President Jesse B. McFarland of the Civil Service Employees Association (left) congratulates Joseph J. Byrnes, treasurer of the NYC chapter, at the monthly meeting of the chapter, which was designated Joe Byrnes night. Treasurer 12 years, a State employee 19 years, Mr. Byrnes was praised by Mr. McFarland for exceptional service to the Association and the chapter. Center, Solomon Bendet, president of the chapter.

Representatives of various State institutions are shown at the reallocation hearing on industrial shop worker and related titles, held in Albany March 5. The Civil Service Employees Association helped the employees to present a strong case.

Hearing Held on Raising Pay Of Industrial Shop Workers

ALBANY, March 9 — A hearing was held on March 5 in the State Office Building, Albany, on the appeal for upward allocation of the jobs of industrial shop workers and related titles. The eight titles, present and requested allocations are:

- Supervising seamstress, G-4 — G-7.
- Head seamstress, G-6—G-9.
- Tailor, G-5—G-7.
- Supervising tailor, G-6—G-9.
- Industrial shop worker, G-5—G-8.
- Head industrial shop worker, G-8—G-11.
- Shoemaker, G-5—G-8.
- Upholsterer, G-7—G-9.

Lawrence MacArthur, Assistant Director of the Division of Classification and Compensation, presided, assisted by Robert Doolittle, senior personnel technician.

Because of the wide variety of titles, each title or group of titles was taken up individually after opening remarks by Emil Bollman, head industrial shop worker, Rockland State Hospital; Henry Galpin, salary research analyst, the Civil Service Employees Association, and William Gallahan, director of personnel of the Mental Hygiene Department.

In addition to the general comments made by them concerning all the jobs, each spoke briefly on the individual positions.

Other employees who spoke in favor of upward allocation: Glen Teeter, head industrial shop worker, Dannemora State Hospital; Charles Funk, industrial shop worker, Creedmoor State Hospital; Walter Weaver, industrial shop worker, Binghamton State Hospital; Anthony Constantino, shoemaker, Middletown State Hospital; Anton Eiskant, upholsterer, Rockland State Hospital; Louise Batsford, head seamstress, Binghamton State Hospital; Laura Stout, supervising seamstress, Middletown State Hospital; Clara Keller, head seamstress, Middletown State Hospital, and Paul Hayes, supervising tailor, Middletown State Hospital.

Main Points

Several others pointed out particular aspects of their work in relationship to their grade or salary level in State service.

The major points brought out by the employees follow:

1. The pay levels of the various jobs were not commensurate with the skills required, in lieu of the high quality of work that was put out in the institutions, as well as the very substantial quantity. This work saves the taxpayers thousands of dollars annually, and the State simply would not be able to operate effectively if the finished goods produced by these employees had to be bought on the outside.

2. The job specifications call for the repairing of a wide variety of items, but were a wholly inadequate description of the work. The word "rebuild" better describes the work done.

3. Employees who work in these titles perform an invaluable function to the patients under their supervision, and patients are trained in a trade so that when they return to normal life they have an additional means of support.

4. A large variety of skills was required, and a great deal of resourcefulness and initiative needed by employees.

5. Unpleasant working conditions exist, including the "institutional atmosphere."

6. Comparison was made with various tradesman positions in State service, and to show that the appellants' work warrants an upgrading to a comparable level with these other jobs.

Speedy Approval Asked

The employees presented a strong case, backed up by specific illustrations.

Extensive statistical data were submitted by the Civil Service Employees Association concerning what similar types of employment pay in private industry, substantiating the requests made by the employees.

A speedy favorable decision was requested.

Assn. Tries to Get Bill for Raise Out Of Committees

ALBANY, March 9 — Every effort is being made by the Civil Service Employees Association to get its bill for a 10 percent salary increase for State employees out of the committees to which they were referred. In the Senate it is the Finance Committee and in the Assembly the Ways and Means Committee.

Time Is Short

The last day for this to happen in the Assembly is tomorrow (Tuesday), but for such a result in the Senate there is more time, at least to the end of this week. Hence, if the Senate committee reports the bill out, and the Senate passes the bill, it would be possible for the Assembly to consider the Senate's bill.

Another alternative would be to seek to have the committees discharged, which would throw the question to a vote on the floor of each House. However, the introducer of the bill in each House would have to make the motion. Assemblyman Orin S. Wilcox, one of the introducers, was away from Albany because of the death of his father. The other introducer is Senator Seymour Halpern.

A bill so discharged would have little chance of getting anywhere.

Some Hope on Freeze

There was some hope that the prospects of obtaining a freeze of emergency compensation into base pay would be looked upon more favorably by the State Administration, because enactment would not cost any additional money. The strong campaign waged by the Association has had an effect on the State Administration and legislators. There is also a prospect that a substantial sum might be made available for upward reallocation of certain titles.

Good Attendance For Assn. Dinner

ROCHESTER, March 6 — Delegates of the Civil Service Employees Association registered at the Hotel Powers today for the annual meeting and dinner which takes place tomorrow (Saturday).

Registration showed that the attendance this year would be about the same as last year, but this time everybody will be accommodated on the main floor for the dinner.

Besides hearing speakers tomorrow night, the diners will witness a "stunt" show, written and staged by Association members.

The main speakers at the dinner are Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe and Social Welfare Commissioner Rober Lansdale. John E. Holt-Harris Jr., associate counsel to the Association, is toastmaster.

The morning meeting will hear a report from the legislative committee, of which John F. Powers, 1st vice president, is chairman.

Full details in next weeks issue.

Senior Pharmacy Inspectors Lose Appeal for Raise

ALBANY, March 9 — The appeal for holders of the senior pharmacy inspector title for increase from the present G-19 salary grade of $4,814 to $5,938 (total), has been denied by J. Earl Kelly, Director of Classification and Compensation.

He temporarily increased statewide the salary of director of alcoholism research to $8,410 total, effective February 1.

Four New Titles

Four titles were added to the State service (total pay and effective date given):

Civil defense engineering assistant, G-20; $4,964 to $6,088; 3-1-53.

Deputy superintendent and counsel, G-46; $11,925 to $14,223; 4-1-53.

Director of alcoholism research, G-32; $7,754 to $9,394; 2-1-53.

Supervisor of education, G-30; $7,277 to $8,707; 4-1-53.

Four Titles Eliminated

The following titles have been eliminated as they are no longer in use:

Carpet layer, G-5; $2,611 to $3,411; 4-1-53.

Engineer of location and design, G-46; $11,925 to $14,223; 3-1-53.

Senior housefather, G-8; $3,091 to $3,891; 3-1-53.

Welfare training consultant, G-25; $6,088 to $7,421; 4-1-52.

H. ELIOT KAPLAN TO REVIEW DISABILITY CLAIMS

H. Eliot Kaplan, former Deputy State Comptroller, has been named a special referee to review disability claims for the State of New York. Mr. Kaplan is also the counsel to the committee investigating social security possibilities for public employees, set up recently by Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern.

