The Leader Praised By Police Conference

The Civil Service Leader was recognized for its "news reporting and editorial support" of policemen and the improvement of police working conditions by the recent annual state-wide Police Conference at Buffalo.

The resolution was sponsored by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association of New York City, with John J. Cassese as its president.

The resolution reads:

"Recognition of The Civil Service Leader for its news reporting and editorial support in behalf of policemen and towards the improvement of police working conditions.

"Whereas, The Civil Service Leader has, through its news reporting and editorial comment, been of significant aid to the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association of the City of New York in the latter's fight to improve police working conditions, and

"Whereas, The Civil Service Leader, through its editorial policy, seeks the constant betterment of job standards among police and other municipal employees, and

"Whereas, the support of The Civil Service Leader is, and will continue to be, vitally important to the achievement of their aims,

"Be it hereby resolved that the Delegates to the Police Conference, State of New York, assembled in convention for the 34th year, do express their appreciation and thanks to The Civil Service Leader for its contribution to, and support of, those who endeavor to elevate the police function through public understanding."

Comptroller Forms Single Promotion Unit In Dept. Of Audit and Control

ALBANY, Aug. 17 — In order to broaden the promotional opportunities of the employees of the Department of Audit and Control, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced today a plan under which the Department would become a single promotional unit.

Prior to this change, the Department was divided into five separate promotional units, and employees were limited to advancement opportunities within their individual units. These units were the Division of Municipal Affairs, The Field Audit Section, The Executive Division, The Office Audit Section and Local Assistance Sections, and the Retirement System. With the exception of the Retirement System, these Units have been consolidated into one promotional field.

CSEA Interested

This consolidation will allow employees to be considered for promotion anywhere in the Department when such opportunities are available. According to the Comptroller, this will "allow for more rapid advancement and give employees a variety of experiences. This should also serve to encourage a flow of ideas and allow section heads to draw on the experiences of their employees who have worked in other divisions of the Department. The work of the Department as a whole will also become more unified as a result of this change".

The new promotional plan was developed after several months of discussion within the Department and with employee representatives. It was adopted after a referendum taken among Department employees. The plan has been praised by the New York State Civil Service Commission and by the Civil Service Employees' Association.

Because of the nature of the work of the employees of the Retirement System, it was decided to maintain the System as a separate promotional unit pending the results of further study.

In concluding, Levitt made it clear that the new plan would not effect other requirements for advancement such as experience and time in grade.

Retirement System Has Budget Hearings

ALBANY, AUGUST 17 — The Department of Audit and Control is conducting formal budget hearings in preparation for Comptroller Levitt's requests to the Budget Division for appropriations for the coming fiscal year.

Division, Bureau and Section heads are being asked to justify their personnel and other requirements and to suggest areas in which economy can be effected in the Department's operations. In commenting, on these hearings, Comptroller Levitt said, "The Department will make every effort to adjust its needs to the present budgetary resources and take recognition of the public pledges made by the Governor to effect economies in operation. Each Division head must justify any additional funds requested on the basis of work loads and new activities. They are also being urged to suggest means of simplifying procedures, eliminating unnecessary or unproductive activities and abolishing obsolete jobs."

State Thruway Aides Praised by Traveler

ALBANY, Aug 17—An out-of-state motorist using the New York State Thruway found it saved him money, thanks to the cooperation and quick service of State Police and Thruway employees.

To express his "limitless thanks," he wrote the following letter to Col. B. F. Brill, chairman of the Thruway Authority. The author is Gurnee Gallien of Blue Hill, Maine.

"I take pleasure in asking you to pass along my everlasting gratitude and appreciation to the personnel involved in the following happy story. These men include Perry Britton of Chittenden, toll collector at Canastota No. 34; Mr. E. J. Dillon of Oneida Barracks, the dispatcher on duty at 4 p.m., June 16, and probably another State Trooper.

"As I was about to leave the DeWitt Service Area, I stepped out of my car just beyond gas-pumps to remove my raincoat. As I drove on East, I patted my pocket to check my wallet, as is my habit, and to my horror, it was missing.

"Never in my life have I lost it, being by nature extremely careful, especially travelling far from home. Though only a few miles

Evening Courses Aid City Employees' Promotions

This fall, New York City employees will again be offered a variety of evening courses designed to help them improve their job skills and to prepare them for increased responsibility and promotion.

