify the many other dedicated attendants in this field.

APPLICATION RUSH CONTINUES FOR JOBS IN N.Y. POST OFFICE

In the first eight days of the latest application period set up by the New York General Post Office, 4,700 applications were issued.

This is the sixth time period that the post office has set up for candidates for postal clerk since the first of the year. The almost overwhelming response to the series of tests has made it possible for the General Post Office to fill all vacancies with civil service eligibles for the first time in the memory of most New York City postal workers.

The new application period runs until May 29. Tests will be scheduled immediately on application and will be given daily through May 23. 7,090 can be accommodated.

Examinations given during the fifth application period will be graded by May 30 or June 1. Processing is now going on for the 600 eligibles who have been called from the list established April 30.

This preappointment processing will be completed on May 14 and approximately 300 of the eligibles will be appointed effective May 17.

The post office has about 300 vacancies to be filled each month so the prospect for appointment remains good.

As applicants are tested and their papers graded, they are added to the eligible list in order of their score. This means that those being tested now have an equal chance for appointment with those who were tested and placed on the list earlier.

There are no experience or education requirements for the jobs and no maximum age. Starting pay is now $1.82 an hour, but Congress is expected to raise this to about $1.93 or $77.20 a week for a 40-hour week.

Apply to the Board of Civil Service Examiners, Room 3506, General Post Office, 33rd Street near Ninth Avenue, Manhattan.

UNITY IS SOUGHT ON ALBANY PARKING

ALBANY, May 12—A bipartisan agreement to do something about parking conditions for State employees on Albany's Capitol Hill appeared to be in the making this week.

Governor Harriman started the ball rolling last week in an announcement that he had asked his budget director to confer with chairmen for the finance committees of the Republican-controlled Legislature on the problem.

Republicans promptly replied they would be happy to confer with the Democratic administration on the problem. A spokesman added: "The evidence of our deep interest in this matter was shown by the passage of Republican legislation creating a capitol parking authority."

Mr. Harriman vetoed the GOP bill, contending it was "A financial fraud."

In seeking to work out an agreed program, however, to provide the additional parking facilities, Mr. Harriman declared:

"There is an urgent need to develop parking facilities for State employees near the capitol and the Alfred E. Smith State Office Building." The Governor added, "It was gravely disappointing that the Legislature did not accept the recommendations of a special committee, which had the endorsement of Mayor Corning, and passed instead a bill I could not accept."

"The important thing now is to move ahead toward a sound legislative program for next year, and in the meantime to take such steps as may be feasible to speed the day when adequate facilities can be made available. I hope that the budget director and the chairmen of the two finance committees will be able to agree upon a program to accomplish these objectives."

6 NEW STATE TITLES

ALBANY, May 12 — Six new titles have been added to the State title structure. They are administrative director of Law Department, grade 29, $10,310-$12,180; associate budgeting analyst, grade 23, $7,500-$9,090; budgeting analyst, grade 14, $4,770-$5,860; industrial codes editor, grade 18, $5,840-$7,130; senior budgeting analyst, grade 13, and senior radio-physicist, grade 13.

The title of clinical psychologist has been eliminated. Two titles were reallocated: director of industrial hygiene and safety standards, from grade 33 at $12,560-$14,750 to grade 34 at $13,230-$15,480; and principal personnel status examiner, from grade 26 at $9,750-$10,520 to grade 27 at $9,220-$11,050.

While the following applications for salary grade changes were originated by employees in the departments specified, the titles are used also in other departments, and other employees or appointing officers may participate in the applications filed with the director of classification and compensation if desired: dental assistant, Mental Hygiene-Willard State Hospital; principal account clerk, Health-Mount Morris Tuberculosis Hospital and Mental Hygiene-Craig Colony; principal stenographer, Mental Hygiene-Rochester State Hospital; senior clerk (medical records), Mental Hygiene-Rochester State Hospital; senior medical records librarian, Health-Roswell Park Memorial Institute; shoemaker, Mental Hygiene-Utica State Hospital, and telephone operator, Mental Hygiene-Letchworth Village.

W. F. Moore Honored

William F. Moore, staff attendant at Kings Park State Hospital, has received the 1957 psychiatric aide achievement award for that hospital. He was presented with a certificate by Mrs. Albert M. Biglan, vice president of the Suffolk County Mental Health Association, in ceremonies May 10.

In choosing him for the award, the committee cited his "kindness, understanding, and desire to help the mental patient return to his place in society," and added, "due to his untiring efforts, 31 patients on his ward have obtained honor cards."

Born in Brooklyn on August 26, 1906, Mr. Moore moved to Jamaica, Queens, in 1923. When he went to work at Kings Park State Hospital as an attendant in 1941, he lived on the hospital grounds. In 1945 he married Lillian Leonard who was also employed at the hospital as an attendant. The Moores now live in Kings Park. Mrs. Moore has continued her employment at the hospital.

Mr. Moore is an active member of the Nursing Service Committee of the hospital and a member of the Smithtown branch of the B.P.O.E. He once was a pitcher for H.I.A., a semi-pro baseball team, and his assistant on the ward, Thomas Shearer, pitched against him for an opposing team.

"Now they are on the same team, working to give the best possible care to mental patients," says Dr. Charles Buckman, Kings Park State Hospital director.

BUFFALO STATE TAKES WOMEN'S BOWLING TITLE

The winning team is shown receiving a trophy at the awards dinner. From left, Marlene McDonald who bowled the highest single game and the highest three games in the women's division; Veronica McKillian; Robert Colburn, tournament chairman; Hal Kumpf, master of ceremonies; Teresa Paluche, team captain, and Anne Giermek. Bowler Catherine Mahon was absent. The team also received other trophies.
