ALUMNI NOTES:

As we travel down the Hudson, we stop at Vassar College, where we find our scholarship winner, Barbara Allen, hard at work. Besides being on the college newspaper, which comes out twice weekly, she belongs to the students union, an organization at the college.

During Easter vacation she represented Vassar in a debate which was broadcast over the radio. The topic, one that is interesting to all students attending high school or college, was "Students Opinion on Peace."

Barbara was one of our hardest working girls while in Milne and she certainly is showing her ability in college and we are sure that she will succeed in her chosen career.

The Reverend Bertnom deHeur Atwood, a former Milne Student will become associate pastor of the First Reformed Church on North Pearl Street.

The Reverend Mr. Atwood was graduated from Rutgers College, Class of '37, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a national honorary society. He has studied Theology this past year in New College, Edinburg, Scotland, and is now studying in Tubinger University in Germany.

The Reverend Mr. Atwood has served summer terms in the First Reformed Church at Hawthorne, N. J. and Community Church, Glen Rock, N.J. Last year in June Reverend M. Stephen James, D.D. with whom he will be associated, delivered the ordination sermon in the Third Reformed Church where Mr. Atwood was ordained.

He is the brother of Merwyn and Donner Atwood who are also former Milnites.

HOW MANY YEARS ???

How many years before you graduate from Milne?

"Oh, dozens and dozens!" says a typical Milnite.

Although we curse homework and lessons all year, aren't we really rather well- haven't we all a lump in our throats considering that we have only three-or-one-or no more years in Milne?
 Perhaps we don't win first prize in every thing we do, but we try. We all know
 Milne is one grand school !

CLASS - NEWS

Volume VIII, Number 28

HOME ECONOMICS

In the seventh and eighth grades home economics is required, but in the senior high school it is elective.

In Senior High school courses are given on Food, clothing and home decoration. Each of these courses gives a regents credit and, therefore, classes are held five days a week.

Mrs. Barsam gives the instruction in clothing and home decoration. The classes in clothing help students to learn about buying clothes as well as making them themselves. At the beginning of the year each girls personalty is analyzed and she learns what kind and type of clothing she should wear. Then she learns more about making this type of clothes.

Girls also learn about budgets. They learn, from Mrs. Barsam, how to make them and how not to break them. This knowledge helps those who have a certain allowance to live within each week.

The other course, Home Decoration, is helpful to girls who are planning to be architects or home decorators. In this course girls learn about planning attractive color schemes for different types of rooms and what sort of pictures are suitable in different rooms. Girls also get the chance to make things for their rooms. Some of the most popular articles which may be made are pillows.

BIOLOGY 9

General Science students planning to take ninth year Biology, will find that it differs from General Science in that general science deals with non-living things and biology with living things. In biology, as in general science, emphasis is placed on scientific procedure. Students are taught to formulate problems, data and points pertaining to the problem are collected and a conclusion is reached. Then a suitable test is drawn up. Students are required to keep a notebook, as in General Science. One or two contracts, or units, on certain topics are done each semester. Insects, birds, fish and trees are topics which may be covered.

In biology 9, students are taught to appreciate their environment and some emphasis is placed on the study of the human body.

Ninth year biology must be taken by all students who wish to take biology in their tenth year. If you have any questions concerning the sciences, see Dr. Moose in his office, room 322, in the near future. He will be very glad to help you.

MORE CURRICULAR NEWS

In this second issue of the curricular page of the Cimson and White we will attempt to enlighten students upon more elective courses which they may like to study. In the first issue we described the food courses in the Home Economics Department, ninth year General Science and tenth year Biology. This week we are continuing the Home Economics and Biology and have added History A which is the first in a series under supervision of Miss Elizabeth Shaver.

HISTORY A

One of the most important and best liked of Milne's many subjects is History A. History A includes Ancient and Medieval history. By studying Man's past record we are able to make improvements for the present and predictions for the future.

History A is divided into several units. Each unit is an outline for the study of a certain phase of early history. The course extends from the study of earliest man to the time of the French Revolution.

