State Parking Facility Now Certain For Albany

ALBANY, Sept. 15 — State employees will, in the future, be provided with parking space in the vicinity of the Capitol. A multi-level, 500 to 775-car facility will be built on the city-owned Sheridan Parking Lot on Elk and Dove Streets.

Consulting engineers have estimated the cost of the facility at $1.3 million. The last obstacle to its designing was removed this week when Republican chairmen of the Legislature's fiscal committees announced they would approve use of $43,000 from the Governmental Emergency Fund.

Governor Harriman signed the necessary certificates of intent to permit use of the funds in July and sent it to the Republican leaders.

Plans for the parking lot had been stalemated since the 1958 legislative session. Republican leaders killed a Harriman administration measure for state construction of parking facilities and the Governor vetoed a GOP bill to create a Capitol Parking Authority. Each side claimed the other's measure was unworkable.

Authorization Set

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Austin W. Erwin and Assembly Ways and Means Committee Chairman William H. McKenzie announced the GOP action. This means that the Division of the Budget can authorize the State Department of Public Works to employ a consulting engineer to draw up plans for the new parking garage.

It was expected the consultant would be the same firm — Parsons, Prinkerhoff, Hall and MacDonald, of New York City — that prepared the long range plan of dispersed parking facilities for the Capitol Hill neighborhood.

That plan called for eventual construction of three large multi-deck parking facilities, the Dove

No Loss In Pay Provision Applies to Employees Who Resign, Then Reinstate, Comptroller Levitt Rules

John F. Powers, president of the Civil Service Employees Association, announced that Comptroller Arthur Levitt, has ruled that no institutional employee shall, upon reinstatement in the civil service, after resignation, be deprived of the no-loss-in-pay guarantee which he enjoyed before his leaving the service. The no-loss-in-lake-home pay guarantee is a provision of law which was enacted when the state legislature reduced the working hours of institutional employees to a forty hour week. It maintains the employee's salary at least to the level he was earning when employed on a work week longer than 40 hours.

Mr. Powers, commenting upon the Comptroller's ruling, said: "Mr. Levitt is to be complimented upon his reversal of the practice previously followed by his department which deprived the institutional employee of his no-loss guarantee after being reinstated in the service after a resignation period of more than two weeks. For example, under this earlier ruling, a prison guard could, upon reinstatement, be deprived of as much as $510.00 of no-loss pay, and an attendant of about $250.00

"The Civil Service Employees Association wrote to Mr. Levitt on August 25th protesting the earlier practice as we believed it to be not only illegal under the provisions of law, but also inequitable. The Association and all of the institutional employees commend the Comptroller upon the wisdom of his prompt ruling."

The letters between the Civil Service Employees Association and Mr. Levitt follow:

Text of Letters

"We are writing concerning a problem, in the resolution of which we believe the law is improperly applied by your Department if our understanding of the procedure followed is correct.

"We have had several complaints from various of our chapters and can best illustrate the problem by an example. Assume that an Attendant in one of our State institutions after April 1, 1958 was receiving a no-loss-in-pay guarantee by reason of the reduction in work hours of $150. Assume that such employee left state service on some date after April 1, 1958 for a period in excess of two weeks, and that such employee was subsequently reinstated to his position as Attendant. We understand that in such cases the employee is being deprived of the amount of $150 per annum which as described above was his no-loss rate.

"We believe that the above is based on a ruling of your Department dated October 19, 1956, the substance of which directed that employees who were reinstated after more than a bi-weekly pay period absence from the payroll would be reinstated without the benefit of the no-loss pay which they had previously enjoyed.

"Without going into the merits of that ruling for the years 1956 and 1957, it seems that at least where any such cases occur after April 1, 1958, the ruling is incorrect and inapplicable, based on the 1958 reduction of work week legislation.

