Music Association Concert February 23

OS-KE-NON-TON FEATURE
SOLOIST

The Music Association will give a concert at Chancellors' Hall, Friday evening, February 23, at which will appear the Women's Chorus, Os-Ke-Non-Ton, the Men's Double Quartet, and the College Orchestra.

Os-Ke-Non-Ton, a full blooded Mohawk Indian chief, is one of the three really great Indian musicians of today. His splendid voice and dancing were first noticed by a Canadian, who later sent him to Canadian schools to be educated. Os-Ke-Non-Ton still lives with the Indians during the summer, and does concert singing during the winter. He appears on the stage in his native costume, with his drum, and sings a collection of folk songs of the Six Nations and other western tribes, and also gives an exhibition of the real Indian war dance.

The Women's Chorus will make its regular semi-annual public appearance at this concert, and will sing two groups of songs. The first is a collection of Negro Spirituals, "Deep River," "Didn't It Rain," and "There's A Meeting Here To-night." The second is a group of songs composed by Mr. Candlyn especially for the chorus, a lullaby, "Sleep, Sleep, Beauty Bright," the "Shadow March" and "The Hottentot Child." In addition to these two groups the chorus will sing a cantata, "The Landing of the Pilgrims," in which Os-Ke-Non-Ton will sing the solo parts.

The Men's Double Quartet will be another of the evening's attractions. They will sing only two numbers, "The Splendor Falls," by Mark Andrews, and "The Long Day Closes" by Sullivan.

At different times during the evening the orchestra will appear and will render two groups of selections. In the first group will be "The Morris Dance" by Noble; and "The Second Hungarian Dance" by Brahms. The last group will consist of the "Liebestraum" by Liszt and a Scotch

Fordham Quintet Scores Victory

NEW YORKERS TRIUMPH IN WELL PLAYED GAME

Hornung's Shooting Feature

State's basketball five went down to defeat under the fast playing of the Fordham tossers last Saturday night in the college gymnasium. The game, a fast one throughout, was started by a score on the part of the visitors. Soon Hornung tied the score by two foul baskets but Fordham soon broke the tie. During this half the score was tied three times. State put up a strong defense but Fordham, being the stronger team, broke through it several times. At the end of the first half the New Yorkers were seven points in the lead, the score being 18 to 11.

Fordham started the final period with a spurt and kept up the lead to the finish with Cavanaugh and Healy piling up scores for their team. The Purple and Gold scored but 6 points in this half while the visitors scored 22.

Hornung, Juckett, and Caton played a fast game. Of the 17 points earned by State, Hornung piled up 11, of which 9 were foul baskets, earned at the expense of the New York tossers.

In the first preliminary game the St. Joseph's Academy team defeated the Reserves of the Purple and Gold by a final score of 42 to 13. Of the 13 points scored by State Reilly made 8.

In the second preliminary game the Cathedral Academy five were beaten by the Milne High School team by a 28 to 14 count.

Interclass Committee Draws Up Rules For Regulation Of Interclass Rivalry

REVISED AND APPROVED BY MYSKANIA

Following the suggestion made by Dr. Brubacher in his address on Class Rivalry and College Tradition, Myskania appointed an interclass committee to draw up a new body of rules in accordance with which class rivalry might be carried on in a suitable manner. The committee consisted of: Ruth Tefft, '23, chairman; Charles Reilly, '23; Marjorie Blythe, '23; Annie Olson, '24; Dorothy Bennit, '24; Mary Weiss, '24; Ruth Moore, '25;

RUTH DRAPER SCORES BIG SUCCESS AT STATE

We happened by chance to have had the good fortune of meeting that most charming and versatile author-actress, Ruth Draper, who held us entranced with her plays in monologue, last Friday evening. We were so overcome by her extreme simplicity unaffectedness, and good nature that we quite forgot to be a true reporter and ask the usual questionnaire of reporter's questions. But by so doing we found out the most interesting things.

You can not help but know that Ruth Draper is a very normal person when you hear that she just loves to ride down hill. And she loves bright red hats and dresses. In fact one of the first things she asked us was what color and kind of dress she should wear for the recital, and she described at length her three party-best frocks. We decided upon yellow and yellow it was.

Does she like dogs and shrimp salad? We don't know; but we do know that she dotes on people. She loves to meet them and talk to them.

Her looks? Of course we didn't have to ask questions about her looks, we just feasted our eyes and discovered that she uses no make up and no hair nets. We were quite overjoyed at this fact because we don't either, except the hair nets.

We wriggled comfortably in our woolen stockings and goshes, and smiled happily at ourself when we saw shiny well-worn brogues on Miss Draper's feet when she removed the four-buckled flappers, just like our own. We just swelled up with pride and joy at the thought of meeting this charming fairy-story lady. When she said "good-bye" and shook our woolen-mitted hand with hers we sighed and wished that every celebrity in the world might be as delightfully gracious.

