

Juniors Will Have Banquet Thursday

Katharine Conklin Is Chairman;
Cox Will Be Toastmaster

The class of 1938 will conduct its banquet in the college cafeteria in Husted hall at 5:30 o'clock on Thursday, May 20. Following the banquet will come junior song practice for the Moving-Up Day sing. Katharine Conklin is general chairman and Richard Cox will be toastmaster.

The committees assisting the chairman are: publicity, Anne Olsen and Elda Timm; tickets, Lawrence Bennett and Edward Reynolds; decorations, Marion Caborn and Ursula Tetraut; menus, Elizabeth Kelso; arrangements, Helen Williams; faculty, Florence Nelbach and Marjorie Crist; entertainment, Jean Lichenstein; waiters, John O'Brien.

Appointment Bureau Names Placements

The Appointment bureau has announced the placement of seven seniors, two graduate students and six former State students.

The seniors placed are: Edmond Erwin, science at Fort Ann; Isabel Davidge, English and library at Sacketts Harbor; Edgar Warren, social studies and Latin at Westford; Frances McVeigh, English and library at Red Hook; Helen Emeric, commerce at Holland Patent; Alma Snyder, library, science and English at Fleischmanns; and Harry Wheeler, commerce at Evans Mills. The graduates placed are: Eloise Barnard, library science at Delmar; and Maxine Whittenmore, commerce at Wayland.

Former State students receiving positions are: Maxine Tutton, '33, Latin and French at Port Byron; Irving McConnell, '31, science at Cambridge; Muriel Denton, '34, library science at Pearl River; Sebastian Albrecht, '36, commerce and coaching at Farmingdale; Frances Mollicone, '35, library science at Ballston Spa; Fay Blum, '30, social studies at Copenhagen.

Will Distribute Catalogues

The Dean's office has announced that catalogues for the year 1937-38 are ready for distribution to juniors, sophomores and freshmen.

Enthusiastic Debaters Return From Syracuse Conference

Members of the varsity debate squad who attended the annual inter-collegiate conference at Syracuse, April 23-24, returned enthusiastic about a profitable and interesting trip to the university.

At 11:00 o'clock on Friday morning, delegates from the visiting colleges assembled in Marshall auditorium where they were called to order by last year's speaker. Election for assembly officers and explanations of details followed.

Before lunch there were preliminary meetings of the three committees to draft bills on uni-cameral legislation, housing, and social reforms. The members of each group elected a secretary and chairman, and representatives of the various colleges distributed the bills drawn up by them in their respective committee meetings.

After lunch, the committees considered the bills and voted on the

Seniors To Conclude Annual Housing Drive

The annual drive for the alumni housing fund will be concluded a week from today, according to Robert Margison, '37, chairman.

All captains should submit a final report of their pledges to their division leaders by that time.

The three division leaders, John Deno, Harry Gunner, and John Murphy, seniors, have reported that over $8,000 has already been pledged.

Dr. Brubacher to Name Incoming 'News' Board

Dr. A. R. Brubacher, president, will announce tomorrow, as part of the Moving-Up Day ceremonies, the members comprising the new board of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS. This is a departure from the precedent followed in previous years when the incoming board was announced in the issue of the NEWS immediately preceding Moving-Up Day.

In addition to announcing the names of the editor-in-chief, the managing editors, and those members of the business and circulation departments who will be in the 1937-38 board, President Brubacher will present gold keys to the new board members and a silver key to the senior not on the NEWS board, who has done the most for the college paper.

Interfraternity Group Names Trehanon Head

Alfred Trehanon '38, will succeed Fred Stant, '37, as president of Interfraternity council for the coming year.

The council is composed of three members from Gamma Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho and the Edward Elmer Potter Club, and the presidency is held alternately by each. The representatives of Kappa Delta Rho are: Trehanon, Warren Denmore, juniors, and John Edge, '38. The representatives from the Edward Elmer Potter club are: Richard Cox, Herbert Drooz, juniors, and Bernard Gaffney, '39.

This council regulates the rushing of freshmen and sponsors the fall interfraternity formal. The council was organized last year and functioned during rush period for the first time this year.

Tynan Will Head '41 Junior Guides

Captains Plan Reorganization Of Orientation Program For Freshmen

The Junior Guide system of freshman orientation has been completely reorganized, according to the recent announcement of Dean Helen Hall Moreland. The former system included each freshman's having a junior sister or brother, and a faculty advisor. The new plan, as set up by Miss Moreland, Elizabeth Appeldoorn, '38, last year's Junior Guide chairman, and Danton Tynan, '39, this year's chairman, will provide for better cooperation between the faculty advisors and the freshmen.

