NEWMAN CLUB HAS BIRTHDAY SATURDAY

Tea Tomorrow And Communion Breakfast Sunday To Be Celebration Events

REV. CONNORS TO SPEAK Club To Distribute Christmas Toys To Infant Home And Albany Orphanage

A tea at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Newman house and a communion breakfast Sunday at the Academy of the Holy Names are the events planned to celebrate the tenth birthday of Newman club here. The breakfast will be after a nine o'clock Mass at St. Vincent de Paul's church.

Winifred Carey, '27, president of Newman club, and Margaretta Smyth, '28, president of Newman house, will pour at the tea. All members of the faculty have been invited.

The committee in charge has planned bridge and entertainments. The committee is: Margaretta Smyth, '28; Louise Gann, '27; Helen Daley, '29; Catherine Duffy, '29; Marion Carter, '30; Doris Williams, '30. The Rev. Joseph Connors of Maryland will be the speaker at the communion breakfast Sunday. Winifred Carey will be toastress. Christmas entertainment has been planned by Ruth Lockard, '27, in charge of entertainment.

The committee in charge of the breakfast is: Helen Zimmerman, '27; Ruth Lockard, '27; Genevieve Cahalan, '27; Margaret Taylor, '28; Terrence Fee, '28.

Newman club held its monthly meeting Wednesday, December 1. Winifred Carey, '27, president, reported on the province convention of college Catholic clubs which she attended at Cornell the weekend of November 20. Copies of Newman News, a paper published by the national confederation of Newman clubs, were distributed.

Arrangements were made for collection of Christmas toys to be sent to the LaSalle School Girls Orphanage, St. Peter's hospital and infant home. The committee for collecting toys is Ruth Flannigan, '27; Marcia Connolly, '27; Mathilda Keller, '28; Nora Powers, '30; Louis Wolner, '30. They may also be left at Newman house, Chi Sigma Theta house or given to any of the compilers.

MARRIAGE OF MARION KING, '28, ANNOUNCED

The marriage of Marion Virginia King, '28, to Carl O. Eichenberger on May 1, 1926, has been announced. The ceremony was performed in Pittsfield, Mass.

Mrs. Eichenberger is temporarily living with her parents and commutes to continue her work at College.

BASKETBALL TEAM PLAYS PLATTSBURGH AT HOME TOMORROW

The men's varsity basketball team will play its second home game tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock in the gymnasium against the Plattsburg Normal school five.

Plattsburg comes as an unknown quantity. This is its first encounter with State.

Coach Rutherford R. Baker has drilled his men this week, improving the playing of last week. Thursday State practiced with the Albany Academy.

The same five which started last week's game will probably start tomorrow night. Carr or Griffin and Kuczynski will start as forwards with Captain Nephew at center. Goff and Herney will again start as guards.

Jack Humphries will again handle the game.

The Milan High school five will meet Ballston Spa High school in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

NINETY SENIORS TO DANCE TO-NIGHT AT COLONY PLAZA HOP

Tonight ninety seniors will dance to the strains of Penn-Russler's five piece orchestra at the Colony Plaza from 9 until 12 o'clock. Luncheon of chicken salad, buttered rolls, ice cream, cake, and coffee will be served.

The green and white banner will hang from the wall. Balloons will add tuck to the decorations. Margaret Cabot is general chairman.

The committees for the hop are: music, Melanie Grant, Hilda Sarr; refreshments, Neva Stoddard; programs, Katherine Tanner; decorations, Gertrude Swetnam; Ethel Osborn; chaperones, Esther Milnes; house, Katharine Blenis.

The chaperones are Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Brubacher, Dean William H. Metzler, Dean Anna E. Pierce and Mrs. Queenie Homan Faust.

CHOOSE PROGRAM FOR CHRISTMAS CAROL SING

The program for the Christmas sing in the auditorium Tuesday night at eight o'clock includes: "An Old Sacred Lullaby," sung by Katharine E. Hammerly, '28, and "The Infant Jesus," by Grace V. Chippendale, '29. Virginia C. Martin, '27, will sing "The Song of Mary" words of which were written by Dr. Harold W. Thompson, professor of English, with music by E. Fredrick H. Caudly, instructor in music.

Carols will be sung by the chorus and audience. Song books, containing the carols will be sold at the door.

UNION WILL DEBATE STATE NEXT SPRING

Myskania Chooses Council To Plan Event And Get Varsity Team

APPOINT 2 FACULTY MEN

Fay, Grant, VanKleeck Picked As Student Members Of Group

State College will accept a challenge to debate Union college next spring, Myskania announced yesterday.

A varsity debating team will be organized to represent State. A team of women students will debate Union at S lenecstasy and a team of State College men will on the same night probably defend the opposite of the same question in Albany. The date will be in February.

Union issued the challenge to State College several weeks ago. President A. R. Brubacher and the student council have approved the plan. Myskania has formed a debate council comprised of two faculty members and three seniors. This year all three seniors will be Myskania members. The council will have the management of the debate and will be responsible also for obtaining suitable coaches for the debating squad and judges to choose the final varsity team.

Dr. Brubacher and Dr. Harold W. Thompson, professor of English, will serve as faculty members of the council. The senior members will be Julia Fay, editor-in-chief of the Quarterly; Melanie Grant, president of the Dramatic and Art association, and Edwin Van Kleeck, editor-in-chief of the News.

WILL SELL STATE LION THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

Twenty four cartoons and an art cover will be the art work in the "State Lion," the new humor magazine, which will be sold Thursday and Friday. The art staff includes art editor, Mary Galvin, '27; Marjorie Ott, '27; Ruth McNitt, '27; Dorothy Watts, '28; Betty Harris, '30; and Ruth G. Moore, '28. "Because of the great rush to get all material to the printer Monday night, not many art contributions were handed in on time.

