Strike against Upstate Transportation Consortium by CSEA-represented bus drivers begins in the rain.

CSEA's Longest Fight Wins PS&T Employee's Job, Pay

BRONX—The Civil Service Employees Assn. has won reinstatement with full back pay and benefits for a member of the Professional, Scientific and Technical Bargaining Unit suspended without pay on Sept. 16, 1976, from his job as Psychiatrist II at Bronx Psychiatric Center. The victory followed the longest disciplinary arbitration in CSEA history.

At the time of the suspension, Hugh Butts, director of Bronx Psychiatric, alleged that Amjed Hussain was wrong in allowing the transfer of a particular patient from the intensive care unit of which Dr. Hussain was in charge, to another ward in the hospital. The patient committed suicide 17 days after the transfer.

"The charges against Dr. Hussain were an attempt by Dr. Butts to cover up for the incompetence of the Department of Mental Hygiene," said Tom Linden, CSEA's coordinator of legal services.

Dr. Hussain immediately filed a contract grievance and, William P. Volin, then-CSEA regional attorney with the firm of Mailman and Volin, supported.

The case, Mr. Linden said, showed "not only how far CSEA will go in defense of its members, but also how far the state will go in trying to find a scape-goat for its own mistakes."

The case involved, among other things:

—The highest number of arbitration hearing days in CSEA's history—27, over an eight-month period.

-More than 4,000 pages of testimony and summation.

—More than 150 exhibits entered as evidence before arbitrator Philip Feldblum.

Willowbrook Taskforce Appointed By Region II

MANHATTAN—Metropolitan Region II of the Civil Service Employees Assn. last week passed a resolution calling for a taskforce to investigate the layoff situation at Willowbrook Developmental Center, and the general problem of contracting out and deinstitutionalization in the Mental Hyglene system.

Regional president Solomon Bendet appointed a committee composed of the Mental Hygiene Local presidents, with Regional first vice-president William De-Martino as chairman.

Mr. Bendet indicated that he would ask the statewide CSEA

Board of Directors to allocate funds, "to help fight the disintegration of Willowbrook."

The Region also passed a resolution opposing proposed changes in the CSEA constitution which would permit the union to represent private employees working for firms with which the state contracts out.

Saratoga Springs Bus Drivers Win: End 9-Day Strike

SARATOGA SPRINGS—A nine-day strike by Saratoga Springs school bus drivers has ended with the unanimous ratification of a contract that the Civil Service Employees Assn., which represents the drivers and mechanics involved, calls "a complete and total victory for the employees that puts school boards all across the state on notice that contracting out of bus service is a poor proposition loaded with pitfalls."

The approximately 65 drivers and mechanics voted to strike the night of Sept. 19 and immediately set up picket lines around the Saratoga City School District bus garage. The determined strikers kept the line up 24-hours a day for the next nine days, keeping all school district buses idle in a school district of 7,000 pupils, the vast majority of which normally are bused.

The complicated situation developed when the school district violated a two-year contract between the CSEA and the district on July 1 by eliminating the drivers and mechanics from district employment and contracted out busing service to a private contractor, Upstate Transit Consortium of Rochester. The CSEA contract still had a year to run when it was dissolved by the district.

The employees were hired by Upstate, but drivers and mechanics found they were being paid an average of 50-cents-perhour less than when they were district employees under the CSEA contract. Additionally, they had no contract of any type with Upstate, and became increasingly alarmed over job security when Alvin Skellie, a mechanic, was fired almost immediately by Upstate for union-

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW ST. LAWRENCE PSYCH FACILITY

Among the 12 dignitaries taking part in ground-breaking ceremonies for new $10.7 million facility at St. Lawrence Psychiatric Center were, from left, George McCarthy, president of CSEA Local 423; Lee Hanes, director of St. Lawrence Psychiatric Center; Charles W. Kelly, chairman of Project BUILD, and James Moore, CSEA Region V president. Mr. McCarthy called the facility, "a concrete example of what happens when all the people join hands for the common good." Although he would not detail any complaints he reviewed or name the officers involved, he estimated that more than 100 "patently false" complaints against officers are filed each year, many of them dealing with police brutality, theft of property from suspects, and indiscriminate ticket writing.

"We feel that some of these are prompted by an individual arrest by an officer who feels free to file a complaint in order to destroy the credibility of that officer in court," said Mr. Arniotes, a former Civil Court judge who previously managed the PBA's legal assistance program.

He explained the PBA usually took no action on false complaints filed against its members with the Civilian Complaint Review Board and other official agencies, "and our silence was seen as verification of the allegations."

Mr. Arniotes said establishment of the division is not intended to intimidate civilians from filing complaints against officers where there is a legitimate question of improper action by the officer.

"But we are trying to alert people that they better think twice about filing their complaints where there are no grounds," he said.

"I am not interested in lining the pockets of officers with gold," he said. "But you can only sit there and get hit for so long."

Two Named To DA's Staff

A former New York City public school teacher and a former drug program counselor have been named Queens assistant district attorneys, Queens District Attorney John Santucci announced last week.

State's 4 Percent Raises Due This Month

By MARVIN BAXLEY

All state employees in the four Bargaining Units may expect pay raises this month if they were on the payroll March 31. This includes persons who were promoted since then.

In attempting to answer some questions concerning the 4 percent pay hike due state employees this month, other questions were raised in the Leader article that appeared in the Sept. 23. 1977, edition of the paper.

Some specific answers appear in the Letters to the Editor column in this issue on Page 7.

Here we will attempt to provide additional information in reaction to telephone inquiries to the previous article.

To begin with, the people affected are those state employees who are included within the four Bargaining Units represented by the Civil Service Employees Assn. These Bargaining Units are Administrative Services, Institutional Services, Operational Services and Professional-Scientific-Technical (PST).

In addition, Judicial employees are on the same time schedule and have a similar contract. By Judicial employees, however, we mean people such as represented in Court of Claims Local 694 in Albany as well as certain other locations in New York City. Not included are Judicial employees who were merged into the Central Court Administration effective last April 1. These merged Judicial workers are covered by existing local contracts that were ratified prior to April 1.

For the record, it should also be stated that the term "state employees" within the framework of this article does not include Authorities, Armories or uniformed personnel of the Division of State Police, who are covered separately.

Another qualification to determine eligibility for the 4 percent pay raise this month is that the employee must have been on the payroll as of March 31, 1977. All employees on the payroll now and those hired up to March 31, 1978, will be eligible for the final 5 percent pay raise to be effective April 1, 1978.

The 4 percent is based on an individual's salary as of April 1, 1977. The 5 percent increase next year will be based on the person's individual salary as of March 31, 1978, plus increment on April 1, 1978, if eligible to receive the increment.

For those persons who have accepted promotions and were approved prior to Sept. 30 last week, the 4 percent raise will be based on the lower grade salary that was in effect April 1, 1977. Next year's 5 percent will be based on the higher grade promotion salary in effect on April 1, 1978.

CSEA director of research William Blom explained that everyone, including those persons at the top of their lower grade salary, may expect to improve their income status. Those persons who were making more money at the lower grade than the starting salary of the higher grade promotion title are covered by a formula that gives them a one-step increment above their current salary.

