Brooker Names Heads; Record Attendance Set

By JIM DOUGHERTY

A thought provoking quote credited to George Shaw has set the tone of the new Student Association administration headed by David Brooker. "Remember, our conduct is influenced not by our experience, but by our expectations," was the most noteworthy utterance delivered at the first Senate meeting of the current session.

Expanded Attendance
A double portion of government personnel was present at the first meeting. In addition to the thirty-three newly elected Senators, members of the retired Senate as well as past and present Myskonia members and the most recent President of SA were present to add a feeling of experience to the meeting. It was indeed a grand feeling to realize that the current Senate boasts twelve hold-over representatives—the greatest number in four years.

Review Of Operating Rules
Retired SA President Richard Robinson annotated the past Senate's operating rules and offered several suggestions for possible revision. Following Robinson's delivery, the Senate moved to operate under the "old" rules until a revised edition can be prepared and approved.

Initial Appointments
President Brooker took a portion of this first meeting to announce his first Cabinet and Senate committee appointments. The following persons were approved for their respective positions: Minister of Culture—Anne Smith; Recreation—Gary Jones; Religion—Natalie Clark. The new Senate committee chairman are: Constitution—Carole Sherman; Elections—Pat Winowski and Ted Dusencko; Finance—Betty Klein; Rules—Roy Knapp; Services—Geri Schleifer and Dick Kelly.

Brooker suffered his first legislative set-back when his appointment for Minister of Special Days was rejected by the Senate. The six remaining Cabinet positions are scheduled for appointment at the next meeting. Brooker also stated that two persons will be appointed to fill the existing vacancies on the Athletic Advisory Board.

Culture Responsibility
On February 17, 1960 a bill was passed in Senate providing for the

Gambee Does Degree Study

Associate Professor of Librarianship Budd Leslie Gambee is on a leave of absence this year, it was announced by Miss H. Carolyn Howard, Acting Department Chairman.

Mr. Gambee is currently enrolled at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, where he is working on the last of the preliminary courses for his Doctorate in Librarianship. Part of his studies also include an English cognate course.

Following his graduation this Spring, Mr. Gambee intends to commence the writing of his thesis.

He is expected to return in 1962.

Goe Speaks at Faculty Dinner

The Philosophy Department at State was the host of a dinner and lecture period held in Brubacher Hall, Wednesday night, for members of Philosophy Departments in the Albany Area.

Schools Represented
Those schools represented include R. P. I., Union, Skidmore, Russell Sage, St. Rose, Siena, and other Catholic Seminaries.

Professor Goe
Speaking at Wednesday night's gathering, which was the second in a series of three annual meetings of this type, was Professor Goe of R. P. I. His topic centered around Contemporary British Philosophy.

Dr. Glathe
Dr. Glathe of Albany's Department delivered the address at the dinner held previously this year at Union College.

Publication
Other news in the Philosophy Department here was the announcement of the publication of an article written by Dr. Robert F. Creegan, Department Head, entitled "Is Philosophy Useless?" This appeared in School & Society.

Notice

Fred Smith '61 announces that there will be a freshman class meeting today at 1 p.m. in Page Hall. Plans for the class banquet to be on March 29 will be discussed and committees will be set up. Nominations for Junior Prom attendants will also be made. New class officers and senators will be introduced at the meeting.

Less Formal Oral Reading Classes Start

Monday afternoon, March 6, the first of a series of eight oral reading classes will be held in Draper 349 from 3 p. m. to 4 or 5 p. m.

In the past, oral public readings have been held at State; however, they have been on a production scale with a great deal of preparation and coaching.

The classes that will begin this year are intended to be more informal and will require not quite as much preparation and a limited amount of coaching. The purpose of these classes is to establish something that is informative and entertaining which the students and faculty members may take advantage of without feeling that they are obligated to attend every meeting.

The people who will be reading are doing it as part of their oral interpretation course. The literature to be read will range from short stories and novels to essays and poetry.

Touring Choir To Sing Varied Program Tues.

Tuesday the Westminster Choir, the touring concert unit of Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey, will present a program varying from the choral masterpieces of Bach to folk songs of several countries. The concert will be at 8:30 p. m. at Page Hall.