Each member of the faculty who has accepted the invitation to act as an advisor will work in conjunction with one of the thirty-eight junior captains, who will, in turn, be assisted by one junior and one sophomore aide. The individual groups of four will each take charge of eight freshmen. It will be the duty of the upperclassmen to act as a connecting link between the faculty and the freshmen. The inclusion of sophomore assistants will make the system self-perpetuating in that the sophomores will be able to carry on the work the following year.

The list of faculty advisors includes: Miss Blanche M. Avery, Dr. Ralph Beaver, Dr. Thomas G. Bergin, Miss Margaret Betz, Mr. Paul Bulger, Miss Mary E. Cobb, Dr. Caroline Crossdale, Miss M. Annette Dohdin, Dr. Howard Dohlin, Mrs. Martha Eggleston, Miss Elma Evans, Dr. Robert Frederick, Dr. William French, Miss Agnes Patterson, Miss Madeline Gilmore, and Dr. Marie Green.

Mr. William Hardy, Mr. Elliot Hatfield, Dr. James Hicks, Miss Margaret Hitecheek, Miss Helen Jones, Miss L. Antoinette Johnson, Miss Isabelle Johnston, Miss Marion Kilpatrick, Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss Lester, Miss Eunice Perine, Miss Arlene Preston, Miss Martha Pritchard, Miss

Classes Prepare Ceremonies Amid Rampant Speculation

IS GRAND MARSHAL

William Young, '37, Grand Marshal for Moving-Up Day, who will direct the march of the classes tomorrow.

Classes to Assemble In Appointed Places

Despite the protests of those weary Wilkes who believe that a holiday should begin with a good morning's sleep, Moving-Up Day will begin at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow morning when the classes will line up preparatory to commencing the day's festivities.

William Young, '37, grand marshal, has announced the line up. The seniors will meet at the west door of Draper, facing west; the juniors at the east door of Husted; the sophomores near the Annex, and the freshmen in Draper hall near the Co-op, facing west.

Frosh and Sophs Meet in Interclass Events Tonight To Open Weekend

Traditional ceremonies and events of State college will be the order of the day tomorrow, when the various classes move up.

Opening features will be the athletic events tonight at 6:30 o'clock, and the morning ceremonies at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow. The climax of the holiday will come with the moving up of the classes under the direction of William Young, '37, grand marshal, and the "tapping" of the new Myskania.

Speculation, as to the new Myskania, now rampant throughout the school, will rise still higher tomorrow when each member of the body silently and solemnly advances to the seat of a lucky one, and announces his name.

The number of members on Myskania may vary from seven to thirteen. The present Myskania is comprised of twelve members, an average number.

The Moving-Up Day program starts tonight at 6:30 o'clock, with a pushball game between the freshmen and sophomore men. This will be followed by a series of track events for the women of the same classes.

Exercises proper will begin at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow, when the four classes line up and proceed to Page auditorium. There the Alma Mater will be sung, led by Eloise Shearer, '37, student association song leader. Following this a welcome will be extended to the various classes, as well as to those visitors present.

Exit the 1937 Board

With this issue of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS, the members of the class of 1937 hand down their journalistic duties to the incoming members of the class of 1938. At some time or other the popular comment may have been that relief from these duties would be welcome, but at this time when the parting becomes imminent and unavoidable, there is a conspicuous absence of such sentiment. Such a parting is too permanent to be taken lightly.

Fortunately or unfortunately the outgoing board is unable at this time to congratulate its successors in person for the coming year; the opportunity to do this comes tomorrow as a part of congratulatory program of Moving-up Day. However, at this time a wish for a most successful and progressive year may rightly be our parting gesture, and at the same time there can be no more significant an expression of our respect to the incoming board, columnists and contributors to our News, than to say that we have no end of confidence in them and their ability to duplicate if not improve what has preceded them.

May our successes and contributions to a better State life as well as our failures to come up to the expectations of our critics serve as challenges to a progressive group—'37 to '38.

People Don't Forget

Richmond H. Kirtland served on State's faculty for some twenty-five years. He was chairman of the English department, then a member of the education department. The class of 1937 knew him as the sage of Ed 9, orientation course for freshmen under the old requirements.

