Foreword

Because we have made certain changes in the make-up of this book, I feel that I should tell you what we have tried to accomplish. Our primary aim was to avoid over-embellishment. You will notice that the life history of each senior is not included, nor has a log covering the activities of each group been printed. By doing away with this extra amount of material, we have made possible the attaining of another goal—a more complete account of the year. We have attempted a balanced layout which can be seen on any two facing pages. This balance is more pleasing to the eye and tends to discourage any strange effects which might otherwise occur. Continuity of theme and style is unobtrusive, but nevertheless it is there. To do away with a currently popular, wasteful, rambling type of write-up, the style is intended to be concise and yet casual, kind but not over-ripe with sentiment.

The objectives which were just named were formulated by the staff in group discussions and by individual contributions and accomplished by the hard work of many. Outstanding among staff members are Mary Alice Leete for her literary organization and work, Mr. Edward Cowley for his advice on art and layout, Miss Anita Dunn for her proof-reading and aid in making technical decisions and Ron Dillon and Larry Moyer for taking pictures of professional calibre.

ACADEMIC

Administration

Letter from Our Principal

"A yearbook such as this BRICKS AND IVY is similar to any other curricular or extra-curricular activity. Its real value depends upon the use to which you put it. While this book can remind you of only a few of the friendships which you made and the activities which you enjoyed during this school year, we hope that those reminders will give you a point of reference from which you can measure how well you are using the things gained in Milne. With it go our best wishes for every future success."

History

Seventh Grade

September 1948 — it sounds so long ago, yet remembering makes it seem like yesterday. Milne was so big and baffling to us little seventh graders. After settling ourselves (but firmly), we elected homeroom officers. The honors of homeroom presidents — an honor even greater than being President of the United States — went to Chuck Haughey (remember him), Mary Alice Leete and Carolyn Kritzler. Our first experience with mid-years left us feeling quite mature. The fragrance of the deadly spring water heralded our class's field trip invasion of Saratoga. Then a more serious and inspiring moment came with the enchantment of our first Spring Concert. It was hard to tell whether those were cherubs or the Class of '52 singing in the Junior Choir. Our first formal seemed to add a touch of perfection. Yes, our first year at Milne was an experience of many "firsts" which would be long remembered.

Eighth Grade

"You can always tell the eighth grade by their record-setting paces." This gem was written about us in the 1948 yearbook. We certainly lived up to it then and haven't stopped since. Serious homeroom elections came again and we found ourselves led by Chris Brehm, Harry Vance, and Frank Parker. With no bones about it, we were just about the best eighth grade ever. We weren't surprised to find that some of our "men" had made the freshman basketball team. We mourned the leaving of Chuck Haughey but welcomed Colin Kennedy. With a veteran's experienced eye we awaited the Spring Concert and the Junior High Formal. Although we looked back at the eighth grade with fondness, our freshman year couldn't come fast enough, for then we would be the "big wheels" of the Junior High.

Ninth Grade

This was a regal year for us. Of course, we wouldn't have had so much fun if it weren't for our newcomers Marcia Hallenbeck, Joan Callahan, John Scott, Wes Moody, and Ronny Thomas. Being leaders of the Junior High meant added responsibilities. Class officers Dee Parker, Buster Dodge, Mary Alice Leete and Helen Kohn helped us handle these new jobs. Molly Muirhead, Chris Brehm, Mary Alice Leete, Mickey McGrath, Carolyn Kritzler, and Sandra Dare strutted their stuff as members of the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. The Junior Student Council was ably led by our Tom Eldridge and assisted by "Veep" Mary Alice Leete; secretary, Colin Kennedy; and treasurer, Cynthia Tainter. We lived up to our reputation of speed and our ninth year went fast. Even so, we were anxious to become members of the Senior High.