The choir will be conducted by Elaine Brown, founder and director of the Singing City choirs in Philadelphia, and Warren Brown, Musical Director of Westminster Choir College. Music Council is sponsoring the concert. Tickets will be on sale through Tuesday. They will be $2.00 for the public.

and free with a student tax card. The presentation will include the work of such composers as Orlando Di Lasso, G. P. da Palestrina, Thomas Morley, J. S. Bach, and Johannes Brahms.

Westminster Choir, organized in 1921, was for over thirty years conducted by its founder, John Finley Williamson. The forty singers in this group are college students.

The choir has presented concerts throughout the world and has made radio and television appearances. Three times the Westminster Choir has been commissioned to function as good will ambassadors.

The group has the distinction of having sung over one hundred and twenty five performances with the New York Philharmonic.

Brooker Fills Gov't Post

By JIM DOUGHERTY

Appointments filled the first segment of Student Senate's second meeting Wednesday evening as President David Brooker named eleven students to administrative posts within the governmental organization.

Cabinet Completion
Two men and four women were appointed to Cabinet positions this evening; the complement of the Cabinet to a total of nine. The Ministers of Fraternities and Sororities will be administered by Tom Ellis and Sue MacFarland respectively. Others named were Shirley Bowler, Minister of Publications; Judy Johnson, Minister of Services; and Jane Szurek, Minister of Special Days. The number one Cabinet post—Minister of Finance—has been filled by Dale Van Epps.

Senate Staff
President Brooker added to his immediate Senate staff by naming Marvia English Senate Secretary and Mary Alice Lynaugh as Senate Parliamentarian.

Additional Vacancies

Oral Interp:

Class to Start Series Monday

Monday afternoon from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. in Draper 349, the first of a series of eight programs of the Oral Interpretation course will be presented.

Informal Afternoon Readings
Both Mr. Leonard and Mr. Burian's classes will present readings in the afternoon instead of in the evenings as presented last semester. The change has been endorsed to give a more informal program which will require less preparation by the participants.

The Oral Interpretation programs enable the readers to practice what they have been learning and will give interested students and faculty members the opportunity to enjoy the program.

Selections from James Thurber, Thornton Hardy and Erwin Shaw will be interpreted by Carol Chilton, William Edwards and Grayce Burnan. Juniors, in the first of the series this Monday.

Support State; Take the Bus

Everyone ready? Here is the most important scoop of the week. A r.p.c. comfortable, fun-filled Busses will leave for State's win in the tournament at Cortland tomorrow.

The Busses will leave from the Washington Avenue entrance to Draper at 11:45 a.m.

By being on hand to cheer for our team, we can give the much needed morale necessary to come out in a top place.

The team will be at its best could Albany State, the most famous for apathy, have participation at its best, too?

MARTY GOLENSKY

Yearbook Picks Golensky Editor

Editorship of the '62 Pedagogue goes to Marty Golensky. Marty has served as a staff member in her freshman year, as section editor in her sophomore year and as Associate Editor in the '61 year book.

Shirley Bowler has been appointed Associate Editor. Shirley was College Life section editor on the '61 edition. Jim Morgan is the new Business Manager. The Advisory Board will consist of Mary Cull, Judy Fernandes, Gail Petree, Rita Patrick, Jamie Phillips and Toby Thurst.

The Section Editors for the '62 Pedagogue will be: Activities, Sue Kessler '61; College Life, John Tyo '61; Faculty and Administration, Mary Jo Solleito '61 and Carol Eaton '61; Fraternities and Sororities, Peggy Holt '61; Literary, Sue Murphy '61; Publicity, Gary Quick '61; Residence Halls, Judy Bremner '61; Secretarial, Judy Versusky '61; Seniors, Evelyn Petrick '61; Sports, Bill Barnett '61; and Sororities, Scotty Mangini '61.

Abstract Reigns At Bru Dance

Tonight in the Brubacher dining room a divelical group from RPI will provide the music for a Bru Date Party. The Date Party will be held from 9 to 12 p.m. Freshmen will be granted 10 o'clock hours, and may pick up their late permission from 1 to 5:30 p.m.

Chairmen
The General Chairmen are Carol Blackwell '61 and Roy Petrick '61. Sophomores Sally Ferris and Renee Morvinski are in charge of decorations, and Joan Versusky '61 and Pat Webb '61 are in charge of Refreshments and Chaparones.