As a specific example that was worked out in response to one telephone inquiry, Mr. Blom noted that a Grade 3 employee was making $7,471 and was promoted to a Grade 5 in the final days of last month. That person's salary at the Grade 5 then became $7,776, since a $305 increment of the higher grade was also added. On Oct. 1 the person became eligible for an additional $400 as a result of the contract agreement. If the promotion were not effective until after Oct. 1. there would be no additional increase until next April.

Without the promotion, the person would have been making $7,871; with the promotion the person's salary is $8,171. The 5 percent raise next year will be based on the $8,171 figure.

Again, remember that we are writing this to simplify the explanation. We are using the terms "4 percent" and "5 percent," although for employees whose salaries are less than $10,-000 the increases are given as flat amounts, $400 and $500, which are greater than the percentage figures. Over $10,000, the percentage figures are worth more.

Some confusion developed from our article's effort to explain the pay raise as it affected persons who were in Grades 1, 2 and 3 and were making a minimum salary. The minimum here is actually higher than some employee's basic annual salary for the grades. In these cases the increases are added to the basic annual salary-not to the minimum salary. As a result, these persons may receive less than the $400 this month, but would still gain some additional money.

Mr. Blom explained that the salary schedule for a Grade 1 does not reach the one-year minimum of $6,000 until the employee has been in that grade for three years, and does not reach the two-year minimum of $6,500 until the employee has been in that grade for 10 years.

A grade 2 tops the minimum of $6,000 in the third year and $6,500 in the fifth year, Mr. Blom noted No employees from Grade 3 or above should receive less than the full $400, if they were on payroll April 1, 1977.

As a result of our explaining the situation for these lower grades, some people were led to believe that the increases were based on the starting salaries for each grade. This is not so. The increases are based on the individual's actual salary, including increments. (But remember, this month's raises are based on the actual salary as of April 1, 1977.)

Similarly, persons who promoted since March 31 are not regarded as new hires, although their raises are based on the lower-grade salary.

As a factual side note here, it should be pointed out that increments were guaranteed in the previous contract. In our previous article, it was stated that the new contract is an extension of the existing agreement. The existing contract is a new one, commencing April 1, 1977. and running through March 31, 1979, although certain benefits were covered by the old contract for the time before the new contract was ratified by the membership and approved by the Legislature and the Governor.

Mr. Blom also said that he had received some inquiries from people who were confused by our use of $114.45, $105 and $100 to show the difference of increase to be expected by people who were hired on different dates. These figures do not represent actual figures, but were for the purpose of comparison. We could just as easily have stated the figures as $1,144.50, $1,050 and $1,000 in order to make the point, but that might have led some people to expect too much, just as other people reacted to our lower figures as being too little. We chose the 100 number because that is a common practice in explaining such ratios. Any other numbers might have served as well, since no single number is truly representative for the increases to be expected by employees in all grades.

Since our article appeared, Mr. Blom's office has been deluged with requests for forms that we said were available in order to gather data for the union's legal action to iron out some remaining discrepancies between the union and the state interpretations of the contract.

Availability of the forms was a misunderstanding on our part, based on information from a source other than Mr. Blom. Mr. Blom expressed embarrassment for being taken off guard when the requests were made for the forms. In actuality the forms were used by his office in report-

Break Ground For Psych Center Addition After Joint Effort

OGDENSBURG-Civil Service Employees Assn. officials at the local, region and state level recently participated in a ground-breaking ceremony for construction of the $18.5 million addition to the St. Lawrence Psychiatric Center here.

The project, centering on a new 304-bed facility, represents the first major construction at the hospital in 40 years, and also the first adult residential construction since 1898. The facility, which will eventually house the entire hospital, will give residents more. privacy than the present structures, which contain many large

Representing the CSEA, whose Local 423 membership includes a wide segment of employees at the psychiatric center, were Local president George McCarthy; Central Region V president James Moore and CSEA statewide president William McGowan. About 400 people attended the ceremony. There were 11 groundbreakers—an attempt to recognize all those who had a hand in getting the project approved.

Lee D. Hanes, director of the center, said the building project was proof of what can be accomplished through the joint effort of the community, health care and legislative leaders. Other speakers included Robert A. Mc-Kinley, first deputy commissioner of the Department of Mental Hygiene: Ogdensburg Mayor Joseph D. Denny; State Senator H. Douglas Barclay, and Charles W. Kelly, chairman of Project BUILD, a coalition of business, labor, political and health officials who successfully pushed for construction of the multi-million-dollar facility.

At the ceremony, Mr. McCarthy said, in part: "We are breaking this ground today because of the work of many people. Governor Carey promised to support this building. But Governor Carey was unable to accomplish this alone. Some people did not see the need for this new building. I am proud that it was this chapter of the CSEA that launched the campaign to help the Governor help the patients."

Reserve Decision On Wenzl Protest

ALBANY - State Supreme Court Justice ballots were of the punch-card type that lawsuit brought by former Civil Service Employees Assn. president Theodore C. Wenzl seeking a manual recount of ballots that were counted by computer in the election of statewide CSEA officers held last summer. Dr. Wenzl lost his re-election bid by 38 votes to William L. McGowan.

Dr. Wenzl, represented by Albany attorney Edward Bookstein, is maintaining that printing errors occurred during the preparation of the election ballots that could have resulted in confusion as to which hole corresponded to which candidate's name. The

At the recent hearing held before Judge Pennock during State Supreme Court special term, CSEA Counsel James Roemer asked for dismissal of Dr. Wenzl's suit on the grounds that a proper protest was not filed before the previously agreed-to cut-off date.

Although the Supreme Court Justice has reserved decision, he continued an order directing the data processing firm that conducted the original election to "preserve all election materials in viable condition pending resolution of the case."

The state would not reveal how much money it spent in its action against Dr. Hussain, but sources estimate the amount to be at least $25,000.

"The state hired two private New York City attorneys to 'get' Dr. Hussain," Mr. Linden said. "This shows how little the Department of Mental Hygiene thinks of the taxpayers who support it, when they spend thousands of dollars in a totally unjustified attack on an employee Testimony during the hearings revealed that Dr. Hussain, a 14year state employee, had been chief of the intensive care unit at Brenx Psychiatric since its inception there four years ago. He not only had an unblemished record but also had received numerous accolades from fellow professionals and families of people in his care. Among those who had praised his performance and the administration of his unit several times in the pastin writing-was Dr. Butts.

It also turned out that the president of the Bronx Psychiatric board of visitors recalled Dr. Butts using Dr. Hussain's ICU "as a model in terms of treatment, administration, cleanliness, and everything else."

Evidence was also offered by the CSEA showing that Dr. Hussain was a nationally-recognized expert on patients with homicidal and suicidal tendencies.

"The testimony brought forth at the hearings also proved that the patient in question was actually transferred by direct of the Department of Mental Hygiene in Albany, and not by Dr. Hussain at all," Mr. Linden noted. "The case was an embarrassment to the state. It showed the incompetence of the DMH and the great length to which the DMH would go to unjustly blame Dr. Hussain for the unfortunate death of the patient."

Wages ranging from $2.68 an hour at laborer entrance levels to $7.76 an hour as the top for an electrical repairman are listed in a report on selected public blue collar jobs in 29 cities in the state.

The study was prepared by the research office of the Public Employment Relations Board from contracts on file with PERB.