Bill Retaining Bonus Signed By Dewey

ALBANY, March 9 — Governor Dewey signed two bills continuing the temporary pay increase now being paid to State workers.

The bills do not increase the take-home-pay of such employees. They continue, however, the supplemental emergency compensation now being made over base salaries.

The Governor also signed a bill to extend the State Defense Emergency Act. This law, enacted two years ago, gives the State government broad powers for dismissal of State employees for any action deemed contrary to the State welfare. It was amended this year to allow State employees brought up on charges under the law to be represented by counsel.

Bill Would Raise Temporary Steno Pay

ALBANY, March 9 — Two bills affecting public employees were introduced in the State Legislature last week.

S.I.2821 and A.I.3139, introduced by the Rules Committee of each house, would increase from $20 to $30 a day the pay for temporary stenographers of the Supreme Court, employed when an official stenographer is not present at a Trial Term or Special Term. The measure was referred to the Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

A bill to exempt from jury service in NYC any officer or employee of the U. S. Post Office on the written request of the Postmaster was referred to the Assembly Judiciary Committee. The measure, A.I.3149, was also introduced by the Rules Committee.

Progress Report On Assn. Bills

ALBANY, March 9 — With the State Legislature aiming at a closing date around March 20, the tempo of activity on the Hill speeded last week. Twelve measures, either introduced or endorsed by the Civil Service Employees Association, were passed by the Senate. They include:

S.I.1924, W. J. Mahoney, extends to March 1955 provision for supplemental pension to provide a total retirement allowance of $1,200 or less at the rate of $40 for each year of service not to exceed 30. Must have at least 15 years' service to qualify. This is the bill proposed by the Administration. It will be supported by the Association only if it becomes apparent that its own bill cannot be passed.

S.I.2069, BAUER, continues to July 1, 1954 provision permitting members of the Retirement System absent in military service to borrow from their accumulated contributions.

S.I.2156, DESMOND, amends present law to provide that option may be selected at any time before the effective date of retirement. Present law requires election of option to be at least 30 days before effective date.

S.I.2193, HORTON, continues to July 1, 1954 the provision that accidental disability pensioner may earn the difference between his retirement allowance and the present salary of the position from which he retired without reduction of retirement benefits.

S.I.2211, HULTS, permits member of Retirement System who has additional contributions on deposit to purchase additional annuity or withdraw the extra contributions.

S.I. 2280, NEDDO, continues to July 1, 1954 provision permitting additional annuity contributions at 50 percent of normal rate on first $7,500 of salary.

Other measures affecting public employees which passed the Senate last week were: S.I.430, Manning; S.I.951, Halpern; S.I.2182, Halpern; S.I.2309, Van Lare, S.I. 2392, Campbell, and S.I.1542, Halpern.

Cities Grant Pay Increases

Cincinnati granted all employees a five percent raise on January 1, the International City Managers' Association reports. A survey revealed that industrial pay rates in the area were up five percent during 1952, despite a very modest increase in the cost of living. A percentage increase instead of a straight dollar increase was used, to maintain supervisory pay differentials.

In Toledo, the City increased the pay of employees $80 a year under an annual cost-of-living adjustment program.

A plan for giving City employees merit salary increases has been instituted in White Plains, N. Y. The merit program requires annual review of the work of each employee to determine whether he ought to receive a merit increase for work over the normal call to duty. Under this program, a merit salary increase can amount to $200 a year more than the salary set by automatic increases.

Lebanon, Mo., at the end of 1952, gave each City employee $120 if the employee had been with the City for the full year. Employees with less than a year's employment were given $10 a month for each month worked. The City informed its employees that a similar payment would be forthcoming at the end of 1953, depending upon savings made by departments, changes in the cost of living, and the City's ability to pay.

Mullaney Elected Head Of Correction Conference; Some Problems Settled

ALBANY, March 9 — The New York State Department of Correction Civil Service Conference held its semi-annual meeting on February 17 and 18 at the Wellington Hotel, Albany.

Charles Lamb, Sing Sing Prison Conference president, presided. The following officers and delegates representing the entire personnel of the Correction Department, answered roll call: John Mullaney, Auburn, vice president; Alice Wagner, Albion State Training School, secretary; Harry Dillon, Auburn, chairman, pension committee; Rose Ann McCarthy, Albion State Training School; Harry Joyce, Attica; Kenneth Ward, Auburn; Raymond Marohn, Cossackie; Harold Corcoran, Clinton; Albert Foster, Dannemora; Edward O'Leary, Elmira; John Leahy, Great Meadow; Cornelius Rush, Greenhaven; Foster Way, Matteawan; Arthur Drew, Napanoch; James Adams, Sing Sing; Peter Walsh, Wallkill; William Nelligan, Westfield, and Jack Solod, Woodbourne.

Unique, Successful Method
On Tuesday, February 17, the delegates in caucus received reports from the officers and committees. Delegates then resolved the various problems submitted, which were placed on the agenda for the Conference officers to present to the Commissioners of the Correction Department for clarification, interpretation or recommendations.

These meetings of employees and departmental heads are a unique method among State employees and, as far as can be determined, are used only in the Correction Department. Many problems are solved immediately during these meetings and the system has been praised by the Civil Service Commission, the grievance committee board and the Civil Service Employees Association as a model of genuine employer — employee relationship.

The delegates recorded their approval and support of the recommendations of the Prison Association of New York.

"The prison riots of 1952 have shown the failure of the public to heed many of the surface indications of approaching trouble," the Prison Association stressed.

"At the very heart of the problem is the somewhat abstract subject of the psychological impact of imprisonment."

It is felt that boredom, routine and monotony of prison life give rise to uneasiness and unrest.

Legislative Goals

Some of the recommendations submitted by the Prison Association in its annual report to the 1953 Legislature were:

- (1). Legislative support for a more coordinated program in the State Correctional System.
- (2). Civil service status be provided to all personnel of Correctional institutions where such is not presently the case.
- (3). The responsibilities of correctional personnel, particularly those in custodial capacity, should be so classified as to make them eligible for adequate pension plans.
- (4). Establishment of an advisory committee on correctional industries.
- (5). Legislative support for mobilization of prison manpower and facilities in the interest of national defense.
- (6). Improvement of salary scales and pension plans for correctional personnel.

Knapp Report to Be Studied

A committee consisting of William F. McDonough of the Civil Service Employees Association; Jack Solod, delegate, Woodbourne Prison, and Raymond Marohn, delegate, N. Y. State Vocational Institute, was appointed to explore the Knapp report in detail, especially any aspects in which the present methods of promotion of uniformed personnel may be endangered.