Extra reading is required, as it counts as one question on the New York State Regents Examination. Extra work done outside of class also counts toward raising one's class mark.

Early grammar school history gives on the idea that this subject is a continual line of dates that must be memorized. This, however, is not true. Several dates must be memorized, but for the most part only the approximate time when something occurred is necessary. Quite prevalent are the traces of art, English, science and mathematics in this first year course of history.

Miss Shaver is the supervisor of history courses in Milne High School. You may see her in her office, room 131, for further information and advice.

HISTORY C

United States, or American History, is the only history required in order to receive a high school or regents diploma. This is called History C. It is probably the most interesting of the three histories (A, B, and C) which are offered here at Milne, as it deals with the United States.

History C starts with the colonial history of the United States (the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries), touches on all important historical affairs which have to do with present day affairs and then finally leads up to current American problems. By studying the background of America, one is able to solve the present day problems more easily and learns what effects the background of the country has on current events. Also, it teaches the students that the condition of the United States in the future depends a great deal on their actions to-day.

HISTORY B

History B is an entirely elective subject except when certain colleges require it for entrance credit. Despite the fact that it is not required, it is a most interesting and educational subject. History B deals with recent historic and contemporary Europe. It gives a background for the things which are happening today and those which we can expect to witness in the future.

Current events are stressed particularly because of their importance to every one in the world today. Then, too, the current events which are discussed in the class rooms today will become the important history of tomorrow. It is, therefore, well to be informed about the events which are going on in the world about us. This makes History B a very worthwhile course for students who wish to keep well-informed on current affairs.

Under the able guidance of Miss Shaver, the History B course in Milne High School offers a broad range of knowledge that will help the average student to more fully understand the complicated affairs of the world at large.

CHEMISTRY

In today's world we find a great deal which is different from yesterday's. One of the most amazing advances has been in the field of chemistry. Fifty years ago, the word chemical science, was unknown. Today it describes one of the principal pillars of modern industry and life. Without it, automobiles would be little better than they were twenty-five years ago, for chemical science has developed paints, steel alloys, plastics, glass, and hundred other little things which have been the factors in the improvement of the automobile. It is so in most other industries, too, and there are great companies, as witness the DuPont plants, devoted to chemical science alone. There is an ever-increasing demand for scientists and research workers in chemistry. It affords a secure, growing, future for any interested person, and it certainly does not take much enthusiasm to get interested, for it is a subject which rouses the curiosity, and is immediately interesting.

High school chemistry, while it does not reach the complicated stage of professional chemistry, provides a background of work which is the groundwork for the higher structure. Without chemistry in high school it would be impossible to understand industrial chemistry or to appreciate it. While it does require a reasonably intelligent person to really gain anything from it, it is not a stiff course, and once one is launched in it it ceases to be a course at all, and becomes a study which you take up, as you would a shop or art course, for the gain and pleasure you get from learning about something of which you know very little.

ADVANCED MATHEMATICS

Certain higher mathematics are required for some diplomas and by the entrance boards of some schools, particularly mechanical and engineering schools. These are, namely, plane and solid geometry, intermediate algebra and trigonometry. Little can be said about these subjects except that they are the higher mathematics and are, naturally, a little more difficult than the prerequisite courses in math. The amount of higher math which a student should take depends on what type of a vocation he intends to take up in later life, as well as on how easily he mastered his other mathematics courses.

The News IN SPORT

MILNE GIRL TEAM SCORES FORTH VICTORY

The Milne golf team, with a record of three victories to its credit, again proved its ability to play golf when they defeated Castleton High $10\frac{1}{2} - 11\frac{1}{2}$ in a match played at the Van Ransselaer Club. A previous match with Castleton resulted in a Milne victory, $14\frac{1}{2} - 1\frac{1}{2}$.

The Milne quartet also won over Cathedral Academy $8\frac{1}{2} - 6\frac{1}{2}$, and Bethlehem Central $8\frac{1}{2} - 3\frac{1}{2}$ in earlier matches.

