

Study Groups To Assemble

Forum of Politics will sponsor a meeting to inaugurate the Great Decisions program at State this year. The meeting will be held in the recreation room of Alden, Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Mathew Elbow, advisor to Forum, will introduce the Great Decisions program, and kits, which are needed for participation in the program, will be distributed.

The Great Decisions program is a nation-wide effort to stimulate interest in foreign affairs sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association. About 300,000 people from all walks of life are expected to participate in it this year, 3,000 of them coming from the Albany area. Last year 200 State students participated in the program, which has been sponsored by the Forum of Politics for the last three years.

The program consists of several group meetings at which United States foreign policy in certain areas is discussed. Anyone who wishes may form a group which, it is suggested, should have from ten to fifteen members to be most effective.

Kits, selling at seventy-five cents each, are purchased by each group member. These kits, published by the Foreign Policy Association, contain booklets on eight specific topics for discussion. These topics are: Vietnam, Red China, Brazil, Nigeria, Iran, Berlin, the United Nations, and the United States.

The group meets once a week at a convenient time and place and discusses one of the above topics. Each group member reads the material on the topic in the kit and then is prepared to give his views on U.S. foreign policy in that area. Each group member votes on his opinions at the end of the meeting on ballots provided in the kit. These votes can be sent to Washington or to your congressman, and last year the results of these polls were published in the State College News.

Those students wishing to participate in the program should attend the meeting in Alden on Tuesday evening to learn about the groups being formed and to purchase a kit. Those not able to attend may receive information and a kit from Dr. Elbow, who can be reached at his office in Draper 205, or from Jan Dyckman, General Chairman for the program.

Three SA Candidates Outline Platforms

FRED SMITH

VP Nominee Fred Smith, States Duties

In the coming election, each person in this college has a responsibility. The contest for the office of S.A. Vice-President is one of great importance. It is the responsibility of every State student to carefully weigh the facts on each candidate. Vote on the basis of ability, not merely friendship. An important job needs the best qualified leader.

According to the S.A. Constitution, the duties of the S.A. Vice-President are:

1. To assume the duties of the President at his request or in the case of his absence.
2. To serve all the committees out of the Senate.
3. To serve as a non-voting member of the Senate.
4. To serve as a Cabinet member.

These are the basic duties of the office, but we all should be aware of exactly what this involves. As coordinator of committees one of the Vice-President's major jobs is that of organization. As a member of Cabinet and Senate, the Vice-President serves as treasurer of these groups and as general overseer of the finances of the student body. One of the major and perhaps the most important unwritten powers of the Vice-President is to assist and support the S.A. President. I think we are all aware that the job of the President is rather hectic. The Vice-President should be willing and expected to assist the President whenever and where ever possible.

"Why would anyone want this job?" To me, being elected to an S.A. office means much more than having a title in front of my name. Granted it would be an honor to be elected to the office of S.A. Vice-President, but at the same time it is a challenge. It is a challenge to be a successful job. When our next Vice-President leaves office, we should be able to look back with a satisfied feeling that he has done the best possible job.

It is a job that requires efficiency, organization and general experience in similar work. The Vice-President must be familiar with the work of Senate. This I have gained by attending Campus Queen attendant (2, 3) and the majority of the Senate meetings and further by discussion with

STEVE CONDAJANI

Steve Pledges No Platform As Candidate

My idea of a platform is not entirely in keeping with what many feel a platform should be. It seems to be the rule that the candidates for the President of Student Association, and indeed other offices on this campus, tend to build a platform based on big idealistic promises of what they intend to do. At the close of the President's term of office many, most — of these promises are left unfulfilled, often times through no fault of the President himself.

In view of this, my platform simply stresses efficiency, organization, follow-up, and experience. I feel that these areas are very important. I will try to elaborate on these.

Efficiency: You will have an organization that is as efficient as you want it to be. If it isn't, then you have not set your goals high enough. By efficient, I mean having the right people in the right position. This can be related directly to Cabinet. When a person has a job, he will be directly responsible to someone, usually the President, for performing this job.

Organization: Organization goes right along with efficiency. Every one should know just what is expected of him, and he should be responsible for performing these duties. I am against having a position for the sake of having it. If a person has a position, he will be expected to carry out the duties of this office. The duties of this position should and will be specified.

Follow-Up: Follow-up is needed and must be carried out. By this I mean that once a job is started it should be completed, and if it cannot be completed, the reasons why should be brought forth and explained. This would do away with many repeat campaign promises that are not possible to carry out.

The present Senate has many things on the fire that cannot be dropped. The work of this Senate has to be carried on. Some of these are: are further a possible new form of Government, state-wide or national of Student Government, and consolidation of construction at the college camp.

Experience: Experience is a must for the position of Student Association President. I feel that I have this necessary experience.

