Memo to Congressmen: Forget the Bunk!

These Are The Real Facts Concernings Draft Deferment of Federal Employees

by CHARLES SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON—Here's a memorandum to those Congressmen who have complained so loud—and so often—that Government is a haven for draft-dodgers.

The facts don't bear out your charges.

Indeed, the facts make your charges show precisely the opposite.

There is evidence that certain Congressmen are using Government workers as a political football—hurling "slacker" charges against them merely to get publicity.

The True Story

What are the REAL facts, Mr. Congressman?

Well, here are the important ones:

A little less than a year ago, President Roosevelt asked a citizen committee headed by Paul Bellamy, Republican editor of Cleveland, to make a study of Government draft deferments.

Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was a member of this committee. So was Ordway Tead, former United States Civil Service Commissioner.

This committee found that Government deferments totalled only two percent of the payroll against an average of four percent in private industry.

In so many words, the committee specifically denied that Government was a haven for draft-dodgers.

In general, it commended Government for the way it handled its deferment problems.

That, however, was almost a year ago. So what are the current facts?

Government's payroll carries about 3,200,000 employees.

But it has only 115,937 employees deferred from the draft for occupational reasons—less than four-tenths of one percent!

In Washington, Government has about 300,000 employees.

Only 5,384 are occupationally deferred from the draft. And of these, 2,944 are employed at Washington Navy Yard, which is doing war work too important and too confidential to reveal here.

Of the grand total of 115,937 who are counted as deferred, approximately 10,000 are pre-Pearl Harbor fathers—in other words, men who did not become subject to call until October 1.

Of the remainder, the bulk are in agencies doing direct war work.

For instance, War and Navy together account for almost 75 percent of the 115,000 total. The latter has 51,875 deferred; the former, 30,423.

Among other agencies, War Shipping has 7,409 deferred men; Justice 4,431; Maritime Commission 4,309; and Commerce 3,230.

Moreover, in analyzing these figures it should be remembered that about a third of Government's payroll—around 1,300,000 to be more precise—is engaged in direct war production in Navy Yards, arsenals and other establishments.

The Justice Department deferment list includes FBI agents; the Commerce figure includes Civil Aeronautics, Weather Bureau, and Geodetic Survey, and Bureau of Standards.

Federal Trade, Interstate Commerce, Central Administrative Services and several other minor agencies have asked for no deferments whatever.

The entire National Housing Agency has only 16 employees deferred.

The entire War Production Board has only about 100.

Several Congressmen frequently have made the statement that Government's payroll includes 675,000 draft-age men.

That's a true statement, Mr. Congressman.

But it happens also to be a nasty, misleading statement, which conveys an utterly false impression. Here is how the total breaks down:

One hundred thousand are single men deferred in Class 4-F.

Sixty thousand are childless married men deferred in 4-F.

Fifty thousand are single men who are actually deferred on occupational grounds.

Twenty-five thousand are childless married men in 1-A awaiting induction.

Fifty-two thousand are childless married men actually deferred on occupational grounds.

Thirteen thousand are childless married men in 3-A, B, or C.

The rest are pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

How About Industry?

Unfortunately, no figures are available on the precise number of men deferred in private industry.

However, here is an interesting sidelight on the number deferred in agriculture. Understand, Mr. Congressman, the Civil Service LEADER has no objection whatever to the deferment of bona fide farmers.

It is a fact, however, that literally thousands of men have returned to farms solely to avoid the draft. On that score, here is what a prominent War Manpower official has to say:

"If Congress wants to find a real haven for draft dodgers, it ought to look at the farms. There is a haven that Congress itself has erected. It has built the four walls, it has put a roof on them, it has nailed them down."

In private conversations, other Manpower officials say much the same thing.

Meantime, Congress continues to hurl "slacker" charges at Government workers.

ODB

Overwhelming

NEWARK.—At the Office of Dependency Benefits, employees and the Army officers in charge of operations have one thing in common now.

They're both worried about what will happen when Congress passes the bill increasing the allotments paid to dependents of men in service. And it's almost a certain fact the bill will be passed.

A change in the amount sent out in the monthly Government checks will mean an almost overwhelming task for the employees of ODB, and the staff has recently been cut from over 10,000 to 8,908.

More than four million checks are sent out each month, and an increase in the amount of these checks means that virtually the whole process will have to be changed around.

4,000,000 Records

For one thing, there is the little matter of altering four million record sheets. Then the intricate process of making out the checks has to be re-done.

The question of "How?" is one that's causing high-ranking Army officers in Newark much consternation.

Reports are that they have been migrating to Washington to try and convince officials there that more help is needed. So far the answer has uniformly been "No!"

And right now, in its hour of need, ODB is somewhat of an orphan. Within the past few months it has been transferred from the Army to the Fiscal Office of the War Department. The Capitol bigwigs who saw the ODB grow up no longer have any control over it, and new men determine the policy.

WACs Wanted

One plea at Washington was for a few companies of WACs to be sent in to work on the night shift, thus allowing an increase in the day shift of civil service workers. That too, got a negative reply. Washington apparently felt that the WACs had enlisted to replace men in active duty, and filling in for economy-cut civil service workers wasn't right.

If they can't get WACs, the ODB has asked for regular Army men to be assigned to work in the office, but they haven't had any encouragement on that score.

And, to heap a little salt on the trouble, many of the low ranking officers stationed at ODB have been crying for a chance to get away from the office.

Awards For Helping Win War

NEWARK — Certificates of Merit have been presented to seven employees of the Office of Dependency Benefits.

The Certificates of Merit were authorized for outstanding work in the Third War Loan. They were presented to Rena Chimiklis, civilian director of the War Bond drive in the ODB; Phyllis I. Rosentour, editor of the house organ, the ODB Times; Edith Sweet, of Class Allotment Branch; Dorothy Dolinger, of the check-writing section; Harold Pond of Newark, N. J., of the Reproduction Section, and two representatives of the Payroll Section, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Parsons and Mary Langan.

More than $1,000,000 worth of War Bonds have been purchased to date by ODB employees.

UNION LAUNCHES DRIVE FOR WAGE INCREASE

The New York District of State, County and Municipal Workers, CIO, last week launched its drive to win a general 15% wage adjustment for city and state employees.

The union also seeks to see one thousand pints of blood for the American Red Cross.

U.S. Helping Handicapped Persons Obtain Gov't Jobs

The United States government is helping handicapped men and women get jobs. The viewpoint of the Civil Service Commission is that the handicapped offer a source of untapped manpower; and moreover, that when placed in jobs, they have shown up as well and even better than those of sound limb.

A vitally important part of the program is the placement of disabled veterans.

Handicapped Certified

Whenever the Civil Service Commission certifies a list of eligibles for filling a vacancy, some physically handicapped eligibles may be included. For example, if an agency requisitions 150 junior mechanics, the agency may assume that the Commission will include a few physically handicapped.

A complete list of Government jobs successfully filled by the handicapped would run into the thousands. But here are some:

Blind workers with proper training are satisfactorily employed in positions requiring a delicate sense of touch. They are well suited to jobs which are repetitious in nature, such as packing cartridges, inserting kapok into life-belt pads, and various types of sorting. They perform these jobs faster and more accurately than those who rely on sight.

Workers with limited or no hearing are preferred by many employers for noisy jobs. Example: boiler-maker, welder, riveter, chopper, press operator, office-machine operator. Many are good at clerical duties.

Persons with disabilities of one or both upper extremities, especially when wearing modern artificial appliances, work efficiently as welders, spray painters, and in other production departments. They can profitably be used as inspectors, storekeepers, clerical workers.

Workers with deformity of the spine are employed in work where no heavy lifting is required.

Persons with arrested tuberculosis are suitably employed in any number of positions, calling for light, moderate and semi-arduous duties, provided the environment is favorable (absence of fumes, dust, extreme temperature change, etc.).

Organic heart cases, fully compensated, frequently excel in positions involving desk or bench duty, in machine shop positions, and in drafting jobs.

17,000 Placed

Reports from the Civil Service Commission's regional offices show that more than 17,000 physically handicapped persons were placed in Federal establishments since October 1942. The War and Navy departments have instructed their field establishments to hire handicapped workers wherever possible.

