Miller Distributes Lollypops, Signs Of Esteem, To Senats

The "New Month senats" conducted its last meeting for the year on Monday. During the last minutes of the session, maplet leader Kenneth V. Miller, '32, distributed tokens of his appreciation to his colleagues for their cooperation in his appointments for their sport-manship, and to the officers of the "senats" for their efficiency.

These tokens included stacks of lollypops, chocolate lollypops, and packages of candy. When Miller started making the presentations to his colleagues, there were cries of "senat" and "corruption" from the opposite side of the room. However, as soon as he began distributing these tokens to the members of the minority party, the cries died down and finally disappeared.

STATE NINE WINS HARTWICK GAME

Team To Play Clarkson Tech Tomorrow at Ridgfield In Last Contest

By KENNETH A. MILLER, '32, SPORTS EDITOR, STATE COLLEGE NEWS

The State nine turned back the Hartwick college baseball team last Saturday at Ridgfield park by a score of 6 to 2. Tomorrow the Purple and Gold team will play the last contest of the diamond season when it opposes the Clarkson Tech aggregation at Ridgfield park. The game will get under way at 3:00 o'clock sharp.

"Swede" Dethlefsen, centerfielder, provided the most spectacular drive of the day when he slammed one of Beebe's pitches to the track in a deep center field for a three-bagger, scoring Blum and Moreland.

"Hack" Young, with two singles, two walks, and a sacrifice hit out of five times at bat, had a perfect day with the stick. Fay Blum, veteran outfielder, and "Ossie" Brooks each scored two singles in three trips to the plate.

The outstanding fielding of Captain Goodrich and shortstop work of DeLaura were the defensive highlights of the game.

Brooks allowed eight hits but was most effective with the men on the bases. He scattered the Hartwick bingles so effectively that but one earned run was scored on his offerings.

Brooks will twirl in the Clarkson game tomorrow and Goodrich will catch. This game will mark the final appearance on a State college nine of Goodrich, Lloyd Moreland and Fay Blum.

Freshmen Feature Fire Hose In Rivalry; Sophomores Defend Pole Successfully

By BERNARD KERBEL, '33, MYSTICUS BUREAU STAFF COLLEGE NEWS

The freshmen-sophomore pole-rush last Thursday night turned out to be a party that was "all wet," after several men of the freshman class, called into use one of the College fire hoses and played a stream of water on the combatants and the spectators.

The rush began at 7:15 o'clock when fifteen men of each class lined up for attacks, the sophomores defending the ten-foot pole on top of which was a strip of blue cloth, and the freshmen starting with a running attack on the Robinson street campus.

The freshmen tried strategic methods by attempting to use a sliding pole to lean the top of the pole. This was, however, ruled out by the judges. However, freshmen gallantry was manifested, for within the first few seconds of the night several men who were not among the chosen fifteen gained eye from one of the windows in the Hawley hall annex with a fire hose in their hands. The water was turned on the chosen ten team, with the quick result of assisting the sophomores with mud.

The fight resolved itself into two parts, one to gain possession of the fire hose and the other to prevent the capture of the blue of the sophomore class.

Despite the huge handicap that the freshmen created for themselves by spraying the water onto the already slippery pole, they put up an admirable offensive. The fight lasted ten minutes, at the end of which time the judges declared the men of the class of 1934 victorious, thus adding two points to ward interclass rivalry.

Although many minor casualties were incurred, only one man was seriously injured. George Taylor, '35, was rushed to Albany hospital with a slight concussion of the brain and a few lumps.

Judges for the contest were Dr. V. W. Reiby, head of the history department, Dr. Donald A. Smith, assistant professor of history, and Mr. Paul H. Shears, assistant instructor in government. The captains for the teams were George Kerbel, '34, and William Lollypop, '35.

At the end of the pole-rush the post-actor gathered to witness the event rushed to the front campus where the freshmen women retaliated for the men's defeat by bearing the sophomores in tug-of-war for two minutes. Freshman prowess was again displayed here, for the women were able to drag the sophomore team across the line.

The judges for this contest were Dr. Carolyn Crossdale, College physician, Miss Isabelle Johnston, and Miss Margaret Hitchcock, instructors in physical education. The captains were Elizabeth Kammerer, '34, and Janet Norris, '35.

State Scores First Shutout Game Against Cooper Union

The first shut-out of the season scored by a State college pitcher occurred at the Cooper Union game when Ostrer Brooks, star right hander of the pitching corps, blanked the opposition with two hits, one of which was a scratch single in the first inning.

Brooks showed excellent control, striking out ten men in the seven innings he worked. The final score was 10 to 0, Brooks being aided by heavy hitting from the bats of Blum and Benedict.

Clarkson Tech will be the opponent for tomorrow and Brooks will again take the mound to try to duplicate his feat.

CHECK ON BUSINESS MANAGERS

The question of the formation of a board of business management for the College publications and the regulation of the advertising work of these publications in relation with each other will be brought before the student association this morning when the resolutions presented by the chairman of the committee to investigate student publications will be taken from the table for discussion.

