Association is responsible for the establishment and improvement of many features of the State Retirement System; such as the ordinary death benefit, disability allowance, and the right to borrow against contributions - also the insurance of loans. In 1957 CSEA won Social Security coverage on a supplemental basis for state and local government employees. In 1938 it secured a state constitutional amendment to make Retirement System benefits contractual obligation that could not be impaired or reduced. In fact, the founders of CSEA in 1921 were mainly responsible for the establishment of the State Retirement System itself.

CSEA is now striving to increase the ordinary death benefit to a maximum of two years salary and to continue it after retirement also to gain vesting of retirement righs and adequate adjustment in retirement allowances of retirees to enable thm to cope with present living costs. CSEA is also sponsoring other improvements in the State Retirement System.

The CSEA program for retirement improvement merits the active membership support of every state and local government employee. Bring this to the attention of your fellow employees who may not be members.

The 1959 goal is to add 4.500 to the staff. The U.S. Civil Service Commission stressed that the starting appointments at $4,490 a year are regarded as beginning training assignments leading to long-range careers in the management and operation of the growing air traffic control system.

During the next five years, a total of at least 23,000 new air control specialists will be hired and trained by the government. Naturally, those hired first will have the best opportunity for promotion as the staff is enlarged.

Most of these new recruits will be taken from the registers established from the Federal service entrance examination for recruiting college-calibre persons. Previous air control eqperience is not aptitudes for the job.

College graduates, college juntors and seniors-with study in any field-and persons with experience and training the equivalent of a college education are eligible for the Federal service entrance examinations which will be held on February 14, March 14, April 11 and May 9.

Government Accountants Oppose 2 Albany Bills

Federal, State and municipal acorganizations, are opposed to two companion bills to amend the Education Law in relation to the practice of public accountancy and providing for the enrollment of public accountants

These bills were introduced by Senator Earl W. Brydges, Int. 1293, and Assemblyman Sidney H. Asch, Int. 1591, and are considered to be very discriminatory against most governmental accountants, said Hyman Margulies, president of the Society of Municipal Accountants.

THE PUBLIC EMPLOYEE

By JOHN F. POWERS President Civil Service Employees Association

Sheriffs' Fight Still A Selfish One

Last year, just about this time, we vigorously protested the action by the New York State Sheriffs' Association in their effort to prevent the addition of more members to the corps of the State Police. At that time they used the technique of the form letter urging their members to address the Legislature in opposition to a bill which would increase the staff of the troopers from 1,200 to 1,700.

This year they are at it again - not as yet using the form letter technique, as far as we know, but voicing in convention assembled their opposition against an increase in the State Police force. The arguments which they use this year are the same as the ones they used last year.

Interestingly enough, one of the recommendations made by the Sheriffs Association last year was that there be a study of the whole subject. We have recently learned that such a study has been completed by the office of the State Budget Director and turned over to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. This study recommends not only an increase in the size of the police force but other changes for the betterment of the service. It could possibly be that Governor Rockefeller was prompted by this study to ask for additional money for the State Police in this years' budget.

The Civil Service Employees Association answered the Sheriff's Association opposition this year through the press and television. In addition, as this is an old problem, we think it apt to reprint our column of Feb. 25, 1958. There is a slight difference in circumstances but no difference in basic principals.

What We Said Last Year

Recently some shocking documents came into our possession. They included a statement of policy adopted by the New York State Sheriffs' Association at a meeting held in Syracuse on January 11, and a copy of a mimeographed letter which that association sent to all of the sheriffs throughout the State.

We do not question the right of any organization to adopt resolutions or attitudes upon any question, but when the resolution or attitude runs counter to what we firmly believe, we have a right and a duty to speak our mind.

Oppose Increase In Troopers

The Sheriff's Association is opposed to any increase in the force of the State police. They frankly say so in the form letter sent to their members urging them to write to the legislators in opposition to the bill increasing the State police force from 1,200 to 1,700. The Sheriffs' Association calls the bill "harmful." And in their resolutions adopted in January they urge "before any action is taken to increase the present authorized strength of the State Police" that a study be made of he whole problem. In public practice, to urge "a study" of any question by any administrative or legislative group is to consign it for a long soujourn in the limbo of forgotten issues. It is an unsurpassed technique of procrastination.