Among the more unusual placements recorded by the government:

An armless telephone switchboard operator at a large government hospital.

What To Do

Handicapped persons are advised to apply to the U.S. Civil Service Commission (641 West 111th Street in New York City) for a determination of the manner in which their abilities can be utilized. And for further information, write to the Coordinating Committee for Placement of the Physically Handicapped in the Federal Service, U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

RETIREMENT

Improved Protection?

WASHINGTON.—Two bills of major importance to Federal employees were introduced here this week.

Both had to do with retirement pensions.

One, introduced by Rep. Jennings Randolph (D., W.Va.), is intended to protect the widows of employees who die in the service.

The other, introduced by Sen. George Aiken (R., Vt.) is designed to make it easier for long-time Federal workers to retire with full pensions.

Rep. Randolph's bill would give widows of deceased Federal employees a pension equal to 50 per cent of that which the employee would have received had he retired on the day of his death. Provisions of the present law in most cases are far less generous.

Retirement With Full Pension

Sen. Aiken's bill would permit any Federal employee who had served 30 years to retire with full pension.

At present, an employee has to be either 60 or 62 before he can retire with full pension—even after 30 years of service. It is possible for a 30-year employee to begin drawing a pension at 55. However, he doesn't get the full amount he would get if he waited until 60 or 62.

EXAMS To Suspend, Or Not . . .

Last week's issue of the LEADER carried an article dealing with the possibility of suspending examinations for the duration of the war, in view of manpower difficulties. Here are the straight facts concerning that story:

—As the war continues, the Municipal Civil Service Commission will apply the rule of flexibility in determining those cases in which examinations should be suspended. The major determining factor, according to President Harry W. Marsh of the Commission, is "Can we recruit the candidates in proper number and quality to hold an examination." In cases where there appears to be ample qualified personnel, examination will be held. Example: There might be an examination for policewomen, on the theory that sufficient qualified women are available for the post.

Action Taken
—Where the available manpower has been of poor quality and where there have been too few candidates, the Commission hasn't hesitated — and will not hesitate — to suspend examinations in accordance with regulations set up to govern this procedure. Such action has been taken many times.

The Board of Transportation and the Hospital Department have been extended liberal right to hire outside the sphere of competitive examination. The Police Department recently recruited civilian clerks on its own, without recourse to competitive examination. Other agencies have been given that same right. It may be expected that, if the manpower situation gets tighter, more positions may be filled by temporary appointments.

One report on this subject stated: ". . . the Civil Service Commission has no power to suspend the constitution of this State which provides for appointment and promotion through civil service examinations." This statement, which appeared in The Chief, was printed on the same page by another story, stating: "Due to the manpower shortage occasioned by the war, the Municipal Civil Service Commission has asked the Board of Transportation permission to make temporary appointments without examination to still more competitive titles. . . ." Of course, the Civil Service Commission has no intention of violating the State's constitution. But under the duress of war conditions, it grants such permission under its rule 5-9-2 C, which allows it to fill vacancies without competitive examination where such examinations would be impracticable.

Promotion Exams
4—There is no intention whatsoever, nor has there been at any time, to do away with promotion examinations. The LEADER story of last week made no such assertion.

5—The factors which caused the present situation to emerge are these: (a) Many persons, and particularly veteran groups, consider it unfair to men to the service to hold tests for permanent jobs for which they are unable to compete; (b) since higher salaries are being paid by private industry and the Federal government, the City isn't able to obtain the type of individual who normally would file for a civil service test; (c) the number of those who have filed for examinations during the past year has been unsatisfactory in most cases; (d) Civil Service Commission is desirous of streamlining its procedure, and the employee-hours released by reduction in the number of examinations can be utilized to prepare for the expected post-war boom.

JOB Good Posts With Security Agency

"Last time you ran an item about our need for people we got a very satisfactory turnout", That's the representative of the Social Security Board speaking of the article which appeared in The LEADER on September 21.

"We need 300 people again, and would appreciate your helping us."

If you've forgotten the details, here's what they want and what they have to offer:

Three hundred men and women between 16 and 65 to learn business machine operation, at full pay while training, then step into a war-service civil service job with some chance for a post war government job. There are no educational or experience requirements.

No Experience
The place is the Social Security Board offices in Baltimore. The pay is $1,560 a year. Living quarters are arranged by the government and will cost you between $5 and $6 a week. The work-week is 48 hours, and

A Must Article for Every New Yorker, Every Cop and Fireman Answers to Arguments Against Cop-Fireman $450 Salary Bonus

Well, whadya know! The Citizens Budget Commission doesn't want New York City's cops and firemen to receive the $450 wage-bonus for which the men of the Police and Fire Departments have been putting up such a gallant fight.

The C.B.C. sent the newspapers a long release last week pleading that the people vote down the $450 wage-increase referendum which will be on the ballot November 2. Let's have a look at their arguments.

The budget boys say:
"It is well known that our Police and Fire Departments are among the best in the country, and the men do not need the stimulus of a bonus to maintain their high morale and efficiency."

Answer: But they have to eat, clothe and shelter their families, meet higher costs of living (Just like the members of the Budget Commission). They can't do it on pre-war salaries. Soft soap about how wonderful they are doesn't buy shoes or pay rent.

The budget boys say:
"The cost of the bonus for the 18,765 uniformed policemen—all of them proposed for the $450 bonus—would be $8,444,250. Of this amount, $6,923,250 would go to the policemen now receiving $3,000 or more. . . . The cost for the 10,776 uniformed firemen . . . would be $4,849,200. Of this amount, $4,231,350 would go to firemen now receiving $3,000 or more."

Answer: Why didn't you budget boys state this thing correctly? The fact is that the big bulk of the cash goes to the 12,732 first grade patrolmen who earn $3,000 each and to the 7,600 first grade firemen who earn the same annual salary. If you budget boys had stated the facts this way, you would have presented the case as it really is—namely, that the bulk of the money goes to men earning $3,000 or less.

Say the budget boys:
"This referendum would lift from the Board of Estimate its direct responsibility to administer the City's finances. . . . The police and firemen . . . have chosen to by-pass the Board. . . ."

Answer: So what! Another answer is this: The policemen and firemen are taking a legal remedy at their disposal to deal with an injustice which the Board of Estimate, in its turn, has chosen to by-pass. And the third answer is this: Under the American Constitution, the people have the right of petition when the authorities seem to be acting contrary to their will or their needs. The men on the protective forces have only asserted that right.

Say the budget boys:
"There are 2,544 policemen and 1,189 firemen now in the budget at less than $2,500. These men should receive the same bonus, from $120 to $180, as other city employees at the same salary."

Answer: Thanks for the crumbs!
The budget boys say:
"In 1929 the police and firemen turned away from the Board and by referendum gained a $500 salary increase. . . . And, in 1936 a referendum was used to give the Fire Department a three-platoon system. . . ."

Answer: That only shows how the referendum system works! Maybe City employees should use it more often!

The budget boys ask:
"Where would the City find the more than $13,000,000 which this referendum would impose?"

Answer: The first obligation of any employer is to see that wages are paid. This obligation is recognized in law, and a salary claim takes prior right over any other claim. A corollary developed in this century is that the plea of poverty by an employer is not an accepted excuse for underpaying the employee. Just imagine if employers were allowed to base wage scales on this one factor! That's theory. Now for the straight answer to the question of the Citizens Budget Commission: The amount of money allotted in the budget was for a full quota of policemen and firemen. Both departments have operated more than 1,000 men below quota. There should be plenty of cash from this one source alone — to pay most, if not all, the additional cost of the salary raise.

Many Jobs, Few Takers

ALBANY—An offer of after-office employment for civil service employes in Albany at 90 cents an hour went begging last week.

The Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance, asked to get out a special statistical study worked up by the research and statistics unit, sought experienced key-punch operators among state departments for part-time evening employment.

But few responded—so few indeed that the division took under advisement a proposal to turn the job over to the business machine corporation whose machines were being used.

One explanation for the apparent lack of interest on the part of State public employes added up to "what's in it for me, after you figure all those deductions?"