The following is the comment on Miss Draper from the Knickerbocker Press:

"One need not spend years becoming acquainted with the feminine branch of the human family. Two hours with Ruth Draper is a post-graduate course, and the crowded house last night at Chancellors' Hall that heard this versatile artist, met men, women and children of all ages and dispositions, as this small, slender woman created them out of her mind

Alice Daly, '25; and Lyle Roberts, '25. This committee gathered reports from various colleges on this subject and compared these results with our existing rules and traditions. After a long period of the hardest kind of work the committee made a report of their findings in the form of a new code for the government of interclass rivalries. This code has the approval of Myskania, and will be used by that body in their guidance and protection of college customs and traditions.

Section I. Committees and Duties.

1. A committee of five sophomores appointed by the President of the Sophomore Class shall purchase the hats and buttons for freshmen.

2. A committee, which shall be called the Board of Censors, consisting of three members of each of the upper classes, appointed by Myskania, shall report offenders and breakers of rules.

3. The members of the Board of Censors shall wear a button bearing the class numerals as identification.

4. Myskania shall have the power to inflict penalties and provide for supervision of these traditions and keep the score in class contests.

5. The names of those who are reported as having broken college traditions will be published by Myskania in the weekly News.

Section II. Respect.

1. Seniors shall march out of Assembly before all other students.

2. All members of the Student Body shall remain standing until all seniors are out of the Auditorium.

3. Freshmen shall remain standing until the juniors and sophomores have left their seats.

4. Freshmen shall greet all upper classmen and sophomores with respect at all times.

5. Freshmen must be segregated from sophomores and upperclassmen at basketball games.

6. Freshmen shall enter thru' the side or rear doors, not the front, from the first day of recitations until Moving-Up-Day.

7. No freshmen shall sit in the rotunda.

8. When two or more students of different rank enter a building or any room of that building at the same time, deference must be shown to upperclassmen.

9. Freshmen shall assist upperclassmen at their request, if the upperclassman is acting in an

REWARD OFFERED

Last week "The News" was requested to print a few statements about March 7. A day or two before the last issue of the paper there appeared on various bulletin boards in College a slip of cardboard with the printing "March 7". This was followed in a few days by "7:45 P. M." Since then there has appeared "Auditorium", and "No Charge". The News is at a loss to know what these cryptic signs mean, but it looks as though there was going to be an entertainment of some sort in the auditorium on the evening of March 7, which is to be free to the students of the College. But what kind of an entertainment? Any reader of "The News," who sends $3.00 as an entrance fee, is entitled to guess what kind of an entertainment is to be given; the successful contestant will receive a subscription to "The News" for the years 1923-24. All answers must be handed in at "The News" office in person on or before Feb. 29.

Patrol—"The Wee Macgregor" by Amers.

All students will be admitted on their student tax tickets, and outsiders will be charged an admission of fifty cents. The students are requested to sit downstairs in order that those taking part may not be discouraged by looking at empty seats. Special tickets will be given out, therefore, to the students after chapel Friday.

Well sir, we're here! We went to the mail box and found no flunk notes. We jammed into the Registrar's and came out quaking with a pack of yellow cards in our hand. Cautiously we glanced at each one and after we had counted eight hours to our credit we began to swell up. Then when we saw that for at least one semester more we could enjoy roaming around our own S. C. T., we rushed once more to the mail box and seeing other happy kindred spirits expressing their joy in the most acrobatically physical manner, we acrobated too. We forgot that we had only two more credits than we needed; we forgot that certain professors regarded us doubtfully; we forgot all but the fact that "we're here—because—" and to each one that because is one of two things, kindness or merit.

STUDENT COMMENT

COLLEGE TRADITIONS

Have we College traditions, or do we just think that we have some? We know that certain articles printed in every freshman handbook, are called traditions, and that is about everything that most of us know.

Of course, the freshman class is called on to observe more traditions than other classes and each member should be glad to do so. But do you remember last Friday in Chapel?

According to College traditions the freshmen are supposed to remain seated until the other classes have gone out. Instead of this, the jam at the exits was helped by the freshman class, as a body, trying to get out before anyone else.

No one at the time seemed to realize that the freshmen were breaking tradition. They certainly put one over on the other classes or, at least, they said they were. The upper classes grumbled because they were pushed and shoved aside, but did nothing. The Sophomores, who are called on to make their younger friends obey rules and traditions, could do nothing as all class rivalry is suspended. The freshmen seem to realize this and rejoice about it by doing whatever they please, even going so far as to break traditions.

It is up to the freshmen to behave themselves, to steady down and remember that tradition must be obeyed by them as well as by the upper classmen. They must resist the temptation of going in the front door, of sitting in the rotunda, and of getting up before the others have left chapel.