Tyo Brings Experience To Veep Office

As a candidate for the office of Vice-President of the Student Association, I feel it is important for the student body to know my views concerning what my job will entail if I am elected.

As quoted from the Student Association Constitution, the duties of the Vice-President are:

1. To assume the duties of the President at his request or in case of absence.
2. To coordinate all the committees out of the Senate.
3. To serve as a non-voting member of the Senate.
4. To serve as Cabinet member.

I sincerely believe that my qualifications enable me to fulfill the requirements the Student Association Vice-President needs to perform the duties listed above.

Throughout my campaign I have stressed the point that I feel very strongly that the Vice-President should have had experience in Senate. I feel that the Vice-President should fully understand the operations and mood of Senate; he should know what work is and can be done by committees; he must not play an entirely subordinate role; he must be vital to the government and above all, he should be active in Senate and Student Association; he must know where the lines of communication between various components of student government are blocked.

If one thing were required of a Vice-President, I suggest that this one requirement should be experience. As a Senator, I feel that I have gained this experience. Part of this experience is derived from work on Finance Committee within Senate. This position will be invaluable as an aid to fulfilling the duties of the Vice-President, who is Treasurer of Student Senate.

The unwritten and sometimes unspoken power of the Vice-President is to be the originator of ideas that will affect student government and the entire student body. In order to improve student government he is obligated to investigate constantly by anything and everything which affects government and or students should be scrutinized by the Vice-President. This power of investigation is possible through the Vice-President's position on all committees. The use of this power is very

Personality - Plus !!

The annual period of elections for Myskania, class officers, and student government is again upon us. The Peristyles again seem cluttered, the cafeteria walls are decorated with posters of various sizes and shapes, and candidates are campaigning.

Most upperclassmen are now acclimated to this overwhelming period; however, freshmen may be unaware of many policies and traditions associated with our college elections. The annual rush of smiles, "hello's", and favors, is at its peak, and we realize that although many are sincere, there are some who are not. We hope that the smiles, etc., are not to be the basis of voting.

Similarly, we wish to express our hope that this year's voting procedure will not be based primarily upon popularity. Certainly popularity is usually a factor, but should not be one which is overwhelming.

A frequent factor in voting procedure is the "pin" or "sweatshirt" of a candidate running for any office. This may be an easy way for a voter to decide what his choices will be, but is very often a poor one.

Sororities and fraternities may have desirable features, but members of them are not necessarily the best qualified for certain offices. A sweatshirt is not always a symbol of experience, leadership, character, or service . . . essentials in such elections as those which we face this week.

Qualifications and experience are more important than individual social affiliations. Their importance must be recognized and seriously considered before we, the student body, place a check before a certain name on a ballot or pull a lever in a voting booth.

Freshmen, in particular, should be aware of the fact that it is not necessary to vote for thirteen people in Myskania elections. Similarly, it is not necessary to vote for a particular number of government officers. We are not voting for quantity; stress is to be placed on quality. By voting only for those that we feel fulfill the qualifications for a particular position, an advantage is given to our choices.

Serious consideration should be given to the amount of time a candidate will be capable of devoting to his duties. One who is committed to many activities may not have the time to devote attention to a post for which he is being considered, even though some outstanding students have succeeded in this feat.

Also, academic standing is important; the question "Will he or she be here to lead us next semester, or next year?" should be asked of ourselves. It may be an undesirable subject for the candidate, but definitely one which he and the voter should realize.

The NEWS wishes to convey that it has attempted to show no partiality in the campaigns of the candidates for Student Government positions. Campaign platforms have been printed as exactly as possible upon their being submitted. We hope that the student body will recognize the importance of reading these platforms and will consider each one carefully and with good judgment.

To each of the Student Association office candidates, candidates for Myskania and class officers, are extended the sincere best wishes of the NEWS.

D. U. M.

State Needs Little Goliaths

By Ed Mangelsdorf

Ideas are the products of fertile minds . . . the very backbone of individualism which must be cultivated if we are to become anything more than sophisticated parrots of pedagogy.

Serious slurs have been hurled at us from the slings of numerous "Davids" (one in particular), which are both distorted and substantiated in part. The very idea that we have been "chosen" and held up for the scrutiny of these people (I leave the missing antecedent of "these" to your fertile imaginations) and to ourselves should be stimulating enough to evoke some definite reaction. If you have none, stop reading, and deal yourself another hand of bridge.

To be pithy and true: Newspapers are only as good as the people who run them; since this is your newspaper, you must share the responsibility of its relative merit. Naturally, everyone does not have the time or the interest to work on the paper, but everyone does have the time to think . . . or should.

All students are urged to contribute their ideas and opinions on various topics ranging from theatre reviews to interests of the day (a dangerous wording) . . . from politics to pet peeves. A special column will be devoted each week to your fertile thoughts provided they meet a criteria of good common sense and vigorous thinking along intelligent lines.

