

GOV'T AND THE DRAFT

WASHINGTON—Important decisions affecting the draft chances of Federal employees are beginning to take shape here. For the moment, they are still in the talk stage. It is possible, even, that they will never develop.

For those reasons, the Civil Service LEADER urges you not to bank on them until they actually do develop.

Nevertheless, here is the situation: Many responsible Federal officials are seriously urging a system which would have the effect of postponing the draft of fathers in the Government for many months—and perhaps even indefinitely.

The proposed plan makes a great deal of sense. In private conversations, War Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt is said to have indorsed it.

The Draft Pool

At present, the pool of draft eligible men is divided into three broad categories:

1. Men in non-deferrable activities.
2. Men in unclassified activities.
3. Men in essential activities, including the entire Federal Government.

As they now stand, draft rules specify that men in non-deferrable activities shall be called first. Then, men in unclassified activities and essential activities (except those in "critical jobs") shall be lumped together—and called according to their order number.

Under the proposed new plan, however, men in essential activity would not be called until all men in unclassified activity had been called.

A Large Group

Now, the unclassified activity group happens to be very large. Therefore, the effect of the plan would be to put off indefinitely the drafting of essential activity men.

This would serve two purposes. It would help protect essential activities by making their employees temporarily draft-proof. At the same time, it would actually bolster essential activity, by encouraging the transfer of many men now in the unclassified bracket.

Whether the new plan actually goes through or not, remains to be seen. It is, however, getting very serious consideration.

They Want Single Men in Another angle of the draft front developed last week when Chairman May (D., Ky.) of the House Military Affairs Committee inquired why some 300,000 single men in Government service had not been inducted, although there was no record of any request having been made for their deferment. And another Congressman, Costello of California, estimated that with due allowance for physical defects, 150,000 of these men should be available for military service. Of this group, he said, "it should be possible to put at least 50,000 of them in uniform this year."

JOBS

Internal Revenue To Increase Staff

WASHINGTON — Bureau of Internal Revenue plans a huge addition to its New York staff.

One thousand new employees, officials say, will be added to the processing section of the New York sorting unit.

This unit is the one which sorts and files all papers having to do with your income tax return. It handles that job for the entire country.

The increase in the New York staff is only part of a major expansion now being planned by Internal Revenue. In order to handle its big, new tax collection job, it plans to add a total of 8,500 employees throughout the country.

Only about 250, however, will be added to the Washington staff.

ODB

Ideas Pay Off

NEWARK — More than 250 suggestions from employees have come in during the first week of a campaign inaugurated by the Office of Dependency Benefits to obtain ideas from employees. The ODB is willing to pay handsomely for ideas that work; up to $250 and higher.

The employees have been invited to make suggestions which will improve efficiency, speed up the work, save money, or otherwise help the agency.

A committee has been appointed to judge the ideas submitted. The committee met, and after looking over the batch, decided that about a dozen ideas of the first 250 seemed worthy of further development.

But, in each case they needed more information, so they posted the numbers of the suggestions in which they were interested, and asked the employees to let them have more details.

An Idea That Saved Time

Floyd L. Smith, of the machine operation section, noticed that there seemed to be a lot of unnecessary handling of the checks. After all the checks were made out, they had to lie around until the last moment before the envelopes could be sealed. Reason: A number of checks were usually recalled each month, and they had to be located by number and withdrawn. The number appears on the upper right hand corner of the check.

This meant that there was a delay of about a day and a half in getting the checks in the mail.

So, Mr. Smith sat down and tried to figure out how to speed up the process.

Here was his solution: In addition to the cellophane window, which shows the name and address of the payee, he designed an envelope with a little cellophane window through which the number of the check can be seen.

Now, with this new envelope, the checks can be sealed in the envelope as soon as they are made out. Then when the recalled checks have been pulled out, the rest are ready for the mailbag.

Mailing Time Cut in Half

This month, the ODB announced that it had cut its best previous mailing time in half, and that this was the largest number of checks ever sent out in the office's year in Newark.

"The last of the 4,000,000 payments went into the mail just twelve and a half hours after the checks became legally payable," General H. N. Gilbert, head of the ODB, said. "It was the largest mailing we have had, accomplished in the shortest length of time." And full credit was given to Mr. Smith's idea of a little window in an envelope.

It's simple things like that which will bring financial rewards to ODB employees.

Rights and Privileges of U. S. Employees in the Armed Forces

WASHINGTON—The Civil Service LEADER requested of the United States Civil Service Commission a detailed statement on the rights and privileges of government employees in the armed forces. The first section of that statement, dealing with the employee's accumulated leave and with his status, appeared in the issue of September 14. A second instalment follows:

Advancement

The rights of employees who have entered the armed forces to periodic salary advancements within grade are regulated by section 5 of Executive Order 8882, September 3, 1941, which provides as follows: "Any employee of the Federal Government who in accordance with the provisions of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 (Public No. 703, 76th Cong.), or of Public Resolution No. 96 approved August 27, 1940, relating to the mobilization of auxiliary military personnel, is restored to the same position or a position of like seniority, status, and pay, without loss of seniority, shall be entitled to receive a salary at a rate of not less than the employee's latest rate prior to his entrance into active military or naval duty plus any within-grade salary advancement or advancements to which he would have been eligible under the provisions of the said section 7 (b) of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended." This provision applies to all persons who are subject to the Classification Act, either in the departmental service or in the field service.

In addition, the Comptroller General has held that regular postal employees ordered or inducted into military service, upon restoration to their civilian positions under the terms and conditions of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, or similar provisions in other legislation, may be advanced to the grade and salary to which they would have been advanced had their military service been civilian service. He has also held that the Postmaster General may adopt a rule for crediting time in the military service, based on an average number of hours service during a period preceding military service, for the purpose of fixing the salary rates of substitute postal employees upon their advancement to regulars. He has further held that the District of Columbia police, firemen, and teachers are entitled to be restored, in accordance with such terms and conditions, to the automatic grade or salary to which they would have been advanced had their military or naval service been civilian service.

The Comptroller General has held that employees who are restored to their positions under the provisions of law set forth above are entitled to the benefit of any reallocation of their positions during their absence.

Decentralization

WASHINGTON. — War Production Board has begun a program of decentralization that may send hundreds of employees away from Washington to field offices.

Officials say they are having too much trouble recruiting new workers in Washington. Therefore, they plan to transfer as many jobs as possible to the field.