College level courses available under the New York University and City College Municipal Personnel Programs, other courses given under the Board of Education Special Free Evening Program, and additional educational information of interest to City employees, are described in the annual bulletin, "Prepare For Your Future," issued last week by the Training Division of the Department of Personnel.

The courses will cover such subjects as human relations, administrative management, statistics for the layman, municipal auditing, public housing management, social case work supervision, English grammar and usage, speed stenography and office supervision. A number of special courses for architects, engineers and IBM machine operators will also be offered.

In addition, the bulletin gives information on the Board of Education Regular Free Evening Program, the New York State High School Equivalency Diploma, training for veterans and police promotion, and on the Municipal Colleges reduced-rate program for City employees who wish to take courses towards a degree.

The Evening Program

The voluntary evening program, established in 1955 by the Department of Personnel in cooperation with New York University,

City College and the Board of Education, has become a permanent part of the educational scene in New York City. The program has its roots in courses sponsored in previous years by the Municipal Personnel Society, the Civil Service Commission, and separate agencies.

Enrollment figures have multiplied; 1,600 students enrolled in 1955, while there were more than 3,500 students in the program last year. The curriculum has grown from 14 courses five years ago to the 45 courses described in the current bulletin.

In 1955, for example, the whole field of management was covered by one course; this year there are six courses in this important field.

Copies of the new bulletin are now being distributed to all City agencies for posting on bulletin boards. Special flyers describing the fall 1959 program are also being distributed to 60,000 employees.

Additional copies of the bulletin and flyer, and other information on the program, are available from the Division of Training, Department of Personnel, 299 Broadway, Room 200, New York 7 (CO-7-8860, ext. 231).

Meter-Maid Unit Okayed By Council

There will be more than 130 new City jobs when the new "meter maid" force starts work Jan. 1 or thereabouts. The City Council with the approval of Mayor Wagner, has unanimously okayed a force of 100 woman inspectors to police parking meters and parking areas.

The new force, to police the 50,000 meters, will also have clerical and administrative personnel.

The "maids" will be paid $3,150 to $3,900 a year. They will be under the jurisdiction of Traffic Commissioner T. T. Wiley.

There will be six district supervisors at $5,150 a year each, two principal supervisors at $6,400 a year each, and one executive officer at $8,500 a year. The executive officer is to be a man and the supervisors may be both men and women.

Members of a 30-person clerical staff will be paid about $3,000 a year each.

The clerical force will process summonses and handle payrolls. The inspectors, probably working in teams of five, check each meter at least once a day, and some meters twice daily.

You can expect action on the new corps by the Board of Estimate Aug. 20, and submission to Mayor Wagner for his signature soon afterward.

Police Conference Names Martin State President

'Toughest' Code of Ethics Heads for City's Final OK

By Richard Evans, Jr.

The New York City Code of Ethics has only to be approved by the Board of Estimate and the Mayor and it will become law.

City Council Majority Leader and Vice Chairman Joseph T. Sharkey has called it "The toughest ethics code in the United States."

The code will be administered by the Corporation Counsel and by Personnel Director Joseph Schechter, heading a board of ethics that will also include three non-paid public members to be appointed by the Mayor.

"Frankly, I think the code is so clear there won't be many interpretive problems," said John F. Kelly, managing attorney in the office of City Corporation Counsel Charles H. Tenney.

"I think most of the inquiries about the code will come from ordinary City employees who have minor part-time jobs with large corporations doing business with the City," he continued. "There will usually be no conflict of interest in such cases."

The key to the City's new ethics code is its opening phrase: "Conflicts of interest prohibited." The text of the code merely defines and spells out what shall be construed as a "conflict of interest."

What It Includes

The code reads: "No councilman or other officer or employee, whether paid or unpaid, shall engage in any business or transaction or shall have a financial . . . interest . . . in conflict with the proper discharge of his duties."

Another provision reads: "No councilman or other officer or employee whose salary is paid in whole or in part from the City treasury shall appear in behalf of private interests before any City agency . . . Councilmen, however, may appear without compensation in behalf of constituents, or in the performance of public or civic obligations."

"No councilman or other officer or employee, whether paid or unpaid, shall disclose confidential information concerning the property, government or affairs of the City. Nor shall he use such information to advance the financial or other private interests of himself or others."