Tenth Grade

How strange to be new members of the Senior High! But we overcame this strangeness rapidly. Even biology and geometry, and languages didn't faze us (after a while). We chose Dee Parker to lead us again. Our vice-president was Carolyn Kritzler and Nancy Prescott took care of class notes and money. One is supposed to "step" into society. Not the Class of '52! To maintain our established tradition we practically ran. The girls won't forget Quin's "Dreamland" or Sigma's "Fireman's Ball." Many of our sophomore boys played on the varsity teams, and they added to our interest in attending the games.

Eleventh Grade

We hadn't forgotten that we were known for setting paces when we dove into traditional junior jobs. Leading us for the third time was Dee Parker. Bill Hayes, Nancy Prescott and Carolyn Kritzler aided him. We proved our worth by making the Alumni "Blue Moon" Ball one of the best. The class received into its midst Lore Pauly and Jean Bailey. With spring came Senior Student Council Elections. Dee Parker, Wes Moody, Bob Page, and Carolyn Kritzler emerged victorious over several worthy opponents. An open house at Ellen Siegal's proved to be great fun and was attended by almost all of the class. We said good-bye to the seniors, slowly realizing our plight. We were still going at top speed, but all of a sudden we wanted to slow down.

Twelfth Grade

Our last year arrived. Why had we wanted to rush so before? Now at the end, many of us would like to start all over again. The seniors increased their number by two as we said "Hi" to Arlene Avery and Marge West. Bill Hayes, Frank Parker, Billy McCully, and Arlene Avery guided us through the last marvelous year. The whole class helped make the Senior Play, "We Shook the Family Tree", a howling success. We were all pleased and proud. Buster Dodge started the social ball rolling with an open house. From then on almost every weekend brought a party of senior kids going to the movies. The Card Party increased our treasury substantially. This was due of course(?) to the leadership of Chairman Marcia Hallenbeck. Too soon came the Senior Ball and Commencement. Yes, Milne seems to have taken a fond liking to the Class of 1952. We seniors shall miss our Alma Mater, but, "We shall be joined in heart; never be far apart."

Prophecy

Arlene keeps notes for an M.D.
She really is terrific,
As secretary of Milne's Senior Class
She got her training for it.

Jean's Ambassador to China,
She really broke the ice
Every Chinese person thinks
That she is "Bailey" nice.

Eddie plays the trumpet
In Bigley's be-bop band;
You can watch him on your T.V. set,
He broadcasts throughout the land.

If you need a good mechanic,
You'd better see Brady quick,
For when it comes to fixing things
Bill knows the slickest tricks.

Christine edits the Loudonville Press
Summer, winter, spring, and fall;
We know her paper is the best,
For news she scoops them all.

Miss Bryant is a teacher now,
One of the bestest ever,
Her students think she's really tops—
Nice and helpful, smart and clever.

Calling Miss Callahan! Calling Miss Callahan!
Hurry, Joan, for someone is sick;
She lulls all her patients to sleep at night
By playing the piano—how slick!

Janie's cooking is a treat;
Her workroom is her kitchen.
If you want yummy things to eat
Make Carlough your dietician.

Miss Chura says, "What number please?"
In a voice that's soft and sweet.
As a telephone operator
Rose Mary can't be beat.

Sheldon owns the Cooper Stables
With many a filly and mare;
In training them you may be sure
He takes the greatest care.

Fred Corrie is a financier;
He handles lots of cash;
He owns the Corrie Savings Bank;
We hope it will never crash.

Skip draws pictures for her dad;
The team they make can't be beat;
So if you like cartoons and such,
Read Costello's column for a treat.

Dick Davis is in the Navy;
He sails the ocean blue;
He has a girl in every port
And hates to say adieu.

Buster travels 'round the world
In his custom-made Dodge car,
He's titled "most eligible bachelor"
In places near and far.

Peter designs ranch houses
For the top of Dunning Hill
On which there's quite a settlement
Created by Peter's skill.

On State Street you are bound to see
A shop that sells fine cutlery;
Art Frederick operates this store,
For you he has gadgets galore.

Arlene Granoff works hard and well
And boy—how she can type!
Her charming ways attract them all,
So bosses never gripe.

Suzie Gunther has a kindergarten class;
The children are just starting school;
She teaches kids how to draw and sing
And to live by the Golden Rule.