Meantime, OPA's offices here likewise are retrenching. Peak employment was about 5,000—in January of this year. By mid-winter, however, General Manager Chester Bowles hopes to have his staff down to 3,500.

A LITTLE IDEA LIKE THIS—a window in the corner of an envelope which speeded up one operation by 50 percent, is what the Office of Dependency Benefits is looking for, and is ready to pay up to $250 to employees who can think them up. This idea came from an employee who saw a chance to improve the methods. The extra opening in the upper right hand corner made it possible to put the check in the envelope and still keep the number visible for last-minute changes. That saved one handling for over 4,000,000 checks each month.

Postal Men to Get War Service Status; Competitive Tests Will Become Tougher

By CHARLES SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON. — Here's very important news for postal workers—and prospective postal workers.

In the very near future, perhaps by the time this reaches print, Civil Service Commission expects to announce a policy which will put all new postal appointments on a War Service basis.

Also, it expects to tighten up on examinations, so as to require competitive tests of all newcomers.

As this is written, its is understood that the only thing holding up the new policy is a minor delay in the White House. However, the President is expected to put his signature on it almost momentarily.

The Background

Since March 16, 1941, new appointments in Federal agencies outside Post Office have been on a War Service basis. This has meant that employees so appointed have jobs only for the duration—plus six months.

Meantime, Postal Service has been following the policy of putting newcomers on the payroll as temporary employees. In this way, the employees were not permitted to acquire Civil Service status—and Post Office was spared the possible embarrassment that might result later when thousands of war veterans return.

As for the more rigid examinations—that's a different story:

During the hectic days of Government's rapid wartime expansion, Civil Service lowered its standards for almost all jobs, including those in the Postal Service. Now, however, since the bulk of the expansion has been completed, Civil Service again is raising its sights.

Hence the decision to require more exacting test for postal job applicants.

PROMOTIONS

New Setup In Effect

WASHINGTON — As forecast several weeks ago in The LEADER, Civil Service Commission has announced a new plan for controlling Federal employee promotions.

In the future, employees whose base pay is $2,600 or less, will find it easier to get raises. But those above $2,600 will find it harder.

As most employees know, the plan in effect before the change required Government workers to serve at least six months before they could be eligible for a $300-a-year-raise; and at least 12 months for a $600 raise.

The New Plan

The new plan, however, puts it on this basis:

If the entrance pay for your particular salary grade is $2,000 or below, the time limit is now 30 days.

If the entrance pay is $2,600 or below, the time limit is now 30 days.

If the entrance pay is more than $2,600, the old six months and 12 months rule still applies.

However, there is this addition:

Under the old plan, agency personnel directors could grant exceptions in unusually meritorious cases. Under the new plan, however, only Civil Service can grant exceptions.

District Clerk

To Be Selected

A clerk of district, Municipal Court appointment will be made in Manhattan. Three names were submitted from the list of the same title by the Civil Service Commission for the position which pays $3,300.

Agency Heads Won't Go Along With Butch

Mayor's Day-Off-for-$100-Bond-Sale Gets Bronx Cheer from Departments

The Mayor's letter to heads of all City departments made it seem that a City employee who sells $100 worth of War Bonds during the Third War Loan Drive is entitled to a day off.

But a LEADER check of the various municipal agencies showed that the question of whether or not a City employee would get the day off for selling the required amount of bonds was as confused as a lot of other things around this big town.

Here are some of the answers to the question, "Do your employees get a day off for selling $100 worth of Bonds?"

Police Department: "No, that letter couldn't possibly apply to the Police Department."

Fire Department: "No, we can't give our men days off."

Sanitation: "We still haven't decided what to do about it."

Health: "If an employee sells the $100 bond through the department's auditor's office, he'll get the day off. Yes, there's a limit to one day off per employee."

Borough President, Brooklyn: "Our employees are buying and selling all the bonds they can. Giving them a day off is like paying a premium for patriotism. No, we're not giving days off."

Borough President, Queens and Richmond: "Letter from the Mayor? About a day off for selling $100 worth of bonds? We haven't heard anything about it."

Board of Transportation: "We're an autonomous body and don't have to take directions from the Mayor. We're not giving any days off to sell bonds."

Hospitals: "We haven't had any requests from employees for days off."

Comptroller's Office: "No, we're not going along with the Mayor's request to give days off for selling bonds. We've gotten some requests for days off, but we can't give them."

Public Works: "We'll give our employees the day off, but we're still working on a formula to decide just how to work it."

Civil Service Works It Out

Civil Service Commission was one of the few departments The LEADER could find which went about the $100 bond-day-off business methodically.

Posted near the time-clock in the Commission's office is this notice:

"Any employee who will undertake to go out and sell at least $100 worth of bonds will be entitled to a day off. These bonds must be purchased by someone other than the employee, or a fellow employee, since employees of the Commission are already under obligation to buy as many bonds as they can.

"The day off may be taken in advance of the sale, so that it can be used for the purpose for which it is granted, or it may be taken after the sale if

To: Heads of Departments and Agencies

Subject: Third War Loan Drive

I know from my own knowledge that city employees are doing their share in buying bonds and war stamps. In fact I know and can say that our city employees need no urging when it comes to any effort to aid in the prosecution of the war.

It occurred to me though that we may have some good salesmen among our city employees and you are hereby authorized to give a day off to anyone who will undertake to go out and sell at least $100 worth of bonds. He must guarantee to make such sale.

Let me have your report at your earliest convenience.

Mayor

THIS IS THE LETTER which Mayor LaGuardia sent to his department heads. The employees got pretty joyous about it, but the department heads just thumbed their noses. Well, boys and gals, it was a nice idea, wasn't it. And thank you, Mr. Mayor, for a kind if fleeting remembrance.

the employee makes the sale on his own time. Sale of bonds should be arranged through the Fiscal Office, and the day off should be entered upon the employee's time card."

Welfare Department sent the following notice to its staff:

"Between September 17 and October 20, employees who sell Bonds through the Department will have one day added to their vacation or sick leave, which must be taken in accordance with department regulations on leaves."

Parks Department: The office of Chief Clerk James A. Sherry said the Dept. hadn't received any official notice of the Mayor's letter. They'd read about it in the papers, but that isn't official.