A rapport is necessary to formulate sane opinions and attitudes, to reinforce and challenge clear thoughts and state ideas. React, write, share your thoughts with the rest of your "peers" or forever be damned in the anonymity of your apathy (that's being rather dramatic). Send all contributions, preferably typewritten, to Linda Lasselle via student mail.

Senate Discusses New Faculties

By Pat Woinowski

The lack of religious facilities on the new campus presents difficulties to the religious organizations. Representing the Council of Religious Clubs, Jan Dyckman '62 requested Senate's approval of a request for working headquarters in the Student Union Building on the new campus. With Senate approval, Jan plans to present this request to Dean Thorne.

New Banner

Senator Kelly reported that the purchase of a new banner with the new college name, State University College at Albany, has been considered. Mr. Crowley and Mr. Wilson of the APD Department will be asked for possible designs for a center emblem.

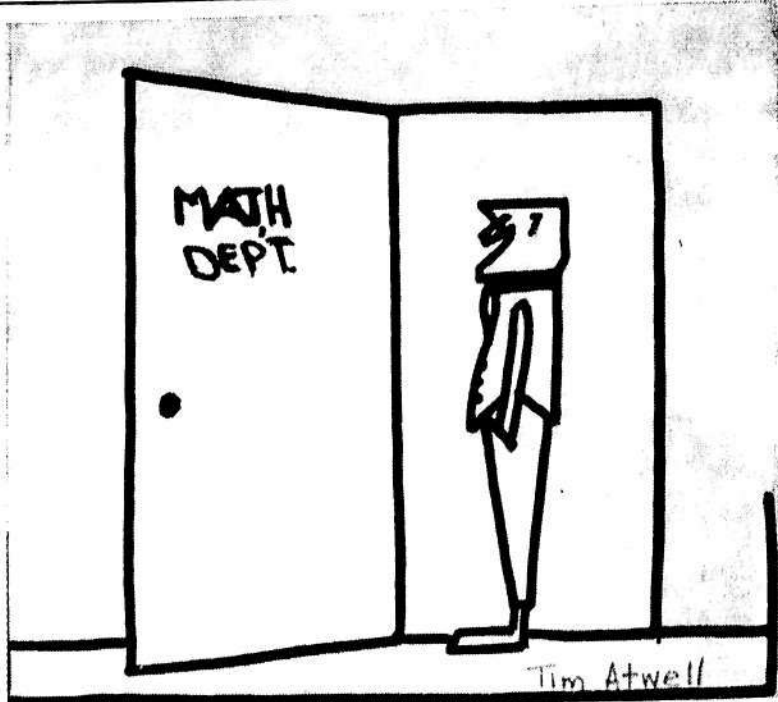

Services Committee is sending a letter to request 11 00 hours for Freshmen women on the last day of each vacation. This letter will be sent to Dean Stokes, Miss Morton and Residence Council.

Union College has invited us to send delegates to a conference of student leaders in the Albany area to discuss topics of mutual benefit. Lemmy Lapinski, Bill Leo, and Pat Cerra, '61, were chosen to represent State.

Ibsen Blames Depravity On Heredity In 'Ghosts.'

State College Theatre will present Henrik Ibsen's Ghosts in Richardson 291 at 8:30 p.m. The performances of February 15 and 16 will be given for the benefit of the Theatre Alumni Scholarship Fund in recognition of Miss Agnes Futterer. Regular performances are scheduled for February 14, 17 and 21. All tickets will be reserved and will be held until 8:20 p.m. each night before performance. They may be purchased with a student tax card or $1.25.

SUB Slates Foreign Eve

This Sunday, February 11, will mark the first major undertaking of the new Student Union Organization. The production staff for Ghosts is as follows: James Jackson '62, stage manager; Lillian Schmidt '61, assistant stage manager; Kaaren Jerewicz, lights; Judith Grabel '63, properties; Linda Kolts '63, costumes; Barbara Steindorf '64, make-up; Robert Willower, '64, sound; and Constance Amelio, publicity.

Ibsen Stresses Heredity

Ghosts is a modern tragedy. Man's fate is not determined by the gods, God, or some nameless malevolent power. Instead of the three sisters of Greek mythology who weave a man's destiny, heredity passes judgment upon him. As the play progresses, the horror and dissipation of the late Mrs. Alving's life are revealed to his son, Oswald. Curious parallels develop between Oswald's actions upon his return home and the depraved acts of his father. Oswald is ultimately destroyed by his father's immoral life, and Mrs. Alving is forced to admit the evils, so long hidden from her conscious knowledge, which shape men's lives.

Exchange Students to Speak

The seventeen exchange students here at State will give information about their respective countries at the second Foreign Student Night to be held in Brubacher Upper Lounge.

