Wednesday --- Colgate Musical Clubs

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN

Girls' Chorus to Assist

When Colgate comes to State Wednesday night, liquid notes of music are going to flow all around. In the past Colgate has come here to try to defeat us in basketball, but this year it is going to entertain us. It is not the basketball team this time. It is the Musical Clubs.

The concert given by the Colgate Musical Clubs has always been a treat for those who appreciate fine music. But this concert is going to be better than ever, because at this time there is going to be an added attraction. The program will be improved by a selected girls' chorus from State College who will show the audience that all the melody isn't produced at Colgate.

The program will be a varied one, and will comprise vocal and instrumental solos, choruses, and orchestral selections. The men will offer all kinds of music from the stately college anthems to humorous glee songs and the most jazziferous syncopation. So everyone ought to be interested.

Because of the reputation of the clubs and the fact that this is the first glee club concert of the season, hundreds of the Colgate Alumni and the general public will attend. If you want to take advantage of this opportunity decide at once or it may be too late. Tickets will be on sale Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the table in the rotunda. The prices are $1 for reserved seats and 75 cents for general admission.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

Nomination of Officers

The nomination of officers for the newly formed Student Association took place last Friday morning. For president the candidates submitted were: Eunice Rice, Isadore Breslau, John McClure, and Helen Walker; for vice-president, Agnes Smith, May Wood, Ruth Tefft, and Helen Leary; for secretary, Annie Olsen, Evelyn Dutcher, and Oliver Putnam.

Resolutions drawn up by Myskania, endorsing the work of the Washington Conference on the Limitation of Armaments, were

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION CONFERENCE

The conference of the North Atlantic Section of the American Association of University Women was held in New York recently.

Mrs. G. M. Conwell, who was graduated from State College in the class of '16, attended, since she is the president of the Eastern New York Branch of the Association.

The convention opened with a meeting on Saturday morning, when resolutions were proposed to be sent to the Disarmament Conference at Washington. Mrs. Edgerton Parsons, Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of Wellesley College, and Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale made thrilling speeches on the armament problem.

M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr, was toast-mistress at a luncheon given that afternoon by the New York Branch for all of the delegates. Mrs. Louise Brownell Saunders, at one time advisor of women at Cornell, the Honorable Mrs. B. Russell, of London, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, and Mrs. F. Lewis Flack spoke upon the "Educated Women in Politics."

Later a business meeting was held. Then three addresses followed, given by Lucy M. Salmon, professor of history at Vassar, Agnes L. Rogers, professor of education at Concher College, and Dallas Lore Sharp, professor of English at Boston University.

The convention dinner was held at the Hotel Commodore. Virginia Gildersleeve, Dean of Barnard, was toast-mistress. Arthur Bullard, special correspondent of the New York "Times," Toyokichi Iyenaga, Ph.D., director of the Eastern and Western News Bureau, His Excellency P. K. C. Tyan, secretary of the Chinese delegation to the Disarmament Conference, and P. Whitwell Wilson, American correspondent of the London "Daily News," gave short speeches.

Miss Murray's successor will be Mrs. Edith Carr Colson, a graduate of the State College in the class of '16. She was an instructor in English in the Schenectady High School after graduation. Following her marriage she was in China for three years, where she was engaged in educational work. After her husband's death she returned to this country. Mrs. Colson will take up her work here December 1.

GIRLS' GAMES INTERESTING SCHEDULE

The basketball game last Monday between the juniors and sophomores resulted in victory for the sophomores by the close score of 12-11. Good playing was shown by both teams, which made the game most exciting for the spectators. The score at the end of the first half was 5-4 in favor of the juniors.

In the second half Evelyn Waugh took Ethel Rusk's place as center, and May Wood took Martha Bayley's place as forward for the juniors. During this half the play became most exciting, as the result seemed likely to be a tie. The whistle finally blew with the score 10-10, meaning that the game would have to be played until one team made two points. The juniors succeeded in making one point from the foul line, but Billy Heineman won the game for the sophomores by a field basket.