EXAMS

Disappointing Turn-out

Despite the fact that it is offering permanent jobs with almost certain post-war employment, and opportunities for advancement, the City received a disappointing turnout of applicants for the current series of civil service examinations.

A large number of those who file applications for tests fail to appear when the examination is held. A number of applications will be returned because those who file do not meet the preliminary requirement. Some always fail the examination. In short the turnout won't help the City meet its personnel problems. But for those who have applied, the chances of landing a position are correspondingly greater.

Following is the number of applications filed for the City tests a few days before applications were closed last week:

Just Double Up On the Work!

Here's bad news to the City clerical worker, who sees the man at the next desk being taken into the Army.

When there are military vacancies in operating or maintenance jobs, the City approves filling the spot.

But when it comes to clerical help, the policy is that the work can be absorbed by others in the office.

Only in exceptional cases will permission be given to take on clerical replacements.

HOLIDAYS

How the Time Off Situation Works In City, State

One cause of amazement among City employees is the way different City departments do things. For instance, persons of the Jewish faith are observing their holidays on September 30, and October 1 and 9.

As usual, the City Council passed a resolution asking the Departments to give leave to their employees who wish to observe the holidays.

The Council resolution, introduced by Councilman Edward Vogel, reads as follows:

"Resolved, that the heads of City, County and Borough offices of the City of New York be and they are hereby authorized to grant leaves of absence with pay to all employees under their jurisdiction, including those on a per diem basis who observe their religious duties on the Jewish New Year, September 30 and October 1, and the Day of Atonement, October 9, 1943."

That seems clear and simple. But a LEADER survey of a number of City Departments showed that it wasn't as simple as all that.

Time Off With Pay

The following departments are giving their employees the time off, with pay, and don't deduct the days from vacation or sick leave: Borough President of Manhattan, Borough President of Richmond, Civil Service Commission, Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, Sanitation, Comptroller's Office, and Parks Department.

Time Off With Deductions

Some departments, however, allow the employees to take the time off, but deduct it from sick leave or vacation time. Among these are the Department of Public Works, Welfare, Health Department.

Police-Fire

The Police and Fire Departments have their own system. There, the civilian employees get their holidays, but not the uniformed force. However, in the Police Department, some of the uniformed men working on details such as office work, do get the time off.

Hospitals

Hospitals Department has a unique method of allowing the holiday time. Here the rules of the department provide that two days may be taken for the holidays, but the third day is charged as an absence.

The State Departments

In an unprecedented move designed to emphasize the growing importance of the State Civil Service Commission as the chief agency of personnel management, that department this week issued a directive releasing Jewish employees for observance of their religious holidays.

Heretofore, State departments operated upon a hit-and-miss basis so far as providing time off for religious observance by adherents of all faiths, or for absence on other occasions. Sometimes, in years past, the Governor's office would issue an executive order or the Division of the Budget would do so.

Thus department heads and agencies were surprised this week when to all of them went a directive signed by Judge J. Edward Conway, president of the Civil Service Commission. It is an open secret that at least one department resented what it deemed was interference in personnel management by the Civil Service Commission, but Judge Conway, it is reported, cleared up that misapprehension in short order. It is no secret that Governor Dewey stands squarely behind the Commission in this matter and that the step represents an important development in policy and power of the Commission, which intends more and more to exert those controls of employee management which it believes properly belong in a strong, central agency.

Protest Brings Reply

Protest by a small group of non-Jews that their rights might be impaired by the release order, that an excess of time was being provided, and they weren't benefitting by a like amount of time off, brought swift and caustic rejoinder from the Commission.

"The exercise and observance of one's religious duties is basic in our form and structure of government. Its protection is paramount particularly in these bitter days," said the Commission, in effect. "Instead of protesting you should be the first to protect that American fundamental. You should be fighting to see that opportunities for the free exercise of religious worship are fully provided."

The admonition was sympathetically received by spokesmen of the group who admitted they "hadn't thought the thing through." There were no more complaints, but accord.

Some Raises Going to City Workers in $2,500 Bracket

(EXCLUSIVE)

Current headache in the Budget office is what to do about employees who are getting above $2,500 a year.

Numerous groups of City employees; engineers, inspectors, higher bracket office workers, are complaining that the higher cost of living and taxes are squeezing them dry.

They weren't included in the $120 cost-of-living boost which went to lower paid City employees.

As requests come in from the department heads asking that consideration (in the form of cash) be given to these persons, some of whom haven't seen a raise for as long as fifteen years, they are examined by the Budget Office.

Numerous increases have been handed out, says the Budget Office, and others are in the process.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEMBERS of the New York City chapter, Association of State Civil Service Employees assembled to pay tribute to their former president, J. Earl Kelly. Front Row: Elizabeth Eastman, corresponding secretary; Milton Schwartz, past president; Mr. Kelly; John F. Powers, president. Standing: Joseph Byrnes, treasurer; Michael L. Porta, 2nd vice-president; Eva Heller, chairman Publicity Committee; Kenneth A. Valentine, financial secretary; Lawrence Epstein, 1st. vice-president. Kelly was awarded an engraved, illuminated scroll in recognition of his work for the Association. The presentation was made by Schwartz, in a witty speech explaining the psychology of leadership. President Powers asked the delegates to prepare memos for the Statewide convention of the ASCSE on October 19.

Is John L. Lewis Acting To Take Over Civil Service?

[EXCLUSIVE]

New York City employees aren't miners. Maybe you'd think that would stop John L. Lewis from taking them into his United Mine Workers Union. Think again, brother! The fact is—and you might as well look it in the face—that the United Mine Workers outfit is organizing New York City municipal employees.

So far, the union, through its "catch-all" unit, known as District 50, has made one big haul—the school custodial workers.

Back of this haul lies a tale of inter-union bitterness, and a system of payments and working conditions not duplicated elsewhere in the City service.

Here's the story:

The custodial engineers in the City schools, who are in charge of maintenance and upkeep of school properties, cleaning, heating, etc., are paid in a lump sum by the City. Out of this lump sum, they hire their own helpers. If there is anything left over, they don't turn it back to the City. For a long time, the custodial engineers set their own pay scales, hired and fired at will, established the conditions of work to suit themselves. And for many years, their underpaid, badly-treated helpers have sought civil service status, and a system of working conditions and payments direct from the City, without avail.

Union Men Hire Union Men

Now the custodial engineers belong to a union, known as the International Union of Operating Engineers, local 891, AFL. And their helpers belonged to another union, the Building Employees Service Union, local 74, also AFL.