On Wednesday, February 18, election of officers was held. Mr. Lamb resigned as president, after being elected Correction Department representative on the board of directors of the Civil Service Employees Association. John Mullaney, former vice president, was elected president; Cornelius Rush, vice president, and Rose Ann McCarthy, secretary.

The newly-elected officers accompanied the outgoing officers to a conference with Commissioner Edward J. Donovan, and Deputy Commissioners William E. Leonard and Paul D. McGinnis.

Many problems discussed received final disposition immediately, but others, due to the complexity of their nature, are to be investigated more thoroughly be-

Hurd to Pass On Changes in A. & M. Jobs

ALBANY, March 9 — State Budget Director T. Norman Hurd is studying a plan for reorganization of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Involving a total of 561 positions, the proposals for reorganization come from the Department of Civil Service's Classification and Compensation Division.

Of the total positions, the division recommends no change in 313, or 56 per cent of the jobs surveyed.

Changes of Title

Another 155 jobs are recommended for change in title only. In these cases it is felt the descriptive title is not quite accurate.

For the remainder 10 jobs are recommended for downward reclassification, 24 for downward re-allocation, 16 for upward reclassification, and two for upward re-allocation.

When a job is reallocated it retains its title but gets a new pay grade. When it is reclassified it gets a new title and may or may not get a new pay grade. In the cases cited the reclassifications result in different pay grades also.

Other Proposed Changes

No information is obtainable, pending decision of the Budget Director, on the pay and titles proposed for reclassification.

The 24 downward reallocations, however, are distributed among three titles — dog license investigator, market reporter and senior market reporter.

Dog license investigators are lowered from Grade 11, $3,571 to $4,372, to Grade 7, $2,931 to $3,731.

Market reporters are dropped from Grade 16, $4,359 to $5,189, to Grade 15, $4,206 to $5,039. Senior market reporters are recommended for reduction from Grade 20, $4,964 to $6,088, to Grade 19, $4,814 to $5,938.

The two upward reallocations proposed are for milk control hearing representative, now in Grade 16 and recommended for Grade 18 or $4,664 to $5,601, and supervising inspector of weights and measures, now G-15, proposed for G-16.

Per Diem Jobs

Of the remaining 41 jobs not covered, 28 are per diem. These are recommended for annual pay rates. Eleven more are exempt jobs and are recommended for changes in title only. Two more are proposed for deletion. They are now vacant.

All persons concerned with the contemplated reorganization have been notified of the changes sought, and have had an opportunity to file objections. Hearings have been conducted. The matter is now up to Mr. Hurd.

Hearing Held on Higher Key Punch Operator Pay; Employees' Case Strong

ALBANY, March 9 — The Division of Classification and Compensation held a well attended hearing on the reallocation of the position of office machine operator (key punch) from grade 2 to grade 4, on February 26. David Price, associate personnel technician, Civil Service Department, presided. He was assisted by Richard Mills, F. Henry Galpin, Association research analyst, presented the bulk of the case for the employees. About 100 attended. Numerous employees spoke in favor of this upward allocation and the reasons for it.

The Association presented the following information in support of this upward allocation:

The position of key punch operator was more readily identifiable with similar work in private employment than almost any other position in State service. Therefore, the problem of knowing whether or not like work was being performed in the State is not difficult to determine. It was pointed out that not only do private employers pay higher salaries for this work, but also other public jurisdiction, including subdivisions of New York State.

Outside Pay Compared

The following is a tabulation of what other public jurisdictions pay key punch operators:

- Rochester, $2,300 to $2,800.
- Monroe, $2,400 to $2,800.
- Syracuse, $2,520 to $3,000.
- New York City (Griffenhagen, recommend), $2,200 to $2,800.
- Westchester, $2,400 to $3,000.
- Federal, $2,750 to $3,230.
- Erie, $2,750 to $3,050.
- Connecticut (Barrington), $2,340 to $2,820.
- New Jersey, $2,160 to $2,760.
- California—Key Punch 1, $2,520 to $2,916. Key Punch 2, $2,772 to $3,372. Key Punch Super., $3,720 to $4,512.

It was pointed out that, almost without exception, other public employers started their key punch operators at a higher rate than does New York State.

The Association pointed out that private employers also pay higher salaries for this work, and that this had been substantiated in the 1952 survey that was conducted by the Civil Service Department itself.

U. S. Report

During 1952, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics published the results of wage surveys made in many of the major labor market areas within the state. The findings of this survey for the occupation of key punch operator is as follows:

- Area, Dollars Per Week, Month '52
- Albany, Schenectady, Troy $49, March.
 - Rochester, $47, January.
 - NYC, $49.50, January.
 - Buffalo, $47.50, January.
 - Erie County, $47.00, January.
 - Niagara County, $52.50, January.

A survey was made by the Association of some major employers in the Capital District area to find out what they paid key punch operators. It was found that starting salaries for this work ranged from $2,470 to $2,912. The actual findings are as follows: A, $2,496; B, $2,470; C, $2,912; D, $2,600; E, $2,548.

This job, in addition to requiring an operator to be a good typist, plus having special training, requires a high degree of physical effort and mental concentration in order to perform the work effectively. The employees who spoke at the hearing stressed the nervousness and eyestrain involved on the job, and pointed out that the State, because of the salary paid on the job, was unable to recruit experienced key punch operators, and therefore, almost without exception, those who perform this work for the State are trained by the State. The reason for this, it seems clear, is that the salary is not attractive enough to bring experienced operators in from private industry when it is necessary to recruit.

Overtime Compulsory

It was pointed out at the hearing that, contrary to the practice in private employment of having overtime on a voluntary basis, extra work is compulsory. Furthermore, contrary to practice in private employment, straight time rates or compensatory time off is paid instead of time and a half as required by law in private industry. It was also pointed out that because of the nature of the work, a very high degree of accuracy was required. Production quotas were discussed at length by the employees and their significance in terms of physical and mental strain. This discussion on production requirements pointed up the statement that this job was similar to that in private employment. One employee stated: "This position should not be a training field for private industry." It was pointed out that since 1941, the Division of Employment had trained over 2,500 key punch operators.

In his summation, Mr. Galpin strongly urged the Division of Classification and Compensation to grant this upward allocation so the State would be on an equal plane with private employers. He stated that he felt it was undesirable to have a salary level that discouraged public employ.

Some of Other Speakers

Some of the employees who spoke were Anne Sklar, Mary Gordon and Ada Mink, May Crowe, Lorna Glander, Division of Employment; Dorothea Sadelmyer, Motor Vehicle Bureau; Charlotte Burgess, Tax and Finance; Helen Lugg, Retirement; Sue Long and Vivian Globow, Taxation and Finance; Clara Foster, Audit and Control, and Emily Smith.

City Conducts Mail Campaign For Candidates

A direct mail campaign is being used by the Personnel Department of Kansas City, Mo., to recruit citizens for City employment, the Civil Service Assembly reports.