Anyway, there were mighty few takers at 90 cents an hour! Here's how they figured it: They point out that the maximum nightly compensation would be $2.70. It is widely feared that the Federal income tax will be boosted to take 30 per cent of that. This anticipated deduction along with an estimated $1 each night for dinner and extra bus fare for those who missed their "share the ride" clubs would leave very little.

SANITATION

Aid for Clerk Careerists

Sanitation likes to see its employees making a career of it, and the department is trying to help its clerical employees pass the clerk grade 3 and 4 exams which will be given in November.

Every Wednesday and Thursday, at 4 p.m. when the office closes, there will be informal classes to prepare for the test. No textbooks will be used, but experts will be around each meeting to answer questions and give tips.

Harry Langdon, chief of Finance and Supply Division, is in charge of the project which will last until the exams come. About sixty Sanitation hopefuls have filed for the promotions tests, and practically all are expected to attend the classes.

How a Pay Raise Filtered Through

There were plenty of smiles around Sanitation last week. 321 foremen got raises of $100 a year, which lifts them to $2,600 and means that they now get more than the assistant foremen.

Previously, the cost-of-living bonus was paid to the assistants, but the foremen, being in the luxury class (over $2,500) got nothing extra. So, the assistants were getting as much as their bosses which didn't seem right.

Inside story of these raises: Commissioner Carey was anxious to give them, but couldn't get an OK from the budget director. The new AFL unions in the department asked him if an appeal to the Mayor would help. "Good idea," said Carey. So the AFL men, through the Central Trades and Labor Council, took it up with the Mayor. Then the raise filtered through.

Thank You, Columbus!

Sanitation Department believes that thanks are due to Columbus for discovering America, and they've made special arrangements for the day.

Employees of Italian descent who wish to parade were excused with pay. They must show that they actually paraded to collect for the day.

All other employees work for five hours; those whose work requires a full day will get the time off on the earliest convenient day.

And instructions are to give the streets special care that day and make sure that they are nice and clean for the paraders and the watchers.

Special Benefits Go To Sanitation Service Men

Sanitation's Welfare organization has made a rule to give a break to former employees in the armed forces. If they should die while in service, then dependents get the same benefits as though they had been working in the department at the time.

against sick leave or vacation time, and either in 1943 or 1944. (Most City departments just gave the time with no deductions.)

Maud Hamilton's Seniority

Last week, the Municipal Civil Service Commission had to settle the question of Maud Hamilton's status.

Here's the involved tale: The written test for supervisor, grade 4, was held June 30, 1938, and followed by an oral test.

The resulting eligible list was published on November 25, 1938; and on February 15, 1939, 58 appointments were made. These appointments were scattered throughout the list and included the last person on it. Later, several eligibles on the list who hadn't been appointed in the group were hired.

Mrs. Hamilton was rated 71.6 on the written test. Passing grade was 75 percent. She appealed, and on March 22, 1939, the Commission raised her grade to 78.8. On April 4, 1939, she passed the oral test, and her name was placed on the list as number 15-A. She was appointed on May 16, 1939.

Now the Layoffs

The Department of Welfare has already laid off one senior supervisor and contemplates further such action. Roy P. Monahan, attorney for Mrs. Hamilton, protested that her lay-off would be a violation of civil service law; he asks that her appointment be pre-dated, a move which would give her more seniority.

The Commission, when it considered the case, followed the rule that "correction in any case, shall be without prejudice to the status of any person previously appointed as a result of such examination."

The attorney maintains that the rule should apply to appointments, not to lay-offs, and that Mrs. Hamilton's name should be placed near the top of the list where she would have been if the Commission hadn't made the error in marking her test paper, also that she shouldn't go until all those below her on the list have been laid off.

Chances are that the matter will end up in the courts, as the Commission denied Mrs. Hamilton any seniority except from the day when she was finally appointed.

WELFARE

To War

This week it's a tie in Welfare between the Army and the War. Half of those leaving for military service are going into the mens force, the rest into the ladies side of the induction center.

Here are the latest Welfare-ites to go:

- Hermit D. Ballin, Social Investigator, W.C. 34 (Army).
- Ruth Hammetton, Assistant Supervisor, W.C. 81 (WAC).
- Leah Kleinman, Stenographer, W.C. 11 (WAC).
- Joseph J. Nitzburg, Social Investigator, Soc. Secy. Cent. File Unit (Army).
- Bertha Scheffer, Social Investigator, W.C. 34 (WAC).
- Ashton N. Stanton, Social Investigator, NSD (Army).

Eliminated

Welfare Centers 40 and 41, were eliminated last week.

This adds a few more to the over-quota number of supervisors in the department, also brings into light again the question of juggling around the case-loads of the investigators.

Welfare Centers 40 and 41, and 81 and 84 are taking over the clients of the abolished units.

As yet, the department hasn't announced the new locations of the supervisory staff involved in the changes.

Charging Time-Off

Last year employees who took three days off to observe the Jewish holidays had the time charged against their vacations for that year.

This year, the employees may charge the three days either

PARKS

Robert Moses Cracks Down

Parks employees are up in arms against an order which came down last week from headquarters on Fifth Avenue.

"You can't hold an outside part-time job" was the gist of the edict.

The order has caused resentment among all employee organizations. The State, County and Municipal Workers flatly declares the order to be illegal in view of the Natilson case which determined the right of City employees to hold outside jobs.

Here is what SCWMA officials have to say:

"We have advised our members in Parks to disregard the order, and have written to Commissioner Moses telling him of this.

"We are ready, if necessary to go to court to fight this illegal order."

The executive committee of the SCWMA is meeting on Wednesday, October 13, to plan action in the event that the order is not withdrawn.

The Greater New York Parks Employees Association, independent employee group in the department, has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday evening, October 12, when they will lay their plans for action to oppose the order.

They feel that the wage scale of the department makes it necessary for many employees to hold other jobs in order to exist.

Commissioner Moses gave his employees until October 16 to leave their jobs.

Mayor Didn't Say It

At City Hall it was said that Mayor La Guardia had nothing to do with Moses' order.

It appeared from the wording of Commissioner Moses' order that he is unaware of the court decision granting City employees the right to hold spare-time positions. In almost all other City agencies that right is now recognized. And it is known that large numbers of NYC workers are engaged in war work on their spare time.

State employees, by a special ruling of the Attorney General, are permitted to hold part-time jobs either in private industry or Government agencies.

No Final Decision Made About Training Bureau

New York City's Division of War Training, which maintains headquarters in the offices of Municipal Civil Service Commission at 299 Broadway, has received a lease on life until the end of this month at least. Head of the bureau is Dr. John J. Furia.

War education programs, training courses, lectures and distribution of films dealing with defenses against possible enemy action against New York City are among the functions of the division.

Jointly Financed

The program is financed by joint Federal and City funds. The national government matches the City's share. Money has been allocated to keep the bureau going until the end of October.

After that, there will be more confabs among City officials to decide whether the City will keep on supporting the project. If the City's contribution stops, the Federal share also stops.

It is known that some City officials look sourly upon the operations of the bureau. On the other hand, others consider the work of the bureau an important

THE ARMED SERVICES USE THE COLLEGES

Servicemen can go to college. Among the jobs for which servicemen are now being trained on college campuses: general administrators, chief clerks, specialists in administrative procedures, classification specialists, administrative and technical clerks, statisticians, radio instructors, air cadets (ground training), meteorologists, pre-flight cadets, chaplains, engineers of all kinds, Diesel mechanics, automotive mechanics, machinists, staff officers for military governors in occupied areas, personnel psychologists, Special Service officers, military police for service in occupied areas, interpreters or translators, surgeons in a number of special fields, anesthetists, X-ray technicians, physical therapists, physicians (pre-medical and medical students), specialists in tropical medicine, sanitary officers, mosquito control experts, experts in venereal disease control, medical laboratory chiefs and assistants, aircraft machinists and mechanics.

AMG

The best known of these military training programs in college are probably the Army School of Military Government, at the University of Virginia, in Charlottesville, and the corresponding Navy School at Columbia University. (See LEADER of August 17 for complete details.)

