

file copy

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Anne R. Oliver, professor of physics at State University of New York at Albany, will be heard in the Fifth Annual Faculty Lecture at the university Thursday evening, November 8.

Dr. Oliver's subject will be "Elementary Particles". Following the program set for 8:30 in Draper 349, a reception for Dr. Oliver will be held in Draper Lounge.

-30-

November 5, 1962

To Times-Union
Knickerbocker News

file copy

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Mr. T. A. Rich, consulting engineer for instrumentation at General Electric Company's engineering physics and analysis laboratory, will be guest speaker at the Science Colloquium this week at State University of New York at Albany.

Mr. Rich, employed by G. E. since 1930, gained the unusual distinction of receiving three Coffin Awards, the company's highest recognition. The first was for a method of using aluminum instead of copper wire in making instruments; the second, for the development of a frequency meter; and the third, for invention of a fluxmeter still used for detection of submarines or surface vessels at harbor entrances. He holds 84 patents on instruments for measurement, control and detection purposes.

The meeting will take place Friday, November 9, at 1 p.m. in Draper 349. Mr. Rich's subject will be "Training Inventors".

030

November 6, 1962

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Langman

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Edward P. Shaw, Professor of Modern Languages and Comparative Literature at the State University of New York at Albany, has been honored by the government of France for "services rendered to French culture." The title of Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms will be conferred formally at Albany, according to a notification received from Eduoard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York.

Dr. Shaw, author of six books and numerous articles in the area of French literature and civilization, has been a member of the faculty at State University since 1947. He was instrumental in initiating the university's Fulbright program, foreign student programs, and faculty lectureships.

An honor graduate of Harvard, Dr. Shaw also has his doctorate from that institution. He was the recipient of a traveling scholarship from the French Government and of a Harvard Sheldon Traveling Fellowship for post-doctoral research in France.

During World War II, Dr. Shaw, who attained the rank of major in the Army Air Force, gave orientation lectures to troops in England who were to participate in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in contact with officials of newly liberated French towns. He was Command Historian, IX Air Force Service Command, and the author of the command's official history. Dr. Shaw received the Bronze Star Medal and an Army Commendation Ribbon, the latter a personal citation of meritorious achievement by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Edward P. Shaw, Professor of Modern Languages and Comparative Literature at the State University of New York at Albany, has been honored by the government of France for "services rendered to French culture." The title of Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms will be conferred formally at Albany, according to a notification received from Eduoard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York.

Dr. Shaw, author of six books and numerous articles in the area of French literature and civilization, has been a member of the faculty at State University since 1947. He was instrumental in initiating the university's Fulbright program, foreign student programs, and faculty lectureships.

An honor graduate of Harvard, Dr. Shaw also has his doctorate from that institution. He was the recipient of a traveling scholarship from the French Government and of a Harvard Sheldon Traveling Fellowship for post-doctoral research in France.

During World War II, Dr. Shaw, who attained the rank of major in the Army Air Force, gave orientation lectures to troops in England who were to participate in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in contact with officials of newly liberated French towns. He was Command Historian, IX Air Force Service Command, and the author of the command's official history. Dr. Shaw received the Bronze Star Medal and an Army Commendation Ribbon, the latter a personal citation of meritorious achievement by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

Public Relations Department

file (+extra copies)

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Edward P. Shaw, Professor of Modern Languages and Comparative Literature at the State University of New York at Albany, has been honored by the government of France for "services rendered to French culture." The title of Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms will be conferred formally at Albany, according to a notification received from Eduoard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York.

Dr. Shaw, author of six books and numerous articles in the area of French literature and civilization, has been a member of the faculty at State University since 1947. He was instrumental in initiating the university's Fulbright program, foreign student programs, and faculty lectureships.

An honor graduate of Harvard, Dr. Shaw also has his doctorate from that institution. He was the recipient of a traveling scholarship from the French Government and of a Harvard Sheldon Traveling Fellowship for post-doctoral research in France.