"The contributions handed in by the student body are fine and, what's more, so much was handed in, that it was hard to select the very best material," declared Peg Flanagan, '27, editor-in-chief.

JUNIORS, SENIORS WILL DEBATE THIS MORNING

The annual junior-senior debate will take place this morning in a joint assembly at 10:55 o'clock. "Resolved, That the United States should recognize the present government of Russia," is the subject.

The juniors have the affirmative and the seniors the negative side. The junior speakers are Seward Dodge, Elizabeth MacMullen, Katherine Saxton. The rebuttal will be given by Chrissie Curtis.

The senior speakers are Jane Greene, Joseph Salmon, Adelaide Hollister, Constance Baumann will give the rebuttal.

DR. BEIK TO CONDUCT I. Q. TESTS AT 4 P. M.

Intelligence tests will be given this afternoon at four o'clock, by Dr. A. K. Beik, assistant professor of education, to all students in College who did not take them when entering as freshmen. "About fifty students from all classes have not taken the test," Miss Elizabeth Van Denburgh, registrar, said today.

CHOOSE COMMITTEES AND REST OF CASTS FOR JANUARY PLAYS

Committees and additional members of the casts for the three one-act plays of the elementary dramatics class have been chosen. The plays will be presented at the Albany Institute of History and Art, January 21 and 22.

Charlotte Jones, '28, is the art director. Other chairmen are: sets, Dorothy Dey, '28; properties, Hilda Sarr; costumes, Beatrice Wright, '28; lights, Rosina Holmes, '28; music, Violet Pierce, '28; business manager and publicity manager, Chrissie Curtis, '28; tickets, Esther Leister, '28.

Additional cast has been added to "Deirdre." The second musician is Jane Green, '27; third musician, Margaret Wilson, '28; Fergus, Miriam Farnell, '28. Those in charge are: sets, Eva Dietz, '28; properties, Genevieve La Fleche, '27; costumes, Marguerite Vandervoort, '27; lights, Rosina Holmes, '28.

The committee for the "Grand Chain's Diamond" is: sets, Margaret Newton, '28; properties, Helen Klady, '28; costumes, Ruth Lehman, '28; lights, Berenice Keating, '27.

New members of the cast for the "Knave of Hearts" are: Blue Hose, Dorothy Smith, '28; Yellow Hose, Ruth L. Moore, '28; Knave, Marjorie Young, '28; Harold, Helen Tompkins, '27.

Mary Newton, '28, is chairman of sets; properties, Doris Arnold, '28; costumes, Mildred Gabel, '28; lights, Ida Arvesinger, '28.

SANTA CLAUS TO BE HERE AS SOPHOMORE GYM FROLIC TONIGHT

The second gym frolic of the year will be a Christmas party in charge of the sophomores tonight at 8 o'clock.

Betty Eaton is general chairman. All women faculty members, the wives of the men faculty, and all the members of the Girls Athletic association in College have been invited. Every woman faculty member will have a sophomore as individual hostess.

Santa Claus will be present, and there will also be a Christmas tree and a fire place. Each member is requested to bring a ten cent present.

The gymnasium will be decorated in green and red. Committees are: arrangements, Caroline Schleck, chairman; Alice Bingham, Barbara Andrews, Frances Kellogg; refreshments, Vera Wellott, chairman; Elizabeth Pulver, Laura Golding, Louise Mathewson; music, Mildred Lonsley, chairman; Margaret Cosgro, Katherine Nichols, Grace Chippendale, entertainment, Evelyn Graves, chairman; Bernice Donald, Dora Damm, Gertrude Hall; decorations, Ann Mosher, chairman; Alberta Neff, Agnes McGarty, Juanita McGarty and Florence Cook.

"Nephew Was a Bother," Says "Mrs. Nephew;" Seek To Show She Was Forced Into Marriage

"Nephew hung around and was a bother to me," asserted Anne Holroyd, Nephew plaintiff, as she was called on the stand this week in her sensational case, for divorce from Clarence Nephew, captain of the varsity basketball team. She was plainly ill at ease and tense, and upon seeing a photographer in court was visibly agitated.

Claiming to have been intoxicated by Nephew, and forced into marriage, the plaintiff is suing Nephew for annulment in one of the most unusual and interesting cases ever tried in Judge David Hutchinson's mock court at State College.

"Did he ever make love to you?" asked Arvid J. Burke, '28, in a grilling cross examination. "My parents were very strict and religious, almost fanatical," exclaimed the plaintiff in explanation of the threat

BUDGETS FACE CUT OF SEVEN PERCENT

Enrollment Less, And Finance Board Slash Seen Inevitable

83 TAXES STILL UNPAID

G. A. A., Men's Athletics, News And Infirmary To Be Big Losers

Budgets of all groups supported by the student tax will have to be cut at least seven per cent, and the cut may reach eight per cent. Such is the conclusion suggested by computations based on figures furnished this week by the student finance board. Last year's cut was ten per cent. Of the budget of $12,808, $11,242 is already collected.

The chief reason for the cut, the figures indicate, is that the tax budget was based on too high enrollment figures. The budget total of $12,808 was based on an assumed enrollment of 1164 students. At present the enrollment is given at 1115 students, a difference of forty-nine. This alone is a difference of $539 in receipts at $11 per person.

Besides that, eighty-three students have yet to pay the tax. Of 1115 students, 1022 have already paid. Fifty-three of the eighty-three remaining have been excused by the finance board from payment. Most of them are excused only for short periods but a few are entirely excused. The other thirty are students who have neither paid nor made excuse. Their names are published in today's News. At $11 each they represent a loss to the student association of $330. Some of them, it is expected, will pay, but these receipts will probably be needed to balance those from that portion of the fifty-three excused persons who are permanently excused and also to care for rebates to students who leave College in January. Thus the loss to the student association is $330 plus $539, a total of $869. This is slightly more than a seven per cent cut.