Among the titles included in the report are laborer, janitor, water and sewer maintenance man, motor equipment operator, sewer and water plant operator, heavy equipment operator, automotive mechanic, mason, watchman, building maintenance man, tree trimmer, carpenter, boiler maintenance man and a number of additional titles. The information includes the base salary and the various steps to reach the top of the grade, plus information on longevity increments.

Commerce Dept. Jobs Are Shifted

ALBANY — State Commerce Commissioner John S. Dyson last week announced long-planned organizational changes in his department to improve its industrial development and marketing —advertising programs.

The major change is the reassignment of some 15 aides to the department's 13 regional territories. The move will significantly increase the department's ability to encourage and ease expansion of industrial firms already located in the state and aid the relocation of firms from Canada, Europe and the Far East, said Mr. Dyson. They will also provide better liaison with local development groups, Chambers of Commerce, Industrial Development agencies, he said. Staff members assigned to regional offices will be drawn primarily from a pool of industrial development representatives who worked out of Albany but traveled around the country.

A new force of 13 ombudsmen will also be added to the department's Division of Ombudsmen and Small Business Services, giving each regional office enough workers to provide the full range of Commerce Department services to business and industry. Department regional offices and territories are: Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Elmira, Kingston, Long Island, Montreal, New York City, Ogdensburg, Rochester, Syracuse, Toronto and Utica.

At department headquarters in Albany, meanwhile, the recently organized Commerce Action team has been strengthened and enlarged. This group, available on a moment's notice, is designed to act in situations which come up with little warning, said the commissioner.

Department broadcast and photographic services, film, radio, still photography, and videotape units will be consolidated into one division, the Division of Marketing/Advertising.

The State Civil Service Department is recruiting for the new title of senior minority group personnel specialist, which is open for filing until Nov. 14, to college graduates who are knowledgeable in the problems of ethnic minorities.

Engineering Tech. Filing Open Until October 31

The State Civil Service Department has opened filing until Oct. 31 for engineering technician and senior engineering technician.

Open competitive tests will be held for both titles Dec. 3. Engineering technician (Exam no. 24-595) requires a high school diploma and two years' experience helping in the field of civil engineering. It pays $7,816 in New York City.

Senior engineering technician (24-506) requires an extra year of experience and pays $9,229 in the city.

Forms can be obtained at the State Civil Service Department, Two World Trade Center, New York.

Non-minorities may qualify with one year's experience working with minority groups in the areas of counseling, personnel or research. Also qualifying is a major in American Indian, black or Hispanic culture studies. Minority members who graduated college qualify automatically.

An examination will be given Dec. 3 (Exam no. 24-600) consisting of a qualifying portion to test reading skills and a weighted portion to test for knowledge, skills and abilities related to contemporary problems and issues facing government and society.

Potential candidates will also be given a qualifying oral test

Appointees begin as trainees with a salary of $10,118. After one year the appointee advances to trainee II with a $10,714 salary and after a year at that level is appointed to the G-18 level, which currently pays $13,404.

The job was created to deal with the planning and assessment of the ethnic implications of state personnel programs as part of a review of the traditional hiring policies and practices used by government in selection of employees.

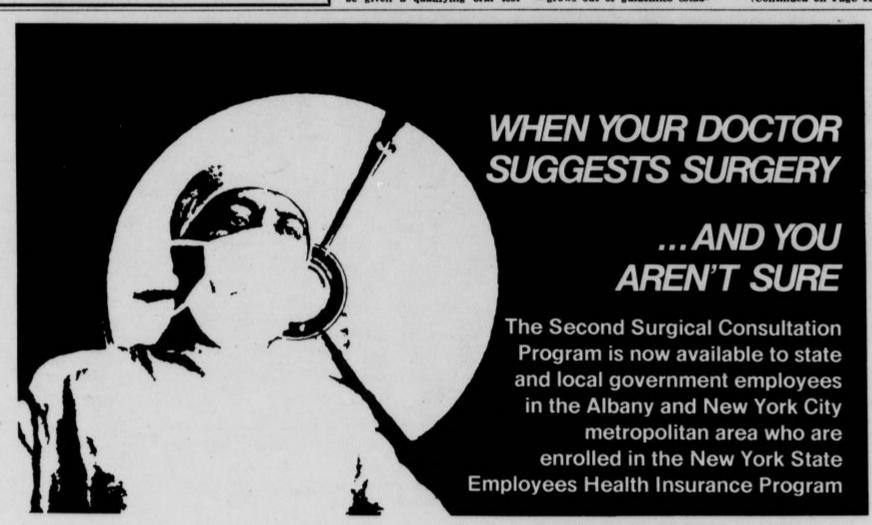

The review-which is to include elimination of tests, policies and practices which hinder employment and advancement of minorities in state government -grows out of guidelines estabEqual Employment Opportunity Commission, recent court decisions and Gov. Hugh Carey's executive order no. 40.

The eligible list resulting from the examinations will initially be used to fill 10 positions in the Civil Service Department in Albany and subsequently to fill positions in state agencies as they occur.

The new job may involve interviewing, evaluation of credentials and experience, bias-free test review and development, recruitment, and counseling.

Application forms may be obtained in person at Two World Trade Center, 55th Floor, New York, Harlem State Office

Why is this program offered?

Surgical Consultations can be expensive. The cost of a second opinion may, in the past, have prevented patients from seeking consultations. The Second Surgical Consultation Program removes this cost barrier by paying the full cost of a consultation arranged by the program. Any X-rays and laboratory test required to complete the consultation will also be paid.

All surgery involves certain risks. In some cases, the consultant may suggest an alternative method of treatment, or may recommend that surgery is not necessary. If the need for surgery is confirmed, a second surgical consultation offers peace of mind to the patient and reassurance to the doctor that the proposed surgery is the best treatment for the patient. Consultations offer you and your physician a way to achieve the highest quality of medical care possible.

A Career Saved

T was a long, hard-fought battle, the longest and costliest in the Civil Service Employees Assn.'s history.

It marked the highest number of arbitration hearing days-it lasted eight months-in the union's history. There were 4,000 pages of testimony and summation, 150 exhibits, and testimony by "expert" witnesses. In the end, though, the CSEA won a bittersweet victory.

What does it all mean?

It shows that when a union does its job and really cares about the welfare of its members, justice usually prevails. It proves that the CSEA is willing to fight injustice wherever the union encounters it and damn the expenses, the toil and the anguish. It means that the CSEA is a responsible union that does its job. It makes no difference if the union member seeking help is a high-salaried official who can afford to hire his own batch of lawyers and spokesmen, or a lowly paid and overworked stiff who contributes only a few dollars a year to the union's treasury. The union is there to battle for their rights whenever the rights of the union member are threatened.

Amjed Hussain must be breathing easily as he celebrates his vindication. He is the former psychiatrist at the Bronx Psychiatric Center who was suspended from his post Sept. 16, 1976, after a mental patient he was accused of ordering transferred from the hospital's intensive care unit to a ward, committed suicide 17 days after the transfer.

The incident was a tragedy, the kind of misfortune that should be avoided at all costs whenever possible. But, too often when something like that happens, people are more interested in blaming someone (almost always someone else) and obtaining that proverbial pound of flesh.