The following is the box score of the game:

Juniors.	F.G.	F.R.	T.
Bayley, lf.	2	0	4
Seymour, rf.	0	5	5

MISS MURRAY RESIGNS

Miss Geraldine H. Murray, a graduate of State College in the class of '16, resigns her position as instructor in English and journalism to take effect December 1. She will take up work with the New York State Association, which is a non-partisan political association furnishing legislative news. Women's organizations throughout the state are adopting legislative programs, and it is one of the purposes of the New York Association to furnish those organizations with just as complete news of the legislative sessions as if they had individual representatives there. This is the work that Miss Murray will have charge of.

During the sessions of the Legislature she will be at the Albany office, 41 Eagle street, with the exception of the week-ends when she will be in New York and other cities making reports to the organizations in these cities. Such organizations as the New York State League of Women Voters, the Women's Joint Legislative Conference, Albany City Club, and the State Council of Jewish Women are subscribers.

Miss Murray will be the associate editor of the magazine published bimonthly during the time when the Legislature meets, The New York State Association Bulletin. It discusses at length bills reported on each day. As was stated before, this organization is non-partisan, having as its chief platform this year the question of Municipal Home Rule.

Beginning December 3, following the annual meeting of the association, Miss Murray will be at the New York office, 305 Broadway. From December 10 to 18 she will be making a tour of all the large cities in the state in preparation for the winter's work. She will address various women's clubs at these places, assisting them with their legislative programs.

The "News" extends to all of its friends best wishes for a pleasant Thanksgiving. Aside from the numberless things for which we should be grateful is the fact that, when our short vacation is over, we have as fine an Alma Mater as State to which we can return.

The "News" Board regrets the resignation of their advisor, Miss Geraldine H. Murray, but extends to her sincerest good wishes for success in her new work.

A PROPHECY AND ITS FULFILLMENT

"Then let us pray that come it may—

As come it will for a' that—
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
May bear the gree, and a' that;
For a' that, and a' that,
That man to man, the world o'er,
Shall brethren be for a' that!"

And on November 11 delegates from all the great civilized nations of the world met in conference at Washington to discuss the question of the limitation of the vast armaments of the various powers, and such limitation of armaments is the first great step toward the elimination of all possibility of great wars in the future. Will that step be taken in the near future? There can be little doubt but that all of the thinking, progressive individuals of all the nations of the world are hoping against hope that it will be taken. Yet many of us who acknowledge the hope are conscious of a strange hesitancy, a veritable lack of enthusiasm, when we face the issue of actually relaxing our nation's attitude of preparedness and allowing our fighting strength to be diverted into other channels. Why? Certainly not because we want war. It is universally conceded that war is abominable, impractical, useless; that another war in this day and age would be so far-reaching in its dire consequences as to frighten the most reckless of us into an earnest desire to avoid it. Nor can it be that we harbor any very potent distrust of the other nations concerned, for we are all in one and the same boat. Is it not, perhaps, that we sense instinctively—rather than actively consider—the broader issue embodied in the proposition of limitation of armaments, of cessation of all wars, of amicable settlement of all controversies, the universal brotherhood of man? We are imbued with the spirit of conservatism, of our nation's individuality, are conscious, as Americans, of our power, our ability, and there is a natural conflict of ideals as we rise to this new proposition. We must play the old game under new rules; must put our shoulder to the wheel, and push for universal rather than national welfare. '22.

HOW ABOUT IT, FRESHMEN?