Visual Aids

Many of the students will appear in their native attire to tell about their countries. Slides and other presentations are also planned. After the formal presentations there will be refreshments and informal discussions with our exchange students. It is hoped that there will be a large turnout of students who are interested in the customs and traditions of other nations. The evening will prove to be enjoyable and one which you won't want to miss. Please come to show our foreign students that we are interested in them and that they are welcomed at State. Chairman of the Student Union Board of Managers is Steve Myslinski '62; Vice-Chairman is Larry Simmons '63.

Jaycee Wants Editor States Ambassadors New Promotions Applications

Linda Lasselle '63, Editor-in-Chief of the State College News, announces the following promotions on News Board for the coming year.

Applications
The Albany Junior Chamber of Commerce is now accepting applications from persons interested in becoming Albany's "Junior Ambassador" to a foreign country.

Applications
Applications forms may be obtained in Dr. Carrino's office. Applicants must be 20 years old and have completed their Junior year in college before July 1. Completed applications must be returned to Dr. Carrino by Monday, February 26.

Community Ambassadors are selected by the local Jaycee screening board, and then sent on to final selection by the National Office of The Experiment in International Living, Inc.

In Albany the Junior Chamber of Commerce pays all expenses round-trip from the port of embarkation.

The Community Ambassador is a member of a group of ten experimenters who live with families in a community abroad, possibly the Soviet Union.

The monthly home stay is divided or followed by an informal trip of several weeks on which Experimenters are usually accompanied by members or friends or their host families.

Responsibility
The committee stresses that the responsibility of an Ambassador is as great as the privilege. It starts before departure, as the Ambassador gathers the information he needs on economics and government, patterns of education and social customs.

The responsibility continues abroad, and climaxes at home when the ambassador returns a report in person through talks to groups and organizations.

The qualifications for Ambassadorship include keen interest in other people, real desire to contribute to international understanding, and capacity to adapt with enjoyment to new ways of living.

The Meatgrinder

By ANNE DUGAN

Teachers should know how to do many things. One of the most important things we are able to learn at State is how to take our future class members on a field trip to the State Education Museum.

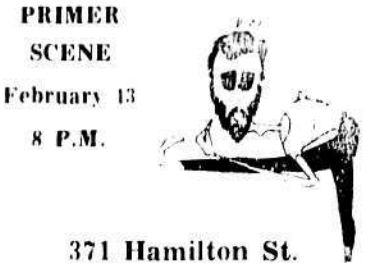

We are first taught to know a little about the place we intend to visit. This is so we will know more than the kids when the group gets there. We are also requested to case the joint to note any dangerous spots where "little Johnny" may push "little Susie" causing her to fall down twenty or thirty flights of stairs.

All children must have permission blanks before they can be allowed to go on the trip. This entails days of collecting all kinds of grubby slips of paper, half of which are probably forged because the kid forgot to get it signed on time.

Classroom instruction is required for a trip to Albany's foremost educational spot. Show them pamphlets of the building and explain the hazards which exist within (or without). ("We must be careful, kiddies, of our little feathered friends... the pigeon").

One point brought out in class concerned the necessity of bringing plenty of safety pins along on flights of stairs. ("...some girl's slip string may break..."). It is also advisable to warn your class not to tamper with the In-burial grounds exhibited. The officials become angry and the Indians might, too.

It is very important that the future teacher be able to answer any questions his class may ask about the State Museum. Nothing is excusable.

Outing Club

There will be a very important meeting of Outing Club, Tuesday evening, February 13, at 7:30, in Room 6 of Brubacher. New officers will be elected and final arrangements for the Hudson Valley Conference Ski Trip will be made, and the letter to Outing Club from the Peace Corps will be read at this time. All new students are invited to attend. All people who ordered sweatshirts should pick them up at this meeting or contact Walt Swindelles about getting them.

Tyo . . .

(1) The appointment of a planning committee which will begin work immediately on the changes that will be necessary in student government when we move to the new c.a.m.p.u.s. I realize that work has already been started on these problems; however, if I am elected, I plan to immediately set this special committee to work.

(2) A new meeting system for Cabinet. This cabinet, although appointed by the President, is representative of many views not necessarily found in Senate. Also, this Cabinet has available to it resources which could be of value to Senate and the student body as a whole.

If Cabinet were to meet once a week (preferably Tuesday), as the other branches of Student Association do, and tell Senate of its work more information about a number of areas would be furnished to aid Senate. I feel that by closing this gap in communication we will bring about the closer coordination of Senate, Cabinet, and the student body as a whole.

(3) The re-creation of the Cabinet post Minister of Student-Faculty Relations. This will be under the leadership of a responsible person who will know his job thoroughly. He, as a Cabinet minister, will report to Senate. In addition, this will relieve the burden of often over-worked senators.

My experience on this campus is not limited to governmental aspects alone. I am presently editor of the "College Life" section of the 1962 yearbook. I have served the school as a Fresh Soph and member of C.A.L.T. Court. Also, I was active in Rivalry, participating in such events as the skit and the band.