In the Castleton-Milne match, Martin Cressy was low scorer with an 89. Seeley Funk was next with a 90; Seth Wheeler 92 and Kenneth Lasher 94.

The schedule for the rest of the season is:

May 27 - Albany High - Normanside
June 2 - Delmar - Normanside
June 3 - Albany High - Municipal

Later in June, the Milne golf team will enter the Troy Northwestern Meet.

GIRLS DEFEAT VINCENTIAN 4-0

The Milne girls tennis team scored its first victory of the season when it met Vincentian on the Washington Park courts Monday afternoon. At the close of the singles matches, the score stood 4-0 with Milne ahead. The doubles matches could not be continued due to rain. The remainder of the match will be concluded at a later date.

In the singles, Captain Elizabeth Simmons defeated her opponents 4-6, 8-1, 6-0, as did Ruth Rasp 7-5, 6-2. Patty Gibson also was victorious with a 7-5, 2-6, 6-4 score; Margaret Chase 8-6, 6-4.

GIRLS SCORES SEE HEAVY SEASON VARSITY TENNIS AND BILL TEAMS CHOSEN

With the first appearance of spring Milnites are sure to see an abundant display of athletic equipment; girls with tennis rackets and boys with baseball bats and golf clubs.

This year tennis is the major sport with baseball and golf less important. The senior high girls' tennis tournament is already well under way; the matches played at Washington Park during gym class on Thursdays.

Last year, for the first time, a girls tennis team was formed under the direction of Miss Margaret Hitchcock, athletic instructor. This year the team will continue to function, and will meet Bethlehem Central, Mont Pleasant, Catholic Central High and Vincentian in scheduled matches.

Since there is only one girl available from last year's team, Elisabeth Simmons, captain, there are three vacancies. At the tryouts held at the Washington Park courts, Patty Gibson, Ruth Rasp and Jacqueline Townsend were chosen to make up the remainder of the team, with Margaret Chase and Jean McDermott as alternates.

The Varsity Baseball team, organized under the leadership of Lois Haynor is made up of: Dania Winhurst, Patty Gibson, Lois Nesbitt, Joyce Murdock, Ruth Selkirk, Virginia Nichols, Dorothy Shattuck, Helen Cooper, Eleanor Harding and Jean Selkirk.

HORSES ! HORSES !

Last Friday afternoon, Milne sponsored the annual spring Horse Show at the Troop B armory. Marjorie Gade, Evelyn Wilber, Lillian Ecolshymer and Sally Desrosaux were first, second, third and fourth respectively in the seat and hand class.

The sets of three contest was won by Jane Davis, Phyllis Comstock and Ruth Selkirk.

Winners of the jumping events were Evelyn Wilber, first; Jane Davis, second and Lillian Ecolshymer, third.

Marjorie Gade took first place in the musical chair contest.

Although Albany High school gained a victory Wednesday, up to the sixth inning the Milne nine outplayed the high school team on every point, and led them 3-2. Dick Game pitched almost faultless baseball for those long five innings. After playing heady ball the whole five innings, lead by coach Paul Schmidt, from of a one-run lead, the boys plunged to a 13-3 score. Up to the last of the sixth inning, Milne had gathered 6 hits, 1 walk, 3 runs, and no errors. During that fatal half-inning, Albany High got 11 runs, 2 walks, 6 hits, stole 4 bases, and Milne made more than 4 errors. Buddy Vincent went the route for the Garnet and Gray, while Game, McKean, and Geisel pitched for Milne.

Today we present a few homey truths for our readers.

Men seldom go mushy,
On girls who are crushy.

Many folks who don't like history,
Like dates.

Wise people never trust an enemy.

Girls think more of clean shiny cars than clean, shiny ears.

To make a hit
But a girl relies on her make-up.

Aren't very punny.

NEVER USE THESE

If you are one of those little smartys who gets 100% in English class on "waht words not to use and why", or one who knows his Brubacher and Wheeling by heart, word for word, or just one who attended journalism class on Monday, May 23, you are excused right now, for you have passed the examination and are now qualified to attend Miss Prims' nursery school. Otherwise, we would like you to read the following bit of grammar drill on what expressions are definitely "out in high sassity". We have yet to meet the Milnite who does not need this.