Oh, frosh, why did you do it? It surely could not have been premeditated! We mean the outrage done Minerva on Campus Day. Don't you remember the get-wispe meeting? Why do you suppose that first, before taking you through so much fear-inspiring experience, we made you bend the knee before Minerva? Are you so green that you don't know even now what Minerva symbolizes? Minerva symbolizes college spirit; so you beat your knee to college spirit. After that you should have supported college spirit as was becoming sophisticated freshmen. Instead, on Friday you came with your tawdry streamers and wrapped them about our patron; you smudged her face and hands with crimson; you nearly toppled her over in your mad surging. Frosh, what were you thinking about! Does State mean nothing to you? Then you rushed the front door knowing that the front door rule is a tradition. You did it to pick a fight with the sophomores. You paid them a big compliment in expecting them to seek vengeance for such wholesale flaunting at traditions. But how about that kind of class spirit?

Did you enjoy that riot in the rotunda? Do you exult over your exploit? It is time you realize that there is a college spirit that should be held inviolate. The class of '24 is back of it. Are you going to refuse to boost that spirit just because the sophs are trying to boost it? If in trying to flout them you smash through traditions and disregard college spirit you are fostering that kind of class spirit which must not exist in State.

Now come on, '25, be sportsman-like, college-spirited freshmen! '24.

COME TO ROCHESTER

The conference of the New York State Student Volunteer Union will be held at Rochester University, December 2, 3, and 4. It has been decided that the Conference and Conventions' Committee of the Y. W. C. A. will pay half the expenses of two delegates for this trip, but this does not mean that there are to be only two delegates.

What do you know about the Student Volunteer Association of State College? Do you know who its members are? It was organized a year ago, and since its organization the membership has increased from five to nine. The members are Margaret Cushman, Mary Grace Congdon, Grace Fox, Ruth Kimmey, Frances Stilson, Helen Walker, Hilda Utley, Harold Baldwin, and Edmund Osborne.

Go to the Rochester conference. We want State College to have a good representation and a large one. We want to show other colleges that State is on the map. And we'll do it, too. Don't you remember the conference at Wells last year? And at Skidmore, and the one 'way out in Des Moines in 1920? Ask anyone who went to any of these conventions if she's sorry she went. Ask 'em about banquets and speeches and yells and meeting people from other colleges, and the trip itself. And when they get through telling you, you'll know you just have to go to Rochester. So come on, everybody. Rah for State College! Rah for the Student Volunteers! Rochester! Rochester! Rah! Rah! Rah!

Subscriptions to the "1922 Pedagogue" may be secured by those who have not already subscribed by sending the attached blank properly filled out, to Frances Stilson, Subscription Manager, before December 1, 1921. Payment will be due on or before February 1, 1922, and may be made by check.

IN GREAT DEMAND

A superintendent of a New York State high school called Dr. Brubacher on the telephone one day and said that he needed a new teacher for a certain subject. He wanted no one but a State College graduate if he could get one. "If you have one who is qualified for the position, please send her down immediately."

Dr. Brubacher answered that he had a teacher for the position. A girl was sent who proved a successful and satisfactory teacher. This illustrates the way in which State College graduates get positions. There are a large number of superintendents in New York State who always come here for a teacher before they look anywhere else.

The demand for our teachers is greater than we can satisfy. Each year about ninety per cent. of the graduating class secure positions as teachers. Of course, there is always a small percentage of a class who get below seventy per cent. in practice teaching. The appointment bureau cannot recommend these people except for certain positions which they can fill adequately, but many of them are placed through agencies. Students having a grade over seventy-five and willing to teach in any part of the State could usually be placed twice over. Only six members of last year's class were unable to secure positions, and some of these failed because they did not wish to teach away from home.

New York State College graduates are teaching in every county in the State. A larger percentage is found in the eastern than in the western part; for every one hundred east of Syracuse there are about ten west. A great number of State College people teach in the Hudson valley, especially near New York City. New Jersey has a great many of our teachers. The higher salaries paid in the Metropolitan District draw them there.

The success of State College teachers is very marked. Superintendents say that our graduates begin like experienced teachers. They know how to manage classes and organize work. They can carry on the business part of teaching, keep attendance and class records. They are skilled instructors when they start. On the whole they are better trained in subject matter than teachers from colleges which do not give special training in teaching. The chief reason for this is that they have prepared to teach specific subjects under our system of majors and minors.