The inductee is not likely to be sent to a School of Military Government. Only officers attend at Charlottesville, and less than 50 were accepted out of more than 2,000 applications for the class that began in January, 1943. But the inductee may well be eligible for the Army Specialized Training Program or the Navy College Program, which were planned to send about 200,000 servicemen at any given time to study in colleges.

These Army and Navy programs are intended chiefly as training for potential officers. They are alike in many details. The services contract with colleges for teaching, food, facilities for exercise and training. Colleges are chosen, after inspection, from a basic list approved by a joint Army-Navy-War Manpower Commission committee. Students are chosen on merit and promise of usefulness; financial or social standing has nothing to do with their right to go to college in this program. They are paid Army or Navy salary, furnished uniforms, housed, fed. The Army or Navy says, in broad terms, what courses they take, but the college's own faculty does the teaching. If a student does unsatisfactory work, he will be transferred to other military duty. Otherwise he will be permitted to finish his course of training, unless a military emergency demands otherwise.

In those respects the plans are alike. In certain other points they are importantly different.

MUST COMPLETE BASIC

The Army requires a man to complete his basic training before assignment to a college unit. The Navy requires no preliminary training, permits an eligible man to continue his college training without interruption. The Army, furthermore, assigns its men to college units without necessarily returning them to their former colleges. The Navy lets its men stay on their own campuses if there are naval units there. The Navy, trying to make college training as much as possible like Annapolis training, permits its men to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Army trainees are permitted to participate in college extracurricular activities insofar as such activities do not interfere with their academic and military routine. Trainees are encouraged to participate in competitive sports within the unit. Because of the time required for instruction, training and supervised study, participation in inter-collegiate athletics is not permitted.

If the inductee is sent back to college by the Army or Navy he will spend 52 to 60 hours a week in class and laboratory, twice as many as he would have spent as a civilian. He will keep in shape with much harder physical conditioning than the average civilian student gets. His work day will begin at 6:30 a.m. and end at 10:30 p.m. except for Saturday evenings and Sundays. He may study engineering, supply, pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, pre-chaplaincy, personnel psychology, veterinary medicine, foreign areas, foreign languages or other militarily useful fields. If he is in the basic course, he will get a broad foundation in mathematics, physics, English, history, physical education, and military or naval science. After the first two terms, his program will become more specialized, and point toward the service job he will ultimately hold.

The major fields of study in the Army Specialized Training Program are medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, engineering (in numerous branches), personnel psychology and foreign areas and languages.

Servicemen desiring to go to college may apply to their Commanding officers.

BOROUGH OFFICES Raises Come to Queens Employes

Keep your fingers crossed, boys! Increases are coming through bit by bit, and last week, a group in the Borough President of Queens got boosts from $2,280 to $2,400. It seems they were getting less than other City employes doing similar work, and the Mayor and the Budget Office agreed that they were entitled to more cash each payday.

Those getting the increases: Motor Grader Operators at $2,400, Bureau of Highways: George A. Bergmann, Domenick Carinci, Americo De Sandro, Arthur W. Farash, Herbert Garrigolo, David T. Callahan, Frank M. Christbar, Harry J. Donnelly, Andrew Finnegan, Vincent Guiffreda, Joseph M. Hood, Thomas E. McCabe, Daniel J. Sheeran, Joseph Stepanek, Thomas J. Joyce, Patrick T. Shannon, William G. Stampfil and John D. Villano. Tractor Operators at $2,400 per annum. Bureau of Highways: Marino Alberto, Thomas F. Clark, Louis V. Gallo, Francis J. Gine, Alfred T. Hairs-ton, Joseph Martens, Harold F. Rice, Walter V. Roberts, Leonard Sabatino, Sam Sober, Charles S. Williamson, William F. Butler, Richard Fredericks, Joseph J. Garafola, Stephan M. Guinan, John J. Lyons, Thomas A. Moore, Arthur T. Roberts, John H. Rostmann, Conrad Schilling, Joseph Ward, Peter G. Zimmerman and Samuel Kempner.

HOSPITALS

Bellevue Nurses Report

Bonds and Stamps: Doctors Carl Sugar and Philip Gold, together with Miss Johnson, of A.W.V.S., form our War Committee. Dr. Gold reports that they sell between $2,000-$3,000 worth of bonds and stamps each month.

American Women's Hospitals Reserve Corps: Among those active here are: Mary L. Robinson, McClure, Johnson, Cecilia Wilson, Alice Robbins, Claire Burdick, Jeanette Royal, Anne Oertel (who will be a member of the Army Air Corps soon), Elizabeth LeRoy, Zelda Tannebaum, Angelius Catania, Lucille Seeman, Anne Reece, Margaret Godfrey Bunser, McVev., Pauline Lasco and Mazie Lenger.

Teaching First Aid Classes: Bessie Morse and Jean Senia both gave a great deal of their time to this, but both are in other fields of nursing now, the former in Honolulu with the American Red Cross. Those now teaching are: Gertrude Dodd and Mildred Habacker.

Airplane Warning Service: Sarah A. B. Clark.

Fingerprinting: Mary L. Robinson and Leo H. Bray. Most of the nursing personnel attended classes on gas warfare given by the doctors on the staff, some took the initial air raid wardens course, and, most all took the first series of classes on First Aid to the Wounded just to brush up.

WNYC

Three Unpaid

WNYC has added three new members to its staff of unpaid announcers, who work in order to get experience so that they can go somewhere else and get jobs for money.

The latest group: Jerry Arthur, Mike Hayward and Kenneth Stone.

They can still use a few more for-free workers.

HEALTH

Miss Purvis, of the Central Office, is available for complete information. Nurses interested should register with Mrs. C. N. Sawyer, Education Committee, Nurses' Council, 2238 Fifth Avenue, AUdubon 3-1900.

PUBLIC WORKS

The Cleaning Women

Budget Director Thomas J. Patterson last week held a meeting with representatives of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, to discuss the case of women cleaners in the Department of Public Works.

The union is asking that these women receive the full $120 cost-of-living bonus instead of the $80 which they were given. Also that new appointments be made at $940 instead of $860.

Part of the difficulty in straightening out their salary tangle stems from the fact that they work only five hours a night, and are therefore considered part-time workers.

UNIONS

Give Cops Bonus, Says Union

The New York CIO has come out in support of the demands of the uniformed police and firemen of the city for an annual bonus of $450. The CIO's backing was announced in 75,000 special leaflets issued last week by the CIO Political Action Committee, headed by former Councilman Michael J. Quill.

The leaflets called on all New Yorkers to vote for the pay rise referendum, which will be on the voting machines on November 2nd. The leaflets were distributed by a corps of 200 CIO members to baseball fans crowding the Yankee Stadium for the first game of the World Series.

The leaflets read, in part: "A proposed Amendment to the City Charter which would give the uniformed Police and Firemen of this City an annual Bonus of $450 will be on the voting machines on November 2nd.

"These men have found their work highly increased by the war. In their hands lies the safety of you and your families. They earn the Bonus. Vote to SEE that they get it."

How to Lead

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, is starting a series of lectures on leadership in governmental labor unions.

Such speakers as Mark Starr, educational director of ILGWU; Ruth Taylor, labor columnist; Dr. John L. Childs of Columbia University; Ellis Ramen, of the AFSCME; and others will address the bi-weekly Wednesday evening sessions which start on November 3, until February 2.

City employees interested may obtain more information from Mr. Ramen, general representative of the AFSCME at 261 Broadway.

THE WEATHER

Job-Freeze

Brrr . . . But relax, the City Department of Public Works promises that on Friday, October 15, the heat will come on in full force.

In the meanwhile, City employees have been wearing sweaters, and looking longingly at long woolies in the windows.

And to make the situation a little more chilling, other public employees are nice and snug.

The State buildings have been heated as soon as it got cool. The Federal Buildings are extremely warm.

City agencies like the Civil Service Commission and the Sales Tax Division, which are in office buildings, bask in the heat of their radiators.

Anyway, some books say that it's healthier when there isn't any heat.

Roundup

THAT STORY on page 3 about cops and firemen it's not only for cops and firemen to read: it's for every New Yorker. The only conclusion to be drawn from the arguments of the Citizens Budget Commission against the referendum which asks a $450 pay rise for policemen and firemen, is this:

Let's pass that referendum with an overwhelming Yes!