During World War II, Dr. Shaw, who attained the rank of major in the Army Air Force, gave orientation lectures to troops in England who were to participate in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in contact with officials of newly liberated French towns. He was Command Historian, IX Air Force Service Command, and the author of the command's official history. Dr. Shaw received the Bronze Star Medal and an Army Commendation Ribbon, the latter a personal citation of meritorious achievement by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Edward P. Shaw, Professor of Modern Languages and Comparative Literature at the State University of New York at Albany, has been honored by the government of France for "services rendered to French culture." The title of Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms will be conferred formally at Albany, according to a notification received from Eduoard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York.

Dr. Shaw, author of six books and numerous articles in the area of French literature and civilization, has been a member of the faculty at State University since 1947. He was instrumental in initiating the university's Fulbright program, foreign student programs, and faculty lectureships.

An honor graduate of Harvard, Dr. Shaw also has his doctorate from that institution. He was the recipient of a traveling scholarship from the French Government and of a Harvard Sheldon Traveling Fellowship for post-doctoral research in France.

During World War II, Dr. Shaw, who attained the rank of major in the Army Air Force, gave orientation lectures to troops in England who were to participate in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in contact with officials of newly liberated French towns. He was Command Historian, IX Air Force Service Command, and the author of the command's official history. Dr. Shaw received the Bronze Star Medal and an Army Commendation Ribbon, the latter a personal citation of meritorious achievement by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
STATE COLLEGE

file

M E M O R A N D U M

DATE: November 8, 1962
FROM: James M. Lewis
TO: Leon Golden

SUBJECT: for AMONG THE AUTHORS

A research report on "Needed Improvements in Distributive Teacher Education by Reno S. Knouse, Professor of Merchandising, State University of New York at Albany, has been published by Michigan State University for the newly-organized Council for Distributive Teacher Education.

Professor Knouse is president of the council. The publication is the first in a series of professional bulletins planned by this national group which is affiliated with the American Vocational Association and the Associated Organizations for Teacher Education.

file

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
STATE COLLEGE

M E M O R A N D U M

DATE: November 8, 1962
FROM: James M. Lewis
TO: Leon Golden

SUBJECT: Ph. D. program in English

Dr. Walter Ernest Knotts, professor of English, is in charge of planning and interviewing.

The program will be for daytime students only and residence of a year (or more) is required. No evening, Saturday, or extension students.

Six students already have started their fifth year program.

Five were added to the English faculty last year which reflects not only need for additional personnel for doctoral program but also for new programs in speech. Increased student enrollment also a factor in department increase.

Re. Ed. D. -- nothing new at this time but there will be at a later date.

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1524 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Oliver Popenoe, Peace Corps Director for the South Asia Programs, will visit State University of New York at Albany Monday evening at Brubacher Hall, 750 State Street.

Mr. Popenoe, who was director of program development for the Peace Corps last year, will lead an informal discussion about the work of the Peace Corps. He also will show a new film about activities of the corps at the meeting set for 8:30.

Co-author of "Political Development in the Emerging Countries; Challenge to U.S. Foreign Policy," Mr. Popenoe developed the first Peace Corps program in Nepal in 1961.

-30-

November 8, 1962

To: Times Union with pix
Knickerbocker News

Public Relations Department

James H. Lewis NO 3-2524 Ex 73
Nathalie Insman

URGENT

Hubert Herring, noted authority on Latin America, will speak at State University of New York at Albany Monday under the auspices of the university's Forum of Politics. His subject will be "The Chips Are Down in Latin America."

Mr. Herring, a pioneer in America's belated discovery of Latin America, organized the Committee on Cultural Relations with Latin America, one of the first agencies to antedate the official Good Neighbor policy. He is Professor of Latin American Civilization at Pomona College and at the Claremont Graduate School. Author of several books and articles in his chosen field, Mr. Herring for some time has reviewed most of the books on Latin America for the New York Herald Tribune. He is a graduate of Oberlin College and Columbia University.

Dr. Frank G. Carrino, director of the university's Center for Inter-American Studies, will introduce the speaker at the program set for 1 p.m. at Inaper 349.

-30-

November 9, 1962

WAST

WTEJ

Times Union

Kraker Backer - News

XXXXXXXXXXXXX
at Albany

November 9, 1962

James M. Lewis, Assistant to the President

News Editor

Visit to campus on Monday, November 12, of Ithort Herring, noted authority on Latin America.

You will note from the attached release that coming to our campus Monday, November 12, is a distinguished lecturer on Latin American affairs.