The chaparones will be Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Long, Dr. and Mrs. Luther Andrews, and Dr. Lawrence Daly.

Decorations
Decorations for tonight's party will follow the theme "Abstract." This theme will be carried out by various examples of modern expressionism.

Bids for the dance are free and may be obtained from Brubacher House Officers and corridor representatives. The girls will wear sheaths or cocktail dresses.

Players to Present Marlowe's 'Dr. Faustus'

The Cleveland Players, recognized as the professional acting ensemble in the nation, will present Christopher Marlowe's "Dr. Faustus" tomorrow night at 8:30 in Page Hall. The performance here is a part of a 38-state tour, made possible by a Ford Foundation grant in 1957 to further the production of professional live theatre around the United States.

An enduring theatre classic, Dr. Faustus is an eloquent recreation of the legend of a man who sells his soul to the Devil. Written in the Middle Ages, the play is a reflection of the popularity at that time of stories concerning man's contracts to the devil. This theme was used by Goethe in his epic "Faust" and also formed the base for Gounod's familiar opera of the same name.

In Marlowe's play, Faustus is a Doctor of Theology willing to sell his soul to gain superhuman power, possession of infinite knowledge and the ability to probe the mysteries of the universe. He hopes to have power equal to that of God. The price? ETERNAL damnation. Faustus' skeptical reaction to this price is merely "I think Hell's a table."

"Was This The Face?" Perhaps the most familiar lines in the play are contained in Faustus' reaction to Helen of Troy—"Was this the face that launched a thousand ships, and burnt the topless towers of Ilium?" "Sweet Helen, make me immortal with a kiss."

An "Angry Young Man" One of the theatre's most infamous playwrights, Christopher Marlowe was considered the "angry young man" of his day. He was a rebel against conventional learning, and when he wrote this masterpiece at the age of 24, he may well have injected his own personality into the character of Faustus. He was still a young man when he died in a tavern brawl at the age of thirty.

A Select Cast
The actors spent two years preparing for the tour at the Cleveland Play House as part of its professional resident company. The talented cast is headed by Richard Halverson as Dr. Faustus and Michael McQuire as Mephistophiles, the fallen angel who is the diabolical guide for the action. Halverson has had a varied career on the stage; his roles range from that of a song and dance man to the part of Mitch in "A Streetcar Named Desire." McQuire has been highly praised by critics for his performances in the title roles in "Epitaph for George Dillon," "The Sergeant in 'No Time for Sergeants.'"

The rest of the cast contribute fine characterizations to their individual parts. David Hager, a veteran actor, designer, and producer, is the director of the production.

The youngest of the four students is Mr. Ruseffendi, only 29 years old. His major area of study was Mathematics, and he is the Assistant Head of the Mathematics department in the University of Indonesia. He is striving for a Master's degree in Education.

Prominent Educators
Each of these men speaks at least two languages, and some as many as five languages. They are prominent as educators, either nationally or internationally.

Ten American faculty members studying in Indonesia are counterparts to the total of ten Indonesian students here in the United States. The remaining six Indonesians are presently studying at Cortland and New Paltz State, and the Universities of Syracuse, Indiana, and Columbia.

Smease Screen

"One Smeaseburger"

The fleeting fog in the above picture has not drifted in from Pennsylvania steel towns, nor is it Los Angeles' world-famed smog—but it is Albany's answer to both: the Student Union "Smease," a combination of smoke and grease, both of which the Union has in abundance.

We seriously wonder what the Board of Health would have to say about the situation in the Union, for indeed it is not a healthy one. Both workers and customers are subjected daily to the sickening fumes which cover every available surface—not only with smoke, but with a fine, slippery, clothes-spotting layer of grease. We suspect that in the near future the Student Guides will have to discontinue taking prospective entrants and their parents to see the Union—both out of shame and fear of losing them in the swamp-like mist!

We hate to sound flippant about this matter, but the situation has reached the point of absurdity. Even the most hardy appetite evaporates before the menacing "Smease" which is usually accompanied by an odor we are sure is found nowhere else in these United States.

We suspect that the acquisition of several exhaust fans and their positioning at strategic points within the Union (the Student Union, that is) would go a long way towards alleviating the situation. Of course this raises the question of where to get the money for such fans.