Marcia studied home economics,
Then she taught it for a while;
Now she's married to a millionaire;
Her clothes set the current style.

Now Van is gone and Clark's forgotten,
But who d'ya think the movies have gotten?
It's our boy Hayes—clinch for clinch
He beats even Barrymore—that's a cinch!

On airplanes that fly around the world
She serves food from Rome to Duluth;
Her passengers think Miss Houck is tops,
A wonderful stewardess is Ruth.

Faye runs a home for student nurses;
Their yearbook is something grand.
Nurse Keller writes the prophecies;
They're known throughout the land.

George Kendall has a great big farm;
Early in the morning he rises;
With his carrots, beans, potatoes, and squash
He wins lots and lots of prizes.

Carolyn Kritzler is a secretary now.
She's advancing it's easy to see,
She started by sitting behind a small desk,
Now she sits on the boss's knee.

Cakes and cookies, puddings and pies,
Gussets, seams, and darts—they all
Occupy the time of Lois
Home ec. teacher Laventall.

Mary Alice fashions clothes
For girls on hockey teams;
They're all so proud of Leete's designs
They're bursting at the seams.

Elliot took over Milton Berle's show,
When that famous comedian retired.
He then started running Danny Kaye's and
Red Skelton's
When the contracts of these men expired.

Gerry has a brand new car
He had to ditch the other;
Another car was headed his way
So Lugg and his car—oh brother!

John now owns an airport—
One of the finest in the nation.
Malpas flies presidents and envoys
To many a foreign station.

Irma on the radio has a counterpart,
She is our leading lady, Miss Claire Marks.
Irma on the radio, a dilly and a wit,
Our Claire seems to be a perfect fit.

McChesney has composed a hit;
It's called "Richard's Rhapsodies."
The movies and disc jockeys all clamor for it
And it's played by leading symphonies.

McCully is Secretary of the Treasury;
Vast sums are under his rule;
He trained as treasurer of his class
When a senior at The Milne School.

At Bev's Super Drug Store now
She'll serve you sodas that are a wow;
Her store's made a hit with The Milne crowd
For she never thinks they get too loud.

"Mickey" McGrath, our nurse so stern,
Flirts with every new intern;
At the Albany Hospital now
Patients agree that she's a wow.

Bridges and towers are Pete's delight,
He draws and designs them all day;
McNeil's tower rises so high and so proud
That it touches the Milky Way.

Darl Miller is a general,
On his shoulder are five stars;
For his leadership and courage
He is known from here to Mars.

Fran is a Powers model,
She lives on Park Avenue;
Miss Mitchell has friends galore
Whose mink coats are of silver and blue.

Wes is now Vice-President,
He helps the President rule;
We know he'll prove a big success
As when at The Milne School.

Judy Myers is now a housewife,
She can cook and sew just dandy.
They say her husband built their cottage.
He's a regular "Handy Andy."

George Neville a social worker would be,
Of people he's very fond;
But, you know, what is sure to happen—
It could all be changed by a blonde.

Peter Neville a doctor would be,
He'd make a good one you bet;
Yet his future is not secure, you see
It could all be changed by a brunette.

Norris is flying airplanes
From Maine to Tennessee.
Bob's passengers are always safe,
A top rate pilot is he.

"This is station U.R.O.K.,"
Says a voice so sage.
Do you recognize the tone?
Why yes, it's our own Bob Page.

Parker is a scientist,
He works all day, then walks
Over to the ball park
Where Dee pitches for the Red Sox.

Frank Parker went to Africa
To teach the pigmics basketball;
But now he teaches tumbling
'Cause he found them not so tall.

Lore collects animals
Dead ones, though, you see
She is the first lady taxidermist
In good old Albany.

Do you see that pretty stewardess?
Mary Phillips is her name;
She is so sweet and understanding
Passengers all spread her fame.

Miss Prescott's chief chef at the Waldorf—
Her dishes are delicacies;
Nancy can cook any dish at all
And be sure every stomach to please.