Since the time of Dr. Milne's administration State College has attempted to find teaching positions for graduates. The system of appointments was systematically organized in 1915; so that from eighty to ninety per cent. of our teachers are now placed through appointment. 'ROUND THE COLLEGE

Pauline George, '23, attended a reunion of the Rockefeller family at the Hotel McAlpin in New York City last week.

Mr. O. F. Stetson was the guest of his daughter, Mildred Stetson, '22, last week.

Margaret Kirtland, '22, attended the Yale-Princeton game last week.

An informal house dance was held at the Eta Phi house Friday evening, November 18.

Anna Nelson, '17, spent a few days at the Eta Phi house recently.

Gamma Chapter, KAP, welcomes the following as pledge members, Willard McGraw, '22, Otto Huddel, '22, Rudolph Linderman, '22, Ralph Beaver, '24.

Miss Gillett and Miss Keim are in attendance at the New York State Home Economics Association and the State Teachers' Association meetings at Buffalo, November 21, 22 and 23.

Miss Gillett, Miss Keim, Miss Soden, and the Home Management family motored to Troy on Sunday afternoon to hear Dr. Hugh Black at the First Presbyterian Church. As Dr. Black spoke especially to students, his talk was of vital interest to the visitors.

On Thursday, the class in Nutrition and Dietetics, with Miss Soden in charge, visited the South End Clinic for school children. This clinic is conducted by Dr. Otto Faust, who has had remarkable results in his preventative work with children attending the clinic. The students are interested in doing follow-up work in cases of malnutrition.

Alpha Epsilon Phi had the following alumnae as her guests at a luncheon recently: Goldie Bloom, '20, Julia Dobris, '20, Helen Goldsmith, '21, Ruth Greenblath, '21, Jennie Rosengard, '20, Bertha Gallup, '20, Sophia J. Rosensweig, '19 and Edythe Sherman, '20.

Nellie Fieldman, ex-'23, was the guest of the AEP girls over the week-end.

Helen Strisower, '22, entertained Bertha Stone of New York City over the week-end.

Delta Omega welcomes Laura Ebell into full membership, and Elizabeth Budd as a pledged member.

George Schiavone, '20, was in town Saturday, November 12. He was Onondaga county's representative to the State Inter-League Basketball Council.

ORGANIZATIONS

French Club

French Club held its first initiation party Saturday afternoon, thus teaching the freshmen a few things about French that they never knew before. It was all decidedly interesting for everyone there.

Plans for the Fête to be held December 2 are well under way, and so far the Fête promises to be a great success. Get your ticket now, from any one of the French Club members.

Press Club

Forty-five students have now joined Press Club. Sign up and help make the meetings successful.

A regular business meeting was held Wednesday. Miss Murray spoke. The next meeting will be Dec. 14. The speaker will be announced later.

Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club was fortunate in having Doctor Douglas, of the Biology Department, talk about her western trip at their last regular meeting of the club Wednesday evening, November 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

Many slides, nearly all of which were snapshots taken by Doctor Douglas herself, were shown. Those who were present saw pictures of the places Dr. Douglas so vividly described in the News. Only a few of the more interesting pictures can be described here. Sliding down a deep snowbank in August on one day and the next day cooking a meal in a geyser seem like fairy tales, but the snap-shots prove them to be true.

Think of a chimney over 500 feet high. One picture showed such an enormous chimney used in a smelter plant. You can readily imagine how large an ordinary man looked beside it. Then imagine an oak tree, under the spreading branches of which 7,800 people can stand. This is supposed to be the largest oak tree in the world. Besides the pictures Dr. Douglas gave many personal experiences which added to the pleasure of all present.

Joseph Henry Society

A special meeting of Joseph Henry Society was held in room 150 on Monday, November 14, at 7:30. It was decided that the meetings of the Society would be on the first and third Thursdays at 7:30.