An extraordinary situation developed here, in that the custodians are in every sense bosses, even though they have their own union. And that union had a closed shop contract with local 74! But the custodial engineers didn't like the idea of a closed shop with the employees, so they took the issue to court—and lost.

The Grievances

Meanwhile, Local 74 (keep it straight, that's the helpers' union), has been getting kicked around, says its former secretary-treasurer, conscientious Harry M. Hirsh. True, it had a contract calling for a closed shop, vacations with pay, time-and-a-half for overtime over 48 hours. "But," says Hirsh, "that contract wasn't enforced. We got no cooperation from our own international when we were too weak to enforce the provisions of the contract. We took the custodians before the Labor Board and beat them, and we got two court decisions against them. So they organized a company union (891-A), and gave it a charter. Our own international accepted this without a murmur, while 400 members of local 74 went over to the new group." "Our only way out," says Hirsh, "was to join an organization that would give us better backing." They considered tying up with the State, County and Municipal Workers, CIO, but decided against it. They didn't want to join the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, "because that's another AFL union." So they turned to the United Mine Workers District 50, which quickly gave them a charter. According to the union, it covers some 2,300 members of the old Local 74.

The affiliation has not yet been ratified by the rank and file of custodial workers. A membership meeting has been called for Saturday, October 2, at Irving Plaza Hall, where the members will be asked to OK the action of the executive board.

The LEADER asked Mr. O. Hartman, of the New York regional office of the UMW, whether the affiliation of the custodial workers indicates a move by the UNW to organize municipal employees generally. His laconic answer was: "We're out to organize all the unorganized."

So that's the setup, brother. The man who called a strike in time of war is after your dues. It's not something that might happen. It's here—now!

COMPTROLLER Relax!

Over forty ambitious employees of the Comptroller's Office took a promotional examination to Examiner, 5th grade.

In the Army, what followed is known as "sweating it out." They waited and finally, about a week ago, those who had failed the test were notified.

About twenty of the survivors who hadn't been notified figure that means they've passed. They'd like to know where they stand on the list, and what their chances of promotion are, so they communicate with the Civil Service Commission.

The Commission tells them that the list will appear when the Commission orders it published. With that definite information, they can relax.

Promotions Due

The Municipal Civil Commission submitted to the Emergency Revenue Division of the Comptroller's Office 7 names from the departmental promotion list to the title of Accountant. Six promotions are scheduled to be made on a permanent basis at $2,401. The last number reached on the list was 51.

DWSGE

Of Snakes And Outhouses

The engineers of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity keep in touch with their former associates who are now in the services.

A neat little paper, the Siphon, appears monthly, edited by Mr. Delbourgo. It's mailed to all the boys in service, and press date is an exciting event on the 24th floor of the Municipal Building.

Here are some of their reports from the war fronts:

Private Cornelius F. Kirk, from India tells of watching Bengal tigers walking through the streets. He's also fascinated by the great variety and prevalence of snakes.

Major Leon K. Kurland has entered the Command and General Staff School, where he will take courses and emerge a Lieutenant Colonel.

From the Seebees, Stanley A. Longhurst reports that they're building everything from outhouses to airports.

Lt. Edward Keiller, U.S.N., writes that he had an exciting time during the invasion of Sicily.

HEALTH

About Chief Clerk

There are thirteen grade 5 clerks in the offices of the Department of Health.

For several months, the position of Chief Clerk in the department has been vacant. The Chief Clerk's post paid $4,500 when it was held by Matthew Byrne who was elevated to Secretary of the Department.

Now, the thirteen top ranking clerks would like to see one of their number get the boost to Chief Clerk. The position has always been filled by selection from among the top ranking clerks, but there are rumors floating around 125 Worth Street that a promotional examination may be given for the job.

PURCHASE

On the Way Up

New secretary of the Department of Purchase is Louis E. Yauner, just appointed to the $5,000 a year post.

And hard working assistant to the Commissioner, Louis W. Murray, LEADER Merit Man, received a $500 increase last week.

Bill in Council Aims to Protect Workers Against Arbitrary Firing

Protection of City employees against being fired except after a hearing is provided by a bill introduced at the last City Council meeting by Councilman William M. McCarthy.

The bill provides:

- 1—No civil service employee in the competitive, non-competitive or labor class can be removed from his job except on charges of incompetence, misconduct or insubordination, and only after a hearing before the appointing officer or his representative.
- 2—At such hearing, the employee shall have the right to be represented by counsel and witnesses; he is entitled to a written notice of the charges against him.

- 3—In case of removal, a copy of all testimony and the decision of the officer must be submitted to the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

At the present time, machinery for disciplining an employee is haphazard, and varies from department to department. Many attempts have been made to set up a uniform procedure of dismissals, but these procedures have never gotten very far. The matter once came up for discussion by officials on the Mayor's Committee for Simplification of Procedures, but that meeting indicated such a diversity of views that the subject was never pursued further.

The McCarthy bill is now with the Committee on Civil Employees.

there may be a bit of trouble in getting hold of enough men.

Those now in an essential industry can't leave their jobs if they are offered the Sanitation posts, and they expect to find it hard to locate 500 men on the list who are in non-essential work.

Manhattan to Be In 2 Parts

A division of the Borough of Manhattan into two separate districts by the Department of Sanitation is in the offing.

This would call for the opening of two small headquarters offices on the East and West side, and might result in a few promotions and the creation of some extra jobs in the department.

support the boys in the front lines, but they don't think they've done anything special, and ask that their names shouldn't be printed.

Assistant Foremen Eligibles to Meet

The Assistant Foremen Eligible Association will meet on Tuesday, September 28, at 8 p.m., at Columbia Hall, 910 Union Street, Brooklyn.

All men on this list are invited to attend the meeting, at which officers will be elected and plans made for future ac-

PUBLIC WORKS Cleaning Women $940 to $860

Cleaning women employed by the Department of Public Works are sent around to all City buildings during the early hours of the morning to get them cleaned up for the next day's work.

A number of these women had been hired on a provisional basis as there was no civil service list available, and (They have a short work-week) they were getting $940 a year.

Then the Civil Service Commission accepted applications for the job and drew up a list of eligibles.

But Now It's Less

The Department of Public Works began appointing women, but now they only get $860.