And more: A vote for the cops and firemen is a vote for every civil service employee.

AN EDITORIAL WRITER can deal with his subject in many ways. He likes it best when the facts and figures of a situation are so strong that they argue for him. We feel that way about the article on draft deferments on page 3. We just can't believe that any American can again utter the harsh cry of "slacker!" or "draft-dodger" at Government employees after reading these facts and figures. Unless, of course, the motivation is dishonesty.

THERE HAS BEEN TALK of curtailing or abolishing altogether the NYC Bureau of War Training. Such a move, in our opinion, would be folly. If officials feel that the workings of the bureau can be improved, let them say so. But for anyone to deny that a training division is a potent part of modern personnel administration, is simply to fail to recognize what is happening in this field. And incidentally, the Training Bureau should be brought back within the Civil Service Commission, where it properly belongs.

THIS IS THE TIME of year when you and other citizens are interested in politics. But if you're a Federal employee, or if you're paid in part out of Federal funds, better hold that interest in leash. You aren't allowed to write an article about any candidates, however important you may feel it is to support some candidates and reject others. You mayn't be active in the meetings of political parties. You mayn't make speeches. You mayn't act to defend your own interests—as all other Americans can, and do! That's the meaning of the Hatch Act. That's why, for four years, this newspaper has been opposing the Hatch Act. Sooner or later, you civil service employees will have to see the real meaning of the Hatch Act—how it makes second-class citizens of you—and you'll have to wipe that degradation off the books forever. This newspaper had a hand in preventing the establishment of a similar act in New York State—and it's one of the things of which we're most proud.

Loan Sharks After U. S. Workers, Too

Sirs: Your article in this week's LEADER on loan sharks preying upon City workers, urges me to request that you start a similar drive for the benefit of Federal workers.

I am a CAF-3 clerk. Several years ago I became involved with a finance corporation in another city. I paid them more than the amount of the money which had been loaned me, but there is still a balance which I have been unable to pay. I came to New York without any qualms of conscience in this matter as I considered that they had already had their pound of flesh.

Imagine my astonishment recently when their representative walked into my Government office and started dunning me. An interview with my supervisor was demanded, and he acted as any regular fellow would have acted and told them they could not continue to take up Government time.

However, I have heard that they humiliate people living in rooming houses, hotel and similar places by spreading their plights at the desks and creating disturbances in corridors and lobbies.

We Federal people need protection as well as the city workers. Please start something in this direction.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEE

Don't Repeat This!

Albany Stuff

Most interesting example of teamwork. Governor Dewey, Judge Edward Conway, Miss Louise Gerry, and Charles Campbell who head the State Civil Service Commission all "click" the same way on civil service. Their approach is experimental. . . . They're willing to try new plans to improve the service, get better people to make State service a career. . . . Incidentally, have you any ideas for improving the system of service rating? The State Commission will pay good money to the person who can develop some terrific ideas. . . . Judge Conway is saying No! to department heads who ask special favors they don't deserve. . . . Watch for this announcement soon that J. Earl Kelly, LEADER Merit Man, formerly with the Motor Vehicles Bureau and the State Labor Department, now holds the job of Classification Director for the State Commission. Swell promotion. . . . The appointment of J. Edward Lombard to head the special State investigating staff on vote frauds is a prelude to his appointment to a probe of everything called Albany . . .

Of This and That

Army bound: Saul S. Sharison and Sylvio Marlo, assistant U.S. attorneys. They were at Governor's Island last week trying to find spots in Army Intelligence . . . H. Eliot Kaplan is being interviewed for a place with AMG. If he's accepted, his rank will be a high one . . . Eliot tells the funniest story involving an esophagus. If you really get him warmed up to it, you're in for the biggest laugh in your life . . . La Guardia has his troubles. Here's a quote: "I pick out a nice, upstanding young fellow, full of integrity, I make him a magistrate, and he immediately begins to bollux up the constitution." "Bollux up" is a euphemism for the picturesque word Butch actually used . . . Harlem Tammany Leader and ex-Criminal Court Judge Francis X. Mancuso is writing crime stories for Alex Hillman's Crime Detective Magazine . . . Private Ewart Guinier, former Municipal Civil Service examiner and SCWVA official, is now stationed in New York City . . . Manhattan Asst. D. A. Eugene Clay is a prisoner of the Japs. . . . The Civil Service Reform Association may change its name.

Oh for the Life Of a Laborer!

Sirs: It seems strange that a classified labor starts at $6.40 per day and six to eight months later goes to $6.88, and then stops for lifetime. If that is Civil Service, then I have had the wrong impression of the term. I always thought Civil Service was a career in which you started from the bottom and worked yourself to the top. There should be some way to classify us, so that we could get raises the same as the rest of the Civil Service employees. If there is, we would appreciate finding out how to go about being reclassified.

DONALD MURPHY.

Merit Men

YOU'VE PROBABLY HEARD of Paul Ehrlich, who discovered salvarsan in 1910; the first cure for syphilis. A man who worked with Dr. Ehrlich on this discovery is today a New York City civil servant.

He's Frank Joseph Janke, at Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn. He still spends his time poring through a microscope, and he's probably the world's foremost expert on the nature of human blood.

A visit with him is an amazing experience. His conversation is full of words ending in "ology," but then he'll take out a microscope and some glass slides, and soon you're wishing you had taken up science instead of whatever you do for a living.

In a Drop of Blood

As he explains it, it's enlightening how much the magnifying glass can tell about a person's illnesses. A drop of your blood on the glass slide, and Mr. Janke's expert eye can often tell not only what is wrong with you, but how you are doing, and whether you'll recover.

But that's routine work for men in his profession. His specialty is detecting the more unusual diseases which may only turn up once in ten years.

After his work with Dr. Ehrlich, Janke came to this country and entered service with the Rockefeller Foundation, specializing in tropical diseases.

Right now, the glass slides which he made are being used to instruct Army doctors who will have to treat men in the jungle.

For Fledgling Medicos

Janke has been with Kings County Hospital for over thirty years, and in that time has spread his knowledge to many men who are now practicing physicians. Long Island University Medical School Laboratory next to Mr. Janke's, and he has been able to teach the fledgling medicos many things about the different types of germs affecting human health.

"606"

He's risked his own life time and again in the interests of medical science, but he prefers to tell about the famous "606" and how it happened to be found.

Back in 1910, the German Government had plans to build a great colonial empire. But it was found that sleeping sickness was an important reason why many fertile sections of Africa were uninhabitable.

Dr. Ehrlich was commissioned to head the research for a remedy against this disease. For months he tried combination after combination of different formulas. Finally, he thought that perhaps the six-hundred and sixth bottle might have possibilities. In order to check this solution he wanted to find out how poisonous it was, so he took a rabbit which had previously been inoculated with syphilis and was quite ready to die, and injected the chemical into its veins. Instead of dying the rabbit showed signs of health.

Incidentally, Dr. Ehrlich never did find a cure for sleeping sickness. But when they went back and checked their other formulas against the venereal disease they discovered that number 57 was also a cure, but it made the patients' hair fall out!

Today Mr. Janke's life is as exciting as it was then. He spends most of his time making routine tests. Injecting mice and rabbits with human specimens, and then checking the animal's reaction.

But his font of wisdom is available when the doctors run up against some problem they can't figure out.

His job with the City—Junior Bacteriologist.

He lives with his wife out of Long Island, but he can usually be found at his laboratory table.

POLICE CALLS

How's About That $400?

The Schneider-Adrian cases decided that policemen and policewomen appointed to their jobs at $1,200 were entitled to back pay to bring their salaries up to $1,320.

As result of these decisions, 890 members of the force have filed claims with the City and they are waiting—very anxiously—to see the money.

The eighteen men who brought the first court action have already been paid, but the others are still wondering when they'll see the checks, which run to $400 (not counting items that get taken off).

Right now, the first 400 claims filed are going through the routine and the Comptroller's Office promises payment "within three or four weeks."

The remainder? Well, all the lads and gals will get their money in time, with interest from the day they filed their claim.

That is, all those who remembered to sign their pay-rolls "under protest." Almost ten percent of the claims examined to date have been rejected because the policemen did not kick on each payroll. Others missed on payrolls here and there and lose some money for each omission.