City employees and officials, paid or unpaid, also may not accept valuable gifts from any private interest which has or wants dealings with the City.

Another measure is that "no councilman or other officer or employee, whether paid or unpaid, shall . . . accept private employment . . . when such employment . . . is incompatible with the proper discharge of his official duties."

Also, it will be illegal for any paid or unpaid councilman, employee or official to "solicit, negotiate for, or promise to, accept employment with any person, firm or corporation with which he or his agency is engaged on behalf of the City . . ."

And finally: "No person who has served as officer or employee of the City shall, within a period of two years after termination of such service or employment, appear before any agency of the City or receive compensation for any services rendered on behalf of any person, firm, corporation or association in relation to any case . . ." that concerns such an employer in his dealings with the City.

Special Prohibitions

City employees may not, under the code, lease property to or from the City or buy it from or sell it to the City under any circumstances. Property transfers resulting from condemnation procedures do not count, according to Mr. Kelly, because there is no "willing buyer-and-seller relationship."

No one with any policy-making power or influence in City government or civil service may also have policy-making power or influence in a private firm doing business with the City.

Even if a person with City influence and salary and an interest in a private firm not doing business with the City could prove a business deal with his firm would be clearly to the City's advantage, the person would have to give up his City job or his interest in the private firm before the two could do business.

If a City license examiner got paid for doing a personal income tax return for someone applying for a City license, would this be a violation of the code of ethics? The Leader's guess is that it would be, since the license examiner would have a financial interest in the licensee.

Would a WNYC radio announcer come under suspicion for announcing a newsworthy item that incidentally benefited a friend of his? Not unless he were paid for it.

Is it legal for a health inspector to receive a ham for Christmas from his neighborhood butcher? This was illegal even before the new code of ethics.

May a councilman appear on behalf of members of a housing co-op who want a sewer main installed in their area? Since these members are his constituents, and since the sewer would be of wide public benefit, besides benefiting the co-op members, this would probably be permissible.

If a City employee learned far in advance that a subway extension was to be made in a certain area and he then bought a home there, would this be a violation? Yes, if the information was confidential, since speculative real estate profits could probably be made through appreciation of land values.

If a City engineer invents a device, through his work for the City, that would save the City money, may he quit City service and set up a company to produce the device for sale to the City? No, that would be violating at least two clauses in the code. He would, in effect, be accepting private employment with a firm that would then be doing business with the City, and to sell the device to the City, he would appear on his company's behalf before City agencies.

A City fire inspector works part-time inspecting fire extinguishers for a manufacturer that sells them to the City. Is this a violation? Almost certainly, since he or someone he might influence would be inspecting these same extinguishers for the City.

Would it be legal for an accountant in the City Auditing Department to sell insurance to fellow employees on the side? Yes, because such a thing would neither influence the City nor the insurance company.

Will It Work?

Some say the code is puritanical. Others look upon it hopefully to cure many of the City's ills. The prevailing attitude, however, seems to be: "Wait and see."

Patrolman Filing Soon: Exam Isn't Complicated

There is no reason to be bewildered about taking the upcoming City exams for patrolman and policewoman. The process between your first application, some time between Sept. 8 to Sept. 25, and finally learning of your appointment or rejection is not as complicated as it looks.

The first thing to do is to read the examination notice carefully. This will be available during the period for filing applications.

The requirements will be very much like those of previous years, but with a few salient differences:

HEIGHT: Patrolmen, 5 feet 8 inches. Policewomen, 5 feet 2 inches.

VISION: Patrolmen, 20/30 in each eye, separately, without glasses. Policewomen, 20/40.

AGE: For filing, 19 through 29. For appointment, 21 through 29. Veterans of armed forces service after July 1, 1940 may deduct length of time in service from actual age.

EDUCATION: For filing, none. For appointment, high school or equivalency diploma, or armed service certificate.

LICENSES: Valid auto operator's or chauffeur's license at time of appointment.

OTHER: U.S. citizenship. Three years residence in New York City immediately preceding appointment. Service with the armed forces does not interrupt residence.