Every Friday the department selects 100 names at random from the telephone directory and sends them information about job opportunities with the City government. One week the names may all begin with "B", the next week "C", and so on through the directory.

A letter pointed out good employees are needed for good government. A list of current vacancies is also included. The person is asked to cooperate by passing along the information about City job to friends and relatives.

A handbook, "Your City Government Merit System," is also sent. The handbook describes the purpose of civil service, how to qualify for a job with the City, and conditions of employment, such as hours, salaries, and paid vacations.

The department also is using newspaper classified advertising to feature especially hard-to-fill jobs that have a large number of vacancies.

In its weekly bulletin announcing current employment opportunities, the department lists many of the benefits of the City merit system, including permanent tenure, opportunities for experience and training, promotion and sick leave, social security coverage, and credit union facilities.

Announcements of exams for City job openings are posted in the City Hall lobby, the post office, the State Employment Service office, and in libraries and other public buildings.

New Uniforms Ordered For Women Attendants In Mental Hygiene Dept.

ALBANY, March 9—It's all set. The uniforms for female attendants in the State Department of Mental Hygiene have been approved, and specifications have gone forth to manufacturers.

The department allowed its several thousand women employees to express their opinion of a proposed uniform. There was plenty of objection. The department says that four out of five want the uniform as now redesigned. The changes weren't terrific, the department feels, but they were made when advisability was proved. Also, the department likes the democratic way in which the problem was solved.

Statement by Mrs. Farrar

The departmental sentiment, and bit of gloating, is contained in the following notification from Mrs. Margaret M. Farrar, chairman of its special committee on attendants' uniforms:

"Well, girls, this is it — your new uniform — just the way you wanted it.

"The specifications may seem complicated and very detailed, but that is for your protection. They are intended for the manufacturer, and every precaution has been taken to insure the best materials, first class workmanship, and good fit.

"When we submitted the new design for your comments last fall, we felt that approval by a majority of the attendants would be a good democratic basis for establishing the new uniform. We expected, of course, that there would be a minority who preferred something else. As we pointed out, nobody would be foolish enough to expect to please several thousand women with the same dress.

"But your reaction was so decidedly in favor of the proposed design that we feel we've come as close as anyone possibly could to pleasing everybody. The vote showed that four out of every five want this uniform!

Calls Changes Minor

"Of course there were some suggestions for minor changes, which we were glad to get. Two of these were made by a number of people and seemed very sensible to us. Both have been accepted and the pattern has been changed accordingly. Instead of the French style cuff with exaggerated points we now have a simple turned back wing cuff (pointed in the center), which is much more practical. Another change is the insertion of an extra smaller pocket inside the large skirt pocket. This will serve to keep your keys separated from other objects. (We had no objection to a second pocket on the skirt as many requested, but it would have interfered with the placket.)

"What about price? Well, we understand that the wholesale price will be about the same as for the old uniform, but the collar will have to be purchased separately. (Confidentially, with the full skirt and top quality material you'll be getting a lot more for your money.) The variation in retail price is something over which there can be no control. You, the consumer, can control it by buying your uniforms where the price is lowest. If the uniform meets specifications, the quality will be good whatever the price.

Delivery Soon

"Since the new uniform has just been officially adopted this week, the manufacturers have not yet had an opportunity to make them up. You can look for them soon, however, since they will be working at top speed to produce them for you. Also, if you will just be patient, there will eventually be half sizes for those who need them. Since this may take some time, you should get the nearest regular size for now.

"As for us, we can't wait to see it on you. We sincerely believe you'll find this uniform comfortable and practical as well as attractive — and we feel sure you'll be happy with it. We know you'll be proud of it because — remember — you designed it!"

Fire-Fighters Deserve Gas Mask Protection

A Senate committee is considering a bill which provides that at least two gas masks be made available for each company or squad of paid firemen appointed from civil service lists. It is to be hoped that if the committee acts before this issue of The LEADER appears that the action is favorable. The Assembly has already voted the bill. The cost of providing the necessary safeguard would be small. If the Senate passes the bill, too, Governor Dewey is likely to approve it.

The reasons for adoption are compelling. In private industry, employers are required by State law to provide such safeguards, if their employees' health is subject to danger by inhalation. How much greater is the danger of the fire-fighter, who knowingly risks his life in burning buildings where suffocating smoke abounds, is obvious. What is not so obvious is why government takes so long to provide for its own employees the same benefits it requires private employers to furnish. Enactment is therefore long overdue.

The fire-fighting organizations, including the Uniformed Fire Officers Association, the Uniformed Firemen's Association, and the New York State Fire Fighters Association, have worked hard to obtain passage of this legislation. Their cause is so worthy that the public may be assumed to want the safeguard provided even as much as do the fire-fighters themselves. Unnecessary hazards to its employees are nothing that the public ever knowingly countenanced.

The bill should be enacted even if special consideration has to be given to it, after ordinary legislative time limits have expired.

COMMENT

DEVOTION TO DUTY— BUT ABOUT A RAISE?

Editor, The LEADER:

For a man 60 years of age who has seen a great deal of life, and whose career comprised 30 years of outside selling and 12 years of office work, it's amazing to see the devotion to duty shown by employees all around me, in my present position as clerk in a State department office.

In spite of the unfair wage rate, my very efficient co-workers carry on with a dogged determination in the hope that some day their efforts will be rewarded.

Knowing the opportunities that abound in outside industry, where these same workers could often double their present income, I search my soul for a reason why they stay on, and my only conclusion is that, in addition to security, their urge is to dedicate their working years to a career in public service. The sense of satisfaction they may enjoy is a factor, but I trust that fact won't be used against them on pay matters.

It is common logic to be a little more considerate of the plea of those in civil service and grant them a reasonable pay increase, thereby creating an incentive and insuring their continued efficient service.

U. S. 'BLANKETING OUT' HAILED AS RETRIBUTION

Editor, The LEADER:

Your March 3 issue carried a glory headlined "Eisenhower

Would Replace Many Permanent Employees with Patronage Appointees."

Did you ever hear of the Rampspeck Act? It was patronage employees of 1936 to 1950 who were blanketed in—no examinations, no nothing, simply fill in your name and possibly your previous jobs. And this during the depression, also, when the civil service registers were filled with names of qualified eligibles who had arrived according to civil service rules by first having the necessary qualifications to be admitted to a particular exam and secondly by obtaining a passing grade and getting their names on the register. I know, because I was on three similar registers which did not move because of those favored ones blanketed in.

Well here's hoping that the present beneficiaries of such largesse will be blanketed out very fast. At one time 300,000 of them went in. Remember?

DISGUSTED.