Two possible sources of income occur to us at this time, the first being the State of New York, but we sincerely doubt that we can interest them in buying a few "Smease" exterminators. Therefore, we should like to appeal directly to the StudentFaculty Committee, who, we are sure, are not aware of the situation, else something probably would have been done by now. To make our appeal doubly strong, we should like to ask the Senate Services Committee to reinforce our plea: WE ARE SMOTHERING IN "SMEASE" IN THE STUDENT UNION! PLEASE, CORRECT A BAD SITUATION!

Communications

To the Editor:

It is rather apparent that the Commissioner's Tournament has certain inadequacies. Namely:

1. Lack of official tournament referees making it necessary to use spectators who may be or become biased because of friendships or obligations.
2. Lack of an official scorer and timekeeper again making it necessary to use spectators who could be biased.

These inadequacies were evident in the semi-final round of the Commissioner's Tournament (Sayles I vs. A.P.A.) Due to the lack of official referees it was necessary to use spectators who appeared to have insufficient knowledge of the fundamental rules of basketball and also appeared to be influenced by remarks made by players.

It was also necessary to use a scorer and a timekeeper who were closely associated with one of the teams. This proved to be a precarious situation since there was a discrepancy as to when the game officially ended.

This discrepancy resulted in a decision between the timekeeper and referees as to whether or not a game-deciding foul counted. We feel that this game is but one example of the inadequacies of the Commissioner's Tournament. We recommend that, in the future, this tournament be better organized and supervised. — Names Withheld

A letter from A. Mephitus Mephitus to the Chairman of the "Improvement of the Albanus Collectus Species" Club:

Ethnocentrically speaking, the view of other countries through our rose colored glasses perpetuates to establish a pernicious fallacy or a provocative permeated with atrocity. Race riots, Hollywood scandals, Las Vegas morality and gross materialism are cited by egocentric, eccentric individuals to be an integral part of our own culture.

In correlation with this gross materialism, here are some interesting observations which I have noted in the Albanus Collectus culture. Number: An aggregate of this species has preferred to assemble to form this sheltered community rather than strive for existence in the outside world.

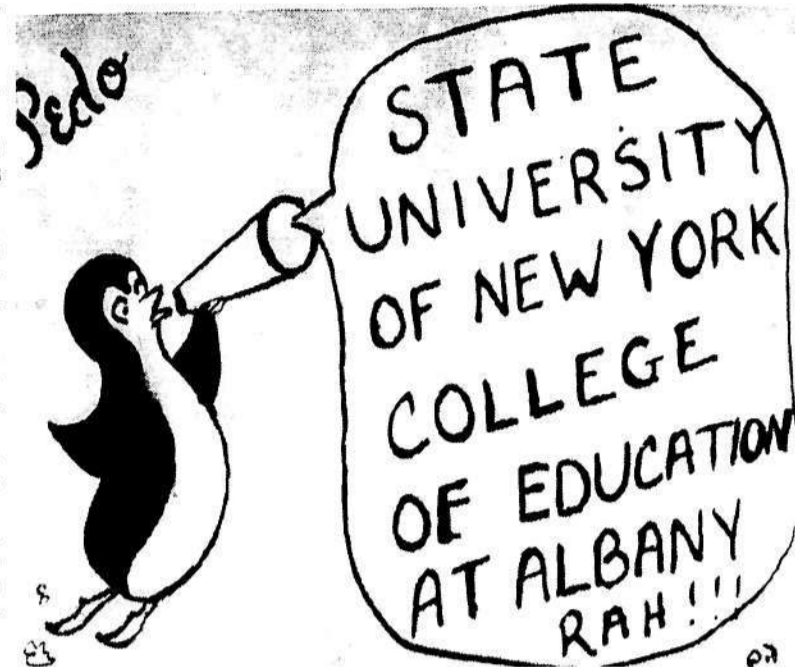

Distribution: The female of the species grossly outnumber the male. Many reasons have been cited to explain this balanced ratio. One is that the community seems to concur with the notion that "behind every great man there is a woman." Thus, the community attempts to prepare the female for this very important life-long role. Another is that the female is suspected to have a higher degree of intelligence than its male counterpart. Therefore, the community is trying to produce a "utopia" by excluding great numbers of males.