The first resolution, providing for the appointment of a board of five senior members of the commerce department to audit the books of the publications, presents a means for an adequate check over a department which has heretofore been loosely supervised. It will also eliminate any possibilities in the future of accusations against the integrity of any individual business manager.

The second resolution, which provides for the posting weekly of the advertising schedules of each publication, is intended to diminish the possibility of conflict between these publications to a negligible degree, to prevent duplication, and to check on the interest and ability of the advertising managers, by means of the publicity given to the work which they are doing.

In its present form, however, this second resolution does not present adequate provisions for the solution of the present advertising problems of the publications. An amendment should be offered which will make possible the completion of the purpose set forth in the resolution.

ATTEND BASEBALL GAMES

Heavy hitting and sterling pitching by the baseball team has thus far failed to attract student support to the extent to which it should. Less than one hundred students turned out to witness the shut out performance of Brooks against Cooper Union.

When a College has a team whose games always run into the loss column, there is some excuse for dropping interest. But when the team turns in performances such as State's has during the season thus far, there can be no excuse.

The best way to show appreciation of a winning team, and the best way to keep it a winning team, is to give it enthusiastic support by strong attendance at the games.

BOARD BEGINS WORK

With the publication of this issue of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS, the new News board assumes its duties for the next year and inaugurates its policies for the future. The record set for the board by the activities and achievements of the 1931-32 board and staff will be difficult to equal and to surpass.

The News is the undergraduate newspaper of the College, and as such is the official expression of student sentiment and opinion. The columns of the News will be open at any time for suggestions and criticisms; constructive comment and opinion which will be of benefit for the members of the student association will be welcomed by the board, but any attempts for personal denigration and exposition will be discouraged from the beginning.

It will be the purpose of the News to present complete accounts of the College activities, to give to the students accurate details and information regarding current problems and events. However, it is only with the cooperation of each individual member of the student association that such a purpose can be accomplished.

ADVERTISING AND THE BUDGET

The State college student association has come to the point where it will have to face a very serious financial situation which may well cause curtailment of extra class activities, cause a greater student tax, or possibly result in insolvency for the association.

This year for the first time in its history the STATE COLLEGE NEWS has failed to make its expected contribution to the surplus account of the association treasury for the reason that no national cigarette advertising was published. This meant that national agencies would not send advertising of other types.

In other years the NEWS has handed in profits of amounts around $1800. The NEWS, together with dramatic and art association, are the two profitable student activities, according to the student board of finance. When the paper doesn't make a profit, the association has to suffer.

This year the NEWS broke even. But the surplus has been reduced by withdrawals by other activities. There can be but one conclusion.

The NEWS and other publications must be allowed to run national advertising, including cigarette advertising. This week is the time for publication board heads and members of the finance board to take up the matter with the administration. Now is the time for action.

BOOKS: REMAKERS OF MANKIND

By A. R. L.

(For Sale in College Co-op)
Remakers of Mankind, By Carleton Washburne, John Day Company, New York, 339 pages, $4.00.

The author traces educational trends of today in all parts of the world in this extensive survey of modern national philosophies.

Actions of leaders in education are particularly the objects of his study. Their methods, how they shape the minds of children and direct the thoughts of young people, and the probable resultant effect upon the histories of nations are presented.

All countries—China, Japan, India, Africa, and Russia—are in the midst of a tremendous youth movement, a titanic heaving and surging of ideas of peoples who have long lain dormant. The progress of this movement in each of them is individually considered.

Then, too, more intangibly philosophic questions are taken up. Should modern children place their countries before consciences? How far should the teacher affect the thought of his pupils? Should leanings toward internationalism be encouraged or checked?

These issues are alive and vital. And they are presented in a like manner.

(For Sale in College Co-op)
Collected Poems, By Elinor Wylie, Alfred A. Knopf, New York, 311 pages, $3.50.

Although not a voluminous poet, the late Elinor Wylie was one of the most gifted lyrists of the first quarter of this century. The contents of this book embody the contents of her four books of poems, Nets to Catch the Wind, Black Armour, Trivial Breath, and Angels and Earthly Creatures in the exact sequence and order in which they were published, with the addition of a section of poems hitherto unpublished in book form.

The most striking characteristic of Elinor Wylie's poetry is the everywhere-present beauty of line, of rhythm and of tonal coloring. Even in her lightest pieces, beauty is nevertheless always present. And underneath her assumption of lightness there is mental restlessness; behind the gaiety of her manner are fortitude and spirit.

The publishers have given to "Collected Poems" a fitting format. The volume has both dignity and beauty.

(For Sale in College Co-op)
American Outpost, By Upton Sinclair, Farrar and Rinehart, New York, $2.15, 274 pages.

This book is a book of reminiscences by Upton Sinclair, the author of "The Wet Parade," in which he frankly and engagingly traces from his strange childhood the dramatic incidents and moods that have made him a social novelist and a propagandist—loving mankind and hating drink and lust. It is an absorbing narrative, and an amazingly sincere essay in self-criticism. It is an explanation of his outspoken espousal of the cause which seemed important to him; he does not hesitate to analyze the motives and the reasons which have made him what he is.