Students don't always agree with Mr. Kirtland. They weren't always sure that his course was much more than a bull session of curriculum status. Yet they usually liked him, and respected his opinion. For his courses opened up discussion that was real orientation for living, if not too specifically for teaching.

The senior class, the only remaining group in college that knew him, has appointed a committee to secure a plaque in Richmond Kirtland's honor, to be placed in the Hawley library. The plaque will be simple, we understand, and there could be no more fitting memorial. Kirtland takes his place among the servants of State, but his memory will be more than on metal to many people.

Evening of Song Will Culminate Moving-up Program Tomorrow

After an evening and a day of Myskian-tapping, frosh-soph battles, stunts, awards, speeches, parading and ivy-planting, music will be given an opportunity to work its soothing influences upon the shattered nerves of State tomorrow night at 7:30 when the evening program of Moving-up Day is inaugurated with the traditional "step sing" on the steps of Draper hall. It will be the fourth and last for the "grand old seniors," who will realize as the strains of "Great Fires" die away that they have reached the end of their college careers.

Led by Eloise Shearer, '37, song leader of the student association, the singing of the Alma Mater will open the program. Class songs in order of seniority will follow, after which the prize songs, consisting of original class alma maters will be sung in the same order.

After the singing of "Um Diddly-um Bum Bum" and the following exchange of songs between the sophomore and freshman classes, the sister classes will render the songs dedicated to each other.

As anxious sophomores and freshmen tear their hair and bite their nails, John Dene, '37, president of the student association will announce the winners of the prize songs, stunts and games, and will present the interclass rivalry cup to the class which has amassed the greatest number of points.

With a great burden lifted from their minds, the underclassmen will then turn to listen to the seniors' rendition of "As Ye Sow". Each class in turn will then offer its farewell song to the departing seniors, followed by the senior and junior step-songs.

As the seniors recede singing the traditional "Great Fires", the freshmen will realize that their first Moving-up Day has come to an end.

For those who feel the urge to dance, Lou Rider and his orchestra will preside from 9:00-12:00 in the gymnasium.

Hellenics

"There's been 'a lull in our lives'" since Intersorority weekend, and we haven't even reported that a good time was had by all—orchids to Intersorority council for a most successful dance!

Most of the houses were filled to the windows with alumni—at Eta Phi were Ruth Crutcheley, Betty Gregory, and Lucille Manning, '35ers; and Marion Steele Graves, and Carol Hill, of '36. Kappa Delta welcomed back Thelma Smith and Ruth Moller of the class of '34; Alleen Dexter, Marion Heinemann, Lillian Payne, Grace Pritchard and Mary Van Alstyne of '35; and Elaine Baird, Blossom Evans, Emma Mead, and Zella Winter of last year's class.

A E Phi said lowly to Selma Schuchter, '32; Bess Hartman, '33; Rose Elmhorn, '36; and Esther Oann, '37. Fran Lewan, '36, came back into the Psi Gam fold for the week end, and Norman Blake, also '36, made herself at home at Sigma Alpha.

Incidentally, the Sig. Alpha inducted nine pledges into full membership recently: Lamilla Sayer, '38; Rose Ritter and Dorothy Traver, sophomores; and Doris Brooks, Margaret Collins, Helen Gregory, Yolanda Richardson, Eleanor Sliter, and Louise Smith, freshmen. The KDs announce the pledging of Doris Shultes and Mary Trainor, freshmen.

To complete the weekend festivities, AEPhi will welcome all its parents. Mom, Dad, and even the kids on Sunday. Just a grand old get-together!

Wedding bells at 409 Western Avenue at least there will be, according to the DOs, who have announced the engagement of Lulu Duffey, '38, to David Brockway of New Rochelle.

Happy Moving up Day, Greeks, and may all of your freshmen be future Myskian members!

Statesman

For the last time this year we prepare to serve up State's gossip. . . . After today some poor, well-meaning junior will push our pencil into the happenings of all those guys and gals. Let's turn from sentiment to sediment.

Some relaxed mumblings from Intersorority ball. . . . Carol and Jack caused many startled glances. . . . well, you can't blame him if he admires her. . . . others members of the black-robed twelve were present with surprise dates, while some were conspicuous by their absence. . . . Could R.P.I. have anything to do with it? . . . sorry if we Myskian of you in our commentary. . . . on to more recent events.