According to the finance board's latest figures, the freshmen lead in payment with only one per cent of their number unpaid. Two per cent of the seniors have not paid, four per cent of the juniors and five per cent of the sophomores.

No one has yet been forced, according to the board, to give up any student office because of non-payment.

On the basis of the estimated seven per cent cut, the figures show that the men's basketball, the infirmary fund, the News, the Girls' Athletic association, and the Music association would have the largest sums deducted. The estimated cuts would be as follows:

Music association, $70; News, $203; Quarterly, $63; Dramatic and Art association, $59.50; Myskania, $22.75; men's basketball, $105; men's baseball, $52.50; men's minor sports, $14; athletic contingency, $14; secretarial fund, $14; infirmary, $154; Girls' Athletic association, $84.

of Nephew that he would tell her parents of her intoxication if she did not marry him.

A letter bearing evidences of Nephew's passion for her was produced and read in court.

New surprises and evidence are expected at the next session, when the plaintiff will be cross-examined by Lloyd B. Fishbaugh, '28, attorney for the defense. Nephew's attitude has been one of stony indifference during the entire procedure.

Ethel Osborn, '27, is foreman of the jury, which comprises: Helen Klady, '28; Helen O'Donnell, '29; Dorothy Watts, '28; Clara Hagey, '28; Evelyn Deek, '27; Dorothy Rex, '27; Elva Johansen, '27; Gertrude Braslow, '29; Florence Koen, '29; Agatha Flick, '27; and Marjorie Seeger, '28.

"Don't Be Vulgar", State Lion Is Cautioned; Late-Lamented "Pretzel" Had Stormy Career

"Be funny—but don't be vulgar." That is the caution which President A. R. Brubacher, has given the students who are preparing to publish the "State Lion," the new humor magazine.

With sharp memories still in their minds of the departed "Pretzel," State College's last humor magazine, the faculty have determined that the new publication must keep within the limits of good taste in its contents.

The magazine is expected to appear next Thursday. The editors are planning a second number to appear early in the spring. The editors of the late-lamented "Pretzel" also had planned a second issue but they never published it.

While it was still being prepared, Mrs. Caroline P. Lindsay, president of the Albany County W. C. T. U., tried to suppress it. She complained to the College authorities that the magazine's motto, "Without the Pretzel the Kick is Lost," was not exceptionally appropriate. But she objected especially to the way the magazine illustrated its motto. A foaming mug of what looked like a beverage popular before the days of Andy Volsstead, a pretzel and a little dog wagging its tail made up the picture.

"The 'Pretzel' thrived on the publicity brought by the attempt at suppression, however, and sold out its edition in half a day.

Then the real trouble began. One sorority which objected to some of the "wisecracks" directed at it and began official action. Several of the most prominent undergraduates nursed injured sense of dignity and waited their chance for revenge. Some faculty members found some of the material in the magazine not to their liking.

The student authorities took action and announced that the magazine was not an official State College publication.

The "State Lion" is going to make no trouble of this kind, however, Peg Flanagan, '27, its editor has announced. "No prohibition jokes, nothing indecent, no catering to the vulgar minded, no attempt to imitate the faults of other college humor magazines," she has announced.

Copies of the new magazine are being subscribed for by hundreds in advance, the circulation managers have announced.

THE NEW ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS REMAIN ONE-SIDED

The principal student reaction to the change in entrance requirements announced last week for next year by the College is that "now nobody but a bunch of grinds will be able to get it." Fortunately there is no evidence that the increase of the general regents average which is to be required will bring to the institution a group of pedants, overly much interested in books and in nothing else. Any fair analysis of the present student body will show that ability to get on the honor roll does not necessarily imply lack of personality any more than it means that students who are sufficiently gifted intellectually to "make" this list must stay out of student activities to do so.

The real problem in connection with the entrance requirements is not that they demand too high a scholastic standing, but that the scholastic standing is the only demand they do make. True a certificate of character is required, but everyone is aware that this means nothing. Quite properly a declaration of intention to teach is also required. A physical examination by the applicant's personal physician with a certificate of fitness is also required, but this in many cases is an unreliable and somewhat sketchy test of physical fitness.

The emphasis remains however entirely upon the scholastic side. In fact, the College's letter to the state high schools published last week says quite frankly that "those candidates whose averages on the regents examinations in the required fifteen units is eighty per cent or above will be accepted as soon as the applications are received, if they are properly recommended by their high school principals."

All this, of course, is quite out of line with the progressive steps which so many colleges are taking in the selection of freshmen. Here no effort is made to see in advance which candidates will benefit most by four years of education at the state's expense. No account is taken of personality, the greatest asset, barring only education, that a teacher can have. No account is taken of the applicant's high school career, aside from its results as represented in regents averages. Psychological tests of intelligence are given, but after, not before, the applicant is admitted. It is no wonder that so many students enter, go through four years of college life without once raising themselves for a moment above the group level and graduate to go out into the mediocrity level of the teaching field to bury themselves until death or matrimony doth them part.

In selection of students for matriculation, State College is five long years behind the times.

TOO FEW KUCZYNSKI'S

No State College student can read without a thrill of pride the story of what Anthony Kuczynski, basketball player, did Saturday night. Men are rare who can show the loyalty that was his Saturday night when he came from the house in New York where his uncle lay dead to play for his team and then returned to New York to care for his two young cousins, orphaned by their father's death. As anyone would guess, a man who could do this must have impressed his personality upon his fellows in other acts. Kuczynski's team-mates were not surprised; they had played with him for two years and knew him for what he was. The other College men were not surprised; they too, knew him for a man who could be depended upon to give all he had to anything he took part in. The Tony Kuczynski's are not numerous in this world.