The explanation: The former women in the job came in under the cost-of-living increase given to all lower paid City employees on July 1. The new women just get the regular salary.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, is trying to get more money for these women. They argue that the cost of living has gone up for people who take City jobs after July 1, too.

SUBWAYS Transit Cops Want P.D. Status

A bill introduced at the City Council meeting last week by Councilman James A. Philips is regarded as starting a movement to absorb the transit police into the regular police force.

The bill provides "members of the transit police force, employed by the Board of Transportation shall in the performance of their duties as transit police . . . possess the powers, perform the duties and be subject to the orders, rules and regulations of the Police Department in the same manner as regular patrolmen."

Their Arguments

Transit police have been campaigning for their inclusion in the regular police force. They point out that they are performing the same work as police, many of them have been appointed from the eligible list for patrolmen, and yet they're receiving less pay than the police, and miss other advantages of police jobs.

For precedence, they have the case of the "sparrow cops" of Central Park. This was a group of men hired to patrol the Park about twenty years ago, who were later taken into the Police Department in a body.

Names For Jobs

The Board of Transportation, desperately in need of manpower, last week received names of eligibles from several civil service lists.

The board got 29 names from the assistant train dispatcher list for appointment on temporary basis to make military replacements. The salary offered is $2,280 and number 140 was reached.

The Civil Service Commission

also submitted 5 names on a preferred list for auto-engineer to make one temporary appointment (military replacement) at $1,800.

To make temporary promotions to car maintainer at 90 cents an hour, the board received 10 names gathered from two lists. Names were taken from the promotion lists for car maintainer, groups A, E and F; and airbrake maintainer.

SANITATION 500 'B' Men

Five hundred "B" men will be added to the Department of Sanitation very soon.

Right now, the request from Commissioner William F. Carey is in the Budget Office and permission to hire the men is expected to come through.

When approval is received, men now on the sanitation man "A" list will be offered the positions. First they will have to pass a practical test in driving a truck. The jobs pay $2,100, but

WNYC 16 for 16

Park Local 111 To Elect Officers

Park Department employees who are members of Local 111, SCMW, will nominate and elect officers at their next regular general membership meeting on Tuesday, September 28, at 8:30 p. m. The meeting takes place at 13 Astor Place, Manhattan. Bill Hagan, delegate to the national convention in Cleveland, will make a report.

The future will demand a humane culture of its leaders

The advent of war has shown the limitations of a world in which the premium has been upon mere technical competence. Without liberal enlightenment, no thoughtful citizen can understand or discharge his responsibilities to himself and to society. In the School of Philosophy and Liberal Arts, leaders train leaders, imparting the deeper understanding, the broader culture which will fit men and women to assume the tasks and privileges of a world which will be at peace. Knowledge instills confidence; confidence produces leaders. Tomorrow is almost here — it's up to you to capitalize on its magnificent opportunities. Now is the time . . .

EDUCATION AT AN ADULT LEVEL

The New School is a school for adults, and students are treated as such. Its faculty of world authorities is not interested in educational formality but in the liberal informing of adult minds. Interchange of opinion, and discussion which relates the subject to the students' problems, are encouraged. Faculty and students are mature, interesting individuals. You associate with them in an environment which both stimulates and satisfies curiosity and the instinct to learn.

RAILROAD WORKERS

Railroads are the nerve centers of our all-out war effort and as such must be kept fully manned day and night to transport our fighting men, guns, tanks, ammunition, supplies to points of embarkation or to training points on this side.

The extreme importance of railroads is shown by the fact that they are classed as prime military objectives and as such, railroad shops, yards, stations, all facilities and equipment are first to be bombed and shelled by our forces.

If the enemy's railroads are that important, surely our own are doubly important not only in war time but in peace time.

Nearly every department on every railroad needs help. Show your all-out spirit by inquiring as to present opportunities and also opportunity for the future.

Age limits generally 17 to 55. Good health is, of course, necessary.

Call today for a personal interview bringing with you proof of age and your social security card.

ASSOCIATIONS

Permanent $1,200
Minimum Sought

ALBANY—A drive to make the present $1,200 State minimum salary permanent will be discussed, among other proposals at the annual meeting of the Association of State Civil Service Employees on October 19, in Albany, it was revealed this week. High State officials will join delegates and members of the association in celebrating the organization's 33d anniversary at the sessions.

The $1,200 minimum salary standard now is a temporary measure enacted by the Legislature only for a year. It has met with such popular response, however, that the association intends to make the Act permanent, if possible. Indeed, there is a lot of speculation here whether State Senator Joe R.
Hanley, GOP candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, may not himself support the proposal in one of his campaign speeches.

Legislative Program

Besides electing officers, the 33d annual meeting of the association will also consider a program of activities for next year.

Up for discussion will be these subjects: Continued improvement of services to citizens; cost of living pay adjustments; equitable salary scales and title classification in cases of extension of the career law; fair application of reasonable maintenance values; extension of coverage to many positions not now covered; inclusion of many institution workers under Feld-Hamilton who now are not in either competitive or non-competitive classes; study of retirement provisions to provide more adequately for employees in low income groups; uniform vacation leaves; full protection of employees now in military service; machinery for prompt adjustment of employee grievances; increased travel allowances to meet higher war costs.

There will be panel discussions and luncheon and dinner sessions.

Did You Get a Day Off For Selling Bonds?

WELL, WE'RE about to say a good word for Mayor LaGuardia. This time he deserves it. For he supplied an excellent incentive to the city's employees whereby they would be able to help themselves while helping the war. He did it by the simple expedient of telling them they could have a day off if they should sell $100 in war bonds. And from the telephone calls that have been flooding our office all week long, the employees must be doing a bang-up job of selling bonds. We like to see incentives like this. It makes the tasks of the New York City employee seem more worthwhile.

However, we must sadly add a sour note. While the Mayor's memo to the departments was clear, some of the straw-bosses around town have taken to "interpreting" it. No, they're saying, provisional employees can't have the day off. Or temporary employees. Or somebody doing a special job. Or, "We're an independent agency. We don't take orders from the Mayor. Or "It wasn't an order. It was just a request." Or weaseling out of it by some technical subterfuge.

But here's LaGuardia's own language: "...you are hereby authorized to give a day off to ANYONE who will undertake to go out and sell at least $100 worth of bonds. ..."

You'll find more about this on page 3. Meantime, don't let this stop you from buying and selling more and more bonds!