"Section 5, Subdivision 2 of Chapter 373 of the Laws of 1958 applies to the procedure to be followed on the actual reduction of hours to 40 as directed by that Chapter, and further provides that the benefit of such reduction shall accrue to 'an employee serving in a position held by him on March 31, 1958, or any other position in the same grade for which the work week of the incumbent is similarly reduced . . .'. Based on this legislation we feel that any employee who is reinstated to such a position must be reinstated with the same no-loss pay as he was receiving at the time of his separation.

"We request a reconsideration of the ruling referred to since it is our feeling that adherence to this policy is flatly contrary to the mandatory provision of Chapter 373 of the Laws of 1958."

Comptroller Levitt's Letter

"I have reviewed your letter of August 25, 1958 with reference to salary of an employee receiving a no-loss-of-pay guarantee who resigns and is reinstated after fifteen days or more.

"When an employee who is receiving a guarantee adjustment resigns and thereafter is reinstated to his former position and works the same work-week which he was working prior to his resignation, he is entitled to receive the same guarantee that he was receiving at the time of his resignation, regardless of the length of the period between his resignation and reinstatement.

"I have instructed by Payroll Unit to place this policy in effect immediately and to take the required action for prompt reimbursement for all employees who are entitled to adjustment.

"Thank you for calling this to my attention."

No U.S. Incumbent to Lose Job, Promotions Fewer Under Order for 2 P.C. Cut

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 — President Eisenhower's new order calling for a 2 percent Federal government personnel cut will not result in any Federal employee losing his job, a White House informant said. However, promotion opportunities for many will be curtailed.

The personnel cut must be completed by July 1 by necessary filling of only the minimum number of vacancies and by postponing the creation of new jobs authorized by Congress, said Budget Director Maurice Stans.

There are 16 or 17 vacancies a year out of every 100 government jobs, and most agencies could accomplish a 2 percent cut in the next 10 months, by leaving one out of every six vacancies unfilled.

Toll Collectors Needed On Long Island and Upstate

Toll collector jobs with the Long Island State Park Commission, the State Bridge Authority, and the State Thruway Authority will be filled from the New York State examination to be held November 8. Applications will be accepted until October 10. There are no minimum education or experience requirements.

The salary is from $3,300 to $4,150, except at Thruway toll stations in Westchester County, Spring Valley, and Suffern, where appointment will be made at $3,470. Certifications for Long Island State Park Commission and State Bridge Authority positions will be made first from legal residents of the judicial districts where the agencies are located.

Applicants must be 21 years of age by November 8, be at least 5' 4" tall, have at least 20/30 vision in each eye, glasses permitted, and have at least normal hearing. Men must weigh at least 125 pounds and women at least 115 pounds.

Applications and announcements may be obtained from the State Civil Service Department in Albany or in New York City at Room 2301, 270 Broadway.

School Lunch Manager Jobs Offered

New York City has 41 vacancies for school lunch manager, $3,750 to $4,830 a year. The open-competitive examination for this title scheduled for January 10 is open to all qualified citizens of the U.S.

Candidates must have a baccalaureate degree, with major studies in foods nutrition, institutional management, hotel administration, or restaurant management, issued after completion of a four year course in an accredited college or university. Persons who expect to be graduated by June 1959 will be admitted to this examination.

Some appointments may be made on a monthly rather than on a per annum basis.

Applications may be obtained from the New York City Department of Personnel, 96 Duane Duane Street, New York 7, N.Y. The closing date is Tuesday, September 23.

Military Training Officers Needed At Sands Point

The U.S. Civil Service Commission seeks training officers (military sciences) at $7,030 and $8,330 a year. Positions are located at the U.S. Naval Training Device Center, Sands Point, Port Washington, N. Y.

Appointees will participate in programs and projects for the development, production, and utilization of training devices, and in the training of technical personnel to maintain and operate these devices.

Apply to the Director, Second U.S. Civil Service Region, 641 Washington Street, New York 14, N. Y. Mention the announcement number, 2-6-3 (58) and the title—training officer.

STATE APPOINTMENTS RISE

New York State has made a total of 10,612 appointments this year through August, as against 9,258 for the corresponding period last year. This year it has received 57,517 applications through August, as against 39,629 last year.

