Strengthening Finance Board

Two weeks ago Student Council presented the Student Association with two Constitutional Amendments designed to strengthen the financial system of the Association. In reality the amendments presented are vague and are couched in general terms. Such phrases as "question and expenditure", "impose further restrictions", "in any manner as it sees fit", only tend to complicate matters still more.

The effect of the following substitute amendments, embodying the merits of those introduced by Student Council, will serve to strengthen an otherwise weak financial structure:

ARTICLE IX
FINANCES

Section 1. All the expenses of the Association and all authorized indebtedness shall be met by a per capita tax, levied annually. The finances shall be under the jurisdiction of the Board of Audit and Control, whose membership and election is provided for in Article VII.

a. The Board of Audit and Control shall provide all organizations receiving money from the Student Association treasury with uniform sets of books and instructions for their use.

b. The Board of Audit and Control shall prevent the transfer of funds by any organization from one line of its budget to another. The Board shall also prevent the transfer of funds from one organization to another.

c. The Board of Audit and Control is authorized to appoint a competent auditor who shall check the books of each organization. The Board shall publish a bi-monthly statement of Student Association finances containing the current receipts and expenditures of each organization.

d. The Board of Audit and Control shall see to it that all monies earned in any manner whatsoever by any organization shall become a part of the treasury, and shall not be used by the earning organization except through legal budgetary channels. No monies in the treasury may be spent in any way except by strict accountability through a voucher system.

e. The Board of Audit and Control shall maintain a standing fund of no more than one hundred (100) dollars from which it may, after formal application, award a deficiency appropriation to any organization. Organizations may appeal for redress to the Student Association.

f. The Board of Audit and Control shall, with the President of Student Association as chairman, formulate (in open hearing) and submit to the Association for final approval the Annual Budget. The heads of each organization shall appear individually before the Board and they must, through the use of previous accounts and statistics, prove the justification of each item to the satisfaction of a majority of the Board, the President of Student Association voting. The Board shall have the power by majority vote to correlate, revise, reduce or increase the estimates.

g. Whenever any organization shall in the opinion of the Board of Audit and Control, violate any of the preceding clauses, the Board shall have the power to withhold further funds from that organization. Withholding of funds shall be at the discretion of the Board. Organizations may appeal to the Student Association for redress.

h. The Board of Audit and Control may make rules for carrying into execution the powers herein granted it.

A substitute amendment, designed to sharpen the teeth of the present budget amendments by specific allocations of authority, will be introduced today.

None of our business dept: We're going to raise a question concerning Residence Council, but we want it understood that it is OK with us if the sewing circle keeps going. After all, criticism is the life of all democratic organizations, and Residence Council seems to have plenty of life.

Case No. 1-Group houses with 12 to 15 inmates are entitled to 1 representative on the Council. Yet, the entire dorm, which means 4 houses plus the big house (no connection with a prison, despite the searchlights), and includes 160 girls, has only 1 representative. Therefore, according to the present Council, the will of 15 people equals the will of 160.

Is this democracy?

War Fronts by Hippick

Axis Advance to Capture Kharkov

For the first time in three months, the aggressive Russian Army is suffering a severe setback. All else in the war around the world—sharp Soviet advances in northern Russia, progressive improvement in the Allied situation in North Africa, and effective continuation of the Allied air offensive against the continent—was cast almost into obscurity by the immensity of the battle before Kharkov.

For here the Germans are within 15 miles of Kharkov and the Reds are defending its with their backs against the wall. The possible reason for the Nazi advance, which was made by the use of big fresh troops, to gain ultimate control of the fertile Donets Basin. With its wheat and valuable minerals, it would provide much needed aid for the Nazi supply wagon.

Northward, however, other Soviet armies were having things pretty much their own way. From here comes word of marches against Smolensk and Lake Ilmen.

NAMES TO WATCH FOR... Stalino, the key to the Sea of Azov. The Nazis have this strongly fortified, for if taken by the Russians, it will prove fatal to a huge number of enemy troops.