Accumulated Leave

LADY came into our office this week and told us one of the saddest stories we've heard in many a day.

"My husband worked in the Navy Yard. He came home recently after a hard day's work—and a few minutes later he was dead. He had 53 days accumulated leave coming to him. But I was informed by the Navy Yard that I'm not entitled to get any part of that in cash. I need it now more than when he was alive."

Now the Navy Yard wasn't being tough. It's simply that, according to the regulations as they stand today, accumulated leave evaporates upon the death of an employee. That's why all Federal employees should get behind a bill introduced into the U. S. Senate by Senator Ellender. The bill's number is S. 894, and it provides that when an employee dies and has accumulated leave which had not been granted, his dependents should be paid "an amount equal to the compensation to which he would have been entitled during the period of such accumulated annual leave if such annual leave had been granted."

V For Vetgossip

By ARTHUR LIEBERS

Vet Supervisor Reduced in Rank

In last week's LEADER was a story about a supervisor in Veterans Administration; how allegations had been made by employees against him, and that they were being investigated; that the supervisor was away on leave.

Here's the outcome of the situation as explained by Charles J. Reichert, manager of the office:

"A letter was received from George Inhat, in which he said that the job of supervisor was a little too much for him. He asked to be reduced two grades to CAF 3, and to be placed in a non-supervisory capacity. This has been done."

As to the allegations, Mr. Reichert said that because of "conflicting" statements by employees, the matter was being dropped.

P.S.: Readers are advised that they are not at liberty to draw any conclusions connecting the "allegations" and the voluntary "demotion" of the supervisor. As Mr. Reichert told the story, there seemed to be no connection between the two.

Sick?

A couple of the boys hadn't been feeling too chipper the last few days, so that they dropped into the medical office. ... Later they got together and compared notes.

According to their reports, whatever the ailment is, from a sore tonsil to a sprained toenail, the trouble is the same. ... Two little pigs.

Don't Repeat This!

The professional "degree" of a well-known downtown politician is under scrutiny. ... State Commission Grows Up Under Judge Edward Conway, the State Civil Service Commission shows signs of becoming a strong, not a weak body. Transfer of the function of issuing employee directives from the Executive Department to the Commission means a new expansion of power, a tightening of employee-management control. ... Governor Dewey is going to insist that all State agencies look to the Commission for leadership in personnel administration. ... There are indications that while the Commission does not intend to invoke any revolutionary policies, it does expect to exert growing influence in personnel matters everywhere. ... POLICE CALLS

The Bond Picture

Here's the picture of bond sales and purchases by members of the force as of last Friday:

Purchased by individual P.D. members, $167,400.

Purchased through article 2, Police Pension Fund, $250,000.

Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, $3,750.

Traffic Squad Benevolent Association, $2,000.

P. D. Civilian Council, $100. Outside subscriptions credited to the P. D., $1,525,000.

That makes a total of $1,948,250 directly attributable to members of the department. And there are still two more paydays to go in order to hit tops.

What's going to be done with that money? Here's what: 25 to 30 fighter planes, at $75,000 each, will be bought, and each will be marked "City of New York Police."

That's nice going, boys. Congratulations! And a special word for Fifth Deputy Commissioner Vincent Finn, who's heading up the drive in the department.

P. D. Now Has A Diver

The Police Department now has a diver. Whenever a professional diver was needed, the department used to call on Joseph T. Buhler.

Merit Men

IF IT HAS TO DO with children, chances are that Dr. Leona Baumgartner has a hand in it. As head of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of New York City's Health Department, she supervises the infant health of the City.

Day care agencies, foster homes, midwives, child health stations, children's dental clinic and maternity health stations, are all in her bureau.

Now Another Job

The Federal Government has started a national program to give maternity assistance to wives of men in the services.

The Federal Government provides the money which is distributed through the State Health Departments, and here in New York City, the Health Department is administering the project, headed by Dr. Baumgartner.

Here's the way it works.

If a woman is married to a man in the Army, Navy Coast Guard or Marine Corps in the lower five grades of the service, she is entitled to free hospitalization when she is having the baby, and for as long as six weeks afterwards. If she has her own doctor, the Government will pay him up to $50, and she may choose her own hospital, provided that it is one approved by the government which has agreed to cooperate with the program. About 50 hospitals in New York City are on the approved list.

For the first year of the baby's life, he is entitled to free medical service at any one of the 63 Child Health Clinics maintained by the Department of Health. And if the services of a specialist are necessary, they are provided.

This service is rendered with a minimum of redtape. Expectant wives of service men can get application forms at any Health Department Office, at Red Cross Stations, Welfare Offices and at hospitals.

For an idea of the amount of work involved in this program, here are some figures: In the first few weeks, over 1,500 applications came in. Every day about 300 phone calls for information come in. Fifty people drop in personally, and a hundred or so letters have to be answered.

She's Plenty Busy

Dr. Baumgartner herself is so busy, that this reporter probably wouldn't have been able to corner her if she hadn't taken ill and been forced to stay home.

Recuperating in her book-lined apartment on Washington Square, seemed to consist of managing a steady stream of appointments while handling the affairs of her office over the phone.

General Bradley's Column

a regular weekly LEADER feature, will appear next week as usual. Brigadier General John J. Bradley, Ret., is now on vacation. Next Tuesday's column will deal with the vocational opportunities for servicemen.

"This method would make the transition gradual. The younger men would get a chance for promotion. The incentive to study, advance and serve would greatly help morale and efficiency. The net result would be no policy making official within a couple of years who would be over age and unfit on account thereof."

"After all, four years ago we had no more vacancies than now. But then the City was crying lack of funds. They are just stalling."

"A few months ago one of your readers made this suggestion. We all know that a gradual change would not affect the department because not more than 100 men a year would be compelled to retire for age under this plan."

SERGEANT.

Tricky Questions On Exams

A law case lost by a Buffalo cop may some day set a precedent for New York City patrolmen.

The cop contended that questions like "You can't change human nature. True or False?" didn't belong on a lieutenants' exam. But the judge said:

"The primary purpose of a civil service examination is to determine fitness for office. This is often lost sight of in the preparation of questions commonly denominated as tricky." That was the opinion of Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. Hinckley. However, he ruled that the Commission's questions must be accepted.

Grist in the Mailbag

Here's some stuff from this week's batch of letters. They're still coming in, and we don't have to tell you how glad we are to get 'em.