It seemed the pound of flesh had to come from the hide of Dr. Hussain. Hugh Butts, the hospital director, charged that Dr. Hussain should not have permitted the transfer. Dr. Butts suspended him without pay. Testimony at the hearing that led to Dr. Hussain's reinstatement last week with full back pay, however, showed that the State Department of Mental Hygiene, and not Dr. Hussain, ordered the

And, because of this, Dr. Hussain lived for more than a year in uncertainty.

Neither the union nor the state took the case lightly, which was proper. The state almost certainly outspent CSEA in attempting to prove the state's weak point against Dr. Hussain who, up until that bleak day last September, had an exemplary record as a doctor and employee. This was taxpayers' money that could have been put to better use. We consider it unconscionable for the taxpayers to have to pay for the prosecution of a doctor charged with committing an act actually committed by the state. It was a simple coverup, but one of serious proportions, very similar to the one perpetrated by the Watergate conspirators.

We noted earlier that the victory was bittersweet. It is always sweet when justice is upheld and a dedicated public servant's career is saved. But there is often bitterness after the end of a case that should never have gone to trial, or an accusation, that should never have been made, has been the water to have any (H.A.T.) out be station more cast ovari & che dividade se

Don't Repeat This!

CSEA Convention: An Opportunity For Exchange Of Views

When the Civil Service Employees Assn. meets next week at Kiamesha Lake, it will be the first time in many years that the delegates will have a real chance to devote themselves to some of the many details of union organization that have been pushed into the background by a series of crises faced by the giant union in recent years.

As a recent example, the March convention earlier this year was dominated by concern over contracts for the four major bargaining Units represented by the CSEA.

In other years there have been problems dealing with challenges by rival organizations, the possibility of affiliation with another union, strike votes and the lengthy restructuring process to make the CSEA even more democratic. Along the way, there have been other contract disputes.

This is not to say that this convention next week will be routine

Quite the contrary.

Consensus And Unity

When there are major problems, the CSEA delegates have a way of arriving at a consensus and acting in unity. Oftentimes, these problems have been aired at Local and Region meetings, so that much of the arguing and exchange of opinions has been got out of the way.

But when it comes to details, some CSEA delegates tend to become emotional as they argue minor points that leave other delegates shaking their heads in disbelief.

Far better, though, for some rather heated exchanges that afford a learning opportunity than for misunderstandings and differences of opinion to be continued in silence.

The CSEA is a very diverse group. Not only are there the two major Divisions: State and County, but each of these has numerous sub-categories.

The convention meetings are held at departmental, divisional and sometimes regional levels prior to the full business sessions that include everyone.

A Big Battle?

It's hard to tell, at this point, what will emerge as the big battle of this meeting.

One possible floor fight might develop over contracting out of services. In this area, Metropolitan Region II and Capital Region IV are already on record in opposition camps about whether to accept as members those workers from private contractors who are performing public employee work.

Current examples of this disagreement can be cited in the Willowbrook battle against the United Cerebral Palsy takeover at the Staten Island Mental Hygiene institution and the Saratoga Springs bus drivers' strike that ended in Upstate Transit Consortium's recognition of the CSEA as the employees' bargain-

Jobs Abolished

In the preparation of its budget for the 1975-1976 school year, the North Syracuse Central School District, because of financial difficulties, abolished certain positions and

This included 13 school nurses-teachers, four driver education teachers, two guidance counselors, and a parttime reading teacher.

The budget was approved by the voters and, accordingly, the employment of these specialist teachers was terminated.

A grievance was brought by the North Syracuse Education Association on behalf of the discharged employees. The dispute was not resolved at the pre-arbitration steps of the grievance procedure and, therefore, the grievance was referred by the association to arbitration. The issues confronting the arbitrator were:

"Did the school district violate its Sept. 9, 1974-July 1, 1976, contract agreement with the association when it abolished the positions. If so, what shall the remedy be?"

The arbitrator, on April 19, 1976, sustained the grievance of the discharged personnel with the exception of the part-time reading teacher, and on July 13, 1976, awarded back pay with reinstatement for the school year 1976-77.

On appeal to the Supreme Court, Appellate Division, Fourth Department, the school district contended that the district cannot legally expend funds to reinstate programs once the budget has been approved by the voters and, therefore, the question was not arbitrable.

The court held that the issue was properly within the scope of arbitration since the dispute involved the "terms and conditions of employment under a collective bargaining agreement" and that the merits of the dispute were for the arbitrator and not the court.

The court, however, did find that the arbitrator exceeded his authority by awarding reinstatement for the school year 1976-77, which was beyond the duration of the contract under which the arbitration was held. The court stated that reinstatement of a discharged employee and payment to him of back salary are proper remedies. Also, an arbitrator may act after the termination date of a contract to determine if there was any breach during its existence and take such action as to make the injured party whole for any loss suffered during a contract period. The court concluded that in this case the discharged grievants could be made whole by the award of back pay during the life of the contract.

They held that the arbitrator exceeded his power in contravention of Article 15 of the contract, which "enjoins the arbitrator from adding to, modifying or subtracting from the agreement, by the additional award of reinstatement beyond the life of the contract." ### WHAT'S YOUR OPINION RETIREMENT

By PAMELA CRAIG

THE PLACE: South Beach Psychiatric Center, Staten Island

QUESTION: When critics charge there is mistreatment of patients in the state's Mental Hygiene institutions, how do you respond?

Trois Jackson, evening coordinator: "I personally feel that people should come into the unit and work with the patients themselves. It should be at least for eight hours or an eight-hour night shift. I feel they would see for themselves that there is no mistreatment. They most likely would see mistreatment of the staff. When they say justice is blind, then that is what we are getting here, the blind side of justice. We only get the negative criticism. Half of our staff has been out because of injuries inflicted by patients. We are practically handcuffed, yet we are always in the wrong."

Leon Smith, assistant therapist: "I feel that the patients of South Beach are not being hurt. We're short of staff now, so they take advantage of the situation at night. I know this because I work nights. Nobody hurts the patients here. There are no bars on the windows. They eat three mealsea day. They have a pool. We take them on trips all the time. I really feel the patients are not abused here. I was attacked by a girl when there was no provocation. She jumped and kicked me in the chest. There should be more assistant therapists at night to work with the patients so they will understand that we are here to help them, not hurt them."

Tom Gregor, social worker: "Abuse is rampant in the Mental Health system. Patient-to-staff and staff-topatient abuse result from poor administration, inadequate funding and a policy that treats disabled people as nothing more than fiscal and political burdens on the government. Treated as second class citizens, they are denied even reasonable financial security. The staff is abused by the state by being denied the services and resources needed to provide adequate care for the patients. In addition, mental hygiene workers are denied the basic right to a sense of job security."

Tom Lee, therapy aide: "Speaking specifically for South Beach, as a rule, there is more abuse of the staff by patients. The treatment is generally quite good even though our unit has one of the highest percentages of staff being hurt by patients. The public is not always informed properly. They never hear about the staffers getting hurt and not even getting disability. I was hurt in March, and I am still waiting for reimbursement for the hospital bill. My nose was broken and my eye was cut vet they want further proof. I feel there is no real mistreatment here at South Beach."

Jim Siniscalchi, therapy aide: "I respond to the charge with outrage. I'm outraged because the staff gets abused physically and verbally every day. Our unit is receiving many patients who come from Mid-Hudson Correctional facility, Kings County Prison Ward and other correctional facilities. We really give the best care possible and rarely does a staff member verbally abuse a patient after he has been verbally abused. We do not throw chairs at the patients or attack them without provocation. I feel that the charges are fed to the newspapers by the parents who, unfortunately, believe the delusions of their children."