How many timid souls were scared away from the Activities office by the crepe paper decorations last Tuesday afternoon? . . . we've been told they were in honor of (1) Dene's birthday, (2) the coronation, (3) the seniors without teaching jobs, and (4) Moving-up day. . . . can't you people get together on your stories? . . . besides, decorations are "the sort of thing juniors object to"—or didn't you know?

Since we've already invaded the Lion's privacy, and since our own privacy is invaded in this last issue, we'll copy the Lion's "Honi Soit Qui Mai Y Pense" page, and pass on a few choice quotations—"Children cannot be excused from school for marriages or other illegal reasons"—Miss Hayes—When Professor Walker asked his economics class the correct terminology for marriage between couples under legal age, Elton Murphy piped out, "White slavery" . . . and when Hardmeyer and Bushy were asked the reason for their appearance last weekend they replied, "We thought it was Moving up Day"—some people just aren't very quick.

Have you been urged to join the "Central Avenue Business Improvement Association" as yet? . . . dues of two bucks are payable to any of the members you trust—(Q.E.D. None will be paid in that case.) . . . we hear that the organization was formed in honor of the two male dinner guests at the dorm last Thursday. . . . What, an invasion? . . . and we've been snickering all week at the red faced Romeo who will attend Saturday night swing session with the girl with the dreamy eyes. . . . you may now blush profusely for us, Gordie.

And still on that dance, Walsh stepped out to prove the old adage on blunders. . . . and Plaster won out in the perennial race for a date.

Now, folks, the year's about up, and another Moving up Day is staring us in the teeth. . . . the question of this week is "Who will be tapped?", but that's one thing we haven't the answer to, yet. . . . well, place your bets and see how many winners you pick.

Since the year and this column must end, we will now break down and reveal our identity. . . . all year long we've helped people try to guess who the Statesman might be. . . . we apologize for leading any of you Richardson, Eleanor Sliter, and Louise Smith, freshmen. The KDs announce the pledging of Doris Shultes and Mary Trainor, freshmen.

To complete the weekend festivities, AEPhi will welcome all its parents. Mom, Dad, and even the kids on Sunday. Just a grand old get-together!

State's Coronation Day

Commentstater

It is the fervent wish of every student of State that tomorrow morning dawn bright and clear; and that the gods that be show their favor by giving us an entire day of freshness and beauty. For this is the day that presages the end of another school year. From this day forth it may be truly said "Tempus Fugit" which may be literally translated, "Time is a wastin'."

Dickens might have been thinking of Moving-up Day when he wrote, "It was the best of days; it was the worst of days." It is the best of days, for to many it marks the end of a year's struggle, a year of hard work, and a year of worry and uncertainty. To the freshmen it is a year of orientation; to the sophomores—a year of battling and upper-classism; to the juniors—a year of painstaking effort, unceasing labor, and to some, terrible uncertainty; and to the seniors—a year of the hardest study, job-hunting and practice teaching. And yet it is the worst of days, for it culminates a year of great activity; a year when most State-ans have had the best time of their life; a year of learning, of good times—of life to the full. The freshmen have had a year of making friends, many of whom they will never see again; the sophomores—their first year of being one of the bigger frogs in the pond; the juniors have had the best year of their life as a class; the seniors have spent their last year together, a sorrowful but a glorious year.

The British Empire has its Coronation Day; State College has its Moving-up Day. In its own smaller way, Moving-up Day embodies as much tradition and splendor as the Coronation. For us there will be as much pageantry and spectacle on tomorrow the twenty-first day of May as there was for the British on Wednesday, May twelfth. The lords and nobles will pass in procession—each robed according to his rank. But here, rank is determined—not by heritage—but by the number of years of citizenship. The seniors, highest in rank, will march slowly, majestically along, robed in somber black. The juniors, in blue, will trip merrily along to the tapping of many canes. The sophomores resplendent in green will follow in the footsteps of the others, and the freshmen, in their yellow and white will follow, gaily, rejoicing that their year of slavery is over, and in a gleeful outburst will run their snake dance through the front door of Draper hall completing the march of the peers.

On this day, Myskian will walk slowly—and tap their successors with heart rending suspense. Many juniors have worked for three years that they may hear their names sonorously pronounced on this day of days. Membership in boards and organizations will be announced, and a select few will receive the acclaim of the multitude. Class speeches will be given, and the seniors will plant the ivy.

