STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

October 23, 1972

"CAVIAR" IS THE NAME of the dance being performed by members of the Louis Falco Dance Company which performs here Friday night under the sponsorship of the Dance Council. The fish decor shown is the work of Marisol.

Concerts, Dancers Highlight Performing Arts Activities

Several music and dance programs are coming up soon on campus.

Vanguard, auxiliary to the Albany Symphony Orchestra, is inviting faculty and staff to attend a Thursday preview at 1 p.m. in the Main Theater of the Performing Arts Center where Findlay Cockrell, pianist, will play. He will offer a preview of his performance as featured soloist at the orchestra's Oct. 28 performance in the Palace Theater.

Joel Chadabe's Free Music Store plans a program, also on Thursday, at 8:30 p.m. in the Laboratory Theatre. Featured will be electronic music from here and abroad, including works by Andrew Aldrich, William Novak, Makoto Shinohara, Lars-Gunnar Bodic, and Peter Lewis. There is no admission charge.

An outstanding evening of contemporary dance is listed for the PAC's Main Theater Friday evening, beginning at 8:30, when the Louis Falco Dance Company will perform. Tickets at $3, and less with student discounts, are available at the PAC box office. The small performing ensemble will feature Louis Falco, dancer-choreographer; Jennifer Muller; and Juan Antonio. Others in the company are Georgiann Holmes, Mary Jane Eisenberg, and Mathew Diamond. SUNYA's Dance Council is presenting the program.

The University-Community Symphony Orchestra, with Nathan Gottschalk conducting, opens its season on Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 8:30 p.m. in the Main Theater. Yehuda Manani will be the soloist in the program which includes music by Weber, Tschaikowsky, Beethoven, and Elgar.

On Oct. 29, 30, and 31, the Ballet Maya de Ruben Duarte, noted Mexican dance troupe, will perform here. Performance and ticket information is available at the PAC box office.

Out-of-State Tuition Policies Reevaluated

Public colleges and universities throughout the country are being forced to reevaluate their non-resident tuition policies in light of the implications of the 18-year-old vote and recent court decisions in favor of students claiming resident status. The institutions stand to lose from $250 to $300 million dollars in annual income if all non-resident tuition charges become uncollectable.

The differential tuition policy itself is not in question. That has been sustained in the courts as a reasonable way to maintain a balance between the contribution made by resident taxpayers and the benefit gained by non-resident students.

Rather, the question revolves around the definitions and criteria for establishing residency in a state. Registration and voting in a particular place has traditionally been one criterion for proving residency in that place.

In New York State, Walter J. Relihan, Jr., SUNY university counsel and vice chancellor for legal affairs, has sent a memo to all campus presidents setting forth guidelines for determining residency for tuition purposes. In it he notes that "...residence" for tuition purposes is generally defined as equivalent to a common law 'domicile' i.e., a permanent

Central Council Calls Strike Against New Parking Rules

In a bold attempt to negate the effect of the recently approved university parking regulations, Central Council has organized a strike against the new laws. Representatives of the legislative body are urging drivers to ignore the parking rules which are currently in effect, and to park in "any legitimate space on campus," with the exception of areas reserved for those people possessing medical permits.

The action is a result of dissatisfaction with University Council's revision of the regulations, which Central Council labels as "illegitimate." The student group declares that the new parking laws were passed without the proper consent of the university community. The University Council approval, which is authorized by education law and trustee regulation, came after opportunity had been given for campus reaction.

Central Council Chairman Ken Stokem has announced that the broad aim of the strike is to foster "more equal representation of the students," with the immediate goal being to institute "traffic rules that are better than the ones in effect now."

A bill which called for the parking strike was passed by a vote of 16-1-4 at the Oct. 12 meeting of Central Council. The legislation has survived a veto by Student Association President Michael Lampert and review by the S.A. Supreme Court, and now stands as the cornerstone for the strike movement.

The bill expresses council's refusal to recognize the validity of the revised rules, and formally declares a strike against them. It also outlines a "first come, first served" alternative to the existing regulations, thus voicing student disapproval of the present policy of awarding faculty and staff top priority in the parking lots closest to the podium.

As this article goes to press, it is not possible to measure the success which widespread leafletting and advertising has had in promoting favorable student response to the strike. Security Director James Williams has instructed University Police to "avoid confrontation" with individuals participating in the strike. However, tickets will be issued and violators will be towed according to normal procedure.