Finally, I urge everyone to vote wisely in this coming election, for it is one of great importance.

The Bear Baiter

By Feigel and Haenlin

Once upon a time there was a brilliant, well adjusted student who had one tragic flaw: he became obnoxious when he drank. His name was Antoine. On one portentous night, after taking the methodical load, he performed such heroic exploits as dismantling the cigarette machine, stealing eleven bar stools, and ogling the waitress. But the last straw was when he began humming. He was promptly ejected and suspended indefinitely.

Antoine spent the next six months strictly in the daytime where he could be seen sipping in various accredited junior bars. After much effort, he made drinking honors.

One day he got word that his old bar had changed hands, and so he promptly went for an interview. The bartender perused his social transcript and Antoine was finally readmitted on terminal probation, with the following conditions: he could not drink more than sixteen hours a week, he had to get a satisfactory report on his practice drinking, and he had to submit a unit imbibing plan. For his final examination Antoine had to last through an entire Friday night.

All went well until his twenty-myth came. He had drunk twelve six double stingers and two brandy alexandres. (He had carefully avoided draughts). He felt the soft liquid warmly coarsing through his veins. He was in a state of euphoria. He had that richly sensuous, that sublime pleasantness, that pale de foie gras feeling, when suddenly in a moment of recklessness and meticulous abandon, he negligently produced a twelve pound sledge hammer, and while the patrons watched in awed admiration, he punctiliously, and with great attention to detail, pulverized the entire bar. Needless to say he was promptly and summarily dismissed.

The bar, which was no longer suitable for its former purpose, was quickly salvaged by the stagecraft crew and converted into scenery. The tavern itself, was annexed and converted into classrooms by the local college. The next day, without further ado, our hero perfunctorily transferred his drinking to a less matriarchal bar located in Cortland.

Here at State, a good share of my time has been devoted to serving as Fresh Soph President. I am also Vice-President of Stutiles and have participated in other activities ranging from being a Fresh Camp Counselor to serving as a Student Guide.

Before coming to State, I did auditing work for a Certified Public Accounting firm. Here at Albany I am an accounting major. This is valuable experience in relation to the financial aspects of the Vice-President's job.

Unlike many college politicians I do not pretend to make any campaign promises, for often promises made by office-seekers are never fulfilled. I have many ideas and beliefs in relation to what I would like to see in Senate. I would like to see a continuance of work started against tuition, I would like to see further work done on planning for student government on the new campus and I would like to see something more done about the age-old campaign promise of a Student Association bus . . . just to mention a few. However, these are only personal ideas and as a student body representative I will support what the majority of the student body wants. I do find it possible to make one solid promise. I promise, if elected, to do my best, as based on my past ability, to serve as S.A. Vice-President.

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3) I have always been interested in Student Government, even in high school when I was treasurer, Vice President, and President of Student Council. I was also President of District 6 of the N.Y.S. Association of Student Councils. Here at State I have served as President of the Fresh-Soph Class and this past year I have served as Vice President of Student Association.

You may have questions in your mind concerning the above. I truly hope that you will ask me concerning anything that I have or have not mentioned.

First, everyone should vote and then, if you feel that I am capable of carrying out the duties of Student Association President, I hope that you will vote for me.

S. Stephen Condojani.

Missionary To Lecture
The annual Inter-Varsity Ski Weekend is scheduled for Friday evening, February 16 through Sunday afternoon, February 19.

Reverend Newman LaShana, for twenty years a missionary in India, will speak on the topic "The Word of God." Reverend LeShana is now pastor of the First Methodist Church in Chatham, Massachusetts.

The purpose of the weekend is to provide college students with an informal atmosphere for religious contemplation. The students from eastern New York State will also participate in such winter sports as skiing, skating and snow sculpturing.

All interested students are encouraged to attend this inter-denominational weekend. The cost is $9.00, and financial assistance is available for those in need of it. Ski equipment can be rented for $3.50.

Frosh Courtmen Trounce Oneonta 49-27!

State's Frosh basketball team had a jolly good time of it last Wednesday night at the Washington Armory, easily romping a hopelessly out-classed Oneonta squad 49-27. It was State all the way in this one-sided affair as all the Peds saw action for the first time this year.

The ball game was really over after just five minutes of play as the Peds grabbed a commanding 14-1 lead. Kirk Ellis nailed three quick field goals in the first minutes to get State off and running. He and Dick Crosett were rivaling a certain Mr. Chamberlain of Philadelphia, as they each scored ten points in the first ten minutes of play for a tremendous "point-a-minute" average.

By 11:52 the scoreboard showed a laughable 20-3 total, and Coach Hissert began inserting his subs. State's second stringers did well for themselves, playing for about ten minutes and opening the Frosh halftime lead to 34-9.