Mim Perez, assistant team leader: "I respond with anger. All patients, when they enter the hospital, are told their rights by the state staff lawyer. I'm shocked when I hear about patient abuse because I feel that nobody could . get away with it here at South Beach. I know how protective we are and I would hope that the public would hear that we are here to cure them, not make their lives miserable. The patient today is heard and has rights. It's about time the public is educated about the protection of the patient today."

SSI Tips

People who plan to apply for supplemental security income (SSI) payments can help speed the processing of their claims.

SSI payments are made to people 65 and over, blind, or disabled and who don't own much property or have much income. SSI is administered by social security.

They can help by getting together material to support claims before they contact a social security office to apply.

Claimants should first get the following information:

- · Proof of age, unless the person already gets social security
- The person's latest tax bill or assessment notice if the person owns real property other than his own home.
- Name of persons helping support the applicant and the amount of money provided.
- Bank books, stock certificates and bonds.
- Motor vehicle registration.
- · Proof of pension and annuities.
- · A copy of the person's most recent tax return, if self-employed.
- If blind or disabled, a list of the doctors, hospitals or clinics where treated.

A person can apply for SSI payments at any social security office. The basic federal SSI payment is $177.80 a month for an individual and $266.70 for couples. Not everyone gets this much, however, because other income usually causes SSI payments to be reduced.

The value of a person's real and personal property may have an effect on eligibility. Not all property counts, however. A person's home doesn't count and neither does a car of reasonable value, nor small life insurance

(Continued from Page 6) position of principal psychologist to a permanent appointment of associate psychologist. The Supreme Court, Appellate Division, Second Department, held that a provisional appointee may be discharged from such position without hearing or cause.

Petitioner was permanently appointed to the position of associate psychologist in March 1970. Thereafter, he was promoted to the position of principal psychologist, which was a provisional appointment. In December 1975, he was summarily removed from the latter position and was reinstated to his permanent position of associate psychologist. Petitioner then instituted this Article 78 proceeding to annul his removal and demotion. Petitioner relied on Section 75 of the Civil Service Law which prohibits the removal of a person holding a position by permanent appointment in the competitive class, except for incompetency or misconduct shown after a hearing upon st charges. The court noted that here the petitioner was not removed from a permanent appointment. Rather, he was removed from a position he held by a provisional appointment. The court concluded that the removal of a provisional appointee is governed by Section 65 of the Civil Service Law, not Section 75, and according to that section, a provisional appointee may be discharged without hearing or cause. ### Clarifications On State Workers' 4% This Month

Promotion

Editor, The Leader:

After reading your article, "Will You Get 4 Percent Pay Hike?" in the Sept. 23 issue of the Leader, I found myself wondering: Would I?

You see, I am about to get appointed to a Grade 11 provisional appointment ($9,300) from a Grade 9 ($8,700). Now if I get this promotion, would it mean that I do not get the 4 percent pay hike? I was with the state before March 31, 1977, and I fought for the 14 pe pay hike. And, just because I qualify and passed for a promotion, the 4 percent and the 5 percent pay hikes, respectively. should not be held back from me.

In other words, if an employce is good enough to be promoted, he or she would be discriminated against when it comes to a promotion.

And what would happen if I cannot handle my new position and get "shot back" to a 9? Would I be eligible or ineligible for the money that is due to me? Please help, if you can. LESLIE PAGE Queens

ED's NOTE: You're not the only one we confused with our effort to oversimplify a complicated explanation. To begin with, since both your lower grade (9) and your higher grade (the provisional 11) pay less than $10,000 annually, the figures we are discussing here are $400 (for the October 1977 raise) and $500 (for the April 1978 raise), both figures considerably higher than the 4 $10,000, of course, the percentage figures are worth more. To return to your basic question, though, the answer is Yes, you do receive both the October $400 and the next-April $500 if your promotion took effect before Oct. 1. If for some reason you should have to retreat to your former grade, there is no cause to fear losing the $400 or $500. That, I believe, clarifies your ituation. For persons making over $10,000, the answers are Employees Assn. director of research William Blom explains that the October pay raise will be based on the promoted individual's pre-promotion lowergrade salary, but that next April's pay raise will be based on the higher-grade promotion salary. Regardless of whether salaries are under or over $10,-000, though, note that we are discussing promotions that take effect prior to the next scheduled pay increases. If, for example, a promotion was delayed past Oct. 1, you do not carry the $400 pay raise with you, but next April's may still be expected. In no case, though, should there be a wage loss, since promotions provide for an increment based on the higher grade for those people whose current lower-grade salary already exceeds the base for the promotion title.

Hold Western Region Political Action Seminar

Assemblyman Thomas Frey, Democrat from the 132nd district, urges members of Western Region VI of the Civil Service Employees Assn. gathered at a recent political action seminar in Batavia, to become involved in politics. At the head table, listening to Mr. Frey's remarks are, from left, Republican state committee woman Mary Rita Miller; Assemblyman Robin Schimminger, Democrat from the 140th district; Patricia Koenig, staff worker for Mr. Frey; Assemblyman James F. Nagle, Republican from the 135th district, and CSEA attorney Stephen Wiley.

Martin Koenig, president of Monroe County Local and cochairman of Western Region VI political action committee, greets area politicians and CSEA participants.

Region VI third vice-president and political action committee co-chairman Ramona Gallagher participated in the seminar's panel discussion.

James Stewart, left, CSEA field representative, confers during the weekend with Region VI president Robert Lattimer, who closed the seminar by saying that in the matter of political action what was needed was, "a maximum effort from a maximum number of people."

Region VI education chairman Celeste Rosenkranz served as moderator of the afternoon panel discussion which covered topics related to participation in politics by union members.

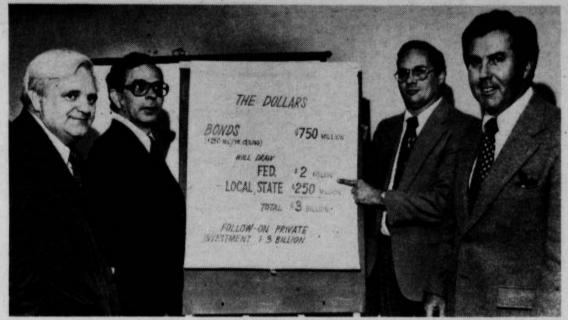

Assemblyman Robin Schimminger, Democrat from the 140th district, addressed the CSEA members gathered at the Western Region political action seminar and, like other legislative leaders there, urged greater participation in the political process.

Members of CSEA Region VI applaud the members of the political action seminar panel who discussed various topics related to union involvement in politics. The general conclusion drawn from the discussions was that more political involvement would benefit the union.

Timothy McInerney, chairman of special Transportation committee, addresses grievance administration workshop gathering of 120 CSEA local presidents and state management representatives from 10 state DOT regions.

Drivers Win, End Strike

The striking employees vowed not to return to work until several conditions were met, including the signing by Upstate Transit of a contract equivalent in every respect to the contract they had between the CSEA and the school district, the reinstatement of Mr. Skellie, and formal recognition of the CSEA as the employees' labor union.