The past week again proved costly to Desert Fox Rommel. General Montgomery, by continued attacks in the early part of the week, has driven his opponent well back into the hills, capturing 33 tanks, many supplies, and wiping out troops.

Hicks Explains Problems Facing Prospective Teachers; Each Must Decide How to Give Greater Service

This is the first instalment of the fifth article in a series which will appear in the News on "Why Re-teach in Teaching?" They are written by eminent members of the faculty. This article is by Dr. J. Allen Hicks, Professor of Education.

Should I quit teaching and join the WAAC? Should I try to get a job in a war industry? As teachers in service and as students preparing to teach, those of us who still have a choice, are asking ourselves such questions and giving various answers. These are the obvious, spoken questions, but fundamentally each of us is asking two questions of ourselves. Would I get more personal satisfaction out of some activity other than teaching? and would I make a greater contribution to the common welfare through services other than teaching?

To the extent to which we are selfish and socially irresponsible persons, the question of personal satisfaction is our main concern. Needless to say, because we are living in uncertain times, bored because we do not find a challenge in teaching, worried by our personal problems, attracted by the greater immediacy and drama of other activities, we leave teaching for other pursuits.

On the home front, word trickles from Washington that we will have an 11,000,000 man army, not rather one of 15,000,000. Also, by mid-summer, it is expected that men with 3-A classifications will be inducted.

Each Must Decide
No one of us can presume to answer these questions for another. Each of us must make our decision in relation to our particular circumstances. We would not criticize the married man with children who leaves a $1400 teaching position to earn much more in a war industry if the community does not adjust his salary to meet the rising costs of living. Surely it is unfair to tell such a man it is his patriotic duty to stay in teaching. If teaching is important, then the community must show it thinks so by paying adequate salaries. Teachers are people and cannot live on patriotism or concern for the general welfare.

As we each answer for ourselves our questions about teaching, as unselfishly as circumstances will allow, we should keep in mind two contributions we can make to the lives of our pupils. These are contributions of fundamental importance and if we fulfill them well, we can hold up our heads with faith and self-respect—knowing that we also serve who teach. And indeed, if we cannot gain such faith in the worth of teaching, we should leave teaching forthwith, for we cannot teach well or hope to help our pupils attain faith when we ourselves do not have it.

The first great contribution we can make to our pupils is to help them develop thorough social competence. We can teach more effectively than ever before in order to make possible the development of each individual child. We can vitalize what we teach, drop needless deadwood from our courses of study and add new content to meet both war and post-war needs of children. We can use the best methods of teaching that we know or can discover, and challenge our pupils to realize their fullest potentialities. We can be satisfied only with thoroughly competent pupils leaving our schools; equipped with the skills of speech, reading, writing, numbers, and the arts; capable of thinking clearly, independently and with imagination; knowing how to live healthfully, to do socially useful work, and to live cooperatively with their fellow men in neighborhoods, in the state, in the nation, and in the world.

Publicity

(Continued from page 1, column 1) Albany newspapers. Dr. Howard DuBell, Professor of Mathematics, has volunteered to take pictures of students and student events to accompany these articles. This project will be done in conjunction with Press Bureau.

The committee plans another meeting for Monday. The committee includes Dr. Louis C. Jones, Assistant Professor of English, chairman; Dr. Howard DuBell, Professor of Mathematics; Mrs. Agnes Underwood, Secretary to the Alumni Association of State College; Mr. James Gemmill, Instructor in Commerce; Dr. Floyd Hutchinson, Assistant Professor of Education for Visual Aids; Janet Baxter, '44, and Frances Bourgeois, '43.

Amendments

This amendment would merely transfer the right of Finance Board to submit the Budget to Student Council.

The third and last resolution, proposed by David Slavin, '43, provides for special elections in the event any Student Association office becomes vacant during the academic year. Myskianka is to call a special nomination convention within seven days after the vacancy occurs, at which time eligible persons may be nominated. Election is to take place one week after the nomination.

The resolution also provides for the appointment by Myskianka of an unofficial delegate to Student Council.

in the event that the office of President of Student Association becomes vacant. This person would keep Myskianka informed of the proceedings of Student Council.