NFIP Awards Health Dept. Study Grant

ALBANY, Sept. 15 — Studies on the role of allergy in certain neurotropic virus diseases will be undertaken by research workers of the New York State Department of Health with a March of Dimes grant from the National Foundation, originally the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, it was announced jointly by Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, State Health Commissioner, and Basil O'Connor, President of the National Foundation. Effective immediately, the grant is for $15,716. The work will be under the direction of Dr. John Elton Hotchin, assistant director, Division of Laboratories and Research, New York State Department of Health, Albany.

Recent studies by Dr. Hotchin and others have suggested that in some virus infections damage is produced not by direct action of the virus but by the body's reaction to the virus. That is to say, the body produces antibodies which are themselves harmful. This sounds paradoxical, but actually it has been known for many years that what is generally called allergy, or hypersensitivity, is due to the presence of harmful antibodies. It now appears that allergic reaction occurs in some infections and may be the major cause of the damage produced by these infections.

Method of Study

Dr. Hotchin will investigate this problem using a virus infection of mice known as lymphocytic choriomeningitis (LCM for short). This can be a fatal disease in adult mice but newborn mice infected with LCM virus may remain symptom-free even though the virus continues to multiply in their body. The difference apparently is due to the fact that the newborn mice do not develop antibodies while the adults do and the antibodies cause severe damage to the central nervous system.

Dr. Hotchin will study the possibility of protection from the disease by treating infected animals with X-ray and/or cortisone, both of which are known to depress the production of antibodies. He will also study LCM in monkeys, to see whether the allergic reaction plays any role in this species. Eventually he will extend his studies to other virus diseases.

The importance of these studies lies in the fact that the pathological antibodies damaging to one's own tissues—so-called auto-antibodies—are suspected culprits in a wide variety of severe human illnesses.

Trainee Program Starts For Phone Operator Typists

A new class of telephone operator typist, Grade 4, was established by the State Department of Civil Service. The new title describes those positions that combine skilled typing duties with the operation of a telephone switchboard, said Stanley Collin, administrative director.

As a means of filling vacancies in these positions, a new trainee plan has been developed. Appointments at telephone operator typist (trainee) will be made from the eligible list for typist at $2,720, and trainees will then be given a three-months training period in the operation of a telephone switchboard by the agency in which he or she is employed. On the successful completion of this training permanent appointment will be made as telephone operator typist, without further examination, with pay advanced to $2,850, the grade 4 minimum.

Simultaneous Service

A person appointed to a trainee position from an open-competitive list for typist will serve both the training and the probationary period simultaneously. If his trainee service prove unsatisfactory, his name will be restored to the eligible list for typist for certification to a typist vacancy.

A person transferred from an existing position of Typist, for training as telephone operator typist, will be given a leave of absence from the typist position to which he would be reinstated if his training proved to be unsatisfactory. He will retain the same salary after successful completion of the switchboard training unless he is at the Grade 3 minimum in which case he would advance to the Grade 4 minimum.

As is the case with certain other trainee programs, the Division of the Budget and the Department of Audit and Control have agreed to blanket approvals for the payment of trainees against vacant Telephone Operator Typist positions without the necessity for issuing PR 50 forms. Thus, candidates will be appointed from the typist list for this program, but will be reported and carried on the payroll as telephone operator typist (trainee). After successful completion of the training period there would be a permanent approval and the word "trainee" would be dropped from both the title and the payroll.

Not Considered a Promotion

In those instances where a permanently filled position of typist is reclassified to telephone operator typist the incumbent will be declared eligible for the reclassified title without further examination.

The reclassification of a position from typist to telephone operator typist is considered a title structure change and is not to be construed as a promotion.

U. S. Downgrading And Job Loss Less Than Many Thought

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 — A new survey conducted by the U.S. Civil Service Commission in cooperation with the Defense Department analyzes personnel cuts in certain units of 23 military installations during the last half of 1957. The final figures were not as drastic as many Government employees had expected.