With the Caribbean area, Central America and South America, so much in the news today, we thought you should be alerted to the visit here of Mr. Herring who organized the Committee on Cultural Relations with Latin America, one of the first agencies to antedate the official Good Neighbor policy. He is scheduled to speak at 1 p.m. at Draper 349. Either prior to that time or at the conclusion of the lecture, Mr.
Herring may be available for an interview.

If you are interested in talking with Mr. Herring, please give me a call and we will make suitable arrangements.

WAST
WTEJK

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

Release:

IMMEDIATE

Three departments at State University of New York at Albany will participate in the international celebration of the 400th birthday of Shakespeare's illustrious Spanish contemporary Lope de Vega. Two events will be sponsored at the university this week by the Departments of Comparative Literature, English and Modern Foreign Languages.

A program of dramatic readings in translation from one of Lope's most celebrated plays, "Fuenteovejuna", will be presented Thursday evening, November 15, under the direction of Richard W. Wilkie, assistant professor in the English department, with introduction and commentary by Professor J. Wesley Childers, chairman of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages. The program will begin at 8 o'clock in Ingle Room, Pierce Hall.

On Friday, November 16, as the first of this year's lectures in the series sponsored by the Department of Comparative Literature, Professor William L. Fichter of Brown University will speak on "The Theatre of Lope de Vega". Professor Richter, who is emeritus professor of Spanish language and literature at Brown, is one of the country's recognized authorities in the field. The lecture is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Draper 349.

*Fuenteovejuna

-30-

November 12, 1962

To Times Union

Knickersbocker News

State University of New York at Albany
James M. Lewis, Assistant to the President
HO. 3-1254 Ex. 73

Prepared by:
Nathalie Lampman, Ex. 73

Release:

Saturday, November 24

Pianist Bela Szilagi will be presented in a concert Friday, November 30, at State University of New York at Albany by the university's Music Council.

Mr. Szilagi, born in New York of Hungarian descent, received the Jugg Award in 1960 and was a finalist in the Leventritt Competition that year. He will play works of Mozart, Brahms and Liszt.

The program will begin at 1 p.m. at Page Hall.

-30-

November 19, 1962

To Knickerbocker News
Times Union

State University of New York at Albany
James M. Lewis, Assistant to the President
HO. 3-1254 Ex. 73

Prepared by:
Nathalie Lampman, Ex. 73

Release:

IMMEDIATE

The Fencing Society at State University of New York at Albany has elected Ed Reid president. Members of the newly-formed group receive an hour and a half of instruction in the fundamentals of fencing each week.

Col. Walter M. Tisdale, assistant to the president for plant planning, is the society's sponsor. Colonel Tisdale learned fencing at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Other officers are Betty Warek, vice president; Reinhold Bachmann, treasurer; and Leonard Smith, equipment manager.

-30-

November 19, 1962

To Sports Editors
Knickerbocker News
Time-Union

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

MEMORANDUM

To: Nathalie Lampman, State Univ. of N.Y. at Albany Date: 11/19/62

From: Leo Golden

Subject: Attached releases

I am returning these releases in compliance with your request.

When possible, please let us have your releases at least ten days in advance of the events they announce. It takes us several days to prepare copy for the printer, and we have to give him this copy almost a week in advance of the publication date.

Thanks.

LG

State University of New York at Albany
James M. Lewis, Assistant to the President
HO. 3-1254 Ex. 73

Release:

Friday, November 23

Prepared by:
Nathalie Lampman, Ex. 73

Dr. Harry Schwartz, the New York Times' editor for Russian affairs, will address the Capital Area School Development Association at its administrative seminar and annual business meeting here next week.

Dr. Schwartz, formerly professor of economics at Maxwell Graduate School of Syracuse University, will have as his topic, "The United States and Russia; Political, Economic, and Social Variables". He has served with the Department of State, Department of Agriculture, War Production Board, and Office of Strategic Services. Following Dr. Schwartz's address at the meeting ~~on Thursday, November 29~~, there will be a question and discussion period.

The association's meeting will open with registration and coffee at 9 a.m. at Brubacher Hall, 750 State street, ^{State University of New York at Albany} At the business meeting ~~at~~ for 11 a.m., the past year's program will be reviewed and plans made for the coming year. There also will be election of directors.