Applying

Applications will be available at the Applications Section of the Department of Personnel, 97 Duane Street, Manhattan, just across the street from The Leader's office, or by mail from 299 Broadway, New York 7, N.Y. To do it by mail, you had better start early, as that requires several days for the blanks to come to you and the completed forms to go back to the Department of Personnel. Use a business-size envelope.

All application instructions are printed on the application form. If there are more instructions, these will come along with the form, or be handed to you in the exam room, or given to you orally by one of the people in charge of the test.

Include the application fee — $4 for both patrolman and policewoman — with the completed application form.

If you were not graduated from high school, it may be possible to get a certificate of equivalency.

This will be needed only at the time of the examination, on Dec. 5, so you may apply without one. Information on equivalency papers are available by writing the Board of Education, 110 Livingston St., Brooklyn 1, N.Y. GED papers from the armed forces may serve the same purpose.

The Exam

Legally qualified veterans are entitled to additional points in the examination, if their scores are passing or above. This helps in getting appointed sooner.

About ten days before the examination date, the Department of Personnel will notify all applicants where and when to report. If you haven't been notified by this time, contact the Department right away.

The patrolman-policewoman examination will be a multiple-choice affair.

Go through the test at a moderate rate of speed. If a question seems to be a knotty one, and starts taking up a lot of time, skip it for the moment and come back to it after you have finished the rest. If you finish the whole exam before the time is up, go through it again, checking on any answer of which you are not sure.

For most multiple-choice examinations, tentative key answers are released to the public nine days after the test and published in The Leader.

Applicants have 30 days to challenge them by writing the City Civil Service Commission, 299 Broadway, New York 7, N.Y.

After the examination, you will go through physical tests to determine your strength and agility. You will also undergo a fairly thorough medical exam.

Papers, License

You may have to prove your age. A certificate from the Bureau of Vital Statistics, or a similar government paper, is needed.

The driver's license or chauffeur's license is not needed when you apply. It is needed when you take the test. The period between September and the examination on Dec. 5 gives you plenty of time to get one.

Investigations are conducted of your character, and the education you have claimed. If you have told the truth, there is nothing in an investigation to get rattled about.

First come the list of eligibles, set up by Personnel.

Certification is the next-to-last step. As vacancies occur, the Police Department will notify the Department of Personnel, which will in turn send it the names of the required number of top eligibles on the list.

More names are certified than the number of vacancies, as many may turn down the job or be otherwise disqualified. Any names that are left over are sent back to Personnel, to await the next call.

Certification is not the same as immediate appointment — but it means that hiring-time is near. As much as space permits, larger certification lists are published in The Leader.

The NYC Ethics Code Can We Live With It?

A HISTORIC milestone in the governing of New York City will be reached with the adoption of what is generally considered the strictest "Code of Ethics" in any governmental unit in the United States.

The Code is considered in many quarters to be so strict that it may hamper honest, dedicated City employees and officials in their genuine efforts on behalf of the City. But few will openly criticize it.

The Code may or may not be too strict, but the proof is in the pudding. If it is, in fact, too strict, its saving virtue may well be the broad latitude for interpretation and enforcement given the Board of Ethics, which will administer it.

The board will be headed by Personnel Director Joseph Schechter and Corporation Counsel Charles H. Tenney. The three non-paid public members, to be appointed by the Mayor, will probably be announced as soon as the Code has been approved by the Board of Estimate and by the Mayor.

It is to be sincerely hoped that judicious administration will keep this somewhat puritanical code of ethics from becoming a runaway "sacred cow," doing more harm than good, and with none daring to criticize it lest they themselves be suspected as its prime violators.

Interesting Experiment

STATE COMPTROLLER Arthur J. Levitt has introduced a novel development in the Department of Audit and Control. He is establishing a single promotional unit for five divisions of the Department and employees from any of the divisions can therefore compete for a promotion in any other division.

The New York State Civil Service Employees Association has previously asked that such a promotion plan be studied. Now the Comptroller has actually put the plan in action.

It looks as though the single unit will indeed expand the area of promotion and we wish the program the greatest success.

Over "100" on State Test? It's Due to Extra Points

ALBANY, Aug. 17—From time to time, a final mark of 102 or 103, or even higher, on a State eligible list provokes questions about the rating of Civil Service examinations.

Final ratings of over 100 can result from a combination of a high test score with extra points for seniority, service ratings or veterans' credits. All three may raise a rating in a promotion exam; only veterans' credits can be added to the test score in an open competitive test.

