UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY NAMES SHANA WILLIAMS AS ACADEMIC ADVISOR FOR ATHLETICS AND CAROLE SELNER AS DIRECTOR OF ATHLETIC FACILITIES

ALBANY, N.Y. -- Shana Williams has been chosen as Academic Advisor for Athletics and Carole Selner has been elevated to Director of Athletic Facilities at the University at Albany, as Director of Athletics Dr. Milton E. Richards announced today.

Williams, a world-class track athlete at Seton Hall University in New Jersey, was recently an academic counselor at her alma mater, where she worked with Educational Opportunities Program (EOP) students, the Student Athletics for Education (SAFE) program, which promoted the benefits of a college education to local high schools, and assisted inner-city youths with problem-solving skills.

A native of Bridgeton, N.J., Williams was also an athletic trainer for three years at Seton Hall, where she earned an undergraduate degree in health and physical education. As a track athlete, she was a seven-time All-American in the long jump, heptathlon, and 1,600-meter relay. Williams competed in the heptathlon at the 1993 World University Games, 1992 Olympic Trials in New Orleans, and at two U.S. Olympic Festivals. She continues to be a school-record holder in several events, which include the heptathlon (5,641 points) and the long jump (21' 9"), an event in which she was ranked fourth among all U.S. competitors in 1993.

Selected as the NCAA's New Jersey Athlete of the Year in 1993, Williams served as captain on both the cross country and track & field teams at Seton Hall. Last spring, she was USA Track & Field's east regional champion in the long jump and 100-meter high hurdles.

Selner, who recently was the head softball coach and a physical education instructor at Albany, moves into her new role as Director of Athletic Facilities. In that position, she will schedule and coordinate all activities held in the University's Recreation and Convocation Center (RACC), Physical Education Building, and outdoor athletic fields.

Prior to arriving at Albany in 1993, Selner worked for more than three years at Hudson Valley Community College in Troy, New York, where she was a head coach in women's soccer, women's tennis, and softball, and served as a women's basketball assistant.

Selner, 29, received a B.S. in physical education from the State University of New York at Cortland, and was a letterwinner on the Red Dragons' soccer and softball teams. She went on to earn a master's degree in sport management from the University of Richmond in 1990.

A standout athlete at nearby Cairo-Durham High School, Selner was an all-Section II choice in soccer and softball. In addition, she was selected as the 1984 Female Athlete of the Year at Hudson Valley Community College. She received an associate's degree from the College in physical education.