Why State Police Were Formed

The State police were formed in this State because of the public protest that local law enforcement agencies in the rural areas had broken down. The State police have earned well nigh universal approval and confidence from public administrators and private citizens alike. There has been widespread editorial support for the increase of their staff and function.

In the vast majority of the counties, the sheriff and his deputies are not trained police officers. They admit this themselves in one of their form letters when they criticize "some district attorneys" for "saying hey need more (BCI) troopers assigned to their offices to do their investigating." Their self-indictment is in the next two sentences. "Why not," they say in answer to the DA's "deputy aheriffs instead? If a trooper can be trained to investigate, so too can a deputy sheriff."

A Source of Political Patronage

In the middle ages in English history, the office of sheriff was an important factor in the social order. The coming of the industrial revolution, the rise of cities, and the attending technological developments in transportation, diminished its function and importance, Under the old "fee system" it degenerated and became a source of public scandal. It is still at a low ebb-being mainly used in many places as a source and outlet for political patronage.

We are confident that the selfish, short-sighted plea of the Sheriffs' Association will fall on deaf ears, The Sheriffs' Association is overstepping its function when it seeks to dictate the size of the State police force and to oppose much needed increases in staff. The citizens of this state are well aware of the desperate need for additional well-trained State police officers and we are confident that their views will prevail in the legislature.

A Stiffer Ethics Code

THE NEW Code of Ethics for New York City government officers and employees would establish stiffer standards than exist now in the City and be even more demanding than the standards applicable to Federal and nesday, February 18. New York State employees.

The Council's Special Committee on Ethics and Hearings to Start Standards has made four main recommendations:

- 1. The revision and clarification of Section 886 of City Charter, the section in which the present Code of Ethics appears.
- 2. The adoption by Local Law of a Code of Ethics as part of the Administrative Code.
- The creation by Local Law of a Board of Ethics for officers and employees.
- 4. Adoption of a Local Law prohibiting former officials from appearing before city agencies on behalf of private interests for a period of two years on matters in which they participated while in public office.

Did Painstaking Job

The committee made a thorough study of the whole COURSES AT LIU subject and strove to be reasonable while still protecting the City from possible conflict of interest by those to be affected. In some respects such considerations are likely to prove irreconcilable, so a compromise is necessary, and one is offered. The proposal offers an improvement, and Brooklyn. is so well documented and supported that its main provisions are likely to be followed. However, a new code can go too far. While one of the reasons a Code of Ethics came up again was that some Councilmen had exceeded propriety, the present proposal, if carried out, would prevent a Councilman even from appearing before a City board, or agency, in favor of or opposition to some project on behalf of his constituents. If the restriction were against making any such representation for hire there could be no objection.

The proposed Code should carefully define in detail those to whom any particular bar does not apply. For instance, the two-year prohibition should exclude spokesmen for employee organizations. These groups do not normally fall into the category of private interests, but in some instances engage in cooperative undertakings, like housing projects, which could be misconstrued as private interest under a strict and narrow interpretation.

Ample opportunity will be afforded the public to make suggestions, before any new Code is adopted.

Federal Income Tax

By H. J. BERNARD

MANY PUBLIC employees drive their own cars on official business for the employer. They are entitled to exclude this amount from income if they account in detail for it to their employer, or, if the employer follows a standard practice approved by the Internal Revenue Service, or keeps within the Federal Government's formula, no accounting is necessary. This formula is 121/4 cents a mile for car operation and $15 a day for ordinary expenses paid or incurred in travel and includes meals and lodging. These amounts are maximum. Any excess is subject to the accounting requirement, unless the practice of allowing the larger amount is specifically approved by the LRS.

The necessity of accounting in general for all expenses, transportation or otherwise, before they are allowed as offset, is paramount, in the absence of Federal Government-approved exception. Otherwise the money received must be included as income, and tax paid on it.

An accounting would consist of a written statement showing the amount of expenses, and their nature and the business nature involved as well.