TRADITIONS VERSUS RULES

The distinction between College traditions and sophomore rules is one which cannot be repeated too frequently. College traditions are just what their name signifies, customs which have grown to be accepted by the student body and have been incorporated into its code of action. Sophomore rules vary from year to year, as sophomore classes vary.

College traditions will not be broken by loyal freshmen or loyal students of any class. The custom of wearing "frosh buttons" and toques is a tradition. The front door custom is a tradition. State College students have learned to love and respect these and the other traditions. They will rightly resent their defiance or disregard by any group. The student body is behind the traditions.

HOPE FOR NEXT YEAR

State College can be cheered by the prospect that next year the College will have a good chance to enter the New York Times' current events contest, in which about twenty of the best known eastern institutions are participating. It is too late to become enrolled this year, but when next season's list is prepared, State College will undoubtedly be given consideration.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

A birthday for Newman club is a happy occasion for the College as well as for the membership of the Newman organization. It signifies a milestone in progress. In Newman's tenth birthday year the College will rejoice that Newman hall is to be enlarged through the gift of a sum of money by Bishop Gibbons who gave the house to the club several years ago. The College extends its congratulations to Newman club and it hopes that this first decade of success will be followed by many others.

VAN DOREN ENTERS A NEW FIELD; THE SOUTHLAND IN PEACE AND WAR

The Ninth Wave. By Carl Van Doren. $2.00. 226 pp. New York: Harcourt.

It is not too much to say that Mr. Van Doren's book, his first novel, too, is epic in conception, if not in execution. It is the tale of a man in ten important stages of his life. Kent Morrow, Mr. Van Doren's hero, is an ordinary man and the author's art shows itself in the way in which he has made the ordinary crises of Morrow's quite ordinary life live for us. Van Doren makes what Morrow thinks as important as what he does. He shows us Morrow at fifteen and Morrow at fifty, and in between he touches those critical moments of the man's life. "The Ninth Wave" of the title, it is explained, is analogous to the ninth in a series of ocean waves, which superstition credits as marking the highest point.

Cubwood. By W. R. Sunderland Lewis. With an introduction by Walter de la Mare. $2.00. 343 pp. New York: A. and C. Boni.

"Cubwood" is an unusual sort of mystery story. Running throughout it is a genuine poetic flavor, something rather rare in this type of fiction. Mystery stories involving boys are not so unusual, but this particular one is. Lewis has his story told in retrospect with a small boy as mouthpiece. The mystery is effective. It holds one's attention and it leaves in the memory sharp and vivid scenes. Living characters stand out through a maze of horror, as a schoolboy prank leads to some gruesome circumstances.

In Dixie Land. By Southern Writers. 226 pp. New York: Purdy Press.

Reading these stories of the South of the reconstruction era will be for many a glimpse into a new country. "In Dixie Land" is one of a very few American collections built around a central theme of locality. Some fifteen writers have contributed short stories and a few bits of verse, and there is scarcely one that will not repay reading. From "In the Black Belt" of Martha Young to John Sergeant Wise's "Pampatike" they range over a wide choice of subjects. For point of view alone, they are really essential to those who would know their period. Besides, they are excellent entertainment.

The Greatest Good. By Belle Willey Gue. $2.00. 283 pp. Boston: Stratford

As propaganda in advancement of the thesis that the awful struggle of the Civil war was a successful struggle for "the greatest good," this book is convincing. As an historical novel it is careful in its implications and well told. More than the usual amount of historical background is presented. As the plot unfolds, the author plainly shows the nature of the work that was daringly undertaken and accomplished by Abraham Lincoln. She sets forth distinctly the simplicity as well as the grandeur of this man who himself devoted all his energies to "the greatest good."

TEN YEARS AGO IN STATE COLLEGE

From the files of the News for Nov. 29, 1916

"The Sophomores proved their superiority over the Freshmen on the gridiron, and in track and field sports when on Thanksgiving Day morning they took their rivals into camp, defeating them in every contest scheduled."

"Friday evening, December 8th, the State College Basketball five will open its season by playing R. P. I. in Troy."

"Dr. Hastings addressed the student body Friday morning during its regular weekly assembly in the auditorium. His topic was the Press Club."

"The Afternoon Dances with Miss Jack Wilbur and Mr. Edwyn Johnstone continue to be well attended."

RISLEY TO LEAD TRIP TO SCHUYLER MANSION

Tomorrow the Political Science club will make its annual trip to the Schuyler mansion. The party will leave the rotunda at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. A. W. Risley, head of the history department, will accompany the party.

The Schuyler mansion is a typical Dutch home of the Colonial period.

The club is having a cake and candy sale in the basement today. Helen Zimmerman, '27, is chairman of the committee consisting of Mabel Keller-house, '29, and Elizabeth Smith, '29.

C. A. Hidley, assistant professor of history, spoke at the club meeting yesterday.

MISS MORRIS, WINNER OF GUESSING CONTEST

Miss Elizabeth Morris, assistant professor of psychology, won the Co-op's guessing contest to determine the number of titles of books which the Co-op applied last year. She guessed 1250. The correct answer is 1144. Miss Morris has been awarded a free copy of Professor Will Durant's "Story of Philosophy," which Miss Helen T. Fay, manager of the Co-op, calls "the finest book of the year 1925-26." Dorothy Rowland, '28, and Shirley Hartmann, '29, tied for second place, each guessing 999. Each will receive a fountain pen. The 1144 different titles included texts, gift and rental books.

Alumni Committee Purchase Adds Three More Lots To Building Site

ACQUIRE Y. W. C. A. HOUSE Nearly $295,000 Is Pledged To Erect A Residence Hall For Women

Bond issues to raise money for the alumni residence hall are being considered by the committee on building and finance, according to Dean Anna E. Pierce, a member of the committee.