The following officers were elected: President, Edmund Osborne; vice-president, Mary G. Smith; secretary, Thomas Bentley; treasurer, Frederick Scott; reporter, Pauline George; honorary critic, Dr. Hale.

Mathematics Club

Some Practical Uses of Higher Mathematics will be the subject of Dr. Eichel's lecture at a meeting of the Mathematics Club to be held this afternoon, Monday, November 21, at 4:30 P. M. in Room 201. Dr. Otto K. Eichel is director of the division of vital statistics of the New York State Health Department. Math. Club extends a cordial invitation to all students who are interested in mathematics, and especially to those taking analytical geometry.

Music Association

The following program was enjoyed at the meeting of the Music Association, November 18th:

- Piano solo, "Barcarolle"..... MacDowell
- Marion Shotts, '23
- Piano solo, "The Witches' Dance"..... MacDowell
- Beulah Eckerson, '25
- Reading, "The Barrel Organ"..... A. Noyes
- Margaret Kirtland, '22
- Vocal solo..... MacDowell
- Katherine Peck, '24
- Piano solo, "Eroic Sonata"..... MacDowell
- Mr. T. F. Candlyn

the future leaders of Europe, who are its present students, that the purpose of America's youth is truly a ministry of friendship.

Because the broadly spiritual results of the relief work depend very largely upon its being a work of friendship for students by students:

To project the student body and intelligence of America actively into the transcendent task of world reconstruction along lines of good will and progress:

To help meet our obligation to European institutions to which our educational life owes much:

To help preserve principles and institutions as well as human values essential to the recovery of Europe and the world:

Principles Followed in Relief.

I. Relief is administered impartially, without regard to race, nationality or creed.

II. Relief is conducted on sound economic lines. Students pay to the utmost of their ability for whatever they receive.

III. Self-help is encouraged in every possible way.

IV. Close co-operation is followed with existing agencies. By correlation of effort maximum relief is provided at the minimum of overhead expense.

Something New in International Relationships

The students of America undertook in 1920, in common with the students of other nations, to bring relief to their fellow-students in Europe.

Students of twenty-six nations, united, within one year raised $600,000 and brought direct relief to 70,000 students in eleven countries, touching 120 different institutions of higher learning, with an attendance of 250,000 students.

This appeal is one from student to student. In this year's campaign let us all respond to the call which comes to our very door!

Dorothy Dangremond, Chairman.

Ah! On Thanksgiving Day when from East and from West,
From North and South come the pilgrim and guest,
When the gray haired North East sees round his board

The old broken links of affection restored,

When the care wearied man seeks his mother once more,

And the worn matron smiles where the girl smiled before,

What moistens the lips and what brightens the eye?

What calls back the past, like the rich pumpkin pie?

uation, made a study of the appointment bureaus of all the colleges in the country during this last summer. After spending September nineteenth going over the appointment bureau records of State College, he said that they were the completest that he had found. He recommended them because they contain the complete scholastic records of all students for their four years in college, even going back to their high school standings, a systematic judgment of their practice work by their critics and the heads of departments, and an account of their teaching experience after leaving college, with letters from superintendents under whom they have taught.

adopted by the student body. These resolutions will be sent to the President.

Modifications were made in the sophomore-freshman rules and what might be considered college traditions.

The following additional items were accepted as traditions:

I. That for the day before Moving-Up Day Myskania shall arrange for a contest between the freshman and sophomore men and the freshman and sophomore girls.

II. That the freshmen stand when the song "Freshmen, freshmen, don't feel blue" is sung.

III. That the frosh be required to purchase wool caps and wear them during the winter.

The rules II, III, V, and VIII of the college traditions were accepted as sophomore rules in addition to those in the handbook.

The following was accepted as a sophomore rule:

That no freshman be allowed to wear a mustache or smoke on the campus.