As a team the Peds hit 16-33 field goal attempts in the half for a shade under 50% shooting average. But it was under the boards that the Frosh really enjoyed themselves, out rebounding Oneonta 18-6. Danny Zeh was the Big Daddy for State in this department, hauling down six in the half and corraling 14 for the evening.

The second half was a bit of a different story, however, as Oneonta caught fire and outscored the Peds 18-15. The poor State performance was probably due to simple letdown more than anything else. When a team has a 25 point halftime lead, it's bound to unconsciously ease off.

Things went so poorly for State during the second half, despite the fact that the first string went most of the way, that the Peds scored just four points in the first 13 minutes of play. The men in Purple & Gold finally began to regain some of their early form at this time, and led by Crosett's sparkling play tallied 11 more points.

Touching All Bases

By DAVE JENKS

"Take Me Out To The Ball Game!" This coming weekend should be really a tremendous one for all our athletes here at State and especially we athletic supporters. By the time classes begin again Monday our basketball teams will have completed four home games, and our wrestling squad will have had a match with Brooklyn Poly (away). Things will begin whirling Friday at 6:30 p.m. (maybe earlier for the T.G.I.F.ing fans) as our very strong Frosh forces take on Hudson Valley Community College. From what we hear this team is ranked first in the East and second in the Nation for two year colleges, but our Frosh are going to be up for them and all we have to say is, "look out for your national ranking, Hudson Valley!"

At 8:30 the Varsity rolls into action against Suffolk University. Following this a short run (if your date doesn't mind, and the flow of air down the Western and Washington Avenue Wind Tunnels does not exceed 70 frigid miles per hour) will bring you to the Bru game room where you can partake of the gentle sports of listening, flirting, or dancing to the wheeling and Dealing of Johnny Tyo's crazy, cool, catchy Campus Counts. Other sports may be indulged in following the dance.

Having rested up to some extent, we sports fans should be able to get up in time Saturday night for the Frosh-R.P.I. game, again at 6:30. Fresh from their win over Suffolk our Varsity squad faces Central Connecticut at 8:30. After celebrating our victory or drowning the sorrows of our loss (we have a feeling it will be the first), all good little Albany State sports fans will crawl off to bed satisfied until we must get up for classes Monday when we must turn our minds back to our scholastic endeavors.

Sauersmen Blast Oneonta Cagers 70-54 Wed. Nite!

Ped Five Top Potsdam 74-67

By GARY SMITH

Saturday night the basketball team made a long and tiring trip to Potsdam. It proved to be a success however, as the Sauersmen extended their winning streak to six games with a thrilling 74-67 overtime victory.

The Peds, who had last tasted defeat at the hands of Alfred in the Christmas Tournament, showed the characteristics which have made the team so successful to date. Combining good second half play and tough rebounding against a taller club, the team garnered its twelfth victory in fifteen outings. The team trailed by 11 points at the time but fought back gamely to take the contest.

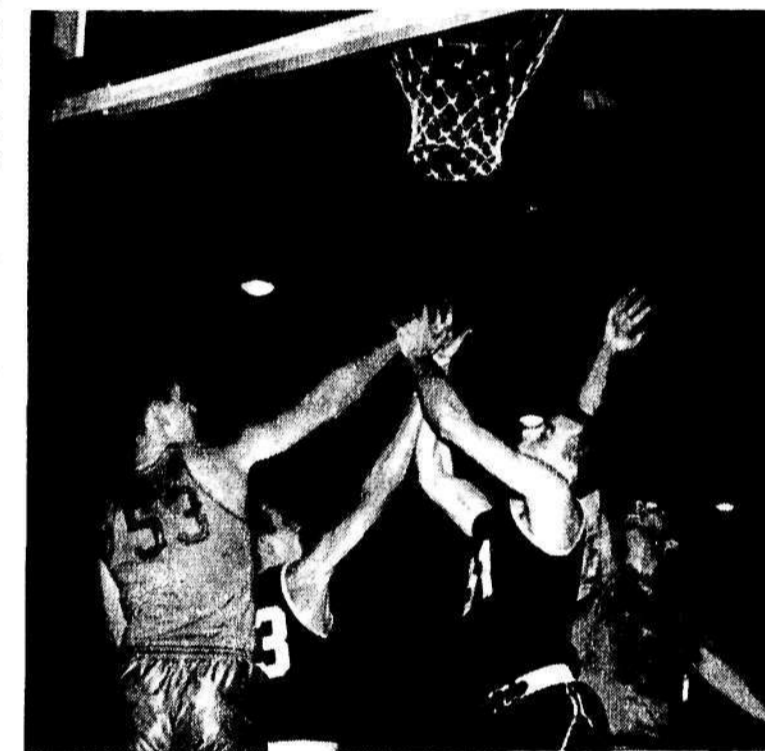

The game was a thriller throughout the final minutes. An errant pass by Albany in the final seconds of play sent the game into overtime with the score tied 62-62. A jump shot by John Wallace quickly untied it but a Potsdam bucket quickly knotted it up again. At this point in the overtime the victors started to pull away. Don DeLuca and Roger Casey, who both played good ball, hit on quick baskets and put the game out of reach. This was the second straight overtime victory for the club and they seem to do their best under pressure. They beat Oneonta earlier this year 31-50 at Oneonta.