Dick Propp has won many awards;
His tennis can't be topped;
Gonzales, the champ, has retired
And Dick his place has "copped."

Miss Reilly is the private secretary
Of the president of a firm.
To see him you must see her—
You can see Pat runs the concern.

Many a hostess has no worry
Because she calls and Reynolds serves;
Roxy runs the catering end
And you should taste her hors d'oeuvres.

Nursery rhymes and lullabies
Soothe a baby when it cries;
Mary Lou leads a busy life
Being a cheerful engineer's wife.

Richard Salisbury is a Congressman,
His fame equals that of Custer;
He always gets what he goes after
And you should hear him filibuster!

Sheldon Schneider roams every land;
From Calcutta to Oslo he goes;
Whether in frozen north or tropic isle
There's always someone he knows.

You can find Dr. Ellen in her spare time tourin'
Giving concerts for the Fords, Vanderbilts, and Van Burens.

The rest of the time she'll cure any ills
And give you a box of pretty pink pills.

Spoor now runs his own business,
He installs furnaces and heaters.
The business is worthy and great;
He does it so well, it never Peters.

Janet has a beauty salon
And everybody goes there;
Everyone wants red locks like hers
So she buys tons and tons of Tintair.

In a store Joan works as a buyer
As all the salesmen know;
They say she'll never tire,
That Sutherland's sales will grow.

Cynthia's married and happy as can be
She's got children one, two, three—
They play nice and don't throw rocks
'Cause Mommy knits them Argyle socks.

Ronny Thomas now builds roads
That span the country wide;
He's head engineer of a large concern
Which he looks on with pride.

South of the border down Mexico way
Senorita Thompson is in advertising;
Penny really causes quite a stir,
Her Spanish is excellent, which is not surprising.

Beryl is sure a success in her "biz"
Her clothes are outstanding, her cakes are divine;
At cooking and sewing she sure is a whiz,
She can teach me home ec. any old time.

Way out in Texas lives Harry Vance
Who owns a thousand acre ranch;
So if you want steaks that are inches thick
Better pay him a visit—quick!

Barbara Van Dyke relaxes her patients
With questions of excellent taste;
Her title is that of psychiatrist;
Her practice is growing with haste.

Paul is a pharmacist
In Vogel's Pharmacy;
For syrup and pills to cure your ills
He's just the one to see.

Marge holds the title "perfect nurse"
And all her patients love her,
For her beauty and her talent
She appeared on Life magazine's cover.

Jim's U. S. Minister to France
None with him can compete,
For cunning, wit, and savoir-faire
Monsieur Whitney can't be beat!

We juniors, or “almost seniors”, as we prefer to call ourselves, found the past school year more of a challenge and yet more fun than we’ve ever known in any of our wonderful years in Milne. We were faced with such responsibilities as helping to plan and carry out the society rushes and Alumni Ball, the election of Senior Student Council officers, and, throughout the year, attempting to decide the important questions of college and future careers. Physics, Caesar, and other new phenomena confronted us in grim array, but we emerged triumphantly from the June Regents — well, most of us anyway! Our athletes made excellent showings in both Varsity and J. V. sports. Full social calendars — slumber (ha!) parties, games, and dances kept us on the go. Some were the lucky ushers at graduation, and we suddenly knew that the “big day” was not too far off for us, after all.

The beginning of school found us in Senior High at last. It didn't take us long to get in the swing. We started by electing our officers for the year. Holding the gavel for the class of '54 was Jud Lockwood, who was assisted by Creighton Cross. Don Smith took the minutes, while Bill Bullion kept our finances in order. We proudly displayed our class rings to one and all when they finally arrived. Were we happy! Rushing was a high spot for the female half of the class. Soon after the long awaited rushes, came the Quin and Sigma banquets, at which some of the girls entertained. We will long remember that night. December came and with it the basketball season. The Class of '54 saw many of its boys on the J. V. team and a few even made the Varsity! Three of our girls—Pat Canfield, Barbara Mabus, and Mary McNamara—cheered on the Varsity squad. Our class was a great one for crashing open houses. Every open house of the year saw a delegation of sophomores. Some day we'll have one of our own. The death of one of our class mates, Norman Suter, over the summer vacation saddened us all. By the end of the school year we had successfully established the Norman Suter Memorial Award for Citizenship, financed by the proceeds of a movie shown in April.

