

Diamondmen Impressive In Pre-Season Outing

by John Fleitman

In two scrimmage games against North Adams College, Massachusetts, the Albany diamondmen registered a tie and a win. The scrimmage, held Saturday, April 10, on University Field consisted of a seven inning contest and a six inning contest, giving both coaches an excellent opportunity to look over their squads.

Ped coach Bob Burlin game was "fairly pleased" with his team's performance, even though the players had a little trouble in working the signals.

In the first game - a 3-3 tie - State's powerful hurler Danny Zeh pitched a fine four innings, allowing only two hits and five walks. Relief pitcher Dick Kimball had a little trouble with his curve ball, as he gave up three runs in his brief stint.

The Peds tallied one run in the first inning, two in the second. The 3-0 lead held until the sixth frame when the Adamsmen scored twice. The visitors then scored another run in the seventh, and final inning, to knot the score at 3-3.

In the first game, Ped infielder "Pep" Pizzillo collected four hits in five trips to the plate, half the Ped team total of eight.

Jim Nass was State's starting pitcher for the second game, and he worked a creditable four innings. He struck out four batters and gave up only two runs.

North Adams led off with a pair of runs in the first two frames to

History Prof Egelston: State's 'Mrs. Baseball'

by Don Oppedisano

It has been traditional in the United States that the President throw out the first ball to open the major league baseball season. Here at State, however, this honor has gone, over the last ten years, to Mrs. Martha Egelston, who, without a doubt, has been State's most loyal baseball supporter during the fifteen years.

Mrs. Egelston, who lives at 61 Northgate Dr., Albany, is an Assistant Professor of history, and has been a member of the Faculty Staff since 1929.

Mrs. Egelston says that she has been interested in baseball all her life, and was particularly interested when her husband and older son were ball players. Here at Albany, she attends all the Ped home games and a good share of the away games.

Mrs. Egelston said that the best ball player she has ever seen at State was Peter Spina, a big left-handed pitcher, with a high kick and a good fast ball. Spina was on the varsity for four years, from 1957-1960; during that course of time, he pitched and won three opening day games.

This year Mrs. Egelston will be particularly interested in the freshman team since her son will be one of the pitchers on the team.

As for the varsity, she thinks that the club will be a .500 ball team. She stated that Dan Zeh is one of the best potential pitchers on the club. "If he can get control he could be a fine pitcher."

When she was asked why she likes baseball so much, she replied by stating: "It is so beautiful, especially the drills that precede the game. You might even say that it was a natural ballet. Baseball offers a chance for individuals to distinguish themselves and for a team to act like one unit."

Art and Skill
"I like, especially, the art of pitching, because there is so much skill involved and is very exciting to watch. Big men might appear awkward in small rooms, but when you put them on a baseball field, they become very graceful in doing the things that is required of them."

As for a favorite major league team, Mr. Egelston said that she liked the Dodgers until they moved west. Now she likes the Mets and the Yankees since they are the closest to home. As for a favorite pro ball player, she says that Mickey Mantle stands out among all others.

Volleyball Champs

by Carol Walling

On Tuesday afternoon, April 6, the WAA all-star volleyball game was played between the gals in the Tuesday afternoon league and the gals in the Thursday afternoon league.

The Thursday league came out victorious, having capped two out of the three games. On the championship Thursday team were Harolyn Bergendahl, Kathy Farnsworth, Karen Koch, Christine Messal, Joyce Swain, and Bernadine Whalen.

In the Thursday night basketball league, the sisters of Psi Gamma triumphed over Bleeker by the close score of 25-19. Kathy Farnsworth paced the winners with a nifty 15 point output. She was followed in the scoring column by Mary Lewis and Sue Judge.

Sigma Alpha was awarded a forfeit win over Kappa Delta. The playoff game to decide the WAA basketball championship will be between Psi Gamma and Sigma Alpha and will take place on Thursday, April 22.

University Honors Convocation To Recognize Scholastic Ability

FORMER MYSKANIA MEMBER prepares to be hit by a sponge as part of the show staged by that august body each year at their booth.

The first University Honors Convocation will be held in Page Hall on Sunday, April 25 at 2:30 p.m. This event is co-sponsored by Signum Laudis and the University Committee on Awards. Dean Derringer coordinated these two groups in an effort to have the convocation recognize superior scholastic ability and achievement among the members of the University community.

Personal invitations will be issued to those being honored, among whom are members of all honoraries, freshmen on Dean's List, upperclassmen with 3.0 cumulative averages, and the top ten freshmen and sophomores.

An academic procession of about sixty selected faculty members in caps and gowns will open the program. The Statesmen will furnish the convocation with a musical interlude.

Special Awards
Several special awards will be announced by Barbara Sayer, President of Signum Laudis, and Dr. Arthur Collins, chairman of the University Committee on Awards.