Poll on Grading

Students will be polled tomorrow through Thursday in the Campus Center on their opinions regarding the grading system for undergraduates. The Senate Executive Committee poll will be taken in conjunction with a Central Council poll on a number of other issues (see pg. 2). Faculty are being polled by mail — ballots to be returned by Nov. 1.

Voters will be asked to indicate their support for a change to A-E grading for all undergraduates or A-E grading for all undergraduates with a student option of 30 credits to be graded S-U. Lack of support for either change will be interpreted as support for the present grading system.

Sociologist Gives University Lecture

Albert C. Higgins, associate professor of sociology, will be the second speaker in the current University Lecture Series Wednesday, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center. He will pose the question, "Can Intervention be Ethical?" in his address.

Professor Higgins, who joined the faculty in 1969, has degrees from Fordham and from the University of North Carolina where he was awarded his doctorate in 1964. He is now co-director of the Evaluation of the Urban Center of the Capital District, Department of Sociology. Dr. Higgins, who has published widely, formerly headed the Student Health Center Project at Syracuse University.

abode, a place to which one intends to return."

He also notes that "in New York State, the state's highest court has upheld the constitutionality of section 151 of the Election Law which conditions voter registration upon residence requirements substantially similar to those employed for tuition purposes by State University. For both purposes, the test is more nearly 'domicile' than 'residence'."

According to the guidelines and legal definitions, therefore, a student may have many residences but only one domicile. The domicile of a student under 21 years of age and unemancipated (still receiving financial support from his parents) is that of the parents.

Emanipated minors and students 21 years of age or older may establish their own domicile, but the burden of proof is upon them to prove that it is different from their previous domicile. The same burden of proof applies to any subsequent change in domicile.

In determining domicile for resident tuition purposes, Relihan lists a number of factors which are relevant. They include: residence of parents, spouse, and children; place of voter registration; residence for tax purposes; marital status; age; financial independence and income status; site of motor vehicle and other personal property registration; site of real and personal property; location of checking and savings accounts; place of employment; telephone directory listing; and place of draft registration.

Determination is made on the basis of all relevant factors. No single factor is controlling. However, since the 'domicile' tests for New York State voter registration and for resident tuition are so similar, proof of New York State voter registration is strong evidence for claiming New York State domicile for tuition purposes.

At SUNYA, discussions are currently underway aimed at interpreting and implementing the new SUNY guidelines. Until now, the policy has been to bill students for tuition on the basis of the permanent address on file with the university.

Eighty-nine undergraduates were listed as out-of-state residents in the fall of 1971-72; 291 graduate students had out-of-state status. This semester an estimated 78 undergraduates and 327 graduates will pay out-of-state tuition.

The difference between in-state and out-of-state tuition charges for full-time students is $212.50 per semester for freshmen and sophomores, $250 for juniors and seniors, and $150 for graduate students.

Educational Policy Council Sets Tasks for Coming Year

At the opening meeting of the Council on Educational Policy, Arthur Collins informally discussed several new programs and issues with which the council may be concerned during the coming year. Among them are:

- development of a faculty workload statement,
- question of faculty quotas as to rank and tenure,
- report of the Long-Range Planning Task Force,
- development of a degree program in the College of General Studies,
- development of new programs in journalism and gerontology.

The members reviewed with the Vice-President for Management and Planning the major items in the University Budget Request. President Benezet invited the council to have one or more members join the Division of the Budget hearings, and the chairman was selected as the representative.

Vice President for Academic Affairs Phillip Sirotkin noted that the SUNY Chancellor and Central Office were interested in the development of new programs in journalism and gerontology and that they will invest initial monies for these above SUNYA budget requests. The School of Social Welfare and the Graduate School of Public Affairs are developing a joint program and grant proposal on gerontology, and journalism is being developed as a second field.

Pre-registration procedures was the main order of business at several meetings

Seven Programs Up for Review

The Graduate Academic Council met on Aug. 30 to outline its plans for the coming year. Major items for the year are the review of doctoral programs and the Affirmative Action Program relative to recruitment of minority graduate students.

SUNY Central Office policy requires that graduate programs be reviewed periodically, and the Graduate Academic Council has been given the responsibility for implementing such reviews. Evaluations were completed last year of the doctoral programs in history, chemistry, educational administration, and counselling and personnel services.

Reviews of the doctoral programs in public administration and political science will be completed this year. Also scheduled for evaluation in this year are the programs in psychology, educational psychology, curriculum and instruction, biology, and French.

The council plans to review the procedures and past waivers made in regard to the policy requiring doctoral students to maintain full-time study and residence unencumbered by employment. An appropriate appeals procedure for the prohibition against undergraduate courses counting toward graduate degrees must also be developed.