Junior High Bosses! That's us, all right. Weren't some of those dances with the Junior High awful? Our Prom was wonderful, though. Some of the girls gave one hen party after another. Usually they were crashed by the boys. Other freshmen found a rendezvous every afternoon at Eddies'. It seems as if our class has more school spirit than any other class. Every game — home or away — found the freshmen section cheering wildly. Our boys did a marvelous job on the team — they tried anyway. Four peppy ninth grade cheerleaders cheered them on. Some of us turned highbrow one night and went to a party given in honor of Gerard Fremy. We even managed to turn Thespians and gave a few plays directed by our classmates. Wait until you see us on Broadway! We had loads of fun this year and are eager to see what next year will bring to us as "sophomore wheels."

As usual, there was a rush for books in the fall, and starting to study was another job hard to learn after so many free summer nights. Do you remember last year when the eighth graders went around with neckerchiefs? Well, this year it was the Union versus the Confederacy, and if you didn't have a cap, you weren't one of the boys. Next came basketball. Tryouts were first, and then we had a team. Practice wasn't at the most convenient hour, since it was at 8:00 A.M. and we needed (and wanted) our sleep. Everyone knew how much better it was to be an eighth grader than a seventh grader. Our dances and parties were lots of fun. We all enjoyed ourselves as eighth graders, and we are looking forward to the ninth grade.

“But I went up those stairs. Why can’t I come down them?” Our troubles were many during the first few days, but we’ve come through with flying colors. Our first social event was a get-acquainted dance. Many dances followed including the Sock Hop, the Leap Year Dance, and last, but not least, our first big formal. Boy, we looked pretty “sharp” all dressed-up. Some of us had our first fling toward sports and we did all right. We remember soccer and all the boys running around State. We won’t forget all the field trips we took. We tramped down to the State Office Building, the Museum of History and Art, and to a radio station. We even went to Central Avenue and drew maps of it. We got through the exams. How? We really don’t know. Now we are looking forward to being eighth-graders. Next year we will be able to tell the “little seventh graders” to go down the “up” stairs.

Bricks and Ivy

The BRICKS AND IVY is finished and in the hands of a new staff. We all hope they will have as much satisfaction as this year's staff had. It was a long and very rough road to the final goal. We are sure that if you look hard enough, you will see dents in the hall from the many feet that found their way to the Art Room during the long winter months. Dick Propp, our hard working and tireless editor, inspired all of us with his energy. There were the Art Staff meetings, and assignments for the various parts of the book, all of which had to be done. Also there was the Literary Staff, which wrote everything which is read in this book, and the Advertisement Staff with long meetings and longer hours of work to get advertisements that have made this book the great one that it is. Many of our members went to the convention in New York and reported many ideas which will help the staff next year. It was everyone's pleasure to work with the Crimson and White on the successful BRICKS AND IVY and Crimson and White Dance. Our thanks go to Mr. Cowley for his invaluable assistance during tight moments and to Miss Dunn for carefully reading and advising the work of the Literary Staff.

Crimson and White

September rolled in and with it came the opening of school and a new year with the Crimson and White. We'll never forget the many mad rushes to the printer, staying 'til all hours working on page lay-outs, chasing around for late assignments, and of course, the BIG Christmas issue. Syracuse, Milton Caniff, and our portrait of Steve Canyon will always stay in our minds. We were extra proud when Doris Perlman received Honorable Mention for one of her feature stories. Columbia University was raided by fourteen juniors who attended the C.S.P.A. convention in March. Our crowd had a very gay time and was honored to hear President Truman speak at the convention luncheon at the famous Waldorf-Astoria. April found the gang from the Crimson and White working with the BRICKS AND IVY on the joint dance. Chris introduced our new staff, and we began the '52-'53 season with Carole Jean Foss as our new boss.