'26, it is up to you! Of course, you can force the other classes to make you obey but this is foolish. You would have to bear the dislike of the sophomores, the apologies of the juniors, and the sarcastic comments of the seniors. It is a fine thing for a college to have traditions, but is an even finer thing to have them obeyed by the students.

What are you going to do, class of '26? Are you going to honor your college and her traditions, or are you going to dishonor your class by disobeying her traditions?

SABBATICAL LEAVE FOR FACULTY OF STATE

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the State College for Teachers on December 1, 1922, a plan for providing for sabbatical leaves for professors and assistant professors of State College was presented by President Brubacher. After considering this plan, the Board of Trustees accepted the plan and recommended its presentation to the Board of Regents for consideration and action.

If this plan met with the approval of the Board of Regents, it was recommended that a new section to be known as section 65 be added to the Regents Rules to read as follows:

Section 65. Sabbatical leave for the Faculty of the State College for Teachers. A professor or assistant professor of the State College for Teachers, who has served the college for six years may, on the nomination of the President of the College be granted by the Board of Trustees a leave of absence of one year or one-half year for travel, study or research. A member of the faculty on such leave must have his program of study or travel approved in advance by the President of the College and he must upon completion of such leave, report to the President of the College on the work accomplished by him. A member of the faculty on leave may receive the difference between his regular salary and the salary paid to a substitute during his absence, such substitute to be appointed and his remuneration fixed by the Board of Trustees of the College, or the nomination of the President.

Section 65, as it stands above, was unanimously adopted by the Board of Regents.

The following faculty members have been absent due to illness: Dean Horner, Professor Hutchinson, Professor Walker, Mr. Deyo, Professor Stinard, Dr. Deporte, and Dr. Hastings.

At the last meeting of the faculty council, the rule regarding major and minor requirements was changed to read as follows: A major shall not have more than 30 and a minor more than 21 accredited hours in his major and minor subjects respectively.

What are you doing?"

G. A. A. NOTES

JUNIORS DEFEAT SOPHOMORES

Monday, February 19, the sophomores and juniors clashed in what will be the last game between them this season unless the teams tie.

The juniors started out in fine shape. Ball after ball dropped into their basket until, at the end of the first half, the score was highly in favor of '24. In the meantime the sophomores had been "warming up." They began the second half with determination, and gradually succeeded in making the juniors look anxious; but their good work unfortunately was a little late in starting, and the game ended in the juniors' favor with a score of 37 to 18.

Quest.—How does Bill Heinemann keep the ball a-rolling?

Ans.—She never tries to use it for a pillow.

We are glad that Hilda Liebiech will probably get her letters in spite of the fact that her knee was again put out of commission.

G. A. A. GIVES SLEIGHRIDE

The G. A. A. held its annual sleigh-ride on Saturday, February 17, from five until seven.

Was it cold? Those who went on the G. A. A. sleigh-load won't tell you so, for they will say that you don't notice how cold it is when you are packed in and are having a wonderful time. And there were a good many girls who enjoyed the outing a great deal more than last year, for last Saturday there were two loads of girls. The sleighs left college about five o'clock and went out toward the Country Club. The trip was not so long that it froze any one, but even if it had, she soon would have thawed out when she reached college, for there they found a lot of hot food to eat. During the ride some of the G. A. A. girls remained behind to prepare hot dogs, cream potatoes and cocoa for those who had gone out on the loads. With this welcome waiting them the girls forgot to feel the least bit chilled and went to eating with a zest that only a sleigh-load can arouse. So once again G. A. A. has been very successful in its good old-fashioned sleigh-load entertainment and has many enthusiastic recruits for next year.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

Student Assembly on Friday, February 16, was short and to the point. After the usual chapel proceedings the secretary read the motion which had been held over from the former student assembly. The president then read a communication from Dr. Brubacher, which stated that a mistake had been made in the presentation of the problem of getting a new coach. Dr. Brubacher says that the physical director is to be paid by the state as always. The thing that the men of the college have requested is that there be a special coach for each sport. The money for the payment of these coaches will come from a special student fund.

A motion was made, seconded and carried, that the matter be laid on the table until some other time. Since there was no discussion the meeting was adjourned.

HOME ECONOMICS NOTES

Miss Gillett will be in New York on Friday, February 23, attending an executive meeting of the New York State Home Economics Association.

and her abundant talent for characterization.

"Ruth Draper is her own cast of characters. The voice, the hands, the body all go to realize these everyday people; it is impersonation made perfect, yet so realistic that a mere shawl drawn about her head creates an old Jewish grandmother; nimble hands at a switchboard and a limp manner tell of the switchboard girl on a hot day, and the three ages of married life are vivified across a bare table. Her voice can echo the silly debutante, gushing her way through a conversation; it can picture a mother trying to manage her children at a party, and a "Main Street" accent trying to instill Greek plastic art in heavyweights.

"The recital was given by the State College Dramatic and Art Association and Miss Agnes Futterer of the faculty introduced Miss Draper."
