October 1964

Dear Professor Kirchheimer,

The German Association of American Studies has devoted its annual meeting in Frankfurt/Main in June, 1964, to the contribution of German and Austrian refugee scholars on American scholarship after 1933. At this meeting papers were presented by Professor Louise W. Holborn on German Scholars in the United States after 1933, by Professor Albert Wellek (Mainz) on contributions in the field of Psychology, by Professor Herbert Marcuse (Brandeis University) on Philosophy and Sociology, and by myself on History and Political Science.

In connection with the topic of this Conference, the Historical Division of the John F. Kennedy-Institute of the Free University is engaged in compiling a bibliography of scholars of German and Austrian origin in the United States in the fields of History and Political Science. According to the framework of the papers presented at the meeting of the German Association of American Studies, this bibliography is limited to those scholars who left Europe in the years 1933 to 1945 under the pressure of Nazism. It is meant to include also that younger generation of scholars who having left Europe due to Nazi pressure, received their university training in the United States.

I should be most grateful to you if you could let us kindly know your scholarly publications (books and/or articles with the exception of book reviews) which have been published in the United States in the period 1933-1963.

This bibliography will be published, together with the papers presented in Frankfurt last June, in the 1965 volume of the Jahrbuch der Deutschen Gesellschaft für Amerikastudien.

Thanking you very much for your help, I remain

Sincerely yours

Gerald Stourzh