Deductible Taxes

Some, but not all, taxes are deductible. The State income tax paid for the year 1958 is deductible in full, and this will be true of the amounts to be withheld by New York State after April 1, 1959, under the new State Income Tax Law, a deduction applicable next year in 1960 against 1959 income.

As there will be no State income tax for 1958; no deduction will be possible on this score, as no payment will be made of State tax, so that your absolute Federal income tax will be higher on that account, which affects you now, In no real sense, however, is the State income tax for 1958 to be considered as forgiven, in final analysis, as what the State doesn't take now, from 1958 income, it takes later, from 1959 income, as the widely disseminated facts on the new State tax program abundantly proves, with the tax amount for the standard family-husband, wife, and one child-assuming same income, exemptions and deductions, rises a little less than 50 percent.

You have to die to win under the new State Income Tax Law because anybody who dies on or after April 1, 1959, and on or before December 31, 1959, would have paid no State income tax for 1958, the same as anybody else, and the new withholding under the State law doesn't start until April 1, 1959. Under the old, or present plan, a person who died by the end of 1959 would be paid up on his tax only through 1958, and any amount due would have to be paid as against 1958 liability.

Nearly all public employees operate on a cash instead of an accrual basis, meaning that they charge personal expenses when paid and credit income when received, instead of charging debts when incurred and establishing credits when earned. Thus they deduct taxes in the year when paid, not the year in which they

Real estate, personal property and State income taxes are deductible, but only if imposed on you, not if you pay a tax somebody else owes. Only the real estate owner may deduct real estate taxes, and these are fully deductible, not subject to the reduction applicable to the running expenses of income-producing real estate. the ratio of the rent-paying tenant's occupancy to the total possible occupancy.

Sales taxes are deductible, a ratable factor in the case of New York City residents. An auto license fee and an auto registration fee, as well as a driver's or chauffeur's license, are deductible as taxes. Auto inspection fees are not.

Social Security taxes paid by the employer are deductible by him, but the employee can not deduct such taxes that he pays to himself. Federal income, estate, and gift taxes are not deductible, nor are hunting licenses, nor even marriage licenses, nor are Federal excise taxes on personal expenditures, as theatre admissions, furs, jewelry, cosmetics, telephone, transportation, wines or liquors.

The Only Break'

Under the new plan, State taxes for 1958 would be paid in full, though withholding in 1959, and if one dies by the end of I UNDERSTAND that the max- abled and is drawing disability MY SON supported me until 1959, nothing is due. As the only payment to be made in simum earning creditable under insurance from social security, he became too ill to work. At the death cases is against 1958 tax debt, and as there is no such debt, nothing is to be paid. That is about the only "break" the taxpayer gets under the New State Income Tax Law. Death between now and April 1, however, profits the taxpayer nothing,

The tax discussed is the State income tax imposed only, if at all, on the income of the taxpayer, hence relates to the time when he is alive. It has nothing to do with estate taxes, which relate to amounts left by persons already dead.

Some Concession on Pensions

Pensioners are governed by a recent amendment to the Internal Revenue Code that continues limited tax exemption but on a basis spread out over a period of years, and finally coming to a halt, after one has recovered the amount of his contributions. This discussion deals only with joint contributory systems; all public employee systems now fall into that category, for all new entrants, and even for most old-timers, as the fullyemployer paid systems accept no new members.

The limited tax ex mption, when it does apply, requires some information and computation. You have to know the total amount of your contributions. This fact is disclosed to you on or prior to retirement, but you can always get the figure, after retirement, from your retirement system. The interest paid you on your annuity account is not a part of your contribution. In fact, when paid, or credited to your account, it is quite the opposite to an item of deduction, constituting instead income to be reported in Form 1040 under the heading of Interest, in Page 2.

Better find out, should this means of tax-saving be applicable to you, as a pre-1939 member.

The test on limited tax exemption is based on recovery of your investment in three years or less. Under most public employee retirement systems full recovery takes place within three years.

The time begins to run from the date of the first retirement allowance check. There is no tax at all on the amount received until you have fully recovered your cost. After that the pension money received is fully taxable. Previously limited tax exemption ran on continuously. An example appears in the next column.