Behavior: The behaviorisms of the female and male are so numerous and specialized to conform to its sheltered community that I have prepared a separate catalogue entitled "The Peculiar Behaviorisms of the Albanus Collectus Community As Seen Through the Rose Colored Glasses of Mephitus Mephitus," which I will forward to you presently. However, the behaviorisms of the sexes are generally considered to be of a distinct nature. The female's interests and preoccupations include mastering the art of magnetism, attraction, and appeal. This art is directed toward the opposite sex.

WAYS TO WIN A TOURNAMENT

Take a club that has the talent and desire to win... mix well with the best reserve team in the tournament... add a coach whose originality, drive and youth could rival any in the country... top off with a student body which follows its team to the playoff and cheers its heart out... and you've got the Albany State hoop team—the greatest group of winners this school has ever seen. Let's get out there and help our men bring that championship to Albany!

ISN'T IT RIDICULOUS?

George Washington would certainly be disillusioned were he aware of the state of society. Honesty isn't always the best policy it seems—unless, of course, you want to be campused for six weeks. If all the truth were known, we wonder how many other extended hours were accepted under false pretenses. But we must play the game, you know—the only trouble is, there's only one way to win—live in an apartment!

NEARER THAN YOU THINK . . .

. . . are the long-awaited Wellington Weekends. We hope that the fire extinguishers are bolted down, the house detectives are not conscientious, and the freshmen are broad-minded.

And Sadie Hawkins' Day has nothing on us! You'd better get going on those dates, girls—with four weekends going full blast within the same three days, he might have already been approached by a more foresighted female. Maybe if you'll ask him to yours, he'll ask you to his. Isn't it too bad that you can't be true to two?

NEW MARKING SYSTEM

We strangely disapprove of the changeover in the marking of our student teachers. However, since the move was made in order to remove the "grade consciousness" of the participants, we advocate that all grading be switched to "S and F's." In this way the "intellectuals" of society (as we are called by the top brass) would be well-seasoned veterans of mediocrity by graduation time and could thereby lead the entire world in a mass attack on individuality, originality, and enthusiasm.

EVER SEE A BLUE JAY?

Well, just look around at all the supposedly jolly Juniors who don't have dates for their weekend. Pity, pity!

Of the 62'ers who are still smiling, the jolliest of all, if they're female, are probably running for the top honor of the weekend. If they're male, they're probably on their way home from the "T."

RUMOR HAS IT . . .

. . . that there's a big rush among the members of a particular group to purchase magnetic compasses before the tournament. (HINT: the court runs east and west.)

Focus On Faculty

For a great many State College students majoring or minoring in social studies, contact with Miss Catherine Newbold has been both rewarding and unforgettable. Miss Newbold has been on the college faculty for 15 years and is familiar with almost all aspects of school and student activity.

Education

She was born and brought up in Keosauqua, Iowa, a small town in the southern part of the state near the Missouri border. After high school, Miss Newbold attended the University of Iowa where she was awarded a BA in English. At college, she covered social events for the school newspaper and was the college tennis champion for a year.

When she left college, Miss Newbold taught dancing in Iowa for several years and she later changed to social studies in the Iowa school system. She then attended Cornell University to obtain her M.S. in social studies and took a teaching supervisor's position at Miami University in Ohio.

At the present time, Miss Newbold is engaged in a vigorous research project toward her doctorate in history. She is tracing the extent to which Lincoln's foreign ambassadors were endowed with anti-slavery sentiments for political purposes. Miss Newbold says, "Research is a lonely business and I like people, but it is also very satisfying. I hope to finish my thesis before I lose my enthusiasm."

Miss Newbold's current enthusiasm has taken her to many places in order to gain material for her paper. Last summer was spent in the archives of the Washington D. C. libraries and other trips have taken her to the New York Public Library, the University of Michigan, Concord, New Hampshire, and to Rochester, New York to work with the William Seward papers. All of her vacations are spent traveling in search of information and source material, and she keeps up a great deal of correspondence with many prominent historians and scholars.

When she left college, Miss Newbold taught dancing in Iowa for several years and she later changed to social studies in the Iowa school system. She then attended Cornell University to obtain her M.S. in social studies and took a teaching supervisor's position at Miami University in Ohio.

In 1936, Miss Newbold came to State College where she has since remained. While at State she has

Elbow to Talk About Islam

On Tuesday, Dr. Matthew H. Elbow of the History department will lecture on the topic "Islam" at Westminster Church at 8 p.m. The church is sponsoring a series of Lenten lectures on world religions.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Elbow is invited as a guest speaker, to compare and contrast the Islam religion to other world faiths. An authority on the Middle East culture, Dr. Elbow teaches the Middle East History course here at State.