D.D.S. IS A DOCTOR, TOO, NOT A TOOTH CARPENTER

Editor, The LEADER:

In perusing your March 3 issue, I noticed your reference to six new veteran hospitals. You refer to "doctors and dentists." I believe that it would be better to refer to "physicians and dentists." Most copy readers are now conforming to that expression. After all, we dentists are doctors and no longer teeth carpenters.

CIVIL SERVICE

NEWS Letter

NEW PRESIDENT of the Upper Hudson Association of Phi Beta Kappa is Charles H. Foster, formerly of the State Budget Director's office, now on the administrative staff of the State University. He's active in the affairs of the Civil Service Employees Association . . . J. Russel Sprague, former County Executive of Nassau, and long Republican national committeeman from New York, gets in excess of $10,000 a year from the State Employees Retirement System as pensioner . . . When new U. S. agencies were created in the forties, often they were largely staffed by permanent employees transferred from some other agency. That's how the new units got started with experienced personnel. Now that reorganization cuts sharply into some of these agencies, such as National Production Authority and Office of Defense Mobilization, the permanent employees affected have a complaint. They have reemployment rights in their former departments, and the complaint is that it's difficult, and sometimes impossible, to exercise them. However, a satisfactory solution has been informally promised.

THREE DIVISIONS of the NYC Fire Department are set to get the 42-hour week beginning April 1, affecting all boroughs excepting Richmond. One of the divisions is in Brooklyn, with an overlap in Queens, and two are in Manhattan, one with overlap in the Bronx. . . . Just in case Fire Commissioner Jacob Grumet does get a Bench appointment, two eager beavers for his job are 3rd Deputy Fire Commissioner Albert S. Pacetta and Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott.

NYC Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan followed the advice of departmental brass in his handling of the civil rights issue and now regrets it. . . . Governor Thomas E. Dewey has the most uncanny sources of information in guiding him on disposition of bills passed by the Legislature. If somebody opposed some project years ago, and now everybody who communicates with him is in favor of it, the Governor's office writes the dissenter for a full expression of his views. This holds even if the dissenter is a public official whose boss favors the measure. (P.S. The Governor gets replies, too, that are highly informative).

DECISION made last Friday at NYC Civil Service Commission office is not to sue Bruce Smith for libel because he charged the Commission conspired to get unqualified men appointed to the Police Department. Decision followed advice of friends that public officials are expected to stand the gaff and shoot back under their own power, instead of bothering the courts with these quarrels. Commission was burned up also over Smith's charge that a man appointed patrolman though 70 pounds overweight, particularly repetition of the charge after the Commission explained the overweight occurred between the time of the Commission's and Police Department's medical tests, and the eligible was not appointed until down to normal.

STRONG UNDERCURRENTS are sweeping through three NYC departments over the bill to exempt cellar residents from ouster for three years. One Commissioner (Barney Gillroy, Housing and Buildings), favored it, then opposed it, and now seems to be backing it again, because the Mayor's office doesn't object to the measure.

U. S. and State Tax

By H. J. BERNARD

TAXPAYERS have until Monday, March 16, to file their U. S. income tax returns, because the 15th falls on a Sunday, but no such luck attends the State income tax, for the closing date, April 15, is a Wednesday.

U. S. Income Tax

Experience indicates that many U. S. taxpayers do not send in their return until the last week, indeed, last day. Any who have delayed so long may not be able to spend much time figuring out which of the three possible forms to use, whether to claim itemized deductions or use the standard deduction and, if married, whether to file separate returns or a joint return.

Three Rules for Simplicity

Exceptions exist in such a small percentage of cases that it is fairly safe to follow these three rules:

1. Use Long Form 1040. It applies to any income.
2. Itemize deductions. Disregard tax table on Page 4 of the return.
3. If the taxable income of husband and wife, each separately, is $2,000 or less—what's left after gross income has been reduced by exemptions, deductions and, in certain cases, expenses necessary to produce income—a joint return will rarely result in a lower tax.

If the taxable income of either one or the other is more than $2,000, the joint return will result in appreciable saving. Exception: If the husband and wife, each separately, have capital losses in excess of $1,000, separate returns might produce a lower tax than a joint return.

U. S. and State Contrasts

No sooner has the taxpayer renewed his acquaintance with the Internal Revenue Code than he has to grapple with the State income tax law. He may run into trouble because of the variation.

U. S.

1. Total exemptions are $600 each, times number of all exemptions.

2. Allows a lower tax rate, on joint returns, by permitting the rate of half the joint taxable income to be applied to the full taxable income. Joint return permitted for decedent and surviving spouse.

3. Person to whose support taxpayer contributed more than half the cost, if one of the allowable list of relatives, may be claimed as an exemption, regardless of age or mental or physical condition.

4. Claim as head of a family does not prevent one from claiming also all dependents. Three dependents, three dependency exemptions, etc.

5. Pensions paid by New York State and its communities to their retired employees are treated the same as pensions generally; limited tax exemption until the amount forgiven equals the taxpayer's annuity cost, when exemption ceases.

6. No deduction allowed for life insurance or endowment policy premiums.

7. Tax must be paid as computed, without deduction.

STATE

1. Exemptions $100 each, but nothing for first dependent of head of family; $1,000 single, $2,500 married and family head exemptions additional.

2. Permits joint returns but not income-splitting. No joint return permitted for a decedent and surviving spouse.

3. Person to whose support taxpayer contributed more than half the cost may be claimed as an exemption only (a) if under 18 years old, and closely connected by blood, marriage, or by adoption; or (b) if so connected and incapable of self-support, because mentally or physically defective; or if so connected and a student in full-time attendance at an approved school or college.

4. Claim as head of a family limits claim of dependents to those in excess of one. Three dependents, two dependency exemptions, etc.

5. Pensions paid by State and its communities are exempt and do not even have to be reported. Other pensions are taxable, with limited exemption on the same basis as U. S. law. Include as retirement income only 3 percent of cost (not the actual retirement income received), until annual differences between the 3 percent and the cost of the annuity to the taxpayer cancel. After that, report total retirement allowance as income.

6. Up to $150 deduction allowed for premiums on insurance on the taxpayer's life, or his endowment policy. Same limit (not $300) on joint return.

7. Tax equals 90 percent of the computed amount.

U. S. Moves Fast to Check Falsity and Concealment Of Facts by Candidates

WASHINGTON, March 9 — Concealment and falsification in job applications have become such a problem to the U. S. Civil Service Commission that it is tightening up its application forms, including the popular Form 57.

The Commission, in a statement, recalled that eligibles' names have been stricken from rosters, and even appointees removed from their jobs, when falsification in the application was discovered. There were even some cases of criminal prosecution and jail sentences for perjury, the Commission noted.

Applicants Cite Confusion

The Commission says that some applicants, when accused of concealment or falsification, say that they didn't understand the questions. So the Commission will reword some questions.

The question on police record will now read:

"Have you ever been arrested, charged or held by police authorities for any violation of law, police regulation or ordinance? Do not include anything that happened before your 16th birthday. Do not include traffic violations for which a fine of $10 or less was imposed. All other charges must be included even if they were dismissed."