Signum Laudis will present the ten achievement awards to sophomores and freshmen. The Ada Craig Walker award will be given to the Senior woman who best represents the ideals of the university. A Junior man considered to have a definite aptitude in school administration will receive the Wheelock Scholarship.

A tradition to be followed in succeeding convocations will be a speech of scholastic nature given by an eminent scholar or an alumnus noted for academic research. This year it was considered appropriate to ask President Evan R. Collins to give the address.

A souvenir program for the convocation will contain the names of

Annual State Fair to Feature Show, Organization Booths

State Fair, the annual fund raising drive to support a foreign exchange student, will begin tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Pierce Hall when Gamma Kappa Phi will present the kick-off show.

The presentation is entitled "You Are There" and will satirically depict famous historical events. The show will be held on Pierce Stage with a twenty-five cent admission, costs to Greece.

In addition, money is allocated to a representative from the University who will study overseas. The University supplements the costs for the exchange students.

Following the performance, all booths will be open. Appearing again in the Fair this year, will be the old MYSKANIA's sponge throwing booth. This booth permits any student, who pays a nominal fee, the right to throw three wet sponges at any Myskie member.

Phi Delta
Phi Delta is scheduled to hold its annual slave auction in which the sisters of the sorority are sold to the highest bidder to do various prescribed tasks.

If any auctioneer gets out of hand he may be corraled in Chi Sigma Theta's jail. The sisters will be policing the Fair to jail desperate criminals.

The wives of faculty will again hold their bake sale which has proved quite popular in the past.

Closing Show
The Fair will conclude with a variety show directed by Ann Digney and Rose Koch. It will be held on Pierce Hall Stage at 3:45 p.m. and will feature many students who performed in the All University Reception.

Ginger Dupell and Doris Young, co-chairmen of the Fair, indicated that there were many organizations who had not announced the theme of their booth.

They said that they hoped to raise approximately $1000 to support Maria Georgopoulos, the foreign exchange student from Greece. The money that is raised pays her tuition, living expenses and transportation all the award winners, and of members of the honoraries on campus.

Following the program in Page Hall a reception will be held for faculty and invited guests in Brubacher Lower Lounge.

Next to commencement, the Honors Convocation is the most important ceremony to take place at the university. It is hoped that greater recognition will be given to scholastic achievement as a result of this and future convocations. Heading the Signum Laudis group in working on the program have been Barbara Sayer, Lorraine Bernacki, Sharon Bannister, Joseph Kestner.

On the University Committee on Awards are Dr. Arthur Collins, Mrs. Helen Horowitz, Miss Mary Conklin, Mr. Ashley Bryan, Dr. Norman Greenfield, Miss Berger, Dean Ellen Stokes, and Mr. Robert Anderson.

nomy over Greek matters, but that actions taken outside the realm of specific Greek affairs would be subject to review by the Central Council.

The new constitution, if ratified, will go into effect upon the inauguration of the newly elected Student Association officers. Ratification requires a two-thirds affirmative vote with at least twenty percent of Student Association voting.

In effect, the ratification provision of the new constitution will extend the life of Provisional Council beyond the May 1 deadline provided for in last March's constitutional amendment. This extension was made because the Pro Council felt it was impractical to attempt to organize all the commission areas and the Central Council in the next week.

Panhellenic Council
The structure of this Panhellenic Council was formulated by a special committee which had been appointed to examine the problem of relating the Greeks to student government. This committee, consisting of members of Pro Council and representatives from IFS-ISC, was chaired by William Laundry.

There was little controversy over the committee's proposal that Greek life on this campus shall be related to student government through Panhellenic Council, which would serve as the coordinating body of the interfraternity and intersorority Councils.

The proposal that Panhellenic Council be represented on Central Council by two voting members precipitated much debate. It was finally passed, with the understanding that the Greeks shall retain their autonomy.

Also included in the finance committee report was a report of the investigation into the signing of the yearbook contract for 1965-66. The investigation had been undertaken because Steve Curti, Yearbook Editor, had signed the contract prior to the Council's approval of the yearbooks '65-'66 budget. The Committee, feeling that there was some conflicting testimony, recommended that the matter be referred to MYSKANIA for further investigation and any possible punitive action deemed necessary.

Financial Committee Report
The final reports of the finance committee were submitted to Pro Council. In the next few days, the Council must review the decisions of this committee and decide if it concurs with the additions and reductions in the various organizations' budgets.

Receiving his A.B. summa cum laude from Harvard in 1933, Dr. Levin went on to receive his Litt. D. from Syracuse University in 1962, and his LL.D. from the University of Saint Andrews in 1962.

He has delivered lectures at approximately 100 colleges and universities, and has written nine books in addition to editing eight volumes. Most of these have dealt with Shakespeare and his contemporaries.