Because we are along the line of experts, we feel qualified to give you these appropriate exercises.

One day a blushing bride, very much of the fair sex, was favoring with a selection, the city fathers and a host of friends in immaculate linen. Of a sudden, with becoming modesty, she faced her better half, who appeared on the scene to announce, with stern reality that some of the delicious refreshments had been burned to a cinder. Still in gala attire, she entered the kitchen with bated breath, and, doomed to disappointment, noticed that it was now black as pitch. Attempting to trip the light fantastic, she fell over something with a dull, sickening thud. It goes without saying that she was pale as death when, at the psychological moment, like a bolt from a clear sky, she was caught like a rat in a trap. A beggar's description of a man with a checkered career just having performed a daring robbery, did the dastardly deed of carrying her off.

This thrilling mystery will be continued in the next issue. (We assume that you will have forgotten this by then, as this is the last issue until next fall.

IT'S WONDERFUL

-that Ruth Selkirk, Millie Mattice, Jan Jansing, and Betty Tincher, are going to be ushers on class night, not to mention Benjy Douglas, Eddie Hunting, Joe Ledden, and Dick Paland. We know eight certain people who are now very happy and with a special reason. We musn't forget to congratulate these lucky kids!

-that some bashful scul is now contributing his enormous masterpieces for publication. Although all this stuff is appreciated, it is still evident that no gossip or dirt is supposed to drape the feature page. Remember, sophomore, the next time a brainstorm is coming, please help us by writing a feature, not something for Winchell.

For. Millie Mattice that she has a composer around. After that touching scene in assembly last week, Joe immediately became every girl's hero, and Millie became the victim of many envious sighs. It's not that we wish to take Joe from her but it's the principle of the thing! Why can't some of the other fellows learn to write songs to us. Oh, well, we can't have everything, or can we?

OR IN THE DAYS THAT USED TO BE

Do you remember way back in December when Roger Orton wanted a Buck Roger suit (size 18) for Christmas, (he's been wearing it ever since) and Shirley Baldwin was expected to get a birdage from old Saint Nick (how she uses just a leash). Perhaps you recall a little more vividly the theme songs last October of our busy seniors. For instance, Ed Miller--"Good-Bye Jonah" and Doug McKean--"Where or When" (we hope you can figure it out.) Remember what a surprise it was when we read that Bar Soper would be seen at the Aul via Club with Dick Andrews one cool October night, and that Will (Flash) French was flat on his back due to the fact that he was trying to catch the eye of a cute little blond while playing hockey--he caught it alright! Remember when Marty Creezy first opened his coffee shop "The Creezy Dish" and Midge Stanton's idea of a "man" was anyone who didn't go to Milne (how about it now, Midge?) Way back at the beginning of the year, Lois Haynor's pet ambition was to marry a baseball player and if we know Lois, she hasn't changed a bit.

Think over the favorite bright remarks of those snappy Milnites last November, such as Brud Davis's "Won't you be my Valentine" and Seely Funk's "Did you ever hunt quail?" Could we ever forget Ed Walker's constant "Whee" or George Scoville and his Di-die doll. We are more than pleased to note that the Junior girls got their Christmas wish and now have boyfrieds who escort them home. (Lucky little devils).

Ah me, sweet memories, and junk! Ain't it fun to reminiss. Next fall, we will probably be quoting this last issue's bright news--Such is life!!

A CYNIC'S SONG

Lipstick here and powder there,
Polish nails and do up hair,
Cold-creams, lotions, perfumes, junk
Enough to fill a steamer trunk,
Fuss and fidget; don't get sore,
If stockings run, just buy some more.
Spend your time and all your dough,
On stuff to get yourself a beau,
And what do you get, my friend, a date
With a guy who hauls you around in a crate

That ought to belong to the D.A.R.
A lad who thinks that all you are,
Is someone to throw around the place
And ditch next week for a prettier face!