Later, in the afternoon, the class stunts will claim the attention of all, and the atmosphere will change from one of stark drama to one of merriment. But even this day must close as the step sing follows the stunts. With the close of the sing comes the end of a year of rivalry. All classes will cheer, but the uproar from one of the classes will be more joyous than that of any other. The evening closes on a note of revelry, and with various exhibitions of style in the terpsichorean art. And a good time was had by all.

Book of the Week: 'Heaven' Builds Personality

By Kathleen Strevell

Very Heaven, by Richard Addington. New York: Doubleday, 1937. 341 pp.

(One out in the Group)

"Bliss was it in that dawn to be alive,
But to be young was very heaven."

Wordsworth

Chris' youth might well have broken under the blows his fortune dealt him. You will think, steadily through the book, that it is about to give in.

Chris Heylin is a young Englishman up at Cambridge when his father, through mismanagement, loses much of the family's money, and Chris is forced to come down from the University. Jobless, Chris goes home to be faced with a father sick in bed but refusing to have a doctor, an over emotional dominating mother, and a sister about to marry a raddish sportsman for money to save the family home. Though Chris talks, often at too great length and with too great vehemence, on the sanity of the whole arrangement, he is ignorant of his own mind, and the family's schemes. He remains unloved even to the point of his being himself schemed against for his mother sends him to London to stay in the home of a friend of hers when he is supposed to seduce and subsequently marry for her money.

These things which happen to Chris are not important for themselves, but for the effect they have upon him. The building of his personality makes a different and a compelling book. Though one sometimes wonders if the plot is not contrived and is often impatient with Chris' extensive rantings about life in general and his own life in particular, one still likes Chris. The author, however, has failed to accomplish one purpose probably dear to his heart; namely that of expounding a memorable philosophy of life. One remembers Chris and his story, but not Chris' own sometimes incoherent mutterings on the subject of himself.

M.A.A. Presents Awards To Athletes of State

O'Brien Will Be M.A.A. Pres.
Tom Ryan, Court Captain;
Whittner Speaks

M.A.A. conducted its annual spring banquet last night in the cafeteria and paid righteous honor to the fall and winter athletes of State. Awards were presented to all those who had gained distinction in the various sports at State since last fall, except for the baseball squad whose season has yet to be concluded.

Tommy Barrington, '37, president of M.A.A., acted as master of ceremonies and Dean M. C. Nelson gave the invocation. Following the dinner, a brief address was given by President A. R. Brubaker to the men of State. The president of M.A.A., then introduced Hal Whittner, Athletic Director at Union, who delivered the main address of the evening.

At the conclusion of Coach Whittner's address, Coach Hatfield presented basketball letters to the following: Co-captains Johnny Ryan and Dick Margison; George Bancroft, and Tom Barrington, seniors; Tom Ryan, junior; and George Amyot, "Duke" Herschkowitz, Carroll Lehman, and Mike Walke, sophomores.

Cross country awards were then presented to Captain Eddie Reynolds, Harold Haynes and Joe De Russo, juniors; and Tony Wilczynski, sophomore.

Following the presentation of these awards Coach Hatfield then presented life passes which entitle the holder to free admission to all future athletic contests at State to President A. R. Brubaker, Mr. Clarence Hilkey, and Dr. Donald V. Smith, in appreciation of their interest and work in M.A.A. since its organization; Mr. William G. Hardy, who has ably coached the tennis squads; tier and Amyot, '36, who was President of M.A.A. and captain of baseball in '36; George Bancroft, '37, captain of basketball in '36; Tommy Barrington, '37, president of M.A.A. for the past year; Johnny Ryan, '37, and Dick Margison, '37, who were co-captains of last season's basketball squad; and Johnny Cullen, '37, captain of baseball.

In behalf of M.A.A. and its members, Coach Hatfield presented Grand Amyot, '36, with a gold medal for his work in M.A.A. last year, and Tommy Barrington, '37, this year's president, was given a gold basketball.

Tommy Ryan, '38, was proclaimed pilot of State's basketballers for their 1937-38 campaign by Coach Hatfield. Harold Haynes, '38, will succeed Eddie Reynolds, '38, as captain of the cross country squad.

Johnny O'Brien, '38, who has been vice president of M.A.A. for the past year, was selected as president for next year. George Amyot, '39, who has been twice selected as representative on M.A.A. by the sophomore class, was chosen vice president.

"Duke" Herschkowitz, who has like wise been delegated by the sophomore class twice, was elected treasurer; and Jimmy Quinn, outstanding basketball player on the fresh squad this past season, was chosen secretary.