The State Mediation Board entered the dispute almost immediately, with mediator William MacWilliams conducting eight days of almost continuous sessions attempting to resolve the situation. Saratoga Springs Mayor Raymond Watkin entered the scene as an additional mediator mid-way through the strike, and the final agreement was hammered out in the Mayor's office at City Hall with both mediators present. Within an hour of getting the signature of Upstate Transit president Robert Stanton on the tentative agreement, the CSEA-represented drivers and mechanics were holding a jubilant ratification session to approve the new contract, which runs through June 30, 1978.

Meanwhile, two legal actions brought by CSEA against the school district continue in effect and could ultimately return the employees to civil service status as school district employees. The CSEA is awaiting a ruling on an improper practice charge over contracting out from the State Public Employment Relations Board, and a decision from State Supreme Court, where a judge reserved decision on several charges challenging the legality of the contracting out.

Two Contracts

CSEA regional supervisor John Corcoran, who coordinated the strike, said, "In effect, we now have two comparable contracts covering the employees. If they are ultimately ruled to still be school district employees, we have the prior contract the district violated, and if they remain private employees of Upstate, then we have the equivalent contract negotiated during the strike."

The contract calls for all prior benefits and provisions of the CSEA-school district contract. and includes a 6 percent pay hike the employees would have received under the CSEA contract but which Upstate Transit did not honor. The contract also formally recognizes CSEA as the legal representative of the currently private employees of Upstate. And mechanic Alvin Skellie was reinstated with full back pay and benefits to the date he was fired. "A complete and total victory for the employees, they got every single item they struck for and did not concede a single thing, which I think shows what can be achieved with solid support and determination of employees during a strike," according to Mr. Corcoran.

CSEA Capital Region president Joseph McDermott, who had high praise for the striking employees and for CSEA staff employees who were on the scene around the clock to coordinate and assist in the strike activities, said, "This problem was resolved much more smoothly under the private sector rules than they would have been under the Taylor Law. . . the Taylor Law should be fair and equal to all sides as is the private sector rules, and I think this situation clearly shows that it is not and that public employees are treated much more unfairly under similar conditions."

Mr. Corcoran also praised the striking employees, noting "they stayed united and determined under very difficult conditions

Hold Third Annual DOT-Labor Seminar

ORISKANY—More than 120 Civil Service Employees Assn. officers and management representatives from ten Department of Transportation regions attended the third annual CSEA-DOT Labor Seminar, Sept. 15-17, at the Horizon Motor Inn, Oriskany.

The three-day event conducted under the chairmanship of Timothy McInerney, statewide head of CSEA DOT committee. and assisted by collective bargaining specialists Joseph Reedy and Thomas Linden, and host Local 505 president Nicholas Cimino, included seminar topics ranging from affirmative action, Local labor management, disciplinary procedure, safety, education and training, 1977 contract improvements, as well as a grievance administration workshop and open discussion involving the economic development bond issue. Question - and - Answer sessions followed each meeting throughout the schedule.

In statements to news media covering the seminar, David Zaron, DOT assistant commissioner for manpower and employee relations, indicated the overall seminar was "highly successful, with productive input from both the CSEA membership and management. This is the third annual DOT Labor Seminar and they get better each year with total involvement and discussions by both sides. This is a labor-management meeting at its best—with both sides learning through participation," Mr. Zaron said.

Other state DOT management personnel attending the third session included: John Downey, executive deputy commissioner; Bruce McQueen, principal agency labor relations representative; Steve Daly, director of DOT personnel; Robert Dougherty, director of transportation safety; William LaFleur, director of staff development and training.

DOT commissioner John Hennessy, CSEA president William McGowan, CSEA vice-president James Moore and other special guests attended a dinner Friday evening which concluded the second day of the seminar.

Plans are already under way for scheduling another meeting next year.

and enabled the pressure to continue unabated against Upstate Transit and the school board, and that had a definite bearing on our ability to achieve complete and total victory for the employees." He also had high praise for the more than dozen CSEA staffers involved in all aspects of the strike around the clock, including CSEA collective bargaining specialist Nels Carlson and field representative Michael White, both of whom were deeply involved in the negotiations continuously. Virtually all the Capital Region staff employees assisted in the activities at various times during the nineday strike.

HORNELL LOCAL 007

State Studies Clerk Pay

ALBANY-Data on overtime, holidays, vacation, health insurance and other fringe benefits are included in a report on fringe benefits affecting general employees of 35 cities throughout New York State.

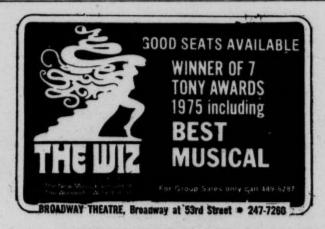

The report, prepared by the Public Employment Relations Board's research office, updates a 1975 study and contains information for localities which, as of Aug. 31, filed contracts with the PERB. The report does not cover elective and appointive officials, management or confidential employees or firefighters and police.

The study also includes information on retirement plans and rates for general employees and a health insurance contribution rate table.

ALBANY-Municipal clerk salaries in 22 cities in the state indicate salaries range from $4,155 to $15,745, a survey by the New York State Public Employment Relations Board revealed.

The report, prepared by the Research Office of the PERB, gives information on entrance level salaries and annual salaries after five years service plus longevity on a variety of clerical cluded within the four major bargaining units, but are still represented by the Civil Service Employees Assn. Among these are Authorities, State Police, Armories . . . and Judiciary. Now let us continue, based on an explanation by Civil Service Employees Assn. collective bargaining specialist Patrick Monachino. First of all, there are those Judicial employees who have long been recognized as state employees, and for whom a separate contract was concluded this past summer. The contract for these Judicial employees is similar to the contracts for the four major bargaining Units, except that the 14 percent pay increase becomes a part of the permanent job title salary schedule, and therefore, is not as complicated as the Units' agreements, which feature personal basic annual salaries. These Judicial aides may expect to receive their $400 or 4 percent raises (whichever is greater) this month complication. Mr. Young's letter does not refer to these people, however. In this instance, we are talking out those county and city

Judicial- employees who came under state control on April 1, 1977. Direct answers to Mr. Young's questions are No, these "merged" employees are not currently covered by a statewide contract, and judges, to be specific, are not represented by the union anyway. Other high-ranking titles possibly may be included in management/confidential classifications within former county or city understandings, and, consequently, also be excluded from the union contract. At present, "merged" Judicial employees, formerly part of local governments, are continuing under the terms of their local government contracts. Those contracts ratified prior to April 1, 1977, are being honored by the state, and employees are receiving agreed-upon benefits. Mr. Monachino says that CSEA hopes to be able to begin overall collective bargaining for merged Judicial employees

Burn This Book! *

On June 6th David Kinchen gave HOME FOR SALE BY OWNER a rousing review in the Los Angeles Times — the paper was virtually Times — the paper was virtually bombarded by irate Real Estate Brokers wanting to burn the book.

Why do they react so violently? Because HOME FOR SALE BY OWNER is written by Gerald M. Steiner, a nationally renowned

X-REALTOR* turned consumer advocate. This is, without excep-tion, the best and most com-prehensive book ever published on the home selling process. This is the first complete step by step pro-gram for selling a house without a broker — everything is ncluded from advertising to escrow.