Music

Music has always played an important part both in the Milne curriculum and in the outside activities that it helps to further. After a one-semester absence, Dr. Roy York, Jr., with the aid of Mrs. York, has done an excellent job in rebuilding the music department to its former level. Our band helped to enliven the crowd at several of the home basketball games. Milne also enjoyed some extra publicity when our Milnettes and choir made successful television appearances. All three groups entertained at assemblies, the most noteworthy being the Christmas concert, which we will long remember. An extra-special treat came to us in the form of Gerard Fremy, young French concert pianist, who paid us a one-week visit. On the whole, the Music Department had a wonderfully productive year.

Quintillian Literary Society

We started the year off in a "heavenly" way with our "Blue Heaven" rush. Will we ever forget our "ballerinas" who performed in that sterling choreographic masterpiece, "The Peony Bush"? Everyone felt so angelic in her paper wings and curtain material robe! The installation banquet at Brubacher left nothing to be desired. Most of us had even learned the words to the Quin song — quite an accomplishment. We were royally entertained by the initiates, and the seniors received their keys. Meetings were hectic and noisy, but fun all the same. "Have you paid your dues yet?" was a familiar cry up and down the halls. We mustn't neglect to mention the fine efforts and helpful suggestions of Miss Wasley, our adviser, who kept things from getting into a state of chaos. Even though we lost to Sigma, the bowling party proved to be enjoyed by all. Remember the frantic hunting for a date for the Quin-Sigma? Things turned out all right, though. The dance was a great success. A high point — the Q. T. S. A. formal — culminated an exciting year. We'll never forget the fun we had through Quin.

Zeta Sigma Literary Society

Notice, fellow students,
 Things of interest in your school—
 Art Room, Senior Room, and Page Hall
 Classrooms where student-teachers rule.

Now look closely, all you Milnites,
 Notice Room 123,
 For that's the "home" of Milne School's famous
 Zeta Sigma Society!

Green and Blue are Sigma's colors,
 So we've all been told,
 Yet for the "rush" we all were "Red-men"
 And at our banquet, "good as gold."

Bowling party at the Paladium,
 "Keep your wrist straight; watch your stance."
 Losers brought the cookies
 For the Quin and Sigma dance.

Senior girls received their keys
 And they're the "best ones ever."
 Quin-Sigma banquet wound the year up
 Forever and forever.

We've had fun and we've had problems,
 We've been gay and we've been blue.
 To sum up all the year's adventures—
 ZETA SIGMA, WE'RE FOR YOU!!!!!!!

Tri-Hi-Y

Tri-Hi-Y, a new organization in Milne, made its debut in the fall of 1951. The members elected Mary Lou Richardson, President; Mary Frances Moran, Vice President; Patricia Canfield, Secretary; Shirley Wagoner, Treasurer; and Allison Parker, Chaplain. The Milne Hi-Y formally installed all members and officers at the joint banquet held at Brubacher Hall. Later in the year, the organization held a joint picnic at Thacher Park. As a service project to the school, the Tri-Hi-Y refinished desks in two rooms of the school. As a service to the community, Tri-Hi-Y contributed to the Infantile Paralysis fund. Highlights of the Wednesday night meetings were the interesting discussions and the talks by our chaplain, Allison Parker. These along with the friendly guidance of Miss Lydia K. Murray and Mrs. Catherine McLaughlin, our advisers, will always stand out in our memories of Milne's Tri-Hi-Y.

Hi-Y

Milne's Hi-Y club enjoyed an active year under the watchful eye of our very helpful faculty adviser, Mr. Snyder. We met at eight p.m. on Wednesdays at the Y. M. C. A. With the aid of Mr. Tibbetts, Miss Murray, and other faculty members, we established a Tri-Hi-Y. We took charge of the gym entrance at the home basketball games as our service project to Milne. At the end of the first semester, new members were inducted. During the following month, they were required to wear beanies as part of their initiation. A joint banquet was held by Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y at which the new members were formally accepted. At last the neophytes could doff those beanies! We received our pins, of which we are very proud. The final meeting and election of new officers concluded a full and successful year.