When disabled veterans' points, outstanding service ratings or long years of seniority are added to test scores over 90, the total may well exceed the 100 to which test scores are limited.

For instance, Mary Jones may achieve a score of 98 on a promotion examination for senior stenographer. Since she has merited an outstanding performance rating from her superior, she receives six extra points. Five years of permanent competitive service (figured at .15 points each) could add .75, bringing her final rating to 102.75, an apparently "better than perfect" rating.

A score of 100, however, should not be interpreted as "perfect" or 100 per cent. In setting up a scoring scale, a score of 100 may be allowed for the best performance attained by any candidate, or the best score that is expected to be attained.

Average U. S. Pay: $4,790

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—The U.S. Civil Service Commission has just come up with the results of its latest survey of the rates of pay to Federal employees. Here are a few salient points:

Average yearly pay for a full-time employee on June 30, 1958 was $4,790 (that's $2.30 an hour). This is almost 10 per cent higher (or $422 more) than the 1957 average.

Blue collar employees, numbering 699,514, had an average annual wage of $4,763 ($2.29 an hour). That is 6.5% ($291) over the previous 12-month average.

Full-time Postal workers, numbering 460,643, averaged $4,875, which is a 10.5 per cent ($465) increase.

Classified white collar workers, numbering 962,000, averaged $4,640, a 13.9 per cent ($565) increase. The increase since 1955 averaged 18.8 per cent ($773).

The USCSC stated that, "The trend to higher grades among classified employees continued in the year ending June 30, 1958, although the median grade remained at GS-5."

Law Cases

Sidney M. Stern, counsel, submitted to the New York City Civil Service Commission the following report on law cases:

JUDICIAL DECISIONS Appellate Division

Phinn v Kross. The petitioner was dismissed by the commissioner of correction after a hearing on charges. The court found substantial evidence to sustain two of the three charges but as to the third it held that the charge was not sustained by the evidence. The matter was remitted to the commissioner for reconsideration of the punishment.

Delventura v Hayes. Petitioner was charged with "disrespect of his superiors, conduct unbecoming a public officer, and a violation of the rules and regulations of the police department" in the village of North Tarrytown. He was found guilty and suspended for two weeks. The court agreed that the evidence sustained the charges but remitted the matter for imposition of a lesser penalty.

Special Terms

Horne v Schechter. Petitioner was found to lack the required experience for the examination for housekeeper. The court remanded the matter for further consideration by the commission on the matter of experience.

Montreuil v Board of Estimate. The court decided that the City Register has the authority under the administrative code to issue a directive to the employees in his office to work from 9 to 5 on business days even tho the office is open for business only from 9 to 4. (NYLJ 7,20.59).

Opinion of Attorney General, dated June 16, 1959, concerning Civil Service Law, sect. 96; State Finance Law, sect. 112; Executive Law, sect. 63 (1) State Civil Service Department is not required by law to approve agreements for the rendition of services to the State on an independent contract basis but may review them to determine whether they do or do not constitute appointments or employments which are subject to its jurisdiction.

Questions Answered On Social Security

I have been told that the social security tax is now paid on the first $4,800 of my wages so that I can get a higher benefit when I reach retirement age. What about the benefits to my wife when I retire or if I die or become disabled before that?

The rise in maximum earnings that can be credited to a social security account will provide greater over-all protection to everyone. It will provide increased payments to dependents and survivors as well as to workers who retire or become disabled.

I have earned $5,000 so far this year but my employer stopped taking out social security tax as soon as my earnings reached $4,200. Is this proper?

No. Your employer should deduct social security taxes on the first $4,800 of your wages. This change became effective in 1959. It is important that he report $4,800 for you on his social security tax returns so that you may get full credit for these earnings.

I started getting social security checks when I reached 65 early this year. I'm still running my small retail business but I don't expect to make a profit of over $1200. My question is do I have to file a social security tax return for 1959? Some tell me I should, but others say that since I'm past 65 and getting checks, the tax no longer applies to me.

The fact that you are over 65 and getting social security payments has nothing to do with your obligation to file a self-employment tax return. If your net profit from your business is $400 or more, you must file a self-employment return and pay the tax at the same time you make your income tax return to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

I have heard that the Social Security Act now provides benefits to dependents of disabled workers. I am 60 and currently receiving disability insurance benefits. My wife is 56. We have no children. I should like to make application for my wife or have her file for monthly payments. What is the procedure.