-30-

November 19, 1962

To Albany Times-Union with pix
Knickerbocker News

State University of New York at Albany
James M. Lewis, Assistant to the President
Ho. 3-1254 Ex. 73

Prepared by:
Nathalie Lampman, Ex. 73

Release:

Tuesday, November 27

outstanding
Thirty-three/Senior students from State University of New York at Albany have been accepted for membership in the national Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The number represents an increase of two over the total of those students so honored last year at the university.

To be eligible for membership, a student must fulfill the following qualifications: scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship, service to the school, and promise of future usefulness.

As a member, the student's name and activities are listed in the national book of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. He also receives a key and a certificate of merit from the National Committee.

Newly-elected Seniors from State University in the honorary include Donald Allen, Shirley Blanchard, Stephen Borgos, Edward Broomfield, William Burnett, Pamela Carter, Laurence Coleman, Andrew Cibulsky and Stephen Condojani.

Also Cornelia Crowley, Mary Cull, Constance Culver, Candance Dal Pan, June Druian, Anne Dugan, Ross Dunn, Theodore Dusanenko, Mary Eisenman, Marcia English, Mildred Fletcher, Richard Kelly, Linda Kolts, Linda Lasselle, William McCarthy, James Oppenisano, Arlene Paciunas, Gary Penfield, Rosemary Patrick, and Suzanne Platt.

Also Geraldine Schleifer, Jean Tully, Howard Woodruff, and Patricia Woinoski.

November 21, 1962

State University of New York at Albany
James M. Lewis, Assistant to the President
HO. 3-1254 Ex. 73

Release:

Prepared by:
Nathalie Lampman, Ex. 73

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Langdon Gilkey, professor of theology at Vanderbilt University Divinity School, will speak Sunday at a meeting for the faculty of State University of New York at Albany. His subject will be "Myth and Symbol in Religious Discourse."

Dr. Gilkey, a fellow of the National Council of Religion in Higher Education and of the American Council of Learned Societies, is a graduate of Harvard and received his Ph.D. jointly from Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary. He formerly was a research fellow at Cambridge University and also studied in Germany under a Guggenheim fellowship. In earlier years he taught English at Yenching University, Peking, China, and was interned in a concentration camp in China during World War II.

Committee members for the meeting are Dr. Kendall Birr, Mrs. Paul Lemon, the Rev. Frank P. Snow, and Dr. Paul Wheeler. Coffee and dessert will be served at 7:30 p.m. prior to the address by Dr. Gilkey at 8 o'clock at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

November 29, 1962

Public Relations Department

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

Dr. Edward P. Shaw, Professor of Modern Languages and Comparative Literature at the State University of New York at Albany, has been honored by the government of France for "services rendered to French culture." The title of Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms will be conferred formally at Albany, according to a notification received from Eduoard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York.

Dr. Shaw, author of six books and numerous articles in the area of French literature and civilization, has been a member of the faculty at State University since 1947. He was instrumental in initiating the university's Fulbright program, foreign student programs, and faculty lectureships.

An honor graduate of Harvard, Dr. Shaw also has his doctorate from that institution. He was the recipient of a traveling scholarship from the French Government and of a Harvard Sheldon Traveling Fellowship for post-doctoral research in France.

During World War II, Dr. Shaw, who attained the rank of major in the Army Air Force, gave orientation lectures to troops in England who were to participate in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in contact with officials of newly liberated French towns. He was Command Historian, IX Air Force Service Command, and the author of the command's official history. Dr. Shaw received the Bronze Star Medal and an Army Commendation Ribbon, the latter a personal citation of meritorious achievement by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

Public Relations Department

file

James M. Lewis HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

IMMEDIATE

pix to
All tri-city press

Dr. Edward P. Shaw, Professor of Modern Languages and Comparative Literature at the State University of New York at Albany, has been honored by the government of France for "services rendered to French culture." The title of Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms will be conferred formally at Albany, according to a notification received from Eduoard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor of the French Embassy in New York.

Dr. Shaw, author of six books and numerous articles in the area of French literature and civilization, has been a member of the faculty at State University since 1947. He was instrumental in initiating the university's Fulbright program, foreign student programs, and faculty lectureships.