The 2,271 separations represented a 3.5 percent slash among the 64,108 employees of the 23 installations, but roughly 10 percent of the 23,000 employees of the particular units reduced in force. Among the 23,000, only five percent of the career employees were separated, and 5 percent downgraded. By contrast, 37 percent of the career-conditional employees were separated, and another 12 percent downgraded.

Case of Career Employees

As the career employees outnumbered the career-conditional seven to one, the career-conditional group had to suffer 51 percent of the layoffs. Of 6,961 career employees with more than 15 years service, only 2 percent were laid off and 3 percent downgraded.

Of 11,744 careerists with veteran preference, only 154 were laid off and 312 downgraded. By contrast, of 6,431 non-veteran career workers, 821 were laid off and 700 downgraded.

Of 3,527 veterans with more than 15 years service, 2 percent were laid off and 1 percent downgraded. But of 2,534 non-veterans with more than 15 years service, 4 percent were laid off and 6 percent downgraded. Of the 2,534 non-veterans, 21 were laid off and 29 downgraded as a result of being displaced by veterans with shorter service.

Three Win Awards For Police Ideas

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy presented cash awards and certificates for ideas. The award totalled $335.

Rose M. Lupo, a civilian telephone operator, Division of Licenses, received $300 for suggesting that a fee be charged for the transfer of a medallion from one taxicab to another. Additional revenue is estimated at $8,000 a year.

Detective John J. Cirillo, Office of Community Relations, received $25 for proposing that a bell be installed inside walk-in safes and a light outside to be used as a signal in the event that a safe is accidentally closed while an employee is inside.

Sergeant Joseph M. Clarke, 67th Precinct, received $10 for his suggestion that apartment numbers of patients and telephone numbers of their next of kin be listed on hospital records to save time in locating relatives and making speedy notifications.

Beginning Office Worker List Is Nearly Ready

The New York State eligible list resulting from the beginning office worker examination held last March 29 has been completed, and will be released as soon as some minor detail work has been done on it. The list covers clerk, file clerk, and accountant and statistic clerk.

The first appointment pool for clerk and file clerk jobs in New York City is being prepared, and is expected to be held early in October.

Psychologist Jobs Offered by Education

License examinations will be held by the Board of Examiners, Board of Education for school psychiatrist, regular and substitute school psychologist, and school psychologist-in-training the week of November 17, with applications closing October 17, and for regular and substitute school social worker the week of October 27 with applications closing September 26.

The salary for psychiatrist is $11,500 a year; for school psychologist $5,160 rising to $8,000 in 12 years; for social worker $4,750 also rising to $8,000 in 12 years; and for psychologists-in-training $20 a day for each day of service.

Applications and announcements may be obtained from the Board of Education, 110 Livingston Street, Brooklyn 1, N. Y.

Still Time for Amends

LABOR RELATIONS in the New York City Department of Hospitals have been seriously impaired, and employee morale depressed, because of the imposition of meal charges on living-out employees. Never before had such charges been inflicted. They arose from budgetary, not human or even humane considerations. Starting at 25 percent of supposed cost, they were to rise 25 percent a year, until attaining 100 percent. Thus the employees would have to pay in full for meals for which they had never been charged anything before, since free meals for this group was part of the hiring offer, so charging for meals might be considered, in a sense, as a breach of contract. The only trouble is that there was no actual contract, though probably there should have been one, and an annual contract, in general, would be a good thing for all City employees, especially when one considers that collective bargaining rights go with it. Of course, that would be at variance with the Career and Salary Plan, which established an administrative procedure for pay appeals, with collective bargaining on pay really excluded, whatever may be said of hours, working conditions, and fringe benefits.

The hospital employees include some 20,000 in the lowest salary bracket to which the City makes appointments. The very lowest one exists on paper, but at that pay, the City could get nobody to work for it.

Mass meetings, protest picket lines at hospitals and outside Labor Department, Budget Bureau and Personnel Department offices; circulars, pamphlets and newspaper publicity all attest to the employees' ire over meal charges. The sooner the City rectifies its sad mistake, the better. Fortunately, end of meal charges, because of furious opposition by the employees, does appear to be in early sight.