More than $295,000 has been pledged for the new dormitory to be built at Partridge and State streets. To the original site of seven and one-half acres, bounded by Partridge, State and Ontario streets, an addition of three lots has recently been purchased, giving the right of way on Fenway and State streets.

The committee has also bought the house at 219 Ontario street, which is now being rented to the Y. W. C. A. "We hope this building will pay for itself in ten years," said Mabel A. Tallmadge, Y. W. C. A. executive secretary. "By applying the rent on the mortgage, we have already made a substantial start toward amortization this year."

Two subscription campaigns have been held. The first one was sponsored by the eastern branch of the alumni association in 1922. The first quota was $100 an alumnus. About one-third of the alumni responded.

Student Organizations Pledge

Student organizations pledged as follows: Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority, $20.00; athletic council, $59.45; Delta Omega society, $22.00, carried by Junior class; Dramatic and Art association, $25; Eta Phi sorority gave a pledge of $20.00 by taking home; French club gave $25.75; Gamma Kappa Phi pledged $10.00 by holding card parties; Girls' Athletic association, from gymnasium proceedings and basketball games, gave $30; the second highest pledge of the student organizations, Kappa Delta sorority sold Christmas cards and raised $43.78; Y. W. C. A. pledged $60.15, the highest among the student organizations; Music association, $102; Newman club and Newman hall, $55; Psi Gamma sorority, by sale of tooth paste, $13; Spanish club, $25; Board of Finance, $27.75, an excess amount of the budget and voted by the student body for the residence hall fund; Sybil hall, $136.51; Y. W. C. A. house, $30. The Pedagogue Boards of 1922, '23, '24, each gave its surplus—1922, $89; 1923, $100; 1924, $292.20.

The second campaign which began last May received these additional pledges: Home Economics club, $25; Alpha High School association, $100; members of the class of 1926, 1927, 1928, $100 each. Under this second campaign the alumni pledged $35,000 more; faculty $4,000 more. Citizens of Albany pled of $50,000, miscellaneous, including various civic organizations and senior school students, $1,100. The receipts of this campaign which ended in June, 1925, totaled about $100,000, since that time about $4,000 has been pledged in cash, mostly from alumni. The grand total is a little more than $295,000. Of this sum about $125,000 in cash has been received to date, payments being made individually on the basis of $20 a year.

Sayles Heads Committee

The committee on building and finance comprises Professor John M. Sayles, '02, chairman; Fumetta B. Arnold, '83, John T. D. Blackburn, Erasmus Corning and Dean Anna E. Pierce, '34.

"We are working on plans for a residence hall adequate enough to take care of the present housing problem and to provide for future growth and extension," said Dean Pierce.

"The building committee is trying to devise ways and means of securing a sufficient sum to be added to the cash already on hand to start building at the earliest possible moment. Bond issues are being discussed, but no action has been taken along this line as yet. A similar bond issue is being used to finance dormitories for the University of Minnesota and it might work out for the State College residence hall."

The residence hall will be the central one of a group of buildings devoted to living quarters for the entire campus population, which may ultimately exceed 1,500. It will contain social, recreational, health and culinary facilities, as well as heating and electric plants, adapted to meet future demands.

"Normal" Building Burned 21 Years Ago; Charles, Fighting Flames Alone, Saved Valuables, But $5,000 Alumni Window Was Ruined

By THELMA L. BREZER

A week from tomorrow State College will be eighty-two years old. This thought brings to mind other historical facts which stand out in the development of the College to the great actor in education which it now is. One of these is the historic fire of 1905 in which the total building accommodations of the College were destroyed; another is in the purchase of the present site; still another, and the most recent is the granting of the new buildings to provide adequate classroom space and finally the proposed erection of a residence hall, the new girls' dormitory to-be.

On January 8, 1905, when the thermometer was registering ten below zero and the streets of Albany were a glare of ice and banked with huge snow drifts, Charles Wurtzman, chief engineer who is at present completing his thirty-fifth year of service in that capacity, was at work in the basement of the buildings, at that time known as the State Normal college and situated on Willett street on the present site of the new apartment house. He was accompanied by his young son who for some reason went upstairs, returning hurriedly telling his father that all was not well.

Charles hurried up the flights of stairs to the model set of departments which contained the seventh and eighth grades. Five windows in the rear of the room behind the department, and it was here the trouble was discovered. Charles burst open the door of the room to perceive that the middle window casing was ablaze and a cloud of dense black smoke clung to the ceiling. Handicapped by the lack of all fire-fighting apparatus, he was obliged to leave the scene and make his way as quickly as possible down the flights of stairs and across the slippery pavement to the fire alarm. Had the building been equipped according to the present requirements of the fire law, the State Normal College would have been saved by its chief engineer.

By the time Charles returned to the scene of the fire, the fire had grown. The rooms had been newly painted and their floors recently oiled and this fed the flames. The fire spread to the floor above which housed the chemical laboratories. Having reached this department a chemical explosion which could be heard for blocks spread the fire in all directions. It then reached the auditorium where in fifteen minutes it had galled ruin to the $5,000 window presented a few years before by the College alumni association. During these frantic minutes Charles, alone and unaided, flew before the onslaught in an effort to save some of the valuable pictures and accessories. From the auditorium the flames leaped to the library by way of a beautiful silk American flag which fell blazing through the open transom of the connecting door.

When the fire department arrived twenty minutes after the alarm had been sent in, having been unable to arrive sooner because of the conditions of the ice-coated streets, the building was a blazing furnace and doomed to total destruction.

The cause of the fire was never determined. The upper part of the building had been in the usual order when the faculty members left at six o'clock that evening. The fire was discovered just two hours later. It occurred on Monday night and on Wednesday, classes were again being conducted elsewhere. The building smoldered for two weeks. Some few pictures were rescued and a small portion of the library books were saved. However, nearly everything perished. Six months later a second fire started in the basement which was filled with ruins piled on top of the six-foot cords of wood and the three hundred tons of coal.