The 1958 Amendments do not provide payments to a disabled worker's wife under 62 who does not have a child entitled to benefits in her care. She will have to wait until she is at least 62 years of age.

My son was getting disability insurance benefits until he died in July, 1959. He hadn't worked since September 1948 when he became disabled. Prior to that date he was contributing most of my support. Can I get dependent parent's benefits even though he was not able to contribute to my support at the time he died?

Yes. The law states that the period of dependency may be established as of the beginning of a period of disability. However, you must file proof of support before September 1, 1960.

I have been totally disabled 4 months. When should I apply for benefits?

If it appears that you will continue to be disabled you should report to your social security office for filing.

I am a widow 60 years of age. My son was killed in an auto accident in 1952. In addition to myself, he left a widow and two small children. I made my home with him and he furnished most of my support. Could I qualify for social security payments under the recent changes in the law? Yes, when you become 62 years of age. However, it is necessary that you file proof of your dependency on your son with your nearest social security office by August, 1960.

Will this affect the amount of monthly payments now being paid to his widow and minor children?

No, this will be paid in addition to any payments to the widow and minor children.

Is a disabled person, who is getting social security disability benefits, eligible for any social security payments for his wife and children?

Yes, the law now provides social security payments for certain dependents of disabled workers. Payments may be made to his children under 18 years of age, to disabled children over 18, to his wife when she reaches age 62 or earlier if she has in her care children who are eligible for these payments. If a woman is receiving disability payments, payments can be made to her dependent husband if he is 65.

My wife and I adopted our grandson last year. I have been getting by social security retirement checks for over a year, but my wife is still under 62 years of age and therefore not yet eligible for wife's payments. Can I get some help from social security to help support my wife and grandson?

Yes, if you are now receiving social security retirement benefits, you should contact your nearest social security office at once and file an application on behalf of your grandson. Be sure and bring his birth certificate and the adoption papers. Your wife should also apply. Even though she is under 62 years of age, payments can be made to her if she has your grandson in her care. She will need to show her marriage certificate.

In the event of my death, how can I be assured that my wife and minor children will receive survivors' benefits?

One of the first things you must do is to make a periodic check to make certain that wages or self-employment income are properly credited to your social security account so that you may have an insured status. You must inform your wife that in the event of your death that she contact the nearest social security office. They will assist her in filing an application for survivor's benefits. She should present proof of age for the children and your marriage certificate.

My father was disallowed disability benefits because he did not have enough quarters. Does this mean that he cannot draw social security at age 65 or that my mother cannot draw benefits if father dies?

Because your father did not meet the disability work requirements does not necessarily mean that he does not have enough quarters to be insured at age 65 or death. His social security office will be glad to tell him whether or not he is insured for future benefits.

Lefkowitz Ruling: ABC, Finance Law

ALBANY, Aug. 17 — Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz has issued two formal opinions dealing with the State Finance Law and the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law.

In the first, Mr. Lefkowitz held that a medical consultant to a county commissioner of welfare is not a public officer and may serve as a member of the same county's ABC board.

In the second, the attorney general ruled that fee requirements for state agencies do not prevent them from preparing and distributing information material to the public without charge.

Mr. Lefkowitz's first opinion was rendered the State Liquor Authority, which asked whether a Dr. William C. Stewart could serve as a member of the Schuyler County ABC Board and as consultant to the Schuyler County Welfare Department at the same time. The ruling said he could.

The second opinion was sought by Mrs. Caroline Simon, Secretary of State. Mr. Lefkowitz answered:

"The fee requirements of these laws do not prevent a State agency from preparing and distributing informational material, including quotations from applicable laws and rules and regulations where such materials enable such agency to answer inquiries from the public more efficiently and more economically."

Post Offices Want Applicants: RR Clerk, Sub-Clerk, Carrier

There is a call out for applicants for postal transportation clerk jobs, at air and rail terminals around New York City and in the Eastern part of the state. The new register of eligibles, effective Aug. 18, is not expected to last through September.

Pay starts at $2 an hour and goes up to $2.42. No experience or formal education is required.