The banquet came to a close with group singing led by Bill Torrens, '39.

'39 and '40 Stage Rivalry Tilt Today

Once again the ancient art of prebidding receives notice as the sophomore and freshmen squads carry their colors into the arena.

The freshmen are gritting their teeth to get up the endurance necessary to wade through the banks and bruises. The game will be their first chance to break into the rivalry figures of the weekend. If they lose it, they haven't a chance to win rivalry this year, since there won't be that many points left. If they win, they are still in the running, but must obtain both the sing and ski prizes to win.

Canute's Corner

Tennis
Track
Tussles

C. F. F.

We wonder if there is something about tennis and R.P.I. that just can't mix. A week ago Tuesday, the match was postponed to last Saturday. Saturday came and with it, rain, sogging up the hopes of our racketeers, who wanted to reiterate the beating already given to the doughty engineers by our own worthy basketball nine.

Thoughts of the coming track meet this Saturday has led several of our more intellectual athletes to think in another direction, namely—why not put track teams on a varsity basis at State? Such a team would not demand any of the superior builds which a heavier sport, such as football, requires—not would it demand a great deal of equipment. A pair of shorts, a shirt, running shoes and something to run in them are the prime necessities.

There are other things, however, to be considered. A field suitable for practice is not at hand nor one to which other colleges may be invited. Meets may, of course, be held on our opponents' grounds, although such an arrangement would not exactly place us at an advantage. Then, too, would there be enough interest to support such an activity? True, there will probably be enough spirit exhibited in the Bleecker arena Saturday. We wonder if such interest could be developed to an intercollegiate level.

Pushball contests are just about as risky to predict as football games. In other words when you have a strong team such as the sophomores have placed in the field in previous struggles, and which has won as consistently as they have, wagers just aren't made.

However, we feel like prognosticating. It's the sophs and by a top-heavy score at that! It has all the risk of an imaginary Notre Dame RPI gridiron tussle.

We wish to extend congratulations to all the receivers of laurels at the banquet yesterday. Space forbids us to laud you all individually, but take this as a blanket congratulation. Also, orchids to M.A.A. . . . for the banquet itself . . . for the excellent program of the banquet . . . for the wisdom of its choice in our next year's leaders.

State Tennis Team Will Meet Hartwick

Tomorrow afternoon State's Tennis squad will play host to a strong, fast-hitting Hartwick team on the Washington courts. The State racketeers, to date, have broken even in their matches, winning the first from Bard by a 7-2 count only to drop their second engagement to Drew by a 5-4 score.

A match scheduled with R.P.I. last Saturday was rained out necessitating a postponement of their match until some later date.

The match with Hartwick tomorrow will make it a "double decker" in State's sports schedule, and the match will also mark the third sport State has in common with Hartwick, having broken even with Hartwick in basketball and meeting their baseball squad on the Bleecker diamond this afternoon.

In their last match the Teachers dropped a close 5-4 decision to Drew, losing two double matches while claiming only one, and breaking even with their adversaries in the singles, each team taking three matches.

In the singles Harold Cahn, No. 1 man, Will Frament, No. 2 racketeer, and Captain Harry Wheeler captured points for State, while Will Frament and George Pierson gathered tulleis for the Teachers in the doubles.

Spring Season

Camp Johnston

Archery Tournament

H. C.

Saturday the gang will pile out to Camp Johnston to recuperate from Moving-up Day. Thelma Miller, '38, is general chairman. Committees assisting her are: assistant chairman, Jean Edgewood, '38, publicity, Rita Sullivan, '40, Ellen Best, '40, Lucy King, '40, Elizabeth Allen, '39, and June Palmer, '39; food, Katherine Conklin, '38, Ethel Little, '38, Christine Ades, '39, Della Dolan, '39, and Marian Lawless, '38; transportation, Marion Rockefeller, '39, Charlotte Peck, '38, Dorothy MacLean, '39 and Ruth Shoemaker, '38; faculty, Christine Dershimer, '38, Helen Lowry, '39, Ruth Saxby, '39 and Marie Metz, '40.

Some people will only spend the day while others will remain overnight. Buses will leave early Saturday morning and return in the afternoon. See the G.A.A. bulletin board for further details and to sign up if you are going.

There will be an archery tournament from 3:15 to 5:00 o'clock this afternoon at the dormitory field. Everyone is invited to participate, and winners will receive rewards at the annual dinner.