When the class work was resumed on Wednesday the following buildings were used: Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, the First Presbyterian church; 98-102 Willett street, buildings which adjoined the burned one, and one building on the present College site which had been bequeathed to the orphan asylum. Later the orphanage was purchased and the present buildings erected. About five years later the name was changed from State Normal School to the New York State College for Teachers. That was the beginning of its present era of advancement.

OBEDIENCE ESSENTIAL, SAYS LAURA CHAPMAN

Laura Bristol Chapman, '13, tells in her current issue of the Alumni Quarterly how she is helping the "world power." She is situated in Oval, Seneca County, on a two-hundred acre farm. Mrs. Chapman and her sister-in-law, Mervin Chapman, also of the class of '13, are teaching in rural schools. The majority of their pupils are of Polish descent.

Mrs. Chapman touches on the subject of child training. "Obedience is the only point I stress in child training. The easiest way is to let things go," she writes. "It is hard work to insist on obedience."

NO-CUT SYSTEM "IS WORKING SMOOTHLY"

We Depend on Judgement of The Students", Declares Dr. Brubacher

"Our no-cut system of absences is working so smoothly that it is not necessary to say anything about it," President A. R. Brubacher said yesterday. "The system is based on the assumption that the students here are old enough to take care of themselves. They are here for a purpose, that of learning their life work, and are interested enough in it not to want to cut," explained Dr. Brubacher. "We depend on their judgment for absences." "Perhaps it is a little early to judge, but I think I can safely say that the system is working equally as well as it did last year," Dean William H. Metzler said. "We have had very few cases of 'intentional absences.'"

Faculty Name Foods For Wealth In Health; Outside Work, Commuting Called Harmful

What to eat if you would be healthy is outlined by the new faculty committee on student health in advice published in the 1926-27 edition of the Freshman handbook.

The advice supplements a bulletin sent parents of the freshmen, advising that the three most important things to watch if good health is to be maintained are: where a student lives, what he eats and how much outside work he does.

An additional warning against commuting is contained in the new message. "Another serious drawback to successful work in College is commuting," it says. "There are two reasons for this, first, loss of time and strength, and second, being deprived of participation in College activities that play a definite part in a College education. Students who have committed urge against it and advise that anyone who lives more than forty-five minutes from the College should make other living arrangements during the College course."

Eight suggestions regarding food are contained in the message. Concerning these it says: "Since a knowledge of food requirements is not yet a part of every high school course, it is probable that many errors in the food habits of College students are due to ignorance of essentials." The following suggestions are offered as a safeguard to health and as conducive to efficiency:

1. Three meals a day eaten without haste and at regular hours are essential for students.
2. At least a pint of milk should be included daily, and in the case of young people not normal in vigor and weight a quart is safer. (This in beverage form and in cooked foods.)
3. Leafy vegetables should be eaten at least once daily and one or two other vegetables other than potatoes.
4. Meat should appear in the diet not more than once a day. Milk, eggs, fish, cheese and macaroni also provide protein and have the advantage of supplying other essentials in addition.

5. Sufficient food at meal time prevents a desire to eat between meals. The need for sweets should be met in the regular desserts or candy eaten at the end of the meal.

6. Fruit or milk between meals is sanctioned because each supplies the mineral matter and vitamins essential to growth and maintenance of health. Fats, starches and sugars, on the other hand, provide energy and thereby tend to satisfy the appetite, thus replacing more necessary foods.

7. Whole grain in cereals are more nutritious than highly refined ones; for example, whole wheat or rye bread provides more nourishment than white bread.

8. Tea and coffee are not foods at all. They should be sparingly used. Milk or cocoa are nutritious beverages.

"Young people living at home," the advice says, "do not realize how directly responsible their good health may be to the family that has guided them in regular hours for sleep, exercise, and systematic habits of eating and working."

"Having their habits largely regulated by family custom, boys and girls put upon their own responsibility often tend to minimize the importance of these routine matters and as a result their health and College work suffer."

"A study of the living conditions of students doing poor work in studies in 1926 revealed facts that led the faculty to make the following suggestions to students:

1. No more than two students should occupy one room.
2. Freshmen are advised not to work for room and board.
3. Extreme economy in the allowance of food is dangerous to the student and reacts on College work."

PRESENT CONDITIONS IN MEXICO EXPECTED, SAYS FATHER COLLINS

Present conditions in Mexico are a natural outcome of the country's history, the Rev. John J. Collins, spiritual adviser to Newman club, told the members Wednesday, December 1.

"It was, as always, unfortunate that the Catholic Church was united with the temporal power in Mexico," Father Collins declared. "For the king was given almost complete control over the temporal powers of the Church. This was Gallicanism at its worst."

"The Indians, though, were at all times exempt from the influence of the Holy Office. The punishment of heretics was only to protect the Church."

"After 300 years of power, Spain was overthrown in 1801, when the first revolt for independence was begun."

"Mexico was not a downtrodden nation, because downtrodden nations do not accomplish anything. The draining of the valley of Mexico was a great engineering task. This shows that Spain was trying to help her subjects. By 1530 there were many wonderful hospitals. In 1540, the first printing press on the American continent was set up, and the first book was soon printed here."

"The Catholic Church and the Bishop of Mexico have been unjustly accused of destroying the hieroglyphics of the Aztecs. It is true that the false idols were destroyed, but the Spaniards made a distinction between these false idols and the writings; the writings were preserved and a history of the Aztecs was written."

The lectures on Mexican conditions will be continued by Father Collins after Christmas.

CANTERBURY CLUB TO HAVE PARTY SATURDAY

Canterbury club's bridge party is tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock in the parish house of St. Andrew's church. Refreshments will be served. Tickets may be purchased from Catherine I. Miner, 30, chairman; Mildred Haught, 29; and Esther Douglas, 28, for twenty-five cents.