Past Lectures

This past month, Dr. Elbow has lectured in Albany on three topics. They were "The Changing U.N.," presented before the Monarch Club, "France, de Gaulle and European Unity," at the Public Affairs Luncheon, Albany Y.W.C.A., and "Is the U.N. a Failure?," given at the Pine Hills Lions Club.

Dr. Elbow is the faculty advisor of the Great Decision Program currently featured at the College, the President of the Albany Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations and Director of the World Affairs Council of Albany.

Future Lectures

On March 11, Dr. Elbow will be a member of a panel at Voorhesville Central School, discussing summer schools for gifted children.

At the Delmar Rotary Club the Changing United Nations will be Dr. Elbow's topic for March 21.

NEWS Reviews Works Of Biology Department

By TRUDY STECKAL

Biology is presently one of the more active departments at State. Occupying a small section of the right wing second floor of Richardson can be found some of the best faculty and equipment in New York State.

Dr. Truscott has recently been awarded a $9,200 grant-in-aid for three years by the National Science Foundation for continued work on Morphogenesis in the genus Cuscuta. Three other members, Dr. Heing, Dr. Stewart, and Dr. Benton, have received $750 in summer research fellowships.

Last summer while travelling in Idaho, Dr. Lemon, biology department chairman, made a Kodachrome slide of Agropyron cristatum desertorum, an individual range plant (forage grass) introduced from Russia, which recently won for him a first prize blue ribbon in a National Photo Contest.

In December 1960 Dr. Benton published in a federal bulletin, The Kingbird, an article entitled "Southern Warblers in Central New York: A Historical Review" to supplement and explain the distribution and abundance of these birds based on recent information. Minnie B. Scotland, Professor Emeritus of Biology and previous chairman of the department is the editor of this publication.

For the second season the Summer Institute for Secondary-School Teachers of the Sciences of which Dr. Lemon is associate director will be held from July 3-August 11, 1961 at Albany State. It will offer graduate courses in biology, chemistry, and physics in the morning, and field trips, labs, lectures, discussions, and conferences in the afternoons and evenings. The project is supported by the National Science Foundation.

During the summer of 1957 Dr. Stewart and two Albany graduate students, Tom Matthews and Gary Larsen did research on the "Amphibians, Reptiles, and Mammals," of Alleghany State Park. Their paper was published in the N. Y. State Bulletin, Biology of the Alleghany Indian Reserve and Vicinity. Another paper by Dr. Stewart entitled "Morphological Variation in a Litter of Timber Rattlesnakes" recently appeared in Copeia.

As for the equipment, the biology department owns a phase contrast microscope worth $1,700 which modifies light to make transparent objects appear stained on the slide without changing their properties. The department also has a dissecting microscope with a Zoom lens of the type used in television and movie cameras.

A collection of skins including 430 species of mammal and about 500 species of birds, a complete set of Kodachrome slides showing flowers, plants, and vertebrate animals collected by students, faculty and purchased for class use, and a herbarium used in plant taxonomy are some of the major facilities of the biology department. More activity can be expected soon.

Forum Sponsors Panel on UN; Peds Roar 'Stand in Algeria': Decisions By Brockport

By JIM DOUGHERTY

On March 9, at 7 p.m. the Forum of Politics will sponsor a panel discussion on the "U.N. in Africa," in the Alden recreation room. The panel will be led by Dr. Matthew H. Elbow of the history department.

Included in this panel will be Mr. John Hall Blackburn, founder of the Albany International Center and African students from Ethiopia and Nigeria.

All members are urged to attend the program as well as all interested students and faculty members.

Refreshments will be served.

Great Decisions

Last week the Great Decision groups voted on the United States policy in France and the majority consensus is that there should be a continuing integration of Western Europe in the framework of a larger Atlantic integration. More progress in unification of the two economic groups is urged.

There is a definite feeling that further equalization should be given to all nations participating in the policy planning in NATO.

The majority of student ballots expressed a need for settlement in Algeria. Some students felt that greater pressure should be applied on France, while others supported a liberal search for settlement in France.