Jim Oppedisano, the cog in the Purple and Gold attack once again broke the twenty barrier as he tossed in 25 points on nine baskets and seven free throws. He also came down with 14 of the team's 30 rebounds. Don DeLuca and Roger Casey were among the other important contributors as they tallied 17 and 10 points, respectively. Bob Ansbett paced the home club with 17 points while teammate Barney Beshares had 10.

The Purple and Gold hit 34 out of 60 shots for a 56% average and had 10 for 14 from the foul line. Potsdam was 27 for 60 (45%) from the floor in the free scoring contest.

Jim Oppedisano throws one up underhand over out stretched arm of Potsdam defender. He finished the night with 25 points.

"Hey man, where's that ball!" Don DeLuca and "Oppie" fight Potsdam State men for rebound. Albany came out on the better end of the rebounding despite their disadvantage in height.

Oppedisano Racks 21 Points As Peds Register 13th Win

By GARY SMITH

The varsity basketball team, who must be feeling like the well traveled Harlem Globetrotters, kept rolling along. After a thrilling overtime victory at Potsdam, the team met a tough Oneonta squad and brilliantly responded with a 70-54 victory over the Dragons. This was the 13th victory and 7th in a row for the team. They have lost 3.

The first half was not a prolific scoring contest in any sense of the word. The team opened strongly with everyone getting into the scoring column. Leading the attack were Jim Oppedisano, Bill Carmello, Don Gruol and Ray Weeks. With about 13 minutes to go the team was ahead 11-3 as both teams found trouble hitting the hoop. A jumper by Carmello put the team ahead 13-5 with 12:55 to go in the half. Baskets by Weeks, Casey and Don Gruol were offset by the hot hand of Joe Mars and Laddie Decker. Don Gruol canned a jumper to put the team out in front 24-20 as the half came to a close.

It looked like another Albany-Oneonta cliffhanger as the second half opened but the team began to pull away. Led by Oppedisano and Weeks the team got off to a fast start and built up a 31-24 lead. Oneonta recovered slightly on baskets by Grimm and Decker but Albany once again shot to the fore by a 47-34 margin. Big Paul Smelkoff of Oneonta began to hit from the field and foul line to bring Oneonta to within 9 points. This was the closest Oneonta was to get though, as a late spurt by the Peds put out all hopes of an Oneonta comeback. The team thereafter coasted to their 70-54 victory.

Good rebounding helped carry the team throughout much of the game. The squad had a rough first half from the floor, hitting only 9 out of 40 while Oneonta had 7 for 34. Foulwise, the team converted 16 of 27 while their opponents had 12 for 22. Oppedisano led the Albanians with 21 points while DeLuca (12) and Weeks (11) were also in double figures. Paul Smelkoff led Oneonta with 15. The State defense must be mentioned for the sterling work it did in holding Laddie Decker and Dick White to a combined total of 7 points. These fine ball players had many shots blocked in their faces all night long.

This weekend is a full one for the team as they face Suffolk University on Friday night and Central Connecticut on Saturday night. Both games will be played at the Armory. A good team deserves good student backing — try to make it at least one of the two nights.

ALBANY, NEW YORK, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1962

Vol. XLVII, No. 3

Current Comment

By JOE GALU

In the press conference which preceded his address in Page Hall, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp called American plans to build a fifty megaton bomb an effort "to keep up with the Joneses." Dr. Lapp pointed out that such a weapon can be used only as an attack by force or an effort to scare people.

In comparing the destructive force of different sized bombs, he showed that a 100 megaton bomb will destroy only a little more than twice the amount a 10 megaton will. He went on to state that the Russian bomb which produced 57 megatons had a potential of 171 megatons. The reason for the relatively low yield is that a lead casing was used in order to control fall out.

Poor Press Coverage Attacked

Dr. Lapp castigated American press coverage of the Russian test series for inferring that fall out producing megatonage had been doubled. He stated that 117 megatons of fall out yielding bombs have been exploded. The recent Russian tests contributed only 25 of the 117. He did not condone the tests; he merely stated that information about them had been inaccurate. He complained that outdated figures are being used in determining whether or not our Atlas missile bases are "hard" or "soft." Curtis LeMay's statistics are all out of date with the result that our Atlas bases can no longer be considered safe.

No Shelters In Russia

He stated that the Russians have no major program or shelter building and no information concerning civilian defense from attack. Dr. Lapp stated that what protection there is in Russia is very "crude."