"Sirs: What became of that order requiring all detail men, captains included, to work Saturday afternoons?" H. R. J.

"Dear Editor: Read SUBSCRIBER'S letter in Tuesday's Police Calls. Your query about who should get an acting job not only in the Police Department but in any City department, answers itself with the answer to the question, 'Why do we have the merit system and civil service examinations?'"

OFFICER

"Editor: Retiring over age superiors could be easily accomplished without hurting the City. The remedy is to retire the two oldest men in each rank every month. If there are no men over 63 years of age in a particular rank, none need be retired for age."

NAVY YARD GAZETTE

How's About Walking?

The Navy Yard worker, one of more than 70,000 men and women, is a mighty important person. Nothing brings home this point more strongly than that recent Commandant's Notice announcing that certain gasoline stations were to be reserved for the exclusive use of Yard employees coming to work by car. Moreover, streamlined buses whisk him to and from distant parts of the Yard; trolley tracks have been ripped up and re-laid just so that he could travel to and from work a few minutes faster; and there are even special buses and taxis at train stations and at main exits of the Yard to help him get most anywhere he might desire. That these facilities are urgently needed is beyond question.

Those Who Should Walk

But we wonder why a person will wait ten or fifteen minutes for a bus or taxi requiring seven to ten minutes to whisk him to the Yard from the subway, when he can so easily walk to or from the Yard in about the same time. Is there any reason why those who spend about half an hour in the subway before reaching this bus or taxi, can't get up ten minutes earlier and have a truly

BILLS

Did You Sign 'Under Protest'?

At present, a City employee can't collect back wages even after he wins a lawsuit, unless he has signed every payroll "under protest."

Cases are constantly being lost by City workers who didn't get increments, or prevailing rates, just because they neglected to indicate that they were dissatisfied with the amount of their check.

In one recent case, an employee had notified his department in writing that he thought he was entitled to more money. The court held that wasn't enough. He had neglected to write "under protest" with his name as the law requires, and so he was out of luck.

What the Code Says

The City's Administrative Code says that if you sign your payroll sheet without any remarks, that means you're satisfied with the check. Unless you've signed the words "under protest" beneath your name, you can't get another cent for that pay period.

The way it worked out was that many City workers suddenly discovered that they hadn't been getting full pay, but they couldn't do a thing about the money they hadn't got.

To eliminate this section of the City law, a bill was introduced by Councilman Anthony J. DiGiovanna at the last meeting of the legislative group. (First story about this impending measure appeared in The LEADER for September 7.)

If the bill passes, your signature on the payroll sheet will merely mean that you've been paid, and nothing more. It will make it unnecessary to sign "under protest" in order to assure that you won't be left out in the cold if, at some future date, it's determined that you haven't been paid all that's coming to you.

The measure was referred to the Council's Committee on Finance.

The new bill was sponsored by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, which reports that it will contact members of the committee and endeavor to have early action taken on the proposed legislation.

The following Council mem-enjoyable time walking to work from the station?

A few Yard employees have discovered the virtues of walking. One of them, who lives about one half-block from a main trolley line which brings him right in front of the Yard, frequently spends about forty minutes walking to work, just for the pleasure of walking. Another has found Fort Greene Park an interesting place to walk through on the way from the Long Island Railroad Station. He reports that it takes him twenty to twenty-five minutes to walk from the station, and through the park to the Navy Yard. Others find the Fort Greene Housing Project interesting.

Workmen Sleeping?

Here's an indignant letter we got about that piece which appeared here complaining of loafing in the Yard.

"Sirs: This is in reply to the moron who showed such poor taste in criticizing the yard as he did. He complained about workmen sleeping beneath and on the decks of men o' war; he also deprecated the red tape and time lost thereby. . . . To top everything else, he complained about the workmanship.

"To this individual and all

bers make up the committee which is considering the bill: Joseph E. Kinsley, chairman; William M. McCarthy, William A. Carroll, Frederick Schick, Hugh Quinn, Edward Vogel, Stanley M. Isaacs, and Gertrude W. Klein.

Sharkey Couldn't Recover

One report is that the bill will have one certain supporter in the Council. It is said that at one time, majority leader and vice-chairman of the Council, Joseph T. Sharkey was unable to recover money from the City which was due him because he had neglected to mark his payroll signatures "under protest."

U. S. Measures

The following listing of civil service measures now before the Congress continues the listing begun in last week's issue of The LEADER.

like him let me say that they are more to be pitied than censured. In the yard, there are duty officers, naval lieutenants, who keep a constant vigil; the few workmen caught loafing are taken into strict accountability. If a sensible explanation is not heard, the employee is suspended. Two or three suspensions may terminate one's position.

"By sensible explanation I mean: You may go aboard ship and see a welder idling for about twenty minutes. To the layman, it would appear that he was loafing. Upon questioning, you'd learn that the welder is waiting for the chipper to make bevels on two butting ends of a plate into which the weld will go. The same situation may result when one trade is necessarily attendant upon the other.

"As for red tape which causes lost time. This will occur when the employee is new and unacquainted with procedure necessary in any establishment employing tens of thousands.

"Furthermore, it is no delusion or idle boast to state that the workmanship in the Yard is unsurpassed by any shipyard anywhere.

Hardships

"If people only knew some of the hardships the shipworker goes through they'd be more sympathetic and lenient in their judgment of him. All the day long power hammers make deafening noise comparable to machine gun fire. On all sides there are welders' flashes and fumes. A welder's flash often causes the most excruciating eye pain imaginable. Swinging cranes carrying deadly loads and jutting steel can make the shipworker's life as hazardous as the soldier's."

"Let every man remember that each ship he sees is a mausoleum honoring workmen's blood, sweat, and tears. It is a sham to justice to brand one particular shipyard because a few abuse the trust placed in them."

She wants to win an unpopularity contest!

Elizabeth Jenkins seeks title of
"Most hated by Axis in 1943!"

THE AXIS has probably never heard of Miss Elizabeth Jenkins—but she's doing her level best to change that!

For example:

Elizabeth works in an essential industry thereby releasing, in effect, a fighting man. And out of the salary she draws for that work she puts 22% into War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. She figures that her investment may help to maintain the three fighting men who are closest to her—her two brothers and her father.

"They're fighting for me, so the least I can do is to help buy the tools they fight with!"
says Elizabeth.