The following newspapers and magazines, in the interest of the general public, gave HOME FOR SALE BY OWNER rousing reviews: Los Angeles Times, Washington Post, Whole Earth Catalog, American Library Association, Chicago Sun-Times, CoEvolution Quarterly, Newark Star Ledger, Seattle Times, Chicago Tribune, Buffalo Evening News, Miami Herald and The West Coast Review of Books "****."

So really ... why waste $4,000 or more on a Real Estate Broker? When you can easily do it yourself and save thousands of dollars by using this

As a bonus, if you order HOME FOR SALE BY OWNER on or before October 31, 1977 we will include a personal homeselling consultation at no extra charge. If you have a personal homeselling problem not covered in the book it will be reviewed and solved by a team of real estate experts and the solution will be air mailed to you lree. Also included is a complete set of real estate contracts, with easy to follow step by step instructions.

Thousands of homes have been sold by owner' using this book. Why not yours?

BUY U.S. BONDS

ALBANY—Senator Frank Padavan, chairman of the Senate Committee on Mental Hyglene and Addiction Control, has called for public hearings before his committee to investigate the administration of the Bronx Psychiatric Center and the Manhattan Psychiatric Center.

Sen. Padavan's action was prompted by published reports of the State Investigation Commission and audits by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt's Department of Audit and Control concerning alleged mismanagement, patient abuse and security lapses at the two metropolitan mental hospitals.

According to Sen. Padavan, one of the committee functions is to act as legislative overseer of mental hygiene facilities. He said testimony heard by the committee at the hearings could be the basis for submitting remedial legislation to the 1978 Legislature.

"The reports made public by the two state agencies investigating the operation of the facilities indicate a pressing need for a thorough and open hearing to examine the allegations and, if necessary, begin a program of legislative correction where that is possible," said the Senator.

Bronx Psychiatric Center Director Hugh F. Butts is looking forward to present the hospi-

GO TO HEALTH

By WILLIAM B. WILLIFORD

There is a serious health problem in this country that strikes instantly without warning.

In 1974, an esitmated 28,000 men, women and children were its victims. Entire families have been destroyed and thousands upon thousands of people are seriously disabled each year when an event such as the following true story occurs:

On a warm summer night, having spent an afternoon in a bar, Ralph K. got into his car, drove a few blocks and smashed head-on into a station wagon. His estimated speed at the time of impact was 80 miles per hour. There were nine people in the station wagon, three generations of the J. family—parents, grand-parents and five children. They were all killed instantly.

Ralph K. had a history of drinking and driving violations. He was known to the courts for being arrested on DWI (driving while intoxicated) charges. When the courts revoked his license for DWI offenses, he would later be convicted for driving intoxicated with his license revoked.

Ralph K. is an alcoholic. He needs help. Innocent people need protection from others like Ralph K. who drink too much and drive.

The alcoholic comprises less than 10 percent of the driving population, yet is involved in two-thirds of the traffic accidents resulting in a fatality. Each week the problem drinkers are involved in approximately 365 highway deaths. This would be the equivalent of a 747 jumbo jet crashing every week and killing all the occupants. I am sure if this happened we would all be concerned about traveling by jumbo jet.

Likewise, we all should be concerned about the drinking driver. In New York State there is an Alcohol and Drug Rehabilitation Program (Drinking Driver Program) that mandates that people convicted of DWI or DWAI (Driving While Ability Impaired) must attend a 16-hour instructional program approved by the State. They must fulfill all requirements of the mandated drinking driver program to retain their driving privileges.

The Drinking Driver Program is designed to identify and help, by referring to an alcoholism treatment program, those convicted DWI or DWAI motorists with serious alcohol-related problems. The program has the potential to help the alcoholic and to make the highways safer for all of us.

It should be pointed out that not all people convicted of DWI—DWAI offenses and mandated to Drinking Driver Programs are alcoholics. If you would like more information write: NYS Drinking Driver Program, Department of Motor Vehicles, Empire State Plaza, Albany 12228; or Alcohol and Highway Safety, Division of Alcoholism, NYS Department of Mental Hygiene, 44 Holland Ave., Albany 12229.

By JOSEPH LAZARONY Chairman, CSEA County Division

As chairman of the County Executive Committee, it is my honor and privilege to chair the meetings of this committee. There are 53 counties with representation on this board and five Regions have educational Local representatives. This totals 58 (very good, Laz!) eligible seats.

Generally, this committee meets on the evening preceding the statewide Board of Directors meetings which are one full day in length. We discuss, in some detail, factors having some effect on local government units of the Civil Service Employees Assn. We have discussed in some detail all of the following during the last four meetings:

- 1. Application of agency shop funds to Locals.
- 2. The continuing requirement for Local units to be alert to raids by other groups.
- 3. Unemployment insurance, particularly for school district employees.
- 4. Impact of transfer to state employment of thousands of court employees.

5. Membership campaigns and agency shop impact. There is more, but I'm sure you get the idea. Several of these discussions have resulted in motions presented to the statewide board and others have resulted in action by various statewide committees.

The point of all of this is, the County Executive Committee is an action group. We do things and we accomplish things. Each member then returns to his or her own Local and "carries the message" to the Local executive committee. This is communication—to and from our members!

There is, however, a weakness. Some Locals are rarely represented at these meetings. The whole system breaks down with this absence. There are many reasons for these absences and some are valid. However, it is your local that suffers! Your needs do not reach the committee, nor do the changes the committee creates get back to your local. We still have units who do not understand our program for payment of negotiating expenses!

We need every member (or a proxy) at every meeting. If I or any member of this group can help to improve attendance, we stand ready to do so. However, the best guarantee of good representation is active members who demand just that!

Our annual convention comes Oct. 10 to Oct. 14 at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake. Several major topics are due to be debated and voted on at this convention. Your Local president and state representative are receiving early copies of committee reports which will be the basis for most discussions. Contact these officers if you wish to have personal input to your Local's position. This "grass roots" input is the expressed desire of our president and constitutes effective democratic unionism, a real thing in the CSEA.

See you soon!

(Continued from Page 3) years as unit chief of the ICU. without receiving any disciplinary charges; the delay in preparing charges; the admitted gaps in Dr. Butts' knowledge of the facts when he prepared the notice of discipline; the failure to give Dr. Hussain an opportunity to be heard; and the documented evidence and testimony as to Dr. Hussain's competence, able cause for his suspension."

Mr. Feldblum ordered the CSEA member reinstated to his job immediately, with back pay and benefits retroactive to Sept. 16, 1976.

Mr. Linden praised the perseverance of Mr. Volin "in winning the vindication of an exceptionally good employee in spite of a politically motivated, all-out effort by the state to prosecute him." Mr. Linden also praised the CSEA statewide legal committee, which voted to provide the funds to pursue the case in behalf of Dr. Hussain. The expenditure totaled about $35,000 for the union, but all agree it was well worth it.

"This case continued the CSEA tradition of backing up our members all the way when we know they are right-no matter what the cost may be," Mr. Linden said.

Mr. Linden, who coordinates CSEA's $1.5 - million - per - year legal assistance program for the membership, added, "I'd like to challenge any other union in the country to match our record of providing the funds necessary for the legal support of the members. PEF couldn't even come close.'