Student opinion on the ballots were: "The United States must stop abstaining in the United Nations."

"Urge France to give up colonial policy in Africa," and the "United States should take a stand in the U.N. in Algeria. Abstaining is out of the question."

Dr. Borgatta To Speak Twice On Psychology

On Friday, March 10th, at 1 p.m.

Dr. Edgar Borgatta, social psychologist and Professor of Sociology at Cornell University will speak to the faculty and student board on the topic "Small Group Research and its Implications for Education."

This talk will take place in Draper 349. At 8:15 Dr. Borgatta will speak to the Psychological Association of Northeastern New York on "The Professionalization of Psychology."

Dr. Joseph Sanders, who is Secretary of the Board of Examiners in Psychology in the State Education Department will respond to Dr. Borgatta's address. Dr. Borgatta and Dr. Sanders have disagreed on the question of the certification and professionalization of psychology. This meeting should prove to be interesting in that opposing points of view will be expressed. Interested students and faculty are welcome to this meeting.

Forty-seven per cent shooting accuracy and the most aggressive defense of the current season garnered the Peds an impressive twenty-seven point victory over dangerous Brockport in the last game of the regular season.

Five Hit Twin Figures

Five members of Dick Sauers' squad ripped the nets for double figures, Jim Oppedisano led the array of accuracy with 17 markers with Don Cohen pushing through 13 in addition to grabbing 23 of the teams 50 rebounds. Jim Greene had a hot hand and netted six of nine from the field plus two free throws for a total of 14. Roger Casey, who was married the afternoon of the game, hit for 12 and Sherwin Bowen added another 11.

Defense Makes Difference

Brockport came to Page gym with a 12-4 record, top seed in the State Tournament, an average of 82 points scored per game and a shooting percentage of 52. This same team left Page Gym with a 12-5 record, and second seed in the tourney. The western New Yorker's hit only 33% from the field and managed to net only 68 points against the outstanding defense displayed by Cohen and Co. The Peds intercepted no less than 10 passes in spurting to a 42-28 halftime lead. The rest was all gravy for this team that has its sights set on the NAIA Regional play-offs and a chance at the national finals.

Pause and O'Conner Lead Team to Winning Season

As the 1960-61 wrestling season draws to a close, it seems appropriate that the wrestling captains should receive some recognition. This year, Dave Pause, 130-137, and Dick O'Connor, 167, have filled this position, leading their teammates to a 7-3 winning season.

Dave is the only four-year veteran on the team. He attended Mount Pleasant High School where he accumulated three years of wrestling before coming to State.

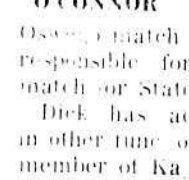

When this article was printed, Dave had the highest point average on the team, continuing last year's record as the most consistent winner on the team.

Dave plans to teach in the Albany area next year. Dick O'Connor, a Senior from Central Bridge, N. Y., has participated in wrestling for 3 years. Dick was a transfer from Oswego State in his freshman year and consequently lost a year of action. At the Albany-Oswego match this year, Dick was responsible for clinching of the match for State.

Dick has actively participated in other time outs at State, he is a member of Kappa Beta fraternity, Secretary of IFC, and Vice-President of AMHA.

Tournament Highlights

Albany State has been seeded first in the forthcoming State University tournament according to the latest and final Dunkel Ratings.

The seeding for the tournament is as follows: (1) Albany State, (2) Brockport, (3) Oneonta, (4) Cortland, (5) Oswego, (6) Buffalo, (7) Plattsburgh, (8) Potsdam.

The schedule for the tournament is: Thursday - Albany vs. Oswego, Brockport vs. Buffalo, Oneonta vs. Plattsburgh, and Cortland vs. Potsdam.

On Friday night the semi-finals will be held, and on Saturday the finals and constellation game will be held.

Crow First In Tournament; Team Lands Second Place; Five Grapplers Place

By BOB DAVIES

On February 25th, the Varsity Wrestling Squad attended the First Annual New York State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Wrestling Tournament at Cortland State. This tournament was attended by four State Colleges: Albany State, Coach Joe Garcia; Cortland State, Coach Dave Miller; Oneonta State, Coach Lyall Fletcher, and Oswego State, Coach David See. The scoring for the matches runs as follows: First—10 points, second—7, third—4, and fourth—2. Additional points are added for each match won by a fall, forfeit, or default, and one point for each match won in the consolation and championship eliminations. This brings the total possible score of any one team to 120.