Her father commands a brigade of the North Carolina State Guard. He saw action overseas in the last war and his stories have made Elizabeth keenly aware of the importance of her investment in War Bonds. Her father has explained that no matter how much spirit and fight a soldier has, he needs
the best equipment that money can buy.
He has also pointed out that American soldiers are the best equipped in the world.

Miss Jenkins wants to keep them that way, because in addition to her father, she has two brothers in the Army.

Lieutenant Tom is an anti-aircraft artilleryman. Captain Jack is in the Air Corps.
So Elizabeth is reasonably sure that in one way or another, the Axis will hear from the Jenkins family in the near future. It makes no difference to Elizabeth whether her War Bond investment buys bombs or shells—either one will get her a few more votes for the title she's seeking.

Are you doing as much for America's future as Elizabeth Jenkins? Are you as anxious as she is to get the war over and get the war won? Every dollar you can lend hurries Victory, so . . .

Weren't there a few more dollars in your last pay envelope that could have gone into War Bonds—but didn't? Get out a pencil right now, and see if you can't boost the percentage you're putting aside for Uncle Sam —and yourself!

YOU'VE DONE YOUR BIT --- NOW DO YOUR BEST!

Comprehensive Convention

"Today strike is not the medium for winning adjustment of grievances." These blunt words, uttered by its president, Abram Flaxer, set the pace at the national convention of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, CIO, held September 22 to 25.

An elaborate officer's report was issued to the 400 delegates attending the convention.
 Among the points made:

1. Because of the manpower shortage and the poor way in which municipalities have handled that shortage, important municipal work is not being done as it should.
2. Welfare employees, says the report, are considered non-essential. "The very people who are essential to avert disaster are given no more consideration than bookies."
3. There is a tendency to increase working hours in many cities. "In New York City's Sanitation Department orders are to stay out until the job is done, whether it take 10 hours or 12 hours."
4. The main reason for migration away from public service is the desire for a living wage.

The SCMWA stated that the extension of collective bargaining in the public service is one of its chief aims. It was revealed, too, that the union now holds 38 collective bargaining agreements, covering 5,029 employees in various communities.
 The SCMWA claims a national membership of 38,249.
 Each delegate received a copy of the union's annual financial report, which gives a detailed picture of the financial structure of the organization.

WELFARE

Who Goes First?

The Department of Welfare still hasn't admitted that it is planning to dismiss any administrators. "We are over-quota in the administrative staff, and are considering the matter." That's the official word from the Department officers.

But last week the department asked the Municipal Civil Service Commission to determine which of two administrators was senior in the department.

The department, it was learned at welfare headquarters, told the Commission that it was about to eliminate a number of positions in the senior supervisor, grade 4 category. In connection with this, a problem came up as to which of two administrators was to be let out first, and the department asked the Commission to figure out the matter.

The Trouble

Here is the difficulty: Pearl Ortenberg was number 81 on the list for senior supervisor, grade 4; Ida Ellen Wicht was number 82. Mrs. Wicht was appointed as senior supervisor, grade 4, on February 15, 1939. Mrs. Ortenberg was appointed on the same day, but from the supervisor grade 2 list. Thereafter, on May 18, 1939, Mrs. Ortenberg resigned from the grade 2 position and was appointed to a position as senior supervisor, grade 4.

The question was: since they had both been appointed to the civil service on the same day, would their position on the civil service eligibles' list determine the seniority, or the date of appointment to the grade 4 position?

The department asked the Commission for speedy action as it was anxious to take action with respect to dismissals.

Ortenberg Goes

The decision of the Commission was that Mrs. Ortenberg should be laid off before Mrs. Wicht.

"Where two employees have the same date of entry into the civil service," the Commission ruled, "the one who has the earlier date of appointment to the title in which the lay-off impends should be regarded as the senior."

The lay-off situation in the Department of Welfare is further complicated by the fact that Maud Hamilton, another senior supervisor, grade 4, who has been notified that she is number 1 on the lay-off list, has protested her position, and her attorney has communicated with the Civil Service Commission; she feels that other members of the administrative staff should be below her on the list.

Trek to War

There's a steady trek from the Department of Welfare to the training camps and "boot" stations. Here is the latest group from this department to pack up their civilian clothes for the duration:

- George W. Coleman, Social Investigator, W.C. 33, Army.

HOUSE and HOME

The small boom in local farm land that is going on currently is caused by a curious combination of citizens who: (1) want one place where they can earn "side money" in their spare time, or save on food costs; (2) hope to retire after the present hectic days; or (3) feel so pessimistic about post war opportunities that they want to be as nearly self-sufficient after the war. Biggest demand for land in the New York area, according to George McKenna, real estate broker of Bedminster, N. J., who specializes in farm land. McKenna has developed a formula for starting of "city slickers" with instruction when they start off—and it certainly helps.

HOSPITALS Docs Can Take Pay to Lecture

Now its OK for people who work in the Hospitals Department to lecture to student nurses, and get paid for it.

Pending this ruling from the City Civil Service Commission, a number of doctors were lecturing to the students on their

Among those who will be happy to hear this is Dr. Edmund Marino, assistant pathologist at Kings County Hospital, who has twenty dollars coming to him since November 13, 1942.

BUY BONDS!

To users of gas, electricity and steam YOUR GOVERNMENT URGES YOU TO CONSERVE and thus save fuel . . . manpower . . . equipment . . . materials

Our nation needs more fuel, more manpower, more equipment and materials for the successful prosecution of the war. Because of this, the Government has launched a program seeking the voluntary cooperation of everyone for the conservation of all electric, gas, water and communications facilities.

J. A. Krug, Director of the Office of War Utilities, War Production Board, in letters addressed to all utility companies, states:

"In the electric utility industry, the installed generating capacity, together with capacity now under construction, is ample to meet all foreseeable electric needs. But, it is essential to save the use of electricity wherever possible so as to reduce directly or indirectly the demands for materials, fuel, transportation and manpower . . ."

"The conservation program is so vitally tied up with the successful prosecution of the war that . . . it must be successful. The utility industry, with its record of accomplishment, will, I am sure, join as a unit in giving this program a vigorous start . . ."

Consolidated Edison System Companies are happy to cooperate with the Government by urging you to support this program for the conservation of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials.

We have a staff of qualified representatives who are especially trained to aid you in maintaining your essential gas, electric and steam service requirements without waste. A telephone or written request to any of our offices will be promptly answered.