The club will have its annual Christmas party for children at Trinity settlement Thursday. Members may attend any time during the afternoon or evening.

The committee is Dora Gerke, 28, chairman; Eleanor Snell, 29, refreshments; Dorothy Gale, 29, games.

Mary Judith Langdon, 28, secretary of Canterbury club, is ordering pins, which will cost forty cents.

COLLEGE BRIEFS

Miss Anna Randolph Keim, assistant professor of home economics, has returned from Louisville, Kentucky, where she attended the annual convention of the American Vocational Association, December 2, 3, and 4. One thousand members, including super-visors and teachers in vocational work, were present. The meetings in home economics were based on training for leadership, family relationships and adult education. Miss Keim is very enthusiastic about the work done at the convention. The next meeting will be in Los Angeles.

Miss Elizabeth H. Morris, assistant professor of philosophy, and Miss Florence E. Winchell, professor of home economics, spent Thursday at Dr. Arnold Gesell's Habit Clinic at Yale.

Mary Morrissey, 26, Mary Thompson, 26, and Margaret Kelly were weekend guests at the Chi Sigma Theta house.

Mrs. Edward Rouse, nee Martha Stewart, 21, of Ticonderoga; Alice Blair, 26, of Schenectady; and Carolyn Coleman, 26, of Burnt Hills, visited the Kappa Delta house over the weekend.

State Scholarship Money Here; Expect Distribution Next Week

State scholarship money will be distributed before Christmas vacation, according to Miss Anna E. Haman, secretary to the president.

The checks will be distributed through the student mail box next week.

Y. M. C. A. NOT TO SEND CONFERENCE DELEGATES

The College Y. M. C. A. will not send a delegate to the National Conference at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, December 28 to January 1, according to Richard Jensen, 28, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. committee here. The membership cards are expected before the holidays.

There will be another men's dinner at the Central Y. M. C. A. about January 6. Men from State College, Union, and R. P. I. will attend. This is only the beginning of social functions which will be conducted from time to time," Jensen said.

"The College Y. M. C. A. is the only organization of its type here in Albany," Jensen declared, "and due to inexperience has been greatly retarded in its progress."

When ten members have joined, the officers will be elected.

NEWS MEMBERS PLAN PARTY FOR TOMORROW

Members of the News staff will be "kidd" again at the News club Christmas party tomorrow night in the College cafeteria. All members will dress as children. Santa and his pack of toys will be present. Thelma Temple, 27, and William M. French, 29, were nominated for Santa Claus at the club meeting Friday. The results of the election will be kept secret until the party. Committee chairmen are: supper, Virginia Higgins, 28; entertainment, Thelma Temple, 27.

The social service committee of Y. W. C. A. will visit the Albany Orphan asylum Sunday afternoon. Special stories will be told, toys will be taken to the kiddies, and holiday goodies will be distributed.

Tuesday night Y. W. C. A. will give a Christmas party at the Tuberculosis camp.

Thursday a Y. W. C. A. discussion group met at 4 o'clock to find out answers to this question, "If you were suddenly to come on this campus, during the first two weeks, what would be the most vexing things you would criticize?"

MILNE HIGH WILL GIVE THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

Milne High school will give three one-act plays next Friday, a fantasy directed by Melanie Grant, 27, a comedy, directed by Julia Fay, 27, and a costume play, directed by Marcella Street, 27.

The Glee club under Melanie Grant, 27, and the orchestra under the direction of Marcella Street, 27, will be heard during intermission.

Y.W.C.A. BAZAAR NETS MORE THAN $400 GAIN

Y. W. C. A. bazaar produced profits of more than $400, Friday evening, according to Ruth Maynard, 27, general chairman. "A definite statement cannot be given as some of the bills and several returns have not yet been handed in," said Miss Maynard.

"The number of non-students that attended the bazaar was less than last year, probably due to the weather, although the bazaar had been well advertised in churches, the daily papers and in the Milne High chapel."

The cafeteria supper was well attended by faculty and students. Sorority banners decorated the cafeteria. Margaret Stoutenburgh, 28, was chairman of the Supper.

'27 WINS BATH MEET, SCORING 46 POINTS

Sophomores Rate Second With 13 Points in Women's Contest

Scoring forty-six points, the seniors won first place in the girls' swimming meet Tuesday night. The sophomores were second with 13 points, and the freshmen were third with 12 points. The juniors won no points. Bertha Zajac, '27, took first place with 19 points, Elizabeth Bender, '27, second, with 12 points. Helen Tompkins, '27 and Esther Waters, '30, tied for third place with 10 points each.

The following people won first, second and third place in these events: Form swimming—back stroke, first, Esther Waters, '30; second, Helen Tompkins, '27; third, Elizabeth Bender, '27.

Breast stroke—first, Bertha Zajac, '27; second, Elizabeth Bender, '27; third, Alice Benoit, '30.

Side stroke—first, Elizabeth Bender, '27; second, Bertha Zajac, '27; third, Helen Tompkins, '27, and Ruth McNutt, '27, tied.

Crawl—first, Esther Waters, '30; second, Bertha Zajac, '27; and Helen Tompkins, third.

Single overarm—first, Emily Czurlis, second, Elizabeth Bender; third, Ruth McNutt.

Surface diving for form—first, Bertha Zajac; second, Ruth McNutt; third, Alice Bingham, '29.

Plunge for distance—first, Helen Tompkins, '27; second, Bertha Zajac; third, Ruth McNutt.

Alice Bingham was first in the Night Before Christmas race, Emily Czurlis, second; and Helen Wahl, '30, third. Contestants wore either pajamas or nightgowns. Each contestant carried a lighted candle, and the person who swam the farthest and quickest with the candle still lighted was winner.