The next examination, reported Bernard Katz, executive secretary of the U.S. Board of Civil Service

Examiners at the New York City Main Post Office, will take place Friday, Aug. 21 in the Federal Building on Christopher Street, Manhattan, in three big sessions.

The 2,700 scheduled to take the test will be those who successfully filed between July 16 and Aug. 15. Those who pass the exam, Mr. Katz said, have an excellent chance for early appointment.

Exams for Upstate jobs will be held next week or the first week in September.

Mr. Katz expects to have one more filing period after the August 15 cutoff, but he says that all who pass the test will probably be offered appointments this year.

U.S. citizenship and New York State residence are required for these jobs.

For postal transportation clerk, ask for Announcement No. 2-101-8 (59) and Card Form 5000-AB at your main post office, except for Manhattan and Brooklyn main post offices. Mail the completed forms to the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U.S. Post Office, 33rd Street, near 9th Avenue, New York 1, N.Y.

Pay here also starts at $2 an hour, with 10 per cent extra for night work. No experience or formal education is required.

None requires local residence, but locals get preference. State residence and U.S. citizenship are required.

Applications are most easily obtainable from main post offices in each area offering the test, but may also be obtained from the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, General Post Office, New York 1, N.Y.

WHO NEEDS OATH?

ALBANY, Aug. 17 — Word to the Wise Department: Here's the test of who has to file an oath of office: If the office is created by law; if the duties of the office involve some portion of the sovereign power; if the performance of the duties is a public concern and if the duties are continuing in nature.

It may be elective or appointive, fulltime or parttime, compensated or uncompensated. If the job meets the above test then an oath must be filed.

Correction Dept. Surveys Westchester Jail Conditions

ALBANY, Aug. 17 — The State Correction Commission has given most local government units in Westchester County favorable reports on operation of their jails and other detention facilities.

Comments from the reports of 14 jails and lockups, which were inspected recently, follow:

Greenburgh Town Lockup: "This new lockup and police headquarters are located in a modern building. Final plans and specifications for the lockup portion were approved by the commission in 1956 . . . The officer assigned to the police desk makes hourly supervisory visits to the cell section and the book for recording such visits was neat and maintained in an orderly manner."

Portchester Village Lockup: "The cells and cell room were clean and in order but the lock on one of the doors was out of order and the chief of police stated attempts are being made to have it repaired. Hourly supervisory visits to the cell section are made and the record is maintained in a neat and orderly manner."

Mount Kisco Village Lockup: "The cells and cell room were clean and in order . . . An officer is assigned to the police desk at all times and it is his duty to make at least hourly supervisory visits to the cell section for males. The record book was neat and maintained in a satisfactory manner."

Rye City Jail: "The cells are modern in all respect . . . They are maintained in an excellent state of repair . . ."

Mount Vernon City Jail: "The cells and cell room were clean and in order. The sanitary facilities operated properly and the necessary supplies were available . . . The detention room is not available for use as it is used for the storage of evidence, as are three of the cells for females. It is recommended that this be removed without delay and that the cells and detention room be made available for use."

Pelham Manor Village Lockup: "The cells and cell room were reasonably clean. The record of detentions and supervisory visits to the cell section is posted in the cell room. The detention sheet was neat and up-to-date."

Harrison Town Lockup: "The cells and the cell room were clean and in order . . . The hourly supervisory visits to the cell section are made by either the officer assigned to the police desk or one on radio patrol."

along, I was horrified to realize I could not walk back that far, could not reverse direction, must either stop and await a passing trooper or drive on to nearest exit, which I did. I had seen two troopers at the Service Area, and hoped they might still be there or near there.

"Mr. Britton called dispatcher, who called a patrol, who picked up wallet in grass, who called back to me that it was safely found, and Mr. Dillon subsequently delivered it to me intact. This luck, plus your superb organization, restored my cash, credit cards, license. In fact my whole self.

150,000-Job Youth Bill Gets 1st OK

A bill to set up a 150,000-youth conservation corps was passed by the U.S. Senate last week despite the threat of a Presidential veto.

The corps, modeled after the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s, will give outdoor jobs for those from 16 to 21 in the nation's forests, parks and wildlife refuges, rivers and public lands — as well as on projects of various states, if they agree to pay part of the cost.

It would start with 50,000 the first year, and grow to 150,000 in three years.