U.S. Code of Ethics

A concurrent resolution voted by Congress, establishes a code of ethics for Federal employees as follows:

CODE OF ETHICS FOR GOVERNMENT SERVICE

Any person in Government service should:

1. Put loyalty to the highest moral principles and to country above loyalty to persons, party, or Government department.
2. Uphold the Constitution, laws, and legal regulations of the United States and of all governments therein and never be a party to their evasion.
3. Give a full day's labor for a full day's pay; giving to the performance of his duties his earnest effort and best thought.
4. Seek to find and employ more efficient and economical ways of getting tasks accomplished.
5. Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept for himself or his family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties.
6. Make no private promises of any kind binding upon the duties of office, since a Government employee has no private word which can be binding on public duty.
7. Engage in no business with the Government, either directly or indirectly, which is inconsistent with the conscientious performance of his governmental duties.
8. Never use any information coming to him confidentially in the performance of governmental duties as a means for making private profit.
9. Expose corruption wherever discovered.
10. Uphold these principles, ever conscious that public office is a public trust.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PROMOTION EXAM EXPERIMENT INTRIGUING

Editor, The Leader:

The new Federal plan for promotions is not competitive but aspires to produce results even superior to those attained by the competitive system. It will be interesting to watch how the U.S. fares in this brave experiment.

The competitive promotion system is not perfect but neither is it a failure. Candidates who get the highest scores do not necessarily make the best employees, but the most unlikely prospects fail the test. The competitive system is marked by largely unavoidable shortcomings, arising from the limitations of a test. It is easy to point out the shortcomings but hard to find a better system. Maybe the Federal government has enough ingenuity to devise a better way. The whole new plan is still in the preparation stage, though preliminary proposals have been made, concerning which employee comment is next to be solicited.

No more interesting experiment has cropped up in civil service in years.

GODFREY WINGATE

MODEL EMPLOYER AND PROMOTION

Editor, The Leader:

Two items in the September 2 issue of The Leader set me to wondering... the first, "Harriman Seeks to Make State Model Employer"; the second, the eligible list for senior stenographer, containing 584 names!

How many of these 584 stenographers, who have proven themselves capable of promotion, will ever be promoted? And of the number promoted, to how many more promotions can the senior stenographer look forward?

To be a model employer, and to attract and hold model employees, there must and should be opportunities for promotion. There should be not just the opportunity of taking a promotional examination. There should be more promotional positions in all units, to all State employees, whether they be in central offices in large cities or in small institutions in home towns. Even if it's only one or two grades higher, $100 or $200 more a year, it's a step up the ladder, and it's a ladder with few rungs.

Social Security Questions Answered

I WORK FOR the City of New York. Will my pension from the City affect my Social Security benefits when I retire? B. O.

No. The receipt of retirement pay from any source has no bearing on the amount or number of payments made to you by the Social Security Administration.

I AM 66 years old and receiving Social Security benefits. When should I notify the Social Security Administration about earnings over $1,200 a year? P. O'R.

You should advise your Social Security district office as soon as you think you might exceed the $1,200 for the calendar year, so that your benefits will be withheld until you see how much your earnings will be for the year. If you do not earn over $1,200, your checks for all the months withheld will be paid to you at the end of the year.

LOOKING INSIDE

Some Public Employees Wouldn't Strike

MUCH IS MADE of the unthinkable possibility of policemen, sanitationmen, firemen, and the like going on strike, if they are members of a union, on the theory that independent organizations don't go in for strikes while unions do. And a theory it is, for unions of public employees are as responsible as are organizations that are independent of affiliation with any international of the organized labor movement. New York City firemen and fire officers, no less than sanitationmen, are members of unions, with no untoward results that anybody has been able to notice. There have been no strikes. If the New York City police finally are able to join a labor union, by removal of the prohibition now found in a department rule of dubious legality, they wouldn't strike, either. They would vote a no-strike clause into the charter of their division, and that would be that. This is aside from the fact that the Condon-Wadlin Law, affecting employees of New York State and its communities, prohibits strikes.