An honor graduate of Harvard, Dr. Shaw also has his doctorate from that institution. He was the recipient of a traveling scholarship from the French Government and of a Harvard Sheldon Traveling Fellowship for post-doctoral research in France.

During World War II, Dr. Shaw, who attained the rank of major in the Army Air Force, gave orientation lectures to troops in England who were to participate in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in contact with officials of newly liberated French towns. He was Command Historian, IX Air Force Service Command, and the author of the command's official history. Dr. Shaw received the Bronze Star Medal and an Army Commendation Ribbon, the latter a personal citation of meritorious achievement by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

November 7, 1962

To Schenectady, Troy, Albany newspapers, radio and tv

Public Relations Department
State University College at Albany
Albany 3, New York

Save

Frank G. Carrino HO 3-1254 Ex 73
Nathalie Lampman

For Immediate Release

Applications already are being received at State University College at Albany for the college's Institute in English for Secondary-School Teachers set for next summer.

State University College is one of twenty throughout the country cooperating in the special program, sponsored by the Commission on English of the College Entrance Examination Board and designed to improve the teaching of English in grades nine through twelve to students preparing for college.

Tuition and fees will be paid to the college by the Commission on English which also will assign to each participant a grant of $350. Estimated expenses for participants will be about $225.

At the summer session, July 2-Aug. 10, there will be three graduate courses in English -- composition, language, and literature -- scheduled for the morning. At afternoon workshops participants will develop methods and materials which may be applied in their own high-school classes.

Each course carries two semester hours of graduate credit. On the Institute's staff will be David W. Martin, supervisor of English at Milne High School, serving as coordinator; Dr. Gretchen Paulus, Associate Professor of English, State University College at Albany; William C. Kraus, Assistant Professor of Education and Supervisor in the Milne School, State University College; and Dr. Carl Niemeyer, Professor of English and Chairman, Department of Humanities, Union College.

Applicants, who must be teachers of English in grades 9-12 in a registered public or private school within about 50 miles of Albany, may obtain additional information from the Summer Institute in English at State University College.

sent Bennington Newspaper
North Adams, Mass.
Catskill Examiner - Recorder,
Weekly St. Barnabas

Catskill Daily Mail
Blenheim Falls
Chatham
Kingston
Berkshire Eagle.

Amsterdam
Johnston-Gloversville
Saratoga
Cobleskill
Scholarie
Hudson

Immediate

Twelve

~~Fourteen~~ faculty members at State University of New York at Albany have received a total of eight summer research fellowships and six grants-in-aid, totaling $11,150, from The Research Foundation of State University of New York. The awards, given to encourage research and related scholarly activities, were made upon recommendation of the Committee on Awards of the Graduate Council of the State University of New York.

Recipients of $1,000 fellowships and their projects follow:

Dr. Daniel W. Odell, assistant professor of English; The relationship of Edward Young's conjectures (1759) to his earlier work.

Hans A. Fehlsander, assistant professor of ancient languages; A new Index of Pindar.

Dr. Lawrence H. Daly, associate professor of chemistry; Infrared spectroscopy.

Dr. Robert E. Frost, associate professor of chemistry; Preparation and reactions of substituted alkoxysilanes.

Dr. Katherine H. Heindig, professor of biology; Cytological investigations of interspecific hybrids in the genus Iris.

Bruce B. Marsh, associate professor of physics; Phase change mechanisms in organic crystals.

Dr. Harold S. Story, associate professor of physics; Nuclear quadrupole resonance in solids.

Dr. Morris E. Eson, professor of psychology; Patterns of second language learning in elementary school children.

(more)

Press release from
State University of New York at Albany

continued -2-

Grants-in aid, ranging from $250 to $1,000, were awarded as follows:

Dr. Vivian C. Hopkins, professor of English; French criticism of Francis Bacon in first half of 19th century.

Dr. Paul C. Boomaliter, professor of speech; patterns of auditory perception in music.

Dr. Frost; The preparation and reactions of substituted alkoxysilanes.

Dr. Richard F. Smith, professor of chemistry; Reduction of quinasoline derivatives with metal hydrides.

Dr. Story; Nuclear quadrupole resonance.

Abraham Luchins, professor of psychology; Forming impression of personality from communications.

-30-

December 10, 1962