In the relay race between the freshmen and juniors against the seniors and sophomores the freshmen and juniors won.

The judges were Miss J. Isabelle Johnston and Rutherford R. Baker, instructors in physical education, and Elizabeth Friend, instructor of physical education in the public schools of Albany.

After the meet coffee, sandwiches and cake were served.

STATE CRUMPLES IN SECOND HALF AFTER BRILLIANT OFFENSIVE

After trailing on the short end of a 21 to 14 score in the first half, the Jamaica Teachers Training school quintet rallied to score a 32 to 29 victory over the State College five in the opening game of the season here. Saturday night's victory marked the fifth straight win for the visitors out of six games played to date.

State was unable to stand up under the attack of the visitors in the second half. McNeny at right guard for the Long Island team was the high scorer of the game with six field goals and three fouls for a total of fifteen points. Captain Nephew led the scoring of the local team with twelve points, but the fast floor work of Carr and Herney was outstanding. Time and again, Herney at right guard would break up the plays under the Jamaica basket and work the ball into scoring position for the Purple and Gold, at times when State seemed to go completely to pieces but Carr flashed through with brilliant attacks.

In the preliminary game the Albany High school second team defeated Milne High school's five, 19 to 13. Axelrod for Albany and Eggleston for Milne were the leading scorers.

FOURTEEN GIRLS DEFY COLD TO GO TO CAMP

Fourteen College girls braved the cold and snow last week-end at the Girl Scout camp.

"I think everyone enjoyed the tramp through the snow, the singing and campfire and the spirit of hilarity which pervaded the group," Helen Tompkins, '27, chairman of week-end committee, said.

"Tony" Sets Grief Aside To Defend State; Plays Game, Then Cares For Uncle's Orphans

Loyal to the team and to the College which he had served so well for two years, Anthony F. Kuczynski, '27, proved again Saturday night that he is the sort of chap who can be depended upon.

Kuczynski was absent from practice Friday afternoon, the final practice which the College five ended a month's strenuous pre-season work. He was in New York, where his uncle had just died, but Saturday night when it came time for the game, Kuczynski was on hand. His uncle had two young children orphans.

But "Tony," stricken by grief though he was, realized that the Purple and Gold needed him in Albany and he came back.

Basketball fans who watched the game noted that he was not up to his usual form, but they did not know the cause. Kuczynski played hard, but he was paired against the star of the opposing Jamaica Teachers team and in Saturday night's circumstances was not his match. But he did his best for the team and after the game was over he took another train back to New York.

QUIT RELATIONS WITH JAMAICA TEACHERS FOR USING RINGERS.

State College will break athletic relations with Jamaica Teachers Training school of New York City. The athletic management is incensed over the discovery that at least three professional "ringers" were used by Jamaica's basketball team Saturday night in the game with the College five.

The captain of the visiting team, said to be a bona fide member of the outfit, admitted to Rutherford R. Baker, coach, and to "Jack" Humphries, referee of the game, and to several others, that some of his players were professionals and not connected with the Jamaica school.

"They play three or five nights a week in New York with different teams at $5 a game," he is said to have admitted.

Coach Baker said that the game will probably not be protested because it was played in no league. But it is extremely doubtful if Jamaica will appear on future State College basketball schedules. The baseball game arranged between the two schools for next spring may also be cancelled.

STATE FRESHMAN FIVE DEFEATS SILVER STARS

Playing a good defensive game, the State College freshman men's basketball team defeated the Silver Star Athletic club of Albany High school, 32 to 24, in the opening game of the season Tuesday night. The game was played in the College gymnasium.

Thomson at left guard was the high scorer of the game with six field goals to his credit. Kenter was high scorer for the losers.

The freshmen appeared in their new uniforms.

JUNIORS ARE DEFEATED

The sophomores scored a victory over the juniors in basketball by the score of 15-12 Monday afternoon.

The sophomores led in the first half by a 7-3 score.

Mary Hart and Betty Eaton featured for the sophomores while Dorothy Lasher was high scorer for the juniors.

SENIORS LEAD WITH FOUR VICTORIES ON INTERCLASS SLATE

The seniors are leading in the girls basketball series with 4 victories in the 4 games played. The sophomores rank second having won three of the five games played. The juniors are next with two victories in five games. Freshmen have lost all of the four games played.

The closest scores are shown in the junior-sophomore games.

Three games still remain to be played which will decide the final victor.

To date, nine games have been played. The summary of games follows:

Senior vs. Sophomore—28-19.
Junior vs. Freshman—34-15.
Senior vs. Junior—31-8.
Sophomore vs. Freshman—19-11.
Junior vs. Sophomore—7-9.
Senior vs. Freshman—20-10.
Senior vs. Sophomore—22-18.
Junior vs. Freshman—34-9.
Junior vs. Sophomore—12-15.

DRILLS TO FEATURE GYM MEET MONDAY

Will Exhibit Marching Tactics, Boxing Clog And General Calisthenics

Marching tactics by all classes with a stick sabre drill by the upperclassmen, a boxing clog by the sophomores, and calisthenics by the freshmen are part of the program for the annual girls' gym meet Monday evening.

The judges are: Miss Margaret Ward, instructor in physical education at Albany High school; Miss Catherine Livingston, instructor of physical education at Albany Girls' academy; Miss Elizabeth Ward and Miss Emily Belding, both of the physical education department of the Albany public school system.

Finals for the volley ball interclass series will take place while the judges are deciding the other winners. The teams will be the winners of the senior-junior and sophomore-freshman games which will be played at the gym frolic tonight.

An individual meet in which a set exercise and apparatus work will be required is scheduled. The individual meet is open to all classes this year, not just underclassmen as was the case last year. Evelyn Graves, '29, was the winner of the individual meet last year. Class honors went to the seniors.