The class stunts will begin at 2:00 o'clock. The traditional step sing will be at 7:30 o'clock, followed by the recessional with "Great Fires." Dancing will follow in the gym to the music of Lou Rider and his orchestra.

Miranda Is Victor In Set-shot Game

Golf and Softball Tournaments Are Now Well Under Way

Intramural athletics are rounding out as the semester closes. The "21" contest has become a thing of the past, while softball and golf continue to hold sway.

The "21" contest was ended last week, when Miranda, '38, defeated George Bancroft by a 2-0 score. This win automatically places Miranda in the position of champion set-shot basketballer at State.

The Golf tournament is moving on, under the guidance of "Duke" Herschkowitz. Bad weather has held up this contest considerably, the spring rains sogging up the greenswards of the golf links to a slow condition. All games, however, must be completed by next Saturday.

Two men, Herschkowitz and D'Agostino have entered the third round, and are waiting for the completion of the rounds before them before they again swing into action.

Interest in the interclass softball league seems to be anything but rampant, as two games which were scheduled failed to take place because of lack of players. On May 12, the sophomores ran away ahead of the freshmen, defeating them with a score of 21-4. The freshmen started things off in the first inning, driving in a couple of runs, but couldn't seem to connect after that. The game between the seniors and the juniors was taken by the wearers of the red, by forfeit of the juniors, who just weren't represented by players.

May 19, Tuesday, saw the sophomores forge out ahead again, defeating the seniors 15-12. The seniors were slow in getting started, letting the sophomores build up a big lead. Coming from behind a 12-1 score, they built their tally up to 12-12 in the final inning. An extra inning gave the sophomores a break, and the game, with a three run lead. The game between the freshmen and the juniors was called off, due to insufficient representation on both sides.

Next Wednesday, the schedule calls for the sophomores to play the juniors, while the seniors meet the freshmen.

Pratt Is Victor Over State Nine

Pratt Drives in Four Runs Before Cullen Rallies To Stop Score

Saturday, May 8, State batsmen, in their second start of the season, were defeated by a strong Pratt team at Bleecker stadium by a score of 5-3. With Cullen on the mound the game started auspiciously enough but in the second frame the Prattmen seemed for a few moments to get hold of Johnny's offerings and drove in four runs before Cullen settled down and retired the side. It was the first and last rally of the New Yorkers, for Cullen and Schmitz, who went on the rubber in the 8th, between them yielded only one more run.

Although State threatened many times they only capitalized on a few of their chances.

The contest was a decided improvement, in fielding, over the previous showing against R.P.I. since there were very few errors. However, O'Brien seemed to have difficulty in getting his throw down to second and a path of stolen bases was beaten between the initial sack and second.

Yet the play as a whole showed the result of one more week of practice. Tomorrow State encounters a highly touted Hartwick team on the home field. Fresh from a week of rest, the players should be in good shape to play a better type of ball and make up for their defeat of last week.

TO HAVE TRACK MEET

The third of the annual interclass track meets will carry out the best that can be offered in the vicinity of the State college campus, when the followers of Minerva's banner set forth their own abilities to break and better the already existing records. Joe LaGriff, '38, chairman for the day, has asked that all competitors be at Bleecker stadium at 9:30 o'clock in order that the events may be run off as scheduled.

'News' Board Discloses Names of Columnists

The NEWS releases from anonymity this week the authors of four of its special columns. For reasons of obvious convenience, their identities were not disclosed before.

The Playgoer, dramatic critic, has been Eloise Shearer, '37, member of last year's advanced dramatics class and member of Music council. Individual Playgoers have been written by Ralph Van Horn and Betty Meury, seniors.

The Commentator, columnist on State in general: Virginia Steel and Harry Gunnar, seniors. Individual columns have been submitted by David Smith, Sophie Wolzok, John Murphy, Mariel Goldberg, Jean Strong, and James Vanderpool.

The 1937 Statesman, college monger, is Agnes Torrens, '37, assisted by members of the NEWS board and staff.

G.A.A. To Conduct Final Award Dinner

Elizabeth Morrow, '37, to Install Officers for Coming Year

The Girls Athletic Association will close its activities with the annual spring award dinner which will be conducted on Tuesday, May 25, at the West Albany home of Thelma Miller, '38. Buses will leave from the Washington Avenue entrance of Draper hall. After the dinner, awards for the year will be made, and Elizabeth Morrow, '37, president of the association, will install the new officers.