He also stated his belief that atmospheric tests need not be resumed. He pointed out that information we have from the Russian tests is still being analyzed and evaluated.

Why We Are Behind

He traced the development of the missile and explained why we are behind. He explained that the German V-2 carried a one ton bomb 200 miles. It produced 60,000 tons of thrust, and was accurate only to within 15 miles. In 1948 our leaders made a study of our ICBM program. An American missile must be capable of traveling 3,000 miles. In 1948, such a missile would be accurate only to within 20 miles. Because of the weight of atomic bombs of that era, our leaders, military, and civilians decided to wait for the scientific breakthrough before trying to develop a missile carried defensive force.

He closed with a brief description of what scientists could discover if there is life on Mars.

In a recent article in the Saturday Review of Literature, Mr. David Boroff stated that only a handful of students he had interviewed were familiar with programming instruction.

Mr. Lloyd Seidman, Chairman of United States Industries, Inc., has stated that although he realizes that those students were not necessarily representative of the State College community, he was so impressed with the statement that he has made arrangements to have Mr. Norman A. Crowder, Vice-President and Technical Director of United States Industries, Inc., to speak to students concerning the rapid strides taken in the field of programming instruction in the last few years.

Mr. Crowder will differentiate between linear programming, developed by B. F. Skinner of Harvard, and branch programming, developed by Crowder himself.

Mr. Crowder will address students and faculty at 3 p.m., Monday, February 12, in Draper 349.

Annual Inaugural Weekend Tops Campus Calendar

Peace Corps To Schedule Interviews

By MARCIA SCOTT

"Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country." This statement of President Kennedy in his Inaugural Address sums up the philosophy of the Peace Corps. Men and women are needed to serve in the under-developed nations.

Students interested in volunteering for the Peace Corps program may see Mr. Harold Flickinger, who will be at the college on February 17 and 28. On Wednesday, he will hold interviews for interested students between 9:30 and 4:30. Information about the Peace Corps is available in the Placement Bureau.

In order to join the Peace Corps one must pass a written test, several interviews and a thorough physical examination. Available programs with the corps include teaching, health work, mechanics and accounting. Once chosen, a member goes through a rigorous training program before starting work in the country where he is needed.

At present, there are three State graduates in the Peace Corps. Robert Neuberger '61 is teaching in British East Africa under the International Cooperation Adminis-tration, a forerunner of the Peace Corps. Barbara Gladyszewicz '61, and Willard Gillette '61, are now volunteers in the Peace Corps program.

The Peace Corps hopes to have 25,000 volunteers either in training or already at work overseas by June 30, 1962.

Director of Revue Considers Fun and Problems of Musical

By ROBERT STEINHAUER

Want to do a musical? Lend me your ears.

The principal reason I want to do a musical is because I like to. It is that simple. And that's the last time I'll use the word "simple" in connection with a musical. Put the "one too" there is slightly less complicated than scribbling a musical score, but I discovered that the explosive potential is just about as great. However, in the long run, it's probably more fun. Shattering, but fun.

The creative elements which go into the preparation of a musical play are far greater than what goes into the average show, and there are black times when you're convinced that these elements are all working independent of each other, rather like passengers in a plane; they're all heading for the same destination, but they don't know one another.

I am never fully prepared for the chaos involved in staging a musical. The dancers rehearse in one place, the singers in another, and I work on the book some place else, which is efficient enough, except that in "Kiss Me, Kate" most of the cast sing and dance and speak too, so that nobody's ever quite where you want them when you want them.

Later on, when I think I've succeeded in keeping the actors from bumping into each other, and the show begins to show signs of life and spontaneity, the sets must go up. They don't fit, of course, and the scenic designer is likely to renounce the theatre altogether and retire to student teaching. (He makes the sets fit, of course.)

Somehow, illogically, unexpectedly and very suddenly, all the seemingly unrelated pieces fall into place. The dancers move as they should move, their costumes no longer split up the back on that second score finale, the light plan works like a charm, and the drop in the second act no longer sticks fifty feet above Page-stage.

So, cast and crew of "Kiss Me, Kate" you know what to expect now that you find yourself in the intoxicating atmosphere of a musical play taking shape.

Restful, isn't it?

Now here is the factual side of the matter. "Kiss Me, Kate" will take place on April 11, 12 and 13. The cast has been selected and is now in rehearsal.

Cast

Bonnie Scott '62, will play the part of Lilli Vanessi (Kate). John Little '65 will take the role of Fred Graham (Petruccio). Other cast members include: Linda Kolts '63, Lois Lane (Blanca); P. Jack Tkach '61, as Bill Calhoun (Lucentio); Pat Fasano '65, as Hattu; Tim Atwell '65, as Paul; Earle Schreiber '65, as Harry Trever (Baptista), and Paul Villani and David Cronen, Seniors, as two gangsters.

Production Staff

Assistants to the director are Virginia White '62, and Felicia Liss '65.