The new language pertaining to discharges from previous employment requires a "yes" or "no" answer from the applicant:

"(A) Have you ever been discharged from employment because: (1) Your conduct was not satisfactory? (2) Your work was not satisfactory?"

"(B) Have you ever been forced to resign after notification by your employer that: (1) Your conduct was not satisfactory? (2) Your work was not satisfactory?"

"(C) Have you ever been discharged from the Armed Services under other than fully honorable conditions?"

Warning Notices

Many of the false statement cases involving this question resulted from the applicant's interpretation of what is a forced resignation. The Commission believes that insertion of the element of notification by an employer of unsatisfactory work or conduct will help applicants to give a full and correct answer to this question.

A warning placard is to be displayed wherever Federal application forms are issued. Also, the Commission is writing to heads of all Federal agencies, reminding them to impress upon new appointees prior to appointment the seriousness of false representations.

Patrol Inspector Jobs Offered by U. S.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission is seeking patrol inspector trainees, $3,795 a year to start, for jobs with the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the Department of Justice along the borders of the U. S. and the southwestern coastline.

There are no educational or experience requirements. Age limits are 21 and 35, except for veterans, who may not be more than 45 years of age.

Applications will be received by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Department of Justice, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Temporary Building "X," 19th and East Capitol Streets, Washington 25, D. C., until further notice.

White House, Legislators Get Protests on Returning 500 Key Jobs to Patronage

WASHINGTON, March 9 — President Eisenhower, in planning to modify this week two executive orders under which about 500 employees were covered into permanent positions by prior Administrations, aims to act faster than any possible opposition.

After a personal study, he decided to go right through with the move on the ground that it was for the good of civil service.

The change would permit the patronage appointment of successors to those who lose out. Some, though not many, of the present employees affected might go transfers.

Dilemma for Some

President Eisenhower says that the positions are either of a policy-determining, or confidential nature, or both, and therefore should never have been covered into the permanent class. They were originally in Schedule A, over which the U. S. Civil Service Commission has no authority. Schedule A corresponds what in other jurisdictions is called the exempt class.

Civil service reform groups backed the covering-in of the incumbents of former Schedule A jobs, in the F. D. R. and Truman Administrations. The main reason was that in the future the positions would be filled through competitive exams. Nearly all of those covered in were provisionals, that is, had not passed any exam for the positions which they held, and Democrats, besides. Their successors would be Republicans. A recent meeting of Republican politicians urged President Eisenhower to speed up patronage appointments.

Some reform groups are sympathetic to President Eisenhower's general objectives in government reorganization. One of the departments that President Eisenhower said in his press conference would be reorganized is the Federal Security Administration. Another is expected to be the Department of Justice. These are the two departments mainly afected by the impending executive order.

Civil service groups with records of having approved the covering-in originally are hesitating as to what stand to take. In general they believe that positions covered into the permanent group should remain there, but they recognize that some positions may not belong there, particularly if incumbents have to make decisions on broad, fundamental policy, or occupy a confidential relationship with the appointing officer.

Disappointees Speak Up

Recommendations that the list of positions be carefully studied, to determine which ones actually comply with a strict interpretation of what constitutes policy and confidence, are expected from these sources, but the executive order is to go through so fast that the recommendations may become academic before they're made.

One group that will oppose President Eisenhower in the first big civil service issue of his administration will be the present employees whom his order would displace. But many thousands of persons who'd passed exams for U. S. jobs in somewhat the same salary ranges, and who would have liked to have had the jobs themselves, hail President Eisenhower's move as at least retributive justice to the recipients of so-called largesse. These thousands are not organized, but many of them are writing letters to the White House, Senators, Representatives and newspapers, though they do not stand to benefit now, no matter what happens.

Federal Employee

A SUBCOMMITTEE of the House Ways and Means Committee has been appointed to study Social Security extension. Representative Curtis (R.-Neb.) is chairman. The study appears to dim the chances of Social Security liberalization at this session. The big issue is whether to enlarge the law to permit public employees, now members of or eligible to civil service retirement system membership, to be covered also by Social Security. President Eisenhower is reported to be in favor of some form of liberalization and could get Congressional action if he presses for it.

UNEMPLOYMENT compensation for Federal employees is another subject that isn't getting fast action from the Ways and Means Committee. President Eisenhower has declared himself in favor of such legislation on principle, and is expected to discuss the subject soon with Congressional leaders.

THE Eisenhower Administration is still looking for an "out" whereby it can fill the many positions it considers of the key type that are occupied by permanent employees, nearly all of whom happen to be Democrats. During the two decades the Democrats were in power the number of these positions increased, and most of the appointees, though not engaging in politics, were of the New Deal persuasion. The President would like to have members of his own "team" in those jobs. One way being considered is reorganization, but it has the ugly aspect of job elimination, with future substitution of supposedly entirely different jobs.

ANOTHER PLAN being considered is to put the position outside of civil service, equivalent to the exempt class, but that usually has meant covering incumbents, which certainly is far from the intent. Another plan is to suspend veteran preference temporarily for filling many such jobs.

THE FEDERAL Personnel Council proposes that all agencies be required to list quarterly all jobs they have filled that are excepted from civil service competition. Also, the quarterly reports would deal with all hiring, broken down into per diem, classified and postal employees.

U.S. Begins Listing Exams to Which Age Limits Apply

The removal of age limits from most U. S. exams has required that the U. S. Civil Service Commission emphasize which do have age limits, and to what extent those limits do not apply to veterans.

The Commission issued a statement saying that a general amendment of the Rules, dated February 27 last, which removes maximum age limits, will be supplemented by identification of exams, from time to time, to which age limits still apply.

Age Limits Clarified

Formerly the limits were 18 and 62. In special cases a lower maximum age was the limit; in some few other instances, 17, instead of 18, was the minimum. The change made it possible to appoint persons without regard to maximum age, hence above age 62, and up to 70, for indefinite jobs. Anybody who was age 70 or more on the day of his new appointment had a temporary job only, limited to one year, but with possibility of renewal from year to year, or for periods less than a year.

Titles Listed

The Commission announced the first of its listings of exams that retain their originally stated age limits:

- 231. Elementary teacher.
- 233. Occupational therapist or physical therapist.
- 252. Dental officer (intern).
- 269. Dietetic intern.
- 301. Engineer.
- 313. Aeronautical research intern.
- 334. Miscellaneous office machine operator.
- 348. Student aid trainee.
- 352. Social worker.
- 359. Park ranger.
- 4-40-3 (52). Medical officer rotating intern (psychiatric resident) (general practice resident).
- 4-34-4 (52). Student aid trainee.
- 9-57-1 (53). Airway operations specialist (communications).
- 298. Meteorologist (GS-5, GS-7).
- 325. Chemist, physicist, metallurgist, mathematician, electronic scientist (GS-5 to GS-15).
- 331. Patent examiner (GS-5 to GS-9).
- 13-1-2 (52). Engineer (GS-5 and GS-7).