Run, Jump, Yell, Eat, Play Ball At WAA Super Sports' Spree

Girls of State—shake a leg—wiggle your ears (it helps your sinus anyway)—limber up those atrophied muscles in preparation for that rowdy rumpus—Harp's Riot (plug) or just in expectation of Spring, beautiful Sports' Spree. Why, at WAA's annual Sports Spree which is going to make the steel beams of Page Hall Gym tremble from 8 to 12 P. M. tonight.

At the door tags will be given out to assign the girls to teams (this to build up a healthy, happy spirit of competition). Then they wander about and amuse themselves as fancy dictates. Badminton, basketball, volleyball, dogeball, ping-pong and darts should cater to the varied tastes of WAA's guests.

For those whose talents run to watching rather than playing, the Saturday morning marvyls will offer a fencing exhibition. Is it for nothing that these brave souls have routed their sleepy heads out of bed on practically the break of day every Saturday? If only to prove that we appreciate them, let us give them riotous support this evening.

Psi Gamma Leading As Bowling Nears End

The WAA bowling tournament is drawing to a close and a great deal of interest is being shown in the last games. Psi Gamma, which has lost no match as yet, holds a strong lead in first place. Cooper House is second and Newman Hall is in the third place. Tied for the fourth rank are Kappa Delta and Gamma Kappa. Moreland Hall and Phi Delta are tied for the fifth position. Tuesday, Cooper House beat Newman Hall in two games, and Kappa Delta won two games from Gamma Kappa Phi. These contests will be finished this afternoon, in order to get the final scores.

EEP Wins Trio; Nears I-M Title

Potter Club practically assured itself of the intramural basketball championship Wednesday afternoon when they defeated the second place Rambler team. One win in their next two starts will bring them the trophy, now in College House's possession.

In gaining its third victory in as many days, the State Street quintet outpointed the Ramblers 32-23 in a hard fought game. The losers kept within striking distance during the first two periods, but brilliant teamwork and passing enabled the victors to draw away in the second half after leading 16-12 at intermission.

Monday night Potter Club avenged an earlier defeat by overcoming KB 38-26. The opponents were unable to show the power that they did in the first encounter, and EEP held a comfortable lead throughout. At halftime they were ahead 21-13.

Tuesday KDR fell as victims before the Potter steamroller to the tune of a 53-28 score. Singer set a new individual scoring record for a single game as he rolled up 28 points to help his team run a 19-12 intermission score to a one-sided victory.

In the other game Tuesday KB defeated the Finks 31-29 in an overtime game. The losers had a 16-11 advantage at the half, but it took a last second basket by Mennilo to knot the score at 29-all. Kensky put in the only basket in the extra period, while Olivet and he stood high with 15 and 12 respectively.

Four Still Standing in WAA 'Champ vs Chump' Tourney

WAA's chump vs. champ ping-pong tourney has finished the second round. In the champ's corner we have the second round winners, Helen Bushnell, Nora Glavelli, Lore Kuhn and Jeanne Mullin.

In the chump's corner, the losers wait their chance to redeem themselves. The winner of these matches will meet the "champ" in the exciting finale, and the then successful combatant is victor of the tournament.

Pat Gregory, ping-pong's active captain, says, "The game between Glavelli and Mullin this week should prove interesting because both girls have excellent style."

Girls' Basketball League Nears End of Season

A new schedule of games has been arranged for the WAA basketball tournament. From now on two games will be played on Wednesday nights and one on Monday afternoon.

Delta Beta Chi again defeated its opponent by the usual one-sided score. Domman and LaSalle accounted for most of D-B-C's 34 points while BZ received its four points from Casey and Stitt.

In the second game, the teams were more evenly matched. In a fast and furious struggle Newman was victorious over Psi Gam, 32-23. Garfall, earning 18 points for Newman and Slack 17 for Psi Gam.

Reserve Members Receive Summons To Active Service Exams Will Determine Credit to Be Awarded

During the past week, most of the remaining 41 members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps have received their call to active duty, and will leave within two weeks. A very few, mainly mathematics majors, had not yet received their orders, however.