The council has established an attendance policy for its meetings whereby the chairman would be advised of excessive absences of its members, and the council would then consider, on an individual basis, the justification for a member's removal from the council for excessive absences. Recommendations for removal would be acted upon by the council at the chairman's request, and forwarded to the Executive Committee of the Senate.

of the council. At issue was the question of whether students should continue to register for courses on an alphabetical basis or whether there should be a seniority system, as seniors face the possibility of closed courses under the current alpha system.

The pre-registration system involves many associated issues, such as faculty workload, scheduling, cost of conversion to a new system, and delay in a much-needed overhaul of the complete registration and scheduling process. After extensive and lengthy debate, the EPC voted to recommend to the administration that a seniority pre-registration system be implemented.

Opinions Sought On Many Issues

Students will have an opportunity to formally air their views on a wide variety of controversial issues in an opinion poll which will be conducted tomorrow through Thursday, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. in the CC Main Lounge. Student Association is administering the poll in an attempt to determine where campus sentiment lies in relation to several contemporary political questions, along with issues that specifically apply to SUNYA.

The poll was originally scheduled by Central Council in order to decide which presidential candidate is most widely supported by Albany students. Subsequent additions to the poll have substantially increased the breadth of the inquiry.

In addition to ascertaining the student position on the presidential election, the poll also will examine opinion on the prospect of legalizing marijuana and hitchhiking in New York State. It will measure reaction to the recent legislation pertaining to abortion, and determine sentiment concerning stronger gun control laws. The feasibility of establishing birth planning facilities at the university will be questioned. Students will also be asked to express their views on present campus recreational facilities.

The poll will be administered in conjunction with elections to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" and with a Senate Executive Committee poll seeking opinions on the grading system for undergraduates.

Council Seeks To Safeguard Faculty's Rights in Promotions

The Council on Promotions and Continuing Appointments devoted its first two meetings primarily to determining organizational guidelines and policies which would govern the council during its evaluations of individual cases.

These following procedures will be followed by the council in an effort to make certain that each eligible person is aware of his or her right to a personal appearance:

- A general notice before the council of the candidate's right to a personal appearance will be published in the Tower Tribune.
- Deans of the various schools will be requested to indicate in their transmission to the candidate his right of appearance before the council.
- Whenever the recommendation of the school committee, the Associate Dean and/or Dean is negative, an effort will be made by phone to ascertain whether the

OPINION POLL ON GRADING

Editor's Note: The following is the text of the opinion poll on grading to be conducted among students tomorrow through Thursday in the Campus Center and among faculty by mail.

Questions

1. Should the University Senate replace the current grading system (described in "A" below) by adopting Bill 36 (described in "B" below)? ☐ Yes ☐ No

2. Would Bill 36 be improved by adopting the Ellinwood amendment (described in "C" below)? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Footnotes

A. The Present Grading System: The normal grading procedure for students with fewer than 56 degree credits is S-U. Any such student may petition semester by semester for an exception to this policy and receive letter grades (A-E) instead, except for those courses graded only on an S-U basis.

B. Senate Bill 7172-36: The normal grading procedure for all undergraduate students shall be letter grades (A-E). Sections or courses, however, may be designated by departments or schools as being graded on an S-U basis; all students enrolled therein would be so graded, this being the only exception to A-E grading.

C. Senate Bill 7172-36, as amended (incorporating the Ellinwood amendment): The normal grading procedure for all undergraduate students shall be letter grades (A-E). Sections or courses, however, may be designated by departments or schools as being graded on an S-U basis; all students enrolled therein would be so graded. Additionally, a student may elect to be graded on an S-U basis in other courses up to a maximum of 30 degree credits or the 120 required for graduation. These credits, however, may not apply toward the major or second fields.

Special Events in Gymnasium Under Council's Supervision

At its first meeting on Sept. 25, the Student Affairs Council approved a proposal to continue the regulation prohibiting first semester freshmen from rushing and affiliating with campus fraternities and sororities.

Another major item on the agenda was the policy for the use of the gymnasium. The gym, being the largest indoor facility on campus, has had multiple use. Conflicts in scheduling have arisen between physical education activities and other activities which require large halls.

The proposal was suggested and adopted that the Student Affairs Council serve as the appropriate body of the university community to consider extraordinary requests pertaining to the use of the gymnasium. The proposal further states that the parties involved give serious attention to the importance of maintaining recreational areas and class schedules in the gym, respecting the rights of others with prior commitments, and providing the necessary staff to insure normal operations in the remainder of the facility when the gymnasium is in use.