PEF is an assortment of labor organizations that have tried unsuccessfully to raid CSEA's Professional, Scientific and Technical bargaining unit member-

Report Of CSEA's Statewide Retiree Committee

REPORT OF STATEWIDE RETIREES COMMITTEE ANNUAL DELEGATES MEETING CONCORD HOTEL OCTOBER 9 — 14, 1977

The retirees committee feels that 1977 has been a year of exceptional accomplishment for Civil Service Employees Assn. retirees in gaining an across-theboard 14 percent cost-of-living increase added to the supplementation already in effect for 1968 and earlier retirement years, now extended to March 31, 1969. This excellent gain, however, leaves still many thousands of retirees who retired since March 31, 1969 without a cost-of-living increase. and it is felt that an all-out effort must be made in 1978 to alleviate the hardship experienced by those who retired since that date, as well as all retirees who were not born before June 1, 1910 who remained barred from benefiting from any supplemental whatsoever.

William L. McGowan, CSEA's newly elected president, has assured the retiree coordinator, Thomas A. Gilmartin, Jr. that CSEA retirees will soon receive improved services that they have requested for the betterment of their orgnaization, such as the periodic mailing of a newsletter to all retiree members, the sending of canvas letters on a regular basis to non-member retirees, and the improving of data processing services in billing procedures, sending retiree membership cards, and the supplying of accurate Local membership print-outs.

It is the consensus of this committee that the retirees are discriminated against in the union's constitution which prohibits them from voting in statewide and regional elections unless they pay full dues. The committee reminds the delegates that employed members of CSEA will eventually become retirees, and that our improved benefits will become theirs; our problems theirs; and, that their dedication to the well-being of the Association does not cease with retirement. To this end, present retirees believe that they should have the right to vote for candidates for statewide and regional office, if for no other reason than that their interests as retiree members are affected by the individuals who are elected.

At the March, 1977 delegates convention, Chairman Nellie Davis formed a retiree constitution and by-laws subcommittee, with William Mensel of Nassau County as chairman, to work on any proposed amendments pertaining to retiree interests. Other members appointed were George Celantano of Rockland County, Ralph Brewster of New York City, Gordon Hobbs of Middletown and John Tanzi of Syracuse. The new subcommittee did not get off the ground, however, through no fault of its own, as no provision was made to finance their travel from their scattered areas for the purpose of meeting. Chairman Mensel has reported that he sent a letter to Kenneth Cadieux, chairman of the statewide constitution and by-laws committee, requesting that committee's consideration for an amendment which would permit retirees to participate in statewide elections, but that no response had been received up to the time of this report.

At the March 1977 meeting of the retirees committee and delegates it was decided that the office of vice-chairman should be created and filled for the retirees committee. As a result of the committee members' vote, Dr. Theodore Wenzl, then president, named Melba Binn.

The committee is pleased to report that in 1977 Ms. Davis appointed a retirees legislative subcommittee comprising Elizabeth Steenburgh of Schenectady as chairman, John Joyce of Albany, John Kennedy of Troy, and Alfred Robinson of Brooklyn, to provide direct retiree participation in CSEA's lobbying efforts for retiree legislation. In the interest of closer cooperation, Miss Steenburgh was named an "ex officio" member of the statewide legislative and political action committee by its chairman, Martin Langer. With team efforts coordinated by legislation director Bernard Ryan, and with the lobbying leadership of James Featherstonhaugh, history - making gains were made by CSEA in 1977.

Retiree Grapevine

By THOMAS GILMARTIN

CSEA Retiree Coordinator

Retirement is a hot issue today, if one can judge by the burgeoning of programs at national, state and county levels for older non-working Americans and the wide coverage of retirement news accorded by the media. Keeping pace with the times, the Civil Service Employees Assn. has become increasingly concerned about the financial security of its retired members.

Proof of the union's increasing concern was most evident this year in the extraordinary effort put forth by the CSEA's legislative and political action committee, whose lobbyists placed a high priority on getting a hefty cost-of-living increase for retirees, and got it.

It had never before been more clear that CSEA stands firmly behind legislation written for the benefit of its retiree members and that the union's support of responsive legislators could be so productive in gaining favorable legislation. In plain English, it all boils down to campaign support for legislators who have the interest of public employees and retired public employees at heart, and the capability of the union to deliver votes wherever and whenever needed. As for the latter, retiree power is formidable in the voting booth where retired citizens enjoy a reputation for a high turnout.

With this in mind, the CSEA is kicking off a recruitment drive to increase the membership within its retiree ranks. President William McGowan has written a letter, which will soon go out to thousands of non-member retirees inviting them to join CSEA's retiree division.

To further increase the membership as well as to add to the political clout of New York State's retired public employees, Mr. McGowan has authorized the mailing of a quarterly retiree newsletter, the first of which will be in the mail during the first week of November. The newsletter will endeavor to marshall the statewide support of all retirees for the legislative program drawn up for the 1978 legislative session.

SUCH LEGISLATION will find its origin within the "legislative goals" decided upon by the retirees statewide committee at their meeting in Albany on Sept. 6, as follows:

- 1. (A) A permanent cost-of-living increase based on the Consumer Price Index of the U.S. Dept. of Labor for all retired members of the Employees Retirement System. (B) Re-enactment of the present supplementation of the Laws of 1977, which would be extended from the present cut-off date of April 1, 1969, to include those who retired through 1971.
- Legislation to delete the proviso that the retiree must be age 62 prior to June 1, 1972, in order to be eligible for supplemental increases.
- 3. Enactment of a survivor's benefit of $2,000 for those who retired from state service before Oct. 1, 1966.
- 4. Rescinding the restriction in the Civil Service Law which denies a retiree's widow or widower the remaining portion of the retiree's accumulated unused sick leave to be applied against health insurance costs.
- 5. Amendment of Taylor Law to allow bargaining unit negotiators to cover benefits for retirees.
- Guaranteed minimum retirement allowance for retirees with 25 years of service, similar to the $4,100 enacted in 1977 for retirees of the Teachers Retirement System.

These legislative goals will be reviewed at the joint meeting of retiree delegates and statewide committee members on Oct. 11, and will be presented by the retirees committee chairman for approval of the Assembly of Delegates at the convention Oct. 10-14. After approval, these legislative goals will be presented to the legislative and political action committee for its action in preparing CSEA's legislative program for the 1978 legislative session.

Thus, another big step will be taken by the CSEA to improve the financial security of its retired members:

HAIGHT, OF GOWANDA PSYCH., RETIRES

J. Rothery Haight, left, director of the Gowanda Psychiatric Center, who began his lifelong association with the state Mental Hygiene system "practically from birth," according to Maye A. Bull, center, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn. Gowanda Local, also enjoys the company of CSEA president William L. McGowan, at recent retirement party in Gowanda. Dr. Haight completed 41 years in state service, but Ms. Bull pointed out that his association with Mental Hygiene "goes back to his birth" in Utica where his father, Julius Eugene Haight, was staff physician at Utica State Hospital.

Four Percent

(Continued from Page 3) ing to the union's counsel for preparation of a law brief that has since been filed.

The 4 percent pay hikes are expected to be reflected in checks distributed on Oct. 12 or Oct. 19, depending on the pay day for each Bargaining Unit's employees. Wages, including the raises, are figured, according to law, for the pay period which begins closest to the first day of October.