Commission Explains

In connection with the medical officer test, the Commission says: "Panama Canal Service. — Because of the effects of the tropical climate, applicants for positions in the Panama Canal Service must not have passed their forty-fifth birthday on the date of filing application. This age requirement is waived for persons entitled to veteran preference up to the age of 62 years.

"Other Federal Agencies. — There are no age requirements for positions in other Federal agencies (except the Indian Service).

Gas Mask Bill Passed By Assembly, Other Fire Measures Backed

The NYC Uniformed Fire Officers Association is looking to the Council to vote a certificate of necessity so that a sheaf of bills that stand a good likelihood of adoption can be voted in Albany. The Council is to meet today (Tuesday, March 10). At its last meeting the resolutions were ready for presentation, but the Council's time was taken up exclusively with discussion of the Police Department policy.

The bills for which a certificate is sought, so that the Legislature can consider them are backed also by the Uniformed Firemen's Association and follow:

Additional Pension

Increase of the pension, after 20 years' service, from $50 a year for each year up to 10 years additional, to an increase of one-sixtieth of salary for each year. The UFOA's argument is that the change would establish the same ratio of present pay to additional benefit as existed in 1940 when the salary of a fireman was $3,000, and the $50 provision was enacted.

Widow's Pension

Increase of widow's pension to 30 percent of pay, from present $600 a year.

Overtime Pay

Overtime pay for overtime work, instead of compensatory time off, or no adjustment whatever, the pay to be at a rate above the basic one, or the basic rate and includable in computation of pensions.

Heart Disease Bill

Heart disease to be presumptive evidence that it was occasioned by performance of duty, if a member of the uniformed fire force has had at least 10 years' service, and was appointed after passing a medical and physical exam. Enactment would make such a sufferer from heart disease pensionable on accident disability basis.

Labor Relations

Provision of the Labor Relations machinery for the adjustment and settlement of grievances.

Assembly Votes Gas Mask Bill

The bill requiring that at least two gas masks be supplied for each company or squad was passed by the Assembly and is now in Senate committee. The UFOA is trying to have it reported out favorably, and to convince Senators generally to vote in favor of the measure. The cost of the carrying out the provisions, the UFOA says, would be small, but the benefit large. Also, it reminds the legislators that some of them voted for measures now on the statute books which require employers in private industry to make similar provision, when their employees are possibly endangered by inhalation.

Seek to Convince Dewey

The heart disease bill was passed last year but vetoed by Governor Dewey. Therefore UFOA is trying to persuade the Governor to change his mind, so that if the bill does pass both Houses of the Legislature, it would not die by the veto route again.

Like other organizations, the UFOA has been confronted with the argument that if a measure costs money it will be difficult to persuade the Governor and the Legislature that it should be enacted.

Key Answers

The NYC Civil Service Commission has changed the tentative key answers to the following exams:

OPEN COMPETITIVE

College office assistant "A": change Item 88 from C to C or D.

Playground director (men) (temporary service only): change Item 49 to W; Item 99, to C.

Playground director (women) (temporary service only): change Item 49 to W.

PROMOTION

Assistant train dispatcher, NY-CTS; change Item 2 from D to B or D; Item 90 from C to A or C. Surface line dispatcher, NY-CTS; change Item 2 from D to B or D; Items 73, 77 and 98 stricken out.

National Antiques Show Has $12,000,000 Displays At Madison Square Garden

King Arthur's candlestand, the first publication to describe the New World, toothpicks 2,000 years old, drinking mugs that made Benjamin Franklin wealthy, a glass tear bottle from ancient Rome, the original contract between John L. Sullivan and Jim Corbett to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world, fortune-telling instruments from before the Common Era and an original John Barrymore drawing are among the highlights of $12,000,000 worth of antiques being displayed at the ninth annual National Antiques Show, at Madison Square Garden until Sunday, March 15.

More than 200 outstanding antiques dealers from every section of the United States will display wares for sale and exhibit at what is annually the greatest show of its kind. The show is to be open through Saturday from 1 to 11 P. M., and on the final day, March 15, from 1 to 7 P. M.

City Anniversary Marked

This year's show is dedicated to the 300th anniversary of the City of New York as an incorporated city. In keeping, Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok, noted physician and tennis player, is showing selections from his collection of business cards of Gotham of 100 or more years ago.

The theme of the show is "Blending the Antique and the Modern." Mrs. Avis Gardiner, of the Long Ridge Antique Shop, Stamford, Conn., will decorate a booth exclusively with pieces of Shaker furniture, showing how period pieces of the Shaker era harmonize with today's decor.

Goodall Fabrics, introducing its new line of spring decorative fabrics, will show how antique themes blend with the most modern home. Pakistan, one of the world's newest nations, will display for the first time in New York hand-tooled silver, jewelry, etc., with attendants in native dress. Many samples of expert handwork illustrate an unusual blending of the traditional with the modern.

A larger crowd than the record-breaking 110,000 at the 1952 show is expected by Morton Yarmon, general manager.

Purposes Served

"The National Antiques Show," said Mr. Yarmon, "has several reasons for being. We want to stimulate the interest of the American people in the wonderful history of this nation, its culture, its great traditions. We want to provide the collector and buyer of antiques with one place each year where he will find treasures in every price range and of every variety — furniture, silverware, jewelry, china, glass, and collectors' items of every kind. And we want to stimulate the antiques trade by increasing the interest in antiques and by giving the dealers their only opportunity to meet, during the period of a week, thousands of customers from the richest market in the world."

Among the services offered will be on-the-spot appraisals by Sigmond Rothschild, television performer. He will charge only $1 to appraise any article brought to him at the show, a fraction of the usual fee charged.

Circus Material, Too

King Arthur's candlestand is featured in an Elgin Watch Company display of timepieces through the ages. This display includes also the oldest Elgin watches ever made, along with a replica of its 50,000,000th.

The glass bottle, which the Romans used to preserve their tears, is one of many discoveries made by the father of Susette Khayat, dealer. The bottle was obtained in a Palestinian excavation of material dating back to the Iron Age. Other pieces on display will be wheat grains from the stores of King Joseph, a cartouche of Tut-ank-hamen, and a lady's make-up kit of ancient Rome.

Dr. Isadore Hirschfeld, dentist, is exhibiting selections from his collection of toothpicks, some dating back 2,000 years. The collection varies from the simple primitive toothpick of the African native, to elaborate Chinese designs, and the plastic toothpick of today.

The drinking mugs, with maxims from Benjamin Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac," cast light on another phase of the versatile Franklin. These mugs are displayed by Ruth and Seymour Birkhahn, of Hewlett, L.I.