Our first project this year was to work together with Theta Nu and Theseum to plan a joint society dance. We named the dance the T.A.T., representing all three societies. The dance proved to be quite successful. The next assignment in our meetings was to discuss whether we wanted a Q.T.S.A. scholarship or a formal dance. We voted that we would rather sponsor a scholarship fund. Our year closed successfully and the theme behind our society remains — “brotherhood in building and continuing the society.”

Good fellowship was our chief aim for this year. Our new officers proved very capable. Everyone agreed that the joint society dance, which was held in the State College Lounge, was really "tops." We began the second semester with the selection of our new members. Literary meetings were successfully established during homeroom period. Everyone had a chance to participate in these. The meetings were educational and interesting; they received the faculty's heartiest approval. Planning for our "end-of-the-year" picnic was next on the agenda. This picnic in the mountains was a great success, with fun and refreshments for all. By this time our funds were completely exhausted. Election of a new slate of officers for the coming year concluded a productive year.

Social activities of Theta Nu were somewhat limited in number this year. However, we did participate in the T. A. T. dance which turned out to be a great success. We also served on the committee which made plans for the Q. T. S. A. scholarship award. This spring, Theta Nu attended picnics jointly with other societies in Milne. We can sum up by saying that although the scope of our activities seems comparatively small, our meetings proved fun in themselves, and Theta Nu had a very enjoyable year.

A Successful Season

With the inauguration of a new schedule this year, the record of the Milne varsity basketball team showed a marked improvement over the record compiled by last year's team. Starting off the 1951-52 season with three impressive wins over Cambridge, Averill Park, and Altamont, while losing one to Rensselaer, a class C contender like Milne, the varsity cagers looked forward to a successful season. Manhasset of Long Island, the next team on Milne's slate, provided the boys not only with a nice trip but also proved to be one of the most closely contested games of the season. Returning from Manhasset, the cagemen hit a bad slump, losing three in a row to B.C.H.S., St. Peters, and Academy before coming back with a strong win over Altamont. Coming to the halfway point of their schedule, the team settled down to break even in a series of four games, losing to Cobleskill and Rensselaer but beating Cambridge and St. Peter's. Playing Hudson next, the Redmen came out on the short end of the battle but gave the very strong aggregation from Hudson some very rough moments. Ending their season with losses to Academy, Cobleskill, and a one point loss to B.C.H.S., which was considered to be the most exciting game of the year, the Milne cagers did take their second of two wins over Averill Park, concluding their most successful season in the past few years.

Baseball

The 1952 Milne Baseball Team is looking forward to an exciting season. Standouts on the eleven game slate are Van Rensselaer, Bethlehem Central, Albany Academy, and Vincentian Institute. Playing their last season for Milne are seniors DeForest Parker and William Hayes. Among the ten returning lettermen are Birchard Walker, utility infielder; David "Lefty" Clarke; William Wade, experienced second baseman; Douglas Billion, hustling shortstop; and Donald Coombs, long-legged first baseman. Rounding out the starting nine are sophomores Arthur Melius and Judson Lockwood. So far this season the Milne nine has won two games and dropped three.

Tennis

With the return of three seniors, Richard Propp, Frank Parker, and captain Paul Vogel, the Milne net team looks very strong. All three of these boys have been regular starters on the tennis team for the past three years. Michael Meyers, who also is a returning letterman, is playing fourth spot, while a new addition to the team, Robert Seiter, plays fifth position. Backing up these boys are Sheldon Schneider and Edward Bigley with the help of Robert Bullis, Donald Leslie, and Jerome Hanley. Playing twelve matches, the net men are facing one of the toughest schedules in recent years. Some of the more powerful teams on their schedule are Nott Terrace, Mont Pleasant, and Troy High. Up to press time, the Milne tennis team had won two matches and lost one.