Also, cops appointed after August 11, 1943 are out. These men started at $1,320, which was the new salary set by the amendment to the Administrative code. They maintain that the Board of Estimate didn't have the right to set the salary scale of their jobs, and that they should have started at $2,000 which is what new police received prior to June 1940.

The 247 who have filed claims will get their extra money, if they get it, on some other legal grounds. They're not included under those getting paid as a result of the Schneider-Adrian cases.

Why the Delay?

The delay is explained by the Comptroller's Office as a result of the fact that the office is understaffed.

Here's the intricate procedure which has to be followed on each claim before it can be paid, and it's a long, winding process:

- 1—The Comptroller has to make an investigation of the claim. That means every payroll has to be checked for each of the 890 claimants. The investigator has to go back to the time when the cop was at the Police Academy. Then he must follow his record through different precincts in which he may have served. In the case of policewomen, many of them have added a "Mrs." and a new name to the payroll, which further complicates matters.
- 2—When the Comptroller's investigation is complete, the papers go to the Police Department payroll division. There the amount awarded to the cop has to be readjusted by making pension and victory tax deductions. Then the Police Department makes out a supplementary payroll.

- 3—After this is all over, the Civil Service Commission's payroll division has to certify the supplementary payroll.
  - 4—Now, the papers return to the Lien Department of the Comptroller's Office and to the Garnishee Division, to see whether any legal attachments are entered in the claimant's name.
  - 5—Finally it gets to the Central Payroll in the Comptroller's Office, where the check is made out.
  - 6—The City paymaster gets the check and the cop is told to come and collect his dough.
- No one at the Comptroller's place would even venture a guess as to when the other payments will be made, but they're trying to get them all out before December 31, 1943.

The Firemen

As for firemen who were similarly appointed at $1,200, their case is still pending in the Courts. About 1,200 smoke-eaters will be in line for back pay if they win their suit.

What Goes With Lieutenant List?

The answer is: Don't expect the lieutenant list this week, any rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. It may be even longer than that before the list appears. We'll keep you informed.

HER RECORD IS PERFECT: Since June 9, 1942—for a total of more than 400 days—Elsie Irene Lee, an Oklahoma girl working at the Office of Dependency Benefits, in Newark, has been neither tardy nor absent. That's why her fellow employees in the Correspondence Branch held a special meeting to honor her. Miss Lee is here flanked on the left by Col. Percy E. Lewery, officer in charge of the day shift at the Correspondence Branch; on the right by Lt. Col. H. M. Bell, officer in charge of the Correspondence Branch of the Processing Division.

V For Vetgossip

By ARTHUR LIEBERS

What Happened To The Supervisor

Some of you Vets have written in and asked what finally happened to that supervisor (George Inhat) after allegations had been made against him by certain employees, and Mr. Reichert had promised an investigation.

Here's the story in chronological order.

1. Charges made in Mr. Reichert's presence.
2. Mr. Inhat goes off on annual leave.
3. Mr. Inhat requests to be reduced to CAF 3, and to be relieved of supervisory work.
4. As of week ending 12-2-43, he becomes a CAF 3, and is working under A. J. Foldi.
5. Investigation is dead.
6. A top CAF 3 doesn't get an awful lot less money than a CAF 5, but we can't recall ever before hearing of anyone coming up to the boss and asking to be demoted.

"Too bad," says the Fourth Floor.

Pat on Back Section

This corner of the paper is very modest, out when two suggestions that originated here are put into effect, I'm entitled to crow.

1. I've been yelling that the 13th Floor should be put into use . . . Now the building offices are there.
2. I've been yelling that there should be a phone where the guards can get to it and call for assistance if they need it . . . A phone is being put in the lobby.

Something Rotten

Something is very rotten in Denmark.

Most Americans are doing their share to put the war bond drives over. The record at Vets is pretty bad. Out of 3,465 employees, only 1,488 have purchased bonds. The office is so far behind its quota that I'd rather not print the amount.

What's wrong?

If you haven't done your bit yet, DO IT NOW. The 3rd war bond drive is over, but your money can still buy bullets. So buy a bond today — and fast!

Labor Shortage

The Government can't get sufficient help. That's the story all over town, but here's what happened at Vets.

People who were given Thursday and Friday off for their holidays were told they would have to come in on Saturday. Some didn't.

Those who stayed out and phoned in with a good excuse are O. K.

About twenty didn't call in, and bright and early on Monday morning, they found letters in their mailboxes telling them that they are former employees of Veterans Administration.

Navy Yard Gazette

Achievement In The Yard

Achievement at the Navy Yard has become a tradition; but it attained a new peak during the week ending September 24. Five members of the Radio Material Section of the Planning Division were commended by the Commandant and the Commanding Officer, Floyd Bennett Field for their supervisory work in connection with the construction and planning of communication facilities at the United States Naval Air Station located there. The work was done with a minimum of delay and without interruption to existing circuits and facilities.

The Joiner and Shipwright Shop attained a bond quota which made headline news.

The attention of all Navy Yard employees was invited to the completion of the organization of the Navy Yard War Production Committee whereby ideas for increasing production and ways and means of getting things done faster and better could be more rapidly reviewed and expedited toward accomplishment. The organization embraces practically every nook and cranny of the Yard.

It was reported that since the institution of bank and check-cashing facilities, the number of checks cashed rose from 2,598 during the first week to 9,379 during the fourth week.

Credit was given to the publication of a book on optics co-edited by L. Bauer, instructor of optics at the Yard's Optical School and Lieutenant C. F. Vance, USN, officer in charge of the school.

Theodore Roosevelt once said, "A Nation's greatness lies in its possibility of achievement in the present, and nothing helps it more than the consciousness of achievement in the past." We think that the underlying spirit of this statement is applicable to the Navy Yard.

The Human Touch

Recently, a Navy Yard lieutenant was looking at his neck in a mirror. His Commanding Officer happened to pass by and remarked:

"What are you doing? Trying to make yourself look pretty?" Whereupon the lieutenant replied:

"No, I have a rash on my neck. I have a very sensitive skin and every time I shave in that spot I get a rash. I think I'd better take two or three days off. That's the way they do it in Civil Service, isn't it?"

"No," replied the Commanding Officer, "I think you'd better put a tourniquet around your neck!"

Again Those Cumbersome Checks!

Navy Yard workers are being more and more strongly urged not to bend or otherwise mutilate their pay checks. Various slogans have been promulgated: "Jagged Checks Jinx Machines", "Frayed Checks Cause Frayed Nerves" and "Fold Your Money, Not Your Checks". If mutilation of pay checks is as important as that, why not some posters illustrating ways of avoiding such mutilation and bearing slogans such as these?

A Suggestion For Selling Bonds

The following letter has come in suggesting a way of increasing bond sales.

Dear Navy Yard Gazette: Have raffle or lottery books printed (if permissible) and have same distributed throughout the yard with prizes ranging from a $1000 Bond to numerous $25 bonds. As many prizes can be distributed in bonds as money collected. A few representatives can be designated in each department as well as the installation of booths throughout the yard where said tickets could be sold. Books can also be distributed to each employee who can sell tickets outside the yard. Have a drawing each month and broadcast it over the loud speaker during lunch period.

CHARLES S. BILKER, Supply Division.

POSTAL

Lily White

Whether New York members of the Railway Mail Association can be forced by its parent organization to adopt a lily-white membership requirement will be decided by the State Supreme Court in a case pending before that body.

The national Railway Mail Association has had in its constitution a requirement that members must be "caucasians or native born American Indians." The New York chapter never had this restriction in its constitution.

For several years, local delegates to the national convention of the order have been fighting to open membership to all Railway employees without regards to their race.

In 1941, at the last annual convention of the organization, the New York group introduced a measure to this effect, but it never saw the light of day, dying in the hands of the committee.

Test Case

As a test case, the N.Y. group accepted seven Negroes to membership, but the national body refused to accept them and insisted that the local body amend its constitution to conform with the other locals. New York is the only group which has ever accepted a Negro.

The local contended that State law (The Civil Rights Act) made it mandatory upon labor unions to drop all discriminatory bars.