The Senate vote was 47 to 45. It is now headed for the House.

Members of the corps would be paid $60 a month for six months, and $5 extra for succeeding enrollments, plus $10 for special skills or leadership responsibilities.

Almost solid Republican opposition to the measure was on the score of cost. It was called "a deceptive boondoggle" by G.O.P. leaders.

New Federal Employees Rating Plan Urged by CSC

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — The U. S. Civil Service Commission asked Congress last week to amend the Performance Rating Act of 1950, to eliminate the requirement for summary adjective ratings, and to let agencies use employee evaluation methods of their own.

The USCSC proposal would also:

1. Cut the connection between performance evaluation and adverse personnel actions.

2. Find statutory boards of review.

3. End the need for USCSC approval of agency evaluation plans. "The restrictive features of the Act discourage vigorous and effective use of employee evaluation and force agencies to adopt a uniform approach to the evaluation problem," USCSC Chairman Roger W. Jones stated in a letter to Congress.

The proposal is the result of a USCSC study in which agencies and representatives of employee and veterans organizations were consulted.

The widely criticized current law requires that all employees be given one of at least three summary adjective ratings — outstanding, satisfactory, or unsatisfactory. Experience has shown that almost all employees — an estimated 97% to 99% — are rated satisfactory. Criteria under the law for outstanding ratings are so high that supervisors have found that few such recommendations can be justified.

In place of present specific requirements and uniform plans, the USCSC proposal would require:

1. Telling each employee what is expected of him in his duties.

2. Appraising the performance of each employee according to what is expected of him.

3. Continually advising the employee of the quality of his performance.

4. Where appropriate, keeping written records of performance evaluation of each employee.

USCSC said its study shows that the Government's present system is not effectively serving the purposes for which progressive private employers use performance evaluation, such as (1) an important first step in improvement of an employee's work, (2) a means of recognizing meritorious performance, (3) a method of inventorying human resources, and (4) a guide to the selection of employees for promotion, training, etc.

Mr. Jones pointed out that while the recommended legislation vests agencies with greater discretionary authority in the performance evaluation field, it retains Commission authority to issue necessary regulations under the act and to inspect the administration of agency plans, and it increases Commission authority and responsibility to effectively promote adequate performance evaluation systems. It makes clear that these authorities and responsibilities are subject to supervision and control by the President.

Better Investments Sought For Employee Pension Funds

ALBANY, Aug. 17 — Governor Rockefeller has announced the formation of a five-member inter-governmental committee to study the permissible scope of investments of pension funds for employees of the State and its political subdivisions.

The Governor pointed out that there is, at the present time, no uniform statutory provision governing the investment of such funds and that the various existing limitations on kinds of investments in which such funds may be placed have been criticized as unnecessarily limiting the income earned on these funds.

The various pension funds involved, with combined assets of more than $4 billion, include:

1. The New York State Employees Retirement System, with assets totalling $2,347,500,000;
2. The New York State Teachers Retirement System, with assets totalling $597,000,000;
3. The New York City Employees Retirement System, with assets totalling $1,292,158,602;
4. The New York City Police Retirement System, with assets totalling $164,353,318.67;

Albany Employment

In spite of those of faint heart who were discouraged by the rain, 225 were present at the most satisfying Clam Steam the Division of Employment Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, has enjoyed in a long time.

There was no persistent down-pour at Lathier's Groves Wednesday afternoon and evening. In fact there was a period in the afternoon dry enough to permit hilarious games such as the three-legged sack race, won by James Belgiano and Sue Cusack; the egg relay race, won by Al Galarno and Benita Gradoni; the egg-throwing contest, won by Tony Frisco and Eileen Manning; and the couple-sack race, won by James Belgiano and Sue Cusack, two time winners.

A baseball game that defies accurate description followed. Players recruited from passing couples gifted with more energy than technique played a spirited hour or more with little regard for the score that nobody bothered to keep. It was a game long on errors and short on rules, but with the girls stealing bases, noticeable for form.

A cloudy sky did not discourage distinguished guests among whom were Executive Director Mr. Alfred Green; CSEA President John Powers; Presidential candidate Joe Felly; Capitol Dist. Conference Pres. Hazel Abrams; candidate for Association Secretary Dolores Russel, and Executive Secretary Joe Lochner.