The council's first action after approving the new policy was to request that the gymnasium be made available for the appearance of Jane Fonda and Tom Hayden on Oct. 9.

The Student Affairs Council is concerned with all aspects of student life apart from the formal instructional program. Their committees include Financial Aids, International Students, Student Conduct, Residences, and Student Government and Organizations. Steve Gerber is chairman; Lois Gregg is secretary.

New on the Senate

New members of the Senate are Mary Anne Furfure and Allan Spivak, undergraduates; Gershon Collier, replacing Margaret Stewart; and Sorrell Chesin, President's appointee. Ralph Beisler, Vernon Buck, and Thomson Littlefield are faculty representatives to Central Council with two vacancies yet to be filled.

STARTING OCTOBER 23, 1972, RECREATIONAL HOURS FOR SWIMMING WILL BE AS FOLLOWS: Monday - Thursday, 8:30 pm - 10:30 pm; Friday, 8 pm - 10 pm; Saturday and Sunday; 1 pm - 5 pm and 8 pm - 10 pm.

THE UNIVERSITY LECTURE SERIES CONTINUES WEDNESDAY, October 25, when Albert C. Higgins, associate professor of sociology at SUNYA will lecture on the question, "Can Intervention Be Ethical?" in the Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center beginning at 8 pm. The Public is invited.

JOEL CHADABE'S FREE MUSIC STORE CONCERT ON THURSDAY, October 26, at 8:30 pm in the Laboratory Theatre of the Performing Arts Center will feature electronic music from here and abroad, including works by Andrew Aldrich, William Novak, Makoto Shinohara, Lars-Gunnar Bodin, and Peter Lewis. There is no admission charge.

LEWIS A. COBURN, OF THE BELFER GRADUATE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE, Yeshiva University, will lecture on "Some Variants of the Index Theorem" at a mathematics colloquium Friday, October 27, in Room 146 of the Earth Science Building beginning at 4 pm.

Campus Clipboard is prepared by the Student Activities Office. Items to be included should be submitted in writing to CC 137 by the Tuesday preceding publication date.

For further information about items listed in the Clipboard, call 7-6923.

Computing Center To Offer Short Courses for Beginners

Registration is still open for six short courses and tutorial sessions in computer science. These courses are non-credit and free. To register, contact John Tuecke or Maria Fischinger, CS 18, any time up to the first day of class.

"Introductory Computer Concepts and Basic Programming" is a course for the person who knows absolutely nothing about a computer but wishes to learn. It will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., tomorrow and Thursday and next Tuesday and Thursday in CS 22. Instructor is John Tuecke.

Meetings Slated For Volunteers

Community Service Agency Days will be held next Monday and Tuesday to afford students planning to register for the Community Service Student Volunteer Program an opportunity to learn about the work of the various agencies. Hedi McKinley, director of the program, reports that many agencies have asked for more student volunteers than the program, which is limited to 550, has been able to supply.

Tables and chairs will be set up between lecture halls 3 and 4. There agency representatives will be located to talk with students and to acquaint them with the work of their agencies. The tables will be manned from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wednesday evening, at a banquet to be held in the CC Ballroom, awards will be made to field placement agencies by Dean Charles T. O'Reilly of the School of Social Welfare. Expected to attend are clinical and academic faculty and agency and school administrators. The program will include a panel discussion.

At the affair 10 community agencies, associated longest with the School of Social Welfare as field placement centers, will be honored. The school is planning the event to commend the agencies for their contribution to social work education.

East Asia Seminar Set for Wednesday

An East Asia Seminar will be held Wednesday in the Campus Center and will feature a day of speeches, discussions, and group meetings about the countries and cultures in East Asia. It is sponsored by SUNYA's Asian Studies Committee with the support of the Capital District Council of Social Studies and the Center for International Programs and Comparative Studies of the New York State Education Department.

The program will begin with registration at 9 a.m. in the CC Assembly Hall. Morning and afternoon sessions will feature speakers from SUNYA and from SUC Plattsburgh and SUNY Stony Brook. There will also be a luncheon and afternoon group meetings for the area teachers and high school students who are expected to attend.

Tower Tribune

Published weekly when classes are in session by the Community Relations Office as a service to the university community; carries news of campus-wide interest for and about students, faculty, and staff. Submit items in writing 10 days in advance to AD 235. Name and address must be included. All material is subject to editing. For further information call 7-4901. The "Tower Tribune" is printed on recycled paper stock.