Sanctity of the Oath

All public employees take an oath of office. To assume that the police would strike is to impute to them readiness to violate their oath of office in which they swore to uphold the Constitution of the State and the statutes, rules and regulations enacted.

A bill to repeal the Condon-Wadlin Law is introduced in the State Legislature each year but inevitably dies in committee. All unions, and practically all independent organizations of public employees, would like to see it repealed, if only to remove the stigma that the employees would strike, if they could do so without violating the law. The assumption that they would strike is rather far-fetched, even though there have been some strikes, despite the Condon-Wadlin Law, and more of them since than prior to the enactment of that statute.

Where Strikes Are Unthinkable

There is an area of employment in which a strike is out of the question, and even union leaders agree to that, in private conversation. They are naturally reluctant to give up a right to strike, or to support a broad no-strike statute, not because the strike is such an effective and remunerative weapon, but because they would lose the benefit often flowing from the mere threat of a strike. All told, the threat probably has been more effective, and certainly less expensive, than the strike, and it is probably true that most strikes are lost, instead of being won, when one considers their cost and duration. In general, a strike may be considered lost if not quickly won.

Strikes Not Necessarily Panaceas

It is difficult to make an analytical comparison of raises won on a year's contract basis, and the cost of a strike, because there principle and continuity are at stake, but a strike of any duration normally costs the international more than the monetary amount gained by the employees affected. The international pays strike wages, and if possible and applicable, taxes the local for them, and meanwhile the employees must endure pittance take-home pay, but endure it willingly, because they are taking the final recourse against an employer who may be more responsible for the strike than they are. The strike, however valuable a weapon it may be, is as dangerous as any other sharp weapon, especially if in careless hands.

Agreement Is Possible

Despite some of these considerations, as well as because of others of them, agreement could be reached limiting the no-strike area in the public employee field, if employee organizations would see fit to confer on this subject, which they don't. An amendment to the Condon-Wadlin Law, if supported by employee organizations, could be enacted, even if utter repeal seems impossible in the present political climate. Averell Harriman ran for Governor the last time on a platform that included a plank calling for repeal of the Condon-Wadlin Law. This time there is no such plank. Repeal of the law is now considered by politicians to be a hot potato.

Difficulty of Delineation

Defining the occupational area in which strikes by public employees are to be taboo would be a difficult but not impossible task. The principal part of the area is easy to define; the remainder would require considerable give and take on both sides. Any conference that discusses the subject naturally would have to be composed of public members, like legislators, and also impartial experts, including distinguished citizens, and not consist only of delegates of employee organizations, for the public has an extremely large stake in all this, too, being actually the employer and the possible ultimate sufferer from any wanton misdeeds.

Why Amendment Is Necessary

Since any lessening of the strictures of the present law would be a step in the right direction, no employee organization would likely oppose an amendment favored by the majority, and the general relegation of all public employees to second-class citizenship would end, in this regard at least.

The State Labor Department would be an appropriate moderator, and might well initiate such a conference.

MEETING DISCUSSES HIGHER POLICE-FIRE PENSIONS FOR DISABILITY

A multi-million dollar law suit against the Police and Fire Department pension funds of New York City by 450 policemen and firemen retired for disability injuries suffered in the line of duty was the subject of a meeting held by the Police and Firemen Pensioners' Increment Committee. The case is pending in the New York County Supreme Court.

The pensioners are suing for a $50 a year additional pension credit that they say should have been paid for each year of their service beyond 20 years, up to 10 such additional years. The City maintains that the $50-a-year rule does not apply to disability pensions. The petitioner's attorney is Allen Taft.

Candidates who expect to receive their degrees by June 1959 will be admitted to the examination. However, they will not be appointed unless they present evidence that they have received their degree by June 1959.