He remarks: "Human beings are what he makes them, and there is no more fascinating subject of study than the origin of mental and moral qualities." The thinking of my father accounted for other of my eccentricities besides a belief in Prohibition."

His ideas on American idealism are expressive of many sentiments which most are unable to make effective. "I believe that there are a great many Americans with a new dream in their hearts, even though they do not know how to make it effective," Sinclair writes. "Some day we shall hear from them, and see the sprouting of the seed we have been scattering all these weary years."

(For Sale in College Co-op)
Pedagon Irish, By Francis Stuart, MacMillan Company, New York, 285 pages, $2.00.

This is a typically excellent MacMillan novel which drives forth in staccato succession the story of a conflict between a materialistic world and a world of impulse and emotion.

Three people figure prominently in it—two women and a man whose varying concepts of materialism and spiritualism carry the book along in rapid and exciting strides.

Of it Compton Mackenzie says: "A book of outstanding importance. . . I have said nothing about the exquisite prose. It has a quality like beaten gold leaf."

Myskania "Taps" Only Eleven Juniors; Leaders Are Prominent In Activities

Reverting to a practice initiated in 1930, the retiring Myskania tapped the incoming Myskania members in reverse alphabetical order. ## Athletic Teams Enjoy Banner Year; Basketball, Baseball, And Tennis Gain

By KENNETH A. MILLER, '32
SPORTS EDITOR, STATE COLLEGE NEWS

This year has been a banner one for the men's athletic teams at State college. The records show that the 1931-32 intercollegiate Purple and Gold teams have won more contests than their 1931 predecessors.

The State five won seven out of nine contests making 326 points to 246 for their opponents. Last year State scored 318 to its opponents 367. The lettermen this season numbered eleven while last season but six basketball letters were awarded. The co-captains of the quintet, Gil DeLaura and Ben Ingraham, both three year basketball lettermen, Roger Bancroft, high scoring ace of the last season, and all the other members of the squad will return next year. The defense combination of DeLaura and "Cliff" Rall is the best that State has seen for some years.

The frosh quintet came through with eight victories in ten encounters. These included victories over such strong teams as Cobleskill High school and Mechanicville High school.

The State diamond aggregation has thus far this year won three out of four contests. The baseball team defeated St. Stephens by a score of 2 to 1, whitewashed Cooper Union 10 to 0 and turned back Hartwick 6 to 2. The only loss was a ten inning encounter with Hartwick which State dropped 7 to 6. Last year State won one contest, lost one, and tied one. The others were cancelled because of rain.

The Drew college game this spring was called off because of wet grounds. State is assured of a good moundman for next year in "Ossie" Brooks, '34, who struck out 31 men in the first three games this season thereby joining Leo Allan, '30, in State's strike-out hall of fame.

Don Benedict, slugging first baseman, Hack Young, hard-hitting fielder, Jack Saunders, sophomore speed star, Ken Drake, who has displayed good work at the hot corner, "Swede" Detlefson, one of the best outfielders State has ever had and Gil DeLaura, who plays a sterling defensive game at short, will form a nucleus for next season's squad.

The tennis team had a fair year under the leadership of Captain Carl Tarbox. They overwhelmingly won their first match with St. Stephens and lost two games on their Vermont trip. One match was rained out and one will be played on Saturday.

The frosh under the leadership of Bill Allard and Cliff Rall have founded a yearling tennis team this year, while the track followers have organized a team headed by Gus Asikis and Tom Garrett.

SPORT SHOTS

State fans tomorrow will have the last chance to see Captain Goodrich, Fay Blum, and Moreland as State players. Bob has been on the nine for four years while Lloyd and Fay have worked as regulars for three seasons. Each one of them leaves a place which will be hard to fill. An revoir and good-luck, fellows.

Track came forth last week when a group of State men lost to Lansingburgh. With practice and with some coaching, these fellows will probably come through next year, as many of them displayed ability in the meet.

Tarbox and tennis—the two are inseparable—Carl has played on every tennis team State has had since he entered as a freshman. With his graduation and that of Jack Saroff, who worked well as playing manager, the realm of tennis loses two good men.

By the way, diamond fans, as we go to press, Young and Blum are tied for the batting crown with 400 each. Brooks with 375 and Benedict with 357 follow closely behind the leaders.

When the Shelton opened (7 years ago) we began catering to college men and women. Gradually their patronage has increased; we feel safe in asserting that more students make the Shelton their New York home than at any club or other hotel. One reason for this is the free recreational features plus a desire to serve on the part of Shelton employees. Room rates have been greatly reduced. Rates from $50 per month upward. A room from $2.50 daily.

Club features (free to guests) are as follows: swimming pool; completely equipped gymnasium; game rooms for bridge and backgammon; roof garden and solarium. Restaurant and cafeteria service at reasonable prices.