"An Introduction to U1108 FORTRAN V" is meant primarily for the person who does not know FORTRAN. Lectures will be held by John Tuecke, Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., in CS 22. They will begin Nov. 7 and continue through Nov. 30.

"Introduction to SPSS" will be a single, two-hour lecture, discussing the capabilities of SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Sciences) and how to use it on the SUNYA U1108. The session will be taught by Robert Pfeiffer from 4 to 6 p.m., tomorrow, in LC 23.

"Introduction to BMD", also taught by Robert Pfeiffer, will discuss the capabilities of BMD (Biomedical Computer Programs) and the SUNYA U1108. The lecture will be given Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 4 to 6 p.m., in LC 23.

"The Statistical Programs of Susanta Guha" will deal with locally written statistical programs including: Multiple Linear Regression Analysis, Stepwise Regression Analysis, and Statistical Package. The originator of the programs will teach the session Tuesday, Nov. 7, from 4 to 6 p.m. in LC 23.

Great Dane Sports

Some 300 runners in three divisions are expected to compete in the sixth annual Cross-Country Invitational here Saturday. The junior college race will start at noon, the varsity at 12:40, and the JV at 1:20.

The top five teams from last year - Syracuse, Central Conn., Colgate, Albany, and Springfield - plus C.W. Post, should vie for the team championship.

Sports Clinics

Two sports clinics are scheduled on campus this week. A two-day field hockey clinic, featuring former coach of the All-England Women's Hockey Association, Jean A. Macheath, concludes with three sessions today. In conjunction with the clinic, Albany will host regular-season field hockey games between Hartwick and Skidmore at 4 p.m. today and between Ithaca and Springfield at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow.

On Sunday afternoon, Dick Sauers will direct his fourth annual basketball clinic for coaches and players. In addition to Dr. Sauers, speakers will be Albany trainer "Spud" Kruzan and Dutchess C.C. coach Elwyn Evans, former coach at Union College.

Exams Curbed On Election Day

Faculty members have been asked to refrain from scheduling examinations on Election Day, Nov. 7, according to a memo from Phillip Sirotkin, executive vice president, to deans and department chairmen. He said, "Since our position is one of encouraging all students to participate actively in and through the electoral process, I believe we should do whatever we can to make such participation feasible."

An earlier memo from SUNY Chancellor Ernest Boyer to campus presidents had vetoed the possibility of suspending classes for the day. It said: "...the primary responsibility of the university is to fulfill its teaching commitment. Each campus, therefore, is obligated to provide instruction for each enrolled student on each class day of the academic calendar."

"...while individual campuses may work out arrangements to accommodate students wishing to participate in political campaigns or other public affairs, it is understood that teaching responsibilities will be met and that withdrawal from academic work by a student is an individual and not an institutional decision."

In making that statement, Chancellor Boyer was reiterating a Board of Trustees policy passed on July 16, 1970.

Basketball coach Dick Sauers greeted eight returning lettermen among 15 candidates last week. Back from last winter's 17-6 team are co-captains John Quattrocchi and Reggie Smith, Byron Miller, Bob Rossi, Werner Kolln, Bob Curtiss, Dave Welchons, and Harry Johnson. The season opens Dec. 2 at Stony Brook.

The women's JV tennis team won five of its first six matches, defeating Siena, FMCC, Cobleskill, Hudson Valley, and RPI, while losing to Potsdam's varsity. Lynn Thompson coaches the team, comprised of captain Beth Smith, Joanna Merritt, Corrie Furst, Jane Sper, Diane Sklar, Karen Kaufmann, Nancy Koenigsberg, Mattie Gollhoffer, Elsa Gorodo, and Marg Bean.

The football team plays a 1:30 p.m. game at Pace College Saturday. The Great Danes shut out Pace, 28-0, in last season's final game.

AMIA Basketball

AMIA basketball meetings are scheduled next week. League IV will meet Monday, Oct. 30, in CC 315; League III, Tuesday, Assembly Hall; League II, Wednesday, CC 315; and League I, Thursday, CC 315. All meetings will start at 3:30 p.m.

Rosters will be due at the meetings. Team roster applications may be obtained in CC 356.

Christmas Party

Tanya Decker, personnel, and Sorrell Chesin, university affairs, co-chairmen of the 1972 annual faculty-staff Christmas party, have announced preliminary arrangements for the event and indicated that a major change in the nature of the party is being planned.

The party is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 8, at the Rowntowner Motor Inn on Wolf Road. A served dinner will replace the buffet-style dinner customary in the past. Elmer Mathews, management and planning, and Bonnie Gorski, personnel, will handle ticket sales and distribution.