In order to compensate students for work already done during the semester, Dr. Milton G. Nelson, Dean of the College, released the following notice:

At a special meeting of the Curriculum Committee held on March 12, 1943, the following additions were recommended to the President of the College and approved by him.

Senior students now in army or navy reserves, who have completed satisfactorily Education 11APT, who have maintained good college record and attendance to March 24, 1943, and who file a written request with the Dean, if approved by the Curriculum Committee, may be permitted to try a proficiency examination in the subjects for which now registered.

Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior students (also Seniors not electing above) now in army or navy reserves, who have maintained satisfactory college standing, including regular attendance at classes to March 24, 1943, are to have the courses for which they are registered on this date entered upon their permanent record card as "in course". Upon completion of army service and upon evidence that advanced study has been continued in a manner satisfactory to the Curriculum Committee, such students may request in writing a proficiency examination which, if passed successfully, will yield full credit in the course or courses recorded as "in course" and for which said proficiency examination is set.

Seniors May Get Degree In order to carry this out, all mid-semester examinations are to be held before Wednesday. For Seniors, these exams will act as final exams, and upon passing the proficiency exam, they will obtain degrees in June. However, as stated in the notice, a Senior must have pursued his studies until the present and completed his practice teaching, as well as not having an excess of cuts. However, registration with the Dean is necessary before the proficiency exam may be taken.

For underclassmen, completion of mid-terms with satisfactory results will allow a student to apply for the proficiency exams after he returns from service.

Intersorority Council Rejects Ball Suggestion Intersorority Council decided against the proposal to have Intersorority Ball March 26th, the night before Dorm Formal, at a meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The idea was proposed when it was definitely known that the ERC's would be called.

Lonesome Girls In Pierce To Get Longed-For Break

"Girls, girls! 150 real live men, with legs and everything, are coming here," shrieked Peggy Pierce-Haller, running into the room and collapsing on the floor. "Keep calm, girls," said her room-mate, "she gets these spells sometimes."

"No, you don't understand," said Peggy, recovering long enough to tell the girls that Dean Stokes had really invited 150 RPI Naval cadets to a "closed open-house" at Pierce.

Tomorrow night is the red-letter night for cadets and dormites alike. Are the girls in seventh heaven? Well—obviously!

Ex-State Teacher Dies In Albany

Mr. Barnard S. Bronson, retired head of the Chemistry Department at State, died Sunday evening. Professor Bronson was a graduate of the State Normal School at Geneseo. In 1908, he received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Columbia University. That year he was appointed to the faculty here and served until 1939.

His uncle was the late William Milne, a former president of State, in whose honor the Milne School is named.

Dr. John M. Sayles, President of the College, paid tribute to Mr. Bronson's scholarship and recalled him as a man "greatly beloved" by his students. Said Dr. Sayles, "He was an authority on dietetics, and was the author of a book, 'Nutrition and Food Chemistry', which is used extensively here and abroad."

Professor Bronson was also widely known as an authority and lecturer on birds and other aspects of natural history.

He was also a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mr. Bronson also held membership in the American Ornithological Society, Audubon Society, American Chemical Society, American Museum of Natural History, and the Albany Country Club.

One of the rooms in Sayles Hall is dedicated to Professor Bronson. Since his retirement from State, Professor Bronson had remained in Albany, residing on Lenox Avenue.

Dewey Emphasizes Importance Of Teacher-Training Institutions Special Session Begins June 26 Broadmindedness Necessary Factor Students Are Reminded Of Part In Democracy

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey

Eighty-seven freshmen have to date signified their intention of returning to college for the 1943 summer session under the accelerated conditions recently offered to the Class of 1946 by Dr. Milton G. Nelson, Dean of the College. This session, which begins June 26 and ends on August 21 is entirely separate from the regular summer session which is this year scheduled for July 5 to August 15.

One section of the accelerated session will be made up of sub-freshmen, members of the incoming freshmen class. There will probably be from 25 to 30.