Selected pieces from the greatest collection of historical circus material in the country will be shown by Helena Penrose, noted antiques dealer. Her million-dollar collection makes her Third Avenue shop a mecca for all lovers of old Americana. Animal heads, wooden Indians, and cheriots are included.

Julius Carlebach, only man specializing in industrial museums, has gathered especially for the show a display of eating and drinking through the years. He is showing implements, containers, cooking utensils, etc., dating back to 600 B. C.

Show Closes on Anniversary

The original contract between Sullivan and Corbett is in the display of Marie Keyes, of Bogota, N. J. The document was signed March 15, 1892.

A booth has been donated to East Side Settlement House, 540 East 76th Street, NYC. Members of the settlement sponsoring committee will sell antiques contributed by members, to raise funds for the charity.

The Golden Anniversary of Sullivan County, billion-dollar resort area, will be marked at the show with a film showing 50 years of progress. Antiques from Sullivan County will be on display.

Among the dealers exhibiting will be William Hawkins, a working pilot for Pan American Airways, who is nicknamed "The Flying Antiques Dealer." He makes two trips a month to Europe, gathering antiques for the American trade. At the show he will display the largest collection of Meissen onion pattern in the country.

Do you know your CSEA representative? Departmental representatives to the NYC chapter include: Edw. C. Jackson, Law Department, 80 Centre Street, CO 7-9800, Ext. 249; John D. One of the special guests at the Joe Byrnes event was Commissioner Darby Guadia, who is in charge of the 80 Centre Street building and is Joe Byrnes' boss. The picture of the presentation was the work of James J. Chiaravalle of the Department of Public Works.

The Federal Employee's Relation to Social Security

Today almost a million Federal Government workers have Social Security coverage under the Federal old-age and survivors insurance system. Since this insurance protection was first extended to Federal employees at the start of 1950, many have worked long enough under the system to be insured for survivor benefits in case of death. Some older employees have become insured in the same way for benefits after retirement.

Broadened Coverage

This extensive Social Security coverage of Federal employees has come about mainly through a combination of unrelated events. In 1950, when the Congress broadened the coverage of the Social Security insurance system and increased the benefits, coverage was extended to the small minority of Federal workers who were then excluded from the U. S. Civil Service Retirement System. Under normal conditions, probably fewer than 200,000 would be covered by Social Security under this provision. But at about the same time, with the expansion of the Federal service following the start of the Korean conflict, the Whitten Amendment was adopted which prevented thousands of new workers from being granted permanent civil service status. Although many of these employees will eventually make careers in Federal service, they are barred from civil service retirement coverage for the present and therefore automatically come under Social Security.

This unforeseen development, by bringing so many Federal workers into direct contact with the Social Security program, has aroused considerable interest in the problem of providing more adequate retirement and survivor protection for Federal employees. As a result of this mounting interest the Congress last year created a Committee on Retirement Policy for Federal Personnel to make a complete study of the problem.

Pro and Con

Interest in the possible role of Social Security in helping to improve the retirement and survivors insurance protection afforded Federal employees has been reflected in numerous letters from present and former Government employees. Some of these letters urge that Social Security coverage be extended to additional Federal employees. Others indicate no enthusiasm for Social Security coverage and suggest that the best way to meet the problem is to strengthen the U. S. Civil Service Retirement System. Many letters show that the writers have been influenced by one or more of a number of published articles in which comparisons have been drawn between Social Security and Civil Service Retirement system benefits, and implications made that one or the other system is more favorable to Government employees.

Many think that Federal employees should be covered by both Civil Service Retirement and Social Security, with the two systems being coordinated in such a way as to insure that those who shift from one type of employment to another will have continuous basic protection and so that the general level of protection furnished the career employee is maintained or improved. Coordinated coverage under both systems would do no more than provide Federal workers with protection comparable to that afforded in private industry.

Rockland State Hospital

JOHN B. RYER, supervisor of grounds at Rockland State Hospital, who is retiring from State service, was guest of honor at one of the largest and sprightliest parties to be held at the institution in many a day. The festivities took place in the Children's Group Auditorium, the night of February 19.

Mr. Ryer, who is a landscape engineer, went to work at Rockland in 1933, shortly after the hospital opened. Working in close association with Dr. Russell E. Blaisdell, the hospital's first director, he performed a commendable job of landscaping the hospital grounds. Mr. Ryer plans to open a landscaping business of his own in Clearwater, Florida, where he and Mrs. Ryer lived from 1923 until 1932. At present they reside in Nanuet.

A large number of fellow workers attended the party to wish the popular Mr. Ryer well. Among the guest speakers were Dr. Alfred M. Stanley, senior director of the hospital, Dr. Blaisdell, and Underwood Blaisdell, acting senior business officer. Also seated at the speakers' table were Mrs. Alfred M. Stanley, Homer Alexander, a representative of Mr. Ryer's department, Mrs. Eugene L. Swan of Waltham, Mass., and Mrs. Ryer, Emil M. R. Bollman, president of the R. S. H. chapter, CSEA, was toastmaster.

Dr. Stanley said he was once more facing what he considered a rather serious occasion—the loss of a fine employee. He wished the Ryers the best of health.

Dr. Blaisdell spoke of his close association with Mr. Ryer, and praised his landscaping of the hospital grounds. He predicted success for him in Florida.

On behalf of the hospital employees, Underwood Blaisdell presented the guest of honor with a combination brief case and traveling bag, and Mr. Alexander gave him a wallet containing money. As a memento of his years as grounds supervisor he also received a toy garden set, including a gilded stake thrown in for a gilded stake thrown in for good measure. An Association pin was presented by Mr. Bollman.

Brightest spot of the evening was the presentation of a two-act skit, "Life Can Be Beautiful," depicting Mr. Ryer at work before and after his retirement. The skit, prepared by Lewis C. Van Huben, featured Bill Kunze as Mr. Ryer. Mr. Kunze's talent for mimicry served him well, and the audience howled with laughter as he reacted to each situation in a manner so closely resembling Mr. Ryer that it was sometimes difficult to believe the guest of honor himself was not on stage. Also featured in the skit were Bill Rohan and Bob Whittaker as two very svelte and charming lady secretaries in Mr. Ryer's Florida office; Arthur Sauter as the Mayor of Clearwater; Maureen McCosley as Mrs. Southern; Joe Pagnozzi as his own inimitable self; and Mr. Van Huben as himself. Incidental music for the skit was played by Dorothy Walker at the piano.

Dance music was played by the patients' orchestra, directed by Mr. Pagnozzi.

A buffet supper was served under the supervision of Ina Langschur, head dietitian, and Michael Garvey, supervisor of the food service department. Assisting them were Helen Hoban, Mildred Thompson, Addie Elleby, Barbara Jersey and Mary Gross.