Writes Extensively
Dr. Levin's most recent article was entitled "Othello and the Motive-Hunters." It is preceded by some seventy other articles dealing with a multitude of topics. He has had book reviews published in several magazines, among them, the "Nation," "Kenyon Review," "New York Times Book Review," and the "Shakespeare Quarterly."

PRO COUNCIL GOES into its final stages as a functioning Student Government by voting on the Final Draft of the New Student Government.

Pettit Announces New Director Of University Summer Theatre

The University Summer Arena Theatre will be under new direction this coming season. Dr. Paul Bruce Pettit, who founded the Arena Theatre thirteen years ago and has been Executive Director during this time, announced the appointment of Kelly Yeaton as producer-director for this summer.

Mr. Yeaton has had wide and valuable experience in community, university, and professional theatre. He is also recognized nationally as an expert in the arena production. In the past the arena theatre has been a community-academic theatre drawing both students and community members as actors, technicians, and management personnel.

Research Grants Given to Faculty

Grants-in-aid for research projects have been given to five members of the faculty of Albany State. They were granted from the Research Foundation of the State University of New York, and totalled $1470. Seventy grants have been awarded by the University, totalling $27,457.

In addition to these five, thirty-six grants and fellowships have been awarded to the faculty this year.

Faculty members obtaining the recent grants are Dr. Hans A. Pohlsander, associate professor of Ancient Languages, for "A Concordance to Pindar"; Dr. Ashley M. Bryan, professor of Biology, for "Polypeptide synthesis in Lily Anthers during Mitosis."

Dr. John S. Mackiewicz, associate professor of Biology, will be studying "Non-segmented tapeworms of western suckers"; Dr. Alicia Iwanska, associate professor of Sociology and Anthropology, for "The role of the Eljido in Mexican national unification"; and Dr. Donald E. Liedel, professor of history, for "The Antislavery Novel, 1836-1861."

NOTICES

Members of MYSKANIA will be explaining the new student government to various groups on campus through the next week. The schedule of their speeches is as follows:

Sunday, April 25, 2 p.m. - Alden-Waterbury.

Tuesday, April 27, 7 p.m. - Brubacher.

Wednesday, April 28, 7:30 p.m. - Bleeker-Van Cortlandt, Beverwyck-Schuyler, Van-Rensselaer-Ryckman.

Eight members of the Class of '67 have been chosen by the English Department to participate in the English Honors program for 1965-66. They are Louise Beck, Martin Demarest, William Gross, Dorothy Jewell, Jeanne Klarsky, Louise Myers, Douglas Rathgeb, and Bonnie Tomaszewski.

The English Honors program enables those students chosen to take special courses which provide intensive study in English and lead to a degree designation of Honors in English or High Honors in English.

Mr. Daniel W. Odell will serve as advisor to the group.

Cuban Expatriot to Discuss Encounter With State Dept.

Tonight at the Golden Eye, Bradford Lyttle of the Committee for Non-Violent Action will speak on "Freedom in America." Mr. Lyttle was coordinator of the San Francisco to Moscow Walk for Peace (1960-61) and the Quebec-Washington-Guantanamo Walk for Peace (1963-64).

The Quebec-Washington-Guantanamo Walk for Peace was originally a call for better relations between the United States and Cuba, but as the march progressed, secondary issues came to dominate the walk's public image. Among these issues were those of peaceable public assembly, free speech, police excesses, and freedom of travel.

Outing Club Plans Annual Spring Trip

Outing Club elected the following officers for 1965-1966: President, Sandy Cushman Menegaux, Vice President, Kevin Magin, Secretary, Joan Satterlee, and Treasurer, Beth Peterson.

At the last meeting the members discussed the Spring activity at Lake George. This event will be sponsored by the R.P.L. Outing Club at Turtle Island, Lake George on May 7, 8, and 9. Students from many colleges and universities along the eastern seaboard and some from Canada will participate in the three day event.

The weekend will include canoeing, camping, hiking, mountain climbing and outdoor cooking. If the weather permits some adventurous ones may try swimming. In order to attend the event a student must have attended a previous Outing Club trip or must demonstrate the ability to handle a canoe.

Students who have not handled a canoe may attend beginner training sessions on May 1 and 2. Any students interested should attend the regular Outing Club meeting on April 27, at 7:30 p.m. in Brubacher.

'All the King's Men' Highlights IFG Program

This weekend the International Film group will present another fine pairing of the best in contemporary film making. Tonight at 7 and 9:15 p.m. it will present Robert Rossen's version of "All the King's Men" while tomorrow at the same times it will show the Japanese film "Throne of Blood."

"All the King's Men" is based on Robert Penn Warren's Pulitzer Prize winning novel which deals with the dramatic rise and fall of a political demagogue in the deep south. This story, which is reputed to be based on the political career of Louisiana strong man Huey Long, stars Broderick Crawford in the title role, and features Mercedes McCambridge, John Derek and John Ireland.