The national body, in court, insists that it is a benevolent and fraternal society. This despite the fact that it is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The local men admit that the number of Negro railway mail clerks is very few, but say that the principle involved is most important; and they add, large numbers of Negro laborers could rise to clerks jobs if they were given a chance.

They add that the State Committee on Discrimination has been informed by the AFL that the Railway group is a labor union in every sense of the word.

The decision is being awaited with great interest in labor circles.

Don't Get Sick After 9:30 A.M.

That "old debbil" the 9.30 rule is being enforced again, I hear.

If you take sick and struggle to a phone and tell the office you're sick, you can get sick leave. If the phone call comes in at 9:31, then you're out of luck, and out a day's pay.

Lots of people are too sick to get to a phone when they're sick, and may not be able to get anyone else to make the call.

Here's The Newest Listing Of U. S. Jobs To Be Filled Now

Below is this week's batch of jobs for which the U. S. Civil Service Commission, New York City area, is recruiting. The salary cited isn't actually as high as that paid, because it's geared to a 40-hour work-week, whereas you work 48 hours a week. This means you can add 21 percent to the stated pay figures. You can be hired immediately, if you qualify (unless you are now engaged in war industry at your highest skill). So run over the list, and if you see something that strikes you, go to the offices of the Commission, 641 Washington Street, and they'll try to line it up for you.

A STAMP A DAY

For the Boy Who's Away

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES—YOU LEND YOUR MONEY

JOIN THE CLUB

How the Club Works

Any person who has a son, brother, father, husband, relative or friend in the Armed Forces of the country is eligible for membership.

The sole qualification is a sincere desire to help that man in the Armed Forces get the fighting equipment he needs by saving a War Stamp every day in his honor.

There are no dues and no obligation other than a person's own obligation to himself to live up to his pledge to save "A-stamp-a-day."

Choose now. Either we give our boys the planes, tanks, guns, and ships they've got to have to win—or we're letting them march to their defeat and our destruction. Planes cost money. Tanks don't grow on trees. And the storks don't bring subchasers.

We've got to pay for them. "We" means all of us—including you.

How? By buying War Bonds and Stamps. And every time our savings amount to $18.75 we get a Bond, worth $25 in 10 years. That's $4 back for every $8 we put in. Isn't that the least we who stay at home can do to help win the war? Stop and think about it—

MEDICAL The Heart

The City Civil Service Commission has just made a ruling about medical examinations of candidates for some City positions.

Here's the text of the new order:

"In the case of positions requiring extraordinary physical ability, no candidate who requests further examination shall be finally rejected for a heart defect until after a joint medical examination conducted by a medical examiner of the Commission, and a medical examiner of the department to which the appointment is made; or, if there be no such departmental examiner, the medical expert of the Law Department. The Commission further ordered that no candidate, however, shall be entitled to more than one joint examination."

HOUSE and HOME

Homes for "Working Men"

"You don't have to be a millionaire to own a home in New York City," Richard J. Lewis, specialist in Canarsie and East New York properties pointed out in an interview last week. "Most New Yorkers have the mistaken impression that because land values are high, owning a home within easy travelling distance is beyond their means. As a matter of fact, keeping to the formula that you may conservatively spend 2 1/2 times your annual income on a house, a man earning as little as $1000 a year can afford a comfortable 5-room home within 30 minutes of 14th Street."

Mr. Lewis has been selling properties in the $2500 to $6000 price range from the same office at 9605 Glenwood Road for more than 22 years. He has seen neighborhoods and property values change radically but he puts his home buying philosophy in one sentence: "Pick a home you can easily afford, one you'll like to live in for the rest of your life, and you can't go wrong."

For the Right Records

If you are one of those people who likes to have just the right record, you will want to know about the Bray Electric Appliance Company at Westfield, New Jersey, who have amassed one of the largest collections of discs in New Jersey, and carry many rare pieces that are hard to find in the ordinary store.
 One modern innovation to save time for the buyer is a mail order department through which you can order your record either C.O.D. or check in advance. For personal choice the shop is open 3 evenings a week on Monday, Tuesday and Saturday. The address is 277 Elm St. in Westfield.

"In all other City departments", it said, "promotions are made virtually as a matter of course when employees are at

BILLS

Health, Training Bills On Way

WASHINGTON—In the very near future, three important pieces of Federal employee legislation are scheduled to go to Congress—all of them probably with Administration approval.

1—A bill permitting Federal agencies to set up medical programs to safeguard the health of their employees.

2—A bill giving the agencies clear-cut Congressional authority to conduct training courses for their employees.

3—A bill making it possible for Federal employees who leave the service to convert their Federal Retirement insurance into Social Security insurance.

In the case of the medical programs and the training programs, there's a big question at present about the right of Federal agencies to conduct them. Many agencies are doing it. Nevertheless, they aren't sure that they have the right to.

Also, especially in the case of medical programs, a clear-cut mandate from Congress probably would mean a considerable expansion of the entire system.

Still a fourth bill may go to Congress with administration approval. It is a proposal to grant extra pay to all Government night workers—not just a few as at present. That one, however, is still up in the air. Whether the White House will recommend it or not remains to be seen.

Meanwhile, insiders here concede that the move to win holiday pay for Federal workers is almost dead. The idea is considered sound and fair. Politically, however, bigshots here think it is impractical at this time.

Two Tests Cancelled

Municipal Civil Service Commission last week decided to cancel the following examinations which it had planned to hold shortly: Marine Oiler and Buyer, Lumber and Construction Equipment. The Commission is planning to hold tests for promotion to radio operator, grade 2; and assistant physicist, Department of Hospitals.

WASHINGTON, — War Manpower Commission has undertaken a major decentralization program.

Washington headquarters will not be affected to any great extent. However, offices outside of the capital will feel the shakeup strongly.

Here is what will happen: WMC regional offices, now dominant in the field set-up, will lose much of their authority.

Instead, power will be transferred to state offices, 48 of them.

Twenty-five of these state offices already exist. Others will be added later. To finance the move, the President has asked Congress for $17,000,000 to finance the new plan.

MENTAL HYGIENE Dewey Fair On Higher Pay

ALBANY—State Budget Director John E. Burton in a letter to Leo F. Gurry of Marcy Hospital, representing mental hygiene employees, last week held open the door to possible salary readjustments to meet widespread criticism of recent allocations under the Feld-Hamilton Career law which was extended to workers in the mental institutions.

The budget director said he was acting at the request of Governor Dewey who "wants the employees to know that continued consideration of the pay levels will be given and fully appreciates the importance of a fair and equitable classification and salary program".

More than 12,000 employees in the mental institutions were placed October 1 under the Career law when their jobs were classified by title, based on duties, and the titles then placed in salary grades, providing a minimum and maximum wage over a period of years. Protests arose both over the classification and the allocation of the jobs into salary grades.

Errors Rectified

Errors in classification, Mr. Burton pointed out, will be rectified by the State Classification Board, a unit of the Civil Service Department, but reallocations into salary grades will be passed upon by the budget division, as provided by law.

It seems that the "classification of positions" is still misunderstood by many persons.

The nature of the work actually being done by an employee is the basis for this first mental hygiene classification. And it follows that it is necessary to classify the actual work being done rather than a person's capabilities that might exceed the work he or she does.

"It was clear from the conference that some employees believe that appeals against the salary ranges established would be disapproved by me," said Burton. "The entire administration has worked hard to bring into being salary schedules and promotional opportunities that will produce improved employee standards and mental hygiene care.

"As you know, the Budget Division did not fix the salary scales arrived at, but we did conduct intensive researches into the pay levels. On the basis of present evidence, we feel that a definite forward step has been taken. New evidence will be available only when we can analyze the first payrolls for the period of October 1-15."

Today's letter by the budget director followed release of a statement, titled "classification clarified" by Doctor Frederick MacCurdy, Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, to all employees. This in turn was followed by a conference a few days ago between the budget director and representatives of the Association of State Civil Service Employees, at which the problems touched upon by the budget director were discussed.

Unanswered Questions

Still unanswered however, are such employee questions as whether employees who take meals outside of the institutions will continue to be charged for them by the institution and whether a more liberal policy can be adopted permitting workers to live outside institution dormitories in order to promote family life.