Committees in charge of the dinner are as follows: general chairman, Phyllis Johnson, '38; assistant chairman, Ethel Little, '38; food, Helen Clyde, '37; transportation, Christine Aides, '39; publicity, Lillian Hines, '39; clean-up, Ruth Cuss, '39; and faculty, Ethel Keshner, '37.

Classes Will Banquet

The junior and senior classes will conduct their annual spring banquet this evening. The co-chairmen for the senior event will be Lester Rubin and Robert MacGregor. The class will dine at the Van Schuyler restaurant. The juniors will have Jean Edgumbe acting as chairman and the dinner will be served in the cafeteria. Both banquets will begin at 5:30 o'clock and will be completed in time to witness the athletic events.

E. E. Potter Will Have Annual Spring Formal

The Edward Eldred Potter Club will conduct its annual spring dance this Saturday evening from 9:00 to 1:00 in the Commons of Hawley hall according to Raymond Walters, '39, chairman. The music will be furnished by Nelson Carl's orchestra.

The decorations and programs will be in the club's colors of black and silver.

Advanced Class Will Repeat Performance

Bogosta and Daniels Play Leads
In Oscar Wilde's Comedy

The last presentation of the Advanced Dramatics class will take place in Page hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock, when the second performance of "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be staged. The production, directed by Miss Agnes E. Futterer, assistant professor of English, is the climax of the 1936-37 advanced dramatics season.

The sets have been constructed by the members of the stagecraft class, under the supervision of Mr. William G. Hardy, instructor of English, and the sets committee from the advanced class.

Van Housen Charles company, and the Albany Hardware company are supplying the properties which are being used in the production.

The cast includes: Lord Windermere, Paul Dittman, '38; Lord Darlington, William Bogosta, '39; Lord Augustus Lorton, Thomas Kelley, '37; Mr. Cecil Graham, Kenneth Doran, '39; Mr. Dumby, Peter Hart, '39; Mr. Hopper, Robert Karpen, '40; Parker, John Nordell, '39; Lady Windermere, Elizabeth Daniels, '38; Duchess of Berwick, Sally Whelan, '38.

Lady Agatha, Florence Nelbach, '38; Lady Plymdale, Florence Zubres, '38; Lady Jodburgh, Charlotte Libman, '38; Lady Stutfield, Janet Dible, '38; Mrs. Cowper-Cowper, Dorothy Hauer, '38; Mrs. Erylne, Jean Lichenstein, '38; Rosalie, Marjorie Crist, '38; and Sir James Royston, Thomas Mehan, '37.

The committee in charge include the following members of the advanced class: sets, Lucille Clark, '38; costumes, Sally Whelan, '38; house, Ruth Schurick, '38; props, Betty Appeldoorn, '38; and advertising, Charlotte Libman, '38.

Sayles To Be New Head Of Albany Rotary Club

Professor John M. Sayles, head of the education department, and principal of Milne High school, was elected president of the Albany Rotary Club at its meeting last week.

Professor Sayles has been an active member of Rotary for the last twelve years. During that time he has served as chairman of various committees including those on Vocational Service, Boys' Work, Club Service, and Program. Previous to his election to the presidency, he held the office of vice-president.

The main object of the Rotary is one of service. Each member is expected to foster this ideal as the basis of all worthy enterprise.

News, Echo, Various Sports
And Debate Increase
Their Demands

Today's assembly will discuss the proposed budget for the year 1937-38, according to an announcement by John Deno, '37, president of the student association.

The budget which amounts to $13,247, will be presented by Ralph Van Horn, '37. This new budget represents an excess of $1,047 over an estimated 100% tax payment for 1937-38. This added amount will be taken care of by this year's balance.

Every one will be handed a mimeographed copy of each association's budget when he enters the assembly today. The groups asking for a raise in their appropriation are: debate, News, Echo, Mykania, cross-country, baseball, and student council. There is also an athletic contingency fund.

Among the organizations that will take a cut in their appropriations are: Girls' Athletic Association, freshman handbook, the Lion, basketball, men's intramural sports. The remainder of the organizations will have the same budget that they had last year.

This budget has been prepared for 1,250 students the same as last year's budget was. As all students are required to have paid their tax to get a recommendation from the appointment bureau the finance board feels that the activities may be carried out on a complete schedule.

The remainder of the program will be occupied with the installation of next year's student association officers. The reins of the presidency will be handed over by Deno to Warren Densmore, '38. The vice-president will be John Edge, '39, and the secretary will be Henry Taylor, '40.