Those freshmen who continue the eight-week course for three successive summers eliminate one full year from their college schedule.

The Sophomores who attend this session for the next two summers will reduce the time until graduation by one semester besides gaining six additional credit hours.

The regular session is open to all whose records will permit. It is usually attended by those who wish to lighten their regular college program, and teachers who have only ten-year provisional certificates.

Freshmen, Sophs to Sing For Rivalry Points Friday A week from today, during assembly, the freshmen and Sophomores will compete for the two points awarded for Rivalry singing.

The contest shall be judged on the singing of a class song and the alma mater. This latter song must be original in words and music.

Three faculty members will act as judges. Although last year's losers, this year the class of '45 is ahead in rivalry. The present Rivalry score is 17 1/2 for the Sophomores and 12 for the freshmen.

Farrell a Palace, Milne a Foe To Seniors from Schroon Lake by Barbara Putnam

Something was different in the P.O. last Monday—something indefinable. There was almost an air of formality in the place—an unheard-of P.O. atmosphere.

It was the editor himself who solved the mystery. Pointing to a rattling, he said, "There lieth the evidence!" And sure enough, amidst the general mix-up of coats, scarves, and gloves, lay three neatly folded tupecasts with a fedora placed precisely on top of each. Same bright person remarked, "Why, they must belong to those Schroon Lake high school seniors."

Whereupon the editor looked at the associate editor, the desk editor, and the desk editor grabbed a pencil and notebook and started looking for the Schroon Lakers.

They weren't hard to find. In almost every building a Junior Guide was efficiently herding his charges through the halls. The first group the desk editor encountered was returning from the gym, where they had just played a rotating basketball game with the Minutes. The score, they said, ended at 46-40 in favor of Milne, but it must be understood that only three Schroon Lake Varsity men were playing. "We're going to come down again and really trim them," said one girl. Guide Ray Verrey added that northerners "made Milne look very foolish."

All in all there were seventeen students and two faculty advisors visiting the city. One of the advisors was Miss Nan Emory, a graduate of this college in '39. The thing that seemed to impress the students most was the extreme friendliness of everyone they had met. They had dined at Sayles Hall, visited the group houses, even attended classes, and they said "everybody had been swell." They were also especially impressed by the science labs and by the Farrell mansion.

The desk editor noticed that the Schroon Lakers looked a bit sleepy, and upon inquiring, the soon found the answer. One Roy Williford gave the following disclosure: "Some of the kids went down to the Rainbow Room last night, but I was a good boy—I stayed at the hotel and played cards until 7 A.M."

All of which may bring back memories of high school trips we took not so long ago.

Women Seek Revision of Rules Poll Voices Complaints Against Residence Council

In an attempt to determine the basis and extent of the complaints against Residence Council, a poll was taken of fifty girls chosen at random. A majority of the girls interviewed were from the main dormitory, but there were also representatives from other group houses—Moreland, Farrell, Newman and sorority houses. The form was distributed equally to each class.

Forty-three of the 50 girls felt that some revision of Residence Council organization should be made. A majority of the girls were in favor of proportional representation.

In reply to the question "Do you think that there should be a revision of Residence Council rules?" 49 out of the 50 replied in the affirmative. Of this number, 10 girls were in favor of the revision merely for purposes of clarification. Others mentioned specific rules which they felt were unfair. The two rules to which they most objected were the ones about calling the president of Residence Council for late permission and the rule banning blanket permissions. Men-tioned less frequently were the rules about having no late permissions after a warning, and dismissing men from the houses an hour before final curfew.

The girls stressed the fact that a great deal of the difficulty seemed to arise from a misunderstanding of the rules and their interpretation. On one of the forms was the suggestion that some method be found whereby girls could air their complaints and ideas. A report of the poll was compiled and sent to Residence Council.

Thomas E. Dewey, Governor

Not only does Governor Dewey's statement complement the opinions of Dr. George D. Stoddard, Commissioner of Education in the State of New York, but also those expressed by many of the State College faculty in the series Why Remain in Teaching? now being featured in the News.