Representatives of the Association had asked that the salary grade for attendants, biggest bloc of employees, be established at $1,300 to $1,700 a year. The range as fixed by the salary standardization board is $1,200 to $1,600.

Association representatives participating in the discussions that led to Director Burton's letter to Mr. Gurry were:

W. F. McDonough, executive committee member; John T. DeGraff, counsel for the Association; Leo Gurry, Marcy State hospital; John A. McDonald, Rochester State Hospital; Frederick J. Walters, Middletown State Hospital; Lucy Baumgrass Marcy State Hospital; Harry Blake, Brooklyn State Hospital; Louis Illig, Harlem Valley State Hospital; Owen W. Jones, Home State School and Dr. J. T. Bigelow and Daniel Doran of the Department of Mental Hygiene.

State Commission: Not Responsible For Appointments Below Minimum

ALBANY—Officials of the State Civil Service Department disclaim any responsibility for a practice engaged in by some departments whereby appointments are made to jobs at a salary lower than the minimum at which the position had been advertised.

Candidates who enter competition for State positions are informed in the circular advertising the job about the salary range, but they are informed that appointments may be made at a figure lower than the minimum cited.

"The salary at which appointments are made is determined by the appointing officer within the operations of law and we have nothing to do with it," said Administrative Director Charles L. Campbell this week. "In its circulars, the commission points out that appointments may be made at lower than the advertised figure. It is an admonition to the candidate. But many of them pay no attention to it until they get an offer asking whether they will accept appointment at a wage less than the advertised minimum."

Commission Powerless

The Civil Service Commission has considered various ways to surmount this difficulty, a situation with which the Commission is not in sympathy. The Commission believes that appointments should be made at the advertised figure, but it is powerless to enforce such a reform at this time.

"Where an employee already is filling a position which is paying less than the minimum for the title and grade, that employee must be advanced to the minimum of the grade and the new employee must come in at the sub-minimum salary previously paid," Mr. Campbell explained. "This is the way the Feld-Hamilton law operates and will operate till all sub-minimum salaries have been eliminated through annual increments to the minimum of the salary grade."

If new appointees received the advertised minimum, in cases where similar positions are now paying less than the minimum, the employee in service would be earning less than the new employee just coming in. As the years went on the old employee would of course continue to get his increments annually, always upward toward the established salary range, but he would not catch up with the new employee who entered the service at the minimum, since he too would be getting yearly increments.

"We don't like it but we can't do anything about it," explained Mr. Campbell.

What It Would Cost

A few years ago the problem was first considered by service officials, but it was estimated then, by the budget division, that it would cost about $6,000,000 to raise all employees getting below the minimum to the lowest figure in the salary grade in which they had been bracketed. It was felt the State couldn't stand that financial cost in one year. Since the through increments bringing sub-standard salaries to minimum, and because of vacancies, the over-all cost now estimated to be about $100,000. In other words, that amount of money in the form of lump raises, would clear everybody affected and raise them all from below the minimum of the grades to the minimum figure. That would clean up this whole situation.

Governor Dewey next may see his way to accomplish this desirable end. If he does, would then be possible, legal for the Civil Service Commission to advertise a job at a certain figure and insist, perhaps, upon its being filled at the advertised figure. Meanwhile, however, candidates for jobs are advised to look at the fine print and be aware that the advertised salary may only be bait. And you get the offer of a job at salary lower than the minimum don't holler at the Civil Service Commission! It's not their fault.

Mental Hygiene Employees: Have You Been Addressed by Thomas Cawley?

by ARTHUR LIEBERS

"I'm not getting paid for this. I'm paying my own expenses. But if you're an honest man, you'll remember me for my troubles after you've benefited" . . . With this kind of a glib line, Thomas J. P. Cawley, who introduces himself as attorney for the Mutual Society of Hospital Employees, Inc., and Mechanics and Maintenance Association, is making a junket of State mental hygiene hospitals looking for members and talking about the Feld-Hamilton Act.

A LEADER reporter covered Mr. Cawley's outpouring at the Brooklyn State Hospital last week. Here's what he learned:

A meeting under the auspices of a group of master mechanics was called at the hospital.

Dr. C. H. Bellinger, superintendent of the institution, had this to say about the meeting: "It's purely an informative affair. Some employees asked to have this attorney invited to explain the Feld-Hamilton act".

Claims the Credit

When bald, pompous Mr. Cawley ascended the stage, he began with an outline of the complaints which employees had made to him, he said, against provisions of the law bringing the mental hygiene institutions under the State "career" civil service.

He explained a manner in which employees may file appeals from the job-classifications and salary schedules which went into effect on October 1, and insisted that his organizations deserved full credit for the recent $100 increases which were given the institutional employees, although The LEADER was unable to obtain any other evidence that his organization had anything to do with those raises.

After the talk, employees were invited to state their troubles and get the benefit of Mr. Cawley's expert advice.

In general the advice was that they would benefit by joining one of the two organizations which he had the honor to represent. Specific questions on individual cases usually brought this: "I'll be back here next Wednesday. Your superintendent has allowed me use of an office to advise you on your appeals. I'll be here all day".

As to the exact status of his organizations, some employees at the meeting felt the Mr. Cawley had been rather vague. They were small groups, he said, and he admitted that at the time they applied for a charter, there had been opposition on the part of established Civil-Service employee organizations.

After the meeting the LEADER reporter attempted to get some details of the membership, or other facts about the two groups.

None of the coterie of unidentified individuals who surrounded Mr. Cawley had anything to say.

"Mr. Cawley does the talking", they burbled in unison.

When the speaker was finally approached, his reply to the questions was a classic of brevity.

"No information, period! — That's all I have to say to you". That was the explanation about all questions concerning the nature, size and functions of his two employee organizations. He refused to make any statement about dues, but employees of the hospital informed this reporter that the fee, formerly $6, had been reduced to $2.

Officers of the local chapter of the Association of State Civil Service Employees frankly were puzzled and disturbed by the situation. An open meeting presumably called to educate the employees as to their rights had turned into an organizational meeting for another organization.

Employees spoken to after the meeting were equally confused. They liked the prospect of the bountiful benefits which the speaker had promised, but were wondering if it all weren't too good to be true, and just where the catch was.

Cawley Suspended For 3 Months in 1936 From Practice of Law

The records of the Appellate Division of the New York State Supreme Court reveal these facts about Thomas J. P. Cawley:

1. Charges were preferred against him on November 6, 1935. These charges involved unprofessional conduct. The referee made no recommendation.

2. On Nov. 30, 1936, the Appellate Division suspended him from practice of the law for three months, with permission to apply for readmission after that time. On March 20, 1937, Mr. Cawley was readmitted.

In a statement to The LEADER, Mr. Cawley claimed innocence of the charges which had led to his suspension.

A committee representing AS-CSE employees met last week with Budget John Burton, and discussed a number of proposals which Mr. Burton promised to take up with the Governor.

The following suggestions were made:

- 1) A change in salary for attendants to lift their salary schedule from $1,200 - $1,600 to $1,300 - $1,700.
- 2) An increase in the salary range for nurses.
- 3) Change in rules to allow employees to eat their meals out and remove the requirements for employees to eat one meal a day in the hospital at a cost of $10 a month.
- 4) Protection of any employee against loss of salary or promotional rights because of the application of higher and lower titles.

Information from Albany reveals that no legal intervention is necessary for persons who feel they should have a different classification. The State Budget Director says bluntly that the Governor wants these classifications to be fair (see article on this page under Mental Hygiene).

THE COURTS Nurses Fight

A court case which a group of City employees thought they had won was thrown back into the fight last week when the City was given permission by the Court of Appeals for another hearing.

The public health nurses who have been fighting their reclassification by the Civil Service Commission which took increments away when they were regraded, won in the Appellate Division when the judges unanimously declared that the law hadn't been followed in their case.

Here's what happened. The Civil Service Commission held public hearings and issued the regrading order. The Mayor signed it, and then, instead of following the usual procedure and sending the matter to the State Civil Service Commission for approval, it was OK'd by the Board of Estimate.

The Nurses said this wasn't according to Hoyle and began to fight for their increments.

Now the battle is on again.