Crawford and McCambridge both won academy awards for their portrayals in this film, while director Rossen, who later made "Lilith" and "The Hustler," received an award for best production.

"Throne of Blood" is a samurai drama directed by Akira Kurosawa, the outstanding director who made "The Magnificent Seven," "Yojimbo," and "High and Low."

"Throne of Blood," is an unusual treatment of a familiar theme, being directly based on Shakespeare's "Macbeth." In this modern drama, Shakespeare's tortured villain is a powerful warlord during Japan's Senguchi civil wars.

Starring Toshiro Mifune, who also starred in "The Magnificent Seven" and "Yojimbo," the film has been widely praised not only as a most successful realization of the Shakespearean drama on the screen, but is highly regarded as a fast moving film of its own right.

Admission to this outstanding feature will be fifty cents, while the admission charge for "All the King's Men" will be thirty-five cents.

The IFG regrets that "Psycho," which was to have been shown next weekend, has been cancelled by the distributors. We regret that we will not be able to show this film next Friday evening.

Magazine Editor To Speak Monday

Emily R. Flint, managing editor of the Atlantic Monthly, will speak on the "Excitement of Publishing," Monday, April 26 at 8 p.m. in Draper 303.

Mrs. Flint attended Barnard and Tufts College and the School of Library Science, Columbia University. She started work for the Atlantic Monthly in 1945 as an editorial assistant. She was gradually promoted to higher positions and in 1951 she was appointed to her present standing.

Formerly from New York City, Mrs. Flint now lives in Medford, Mass. where she participates in adult education classes and journalism associations. She is also a prominent speaker on topics concerning publishing.

SCOPE Continues Activities

The SCOPE fund-raising committee announced that it now has almost enough money to send one volunteer to the south this summer. Present plans call for the University to send five.

If the Union College group does get organized, the two groups will be able to send a larger delegation of volunteer workers to the south. SCOPE is also working on several long range projects. A speaker from Southern Christian Leadership conference, the parent organization of SCOPE, will be here next week.

Plans also call for a civil rights film, a Forum of Politics program, and a closing rally prior to exam week.

One of several proposals to add to the funds of SCOPE is to send representatives to various church, community, and business groups, in order to explain SCOPE's purposes.

SCOPE hopes to be able to raise much of the needed money from these groups as well as from the student body. SCOPE members at the desk in the Peristyles will continue to solicit funds and distribute information.

More SCOPE buttons, to be sold at twenty-five cents each, have been ordered.

Publish News Letter

In addition to these projects, the SCOPE publicity committee intends to publish a news letter which will be paid for by advertising solicited from local businessmen.

Anyone who is interested in working on this news letter or any other phase of the SCOPE project should contact a SCOPE representative at the SCOPE desk in the Peristyles.

The fund raising committee will soon begin to solicit for additional funds from faculty members.

Jenny Freyone, Chairman of the Albany State SCOPE project committee, said that a SCOPE committee is now being organized at Union College. The new committee will work with the Albany State group.

SCOPE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR Bill Leue listens to RPI representative Jim Stevenson as Stevenson recounts his experiences as a participant in the recent Selma March.

Marquis DeSade's Writings Reflect A Philosophy of Sadistic Freedom

Nearly every college student is able to analogize between the name of the Marquis de Sade and moral pervasion. Despite his lewd reputation, De Sade was an able storyteller, as can be seen in his three short works collected under the title of 'The Crimes of Love.'

Story Comes of Age

by Gary Kaplan

We are all in the great generation of the short story, a generation of tumult and speed. Our daily lives are filled with various time-filling activities which make the twenty-four hour day not quite long enough.

Mailer Views the American Dream by Larry Epstein The American Dream that Norman Mailer is talking about in his latest and second best novel 'An American Dream' is not the New World idea of achieving money and fame by vertical social mobility, but rather a sex-laden way of thinking that all of us in America are engaged in.

Novel is Paradox But this novel is a paradox. It is also possible that Mailer has just failed. The reviews of the novel have been expectedly varied.

Twist Contrived However, he wittily contrives a twist in the incident by introducing a tale of suspense-exotic and unusual. It is a story of nature-of the encounter between man and beast, both living together and involved in the same predicament.

John Aldridge in life said 'it (the novel) may well represent the first significant step the current American novel has taken into fresh territories of the imagination.'

Rojack gets involved with a host of people all of whom are despairingly flat. There's seems to be little doubt that Mailer's American Dream is to be like Rojack. The character of Rojack at most times seems to be a direct projection of Mailer in Mailer's daydreams.

What happens from this point on is what makes 'Passion in the Desert' a short story made to order for our generation.