ACTIVITIES OF EMPLOYEES THROUGHOUT NEW YORK STATE

MENTAL HYGIENE MEMO

By A. J. COCCARO

Public Employment

The requirements of "Public Service" have doubled in the last ten years. At present, one out of ten employees are working in Federal, State, or local government.

Since the depression days, the extension of public service has been noticeable in areas of administering relief, compensation, housing, highway construction and authorities, Division of Employment, School Relief programs, and Federal land grants.

It is estimated that in the not too distant future public service will increase until one out of five workers in the nation will be a public worker.

Model or Secondary Employee

Questions that seem to be getting quite a kicking around these days are: Will public employment continue its present mediocre status—will public service develop in to a model employee or will it slip further and become a secondary employee? There aren't any clear patterns in this respect.

The public employee through his Association can make things happen faster. The Civil Service Employees Association 80,000 strong will take a most important role in making improvements in public service possible.

Before you can have improvements in Civil Service you must get the executives and legislators in the discussion stage.

Recently, during a radio interview by news commentator, Martha Dean, the Governor of New York spent a good portion of the hour program discussing Civil Service. In a past holiday proclamation the Governor again said his aim is to make New York State a model employee. Our Association will work on the executives and majority leaders. You must do your part with the local legislators.

State's Approach To Mental Hygiene Described in Book

The "total approach to public mental health" is graphically described in a publication "Design for Mental Health," released currently by the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene.

The booklet deals with the general problem of mental health and outlines New York State's complex mental hygiene program. Attractively designed and generously illustrated with photographs and drawings, the brochure indicates that the program attempts to meet the mental health needs of the people of the state at every level.

According to the text the operations of the Department of Mental Hygiene "embrace both community and institutional services. Integrated with these is a broad program of coordinated psychiatric research. Training of psychiatrists and other psychiatric specialists is conducted in cooperation with colleges and universities of the state, and a large scale public education program aims to promote understanding of mental illness and the development of mental health."

"In every aspect of its program," the booklet continues, "the department attempts to keep abreast of the times. New therapies, improved methods of care, innovations in service are thoroughly explored and whenever feasible, those found to be effective are incorporated into the state's activities. The mental health program is designed to leave no gaps in the line. Where weaknesses exist the goal of all concerned is to build for future strength."

In announcing the availability of the new brochure, Dr. Paul H. Hoch, Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, explained that it was prepared to meet the constant demand for information about the state's program.

Single copies may be obtained without charge from the Office of Mental Health Education and Information, Department of Mental Hygiene, 217 Lark St., Albany, N. Y.

ACTIVITIES OF EMPLOYEES THROUGHOUT NEW YORK STATE

Wassaic State School

About three hundred officers and employees of the Wassaic State School, their families and friends gathered at Wastaschem Park on the State School grounds Saturday, September 6, from 5:30 until 11 in the evening to enjoy the picnic planned and sponsored by the Wassaic State School Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association.

The picnic committee, headed by Carl Sabo, included John Dempsey, Thomas Ahearn, Mrs. K. Cooper, Mrs. E. Cowles, Mrs. F. Farr, Mrs. J. Reiser, Mrs. H. Beck, Mrs. P. Bellefeuille, Leo Belanger, William Shaffer, Mrs. R. L. Soper, Edward Cowles and Robert Soper. Many other employees assisted in the preparations for this event and the officers of the Chapter are grateful to all who worked hard to make this picnic the success that it turned out to be.

The men included hot sausage and peppers, hamburger and onions, hot dogs and saurkraut, baker Spanish rice, potato salad, sweet corn, pickles, coffee, watermelon, cold soda and other refreshment. Even in retrospect, it sounds good. Everyone who attended reported that the food was good and plentiful. The cooks, professional and amateur, who prepared the delicacies, did an excellent job.

Swimming and games were provided for those who cared to indulge and dancing to the tunes of Ed Young and a combo rounded out the entertainment for the evening.

The picnickers were honored by the presence of Senator Ernest I. Hatfield Assemblyman R. Watson Pomeroy and the Democratic candidate for Assembly George R. Whalen who found time in their busy schedules to attend the picnic