One first place, five seconds, and two third places went to the Albany grapplers. Cortland State won the team championship with 90 out of a possible 120 points. Albany placed second with 60 points, Oswego third with 47, and Oneonta fourth with 40. Cortland had all ten men in the finals and took five first places. Oneonta and Oswego both captured two firsts and Albany took one. Despite the seeming irregularity in the distribution of first places and point scores, the reason for Albany's success is that six grapplers entered the finals, as compared with two each for Oneonta and Oswego.

Clem Crow, State's only undefeated wrestler, has the distinction of coming home with the only championship. Clem started the round of eliminations against Monaco of Oswego. Clem had knocked heads with this man the week before with the same results—a third period pin. This time, however,

Clem had only nine seconds left in the match when the fall was awarded! The second bout, against Jerry Cranfield of Cortland, ended in a 12 decision victory, except for the Wilkes Tournament, is Clem's closest match this year. At one point Clem was reversed by Cranfield and was on his back, but he recovered before any predicament could be awarded.

Two matches, one at 137 and one at 167, were real heartbreakers! The first occurred in the championship eliminations between Dave Pause of Albany and Wilkinson of Cortland. Dave had won his first match by a pin in one minute, thirty-nine seconds against Lavinsky of Oneonta. In the final bout, Dave and Wilkinson were tied 3-3 with only thirty seconds left to wrestle. Dave tried to shoot a take-down but was countered by his opponent, who went on to win 5-3.

Dick O'Connor in the 167-pound class was tied with Thomson of Cortland at the end of nine minutes, the score being 3-3. Dick and Thomson then proceeded to wrestle two extra periods of one minute each. At the end of these periods the score was again tied 5-5, but Thomson received an extra point for riding time. His time was 1:01. Only one second less and the match would have been still tied since a full minute is required before time-advantage is awarded.

Placing for Albany were Ray Bouchard, 115; John Woytowich, 157; Ted Dusanenko, 191; and Tom Ellis, unlimited.

Notice

There will be an important meeting for all varsity baseball candidates in Draper 111 at 3:30 Monday, March 6. Those not able to attend but expect to try out for the squad should contact Coach Burlingame at his office in Page Gym.

Senate Services Committee Organized for You; Use It!

Most people are unaware of the fact that a group such as the Services Committee is in existence. This organization is stirred to action by the student body. It takes all suggestions for improving conditions at Albany State directly to Dean Thorne. Once the proposals reach Dean Thorne, they are given special consideration and every effort is made to see if the plans can satisfactorily be put into effect.

Baxter Speaks On Science

Dr. John L. Baxter, professor of chemistry at the University of New York at Albany, spoke at the first meeting of the International Chemistry Club on Monday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m. in Peck Hall.

Dr. Baxter was born in New Castle, Penn. He received his B.S. in chemistry from the University of Pennsylvania and his Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins University. He has been teaching for 15 years.

As a research participant and consultant at Oak Ridge National Laboratories, Dr. Baxter studied neutron equilibrium activity by means of beta-ray emission and other techniques.

He is the author of a laboratory manual in general chemistry, the author of the text Modern Chemistry and co-author of a study guide for Modern Chemistry. He has also compiled a set of film strips in traditional chemistry for Encyclopedia Britannica Films.

State Establishes Research Center; Students Study Weather Problems

Albany State has been instrumental in the establishment of the Atmospheric Sciences Research Center at Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks.

Dr. Vincent Schaefer, professor of meteorology at Albany, and one of the country's leading authorities on artificial snow-making, is the principal investigator of the center. The center's main objective is to study the physical and chemical processes which control the growth of ice crystals in clouds.

The center is being headed by Dr. Schaefer, who is also a member of the National Academy of Sciences. He will be assisted by Dr. Charles F. Stokes and William G. Munn, who are also faculty members at Albany State.

Borgatta Speaks On Psychology

Dr. Edward Borgatta, professor of psychology at Cornell University, will speak at the faculty and the student board on the topic, "Social Change in Psychology and the Psychological Foundation of Education."

Dr. Borgatta will address the Psychology Department of Albany State on Wednesday, March 15, at 8:15 p.m. in Peck Hall.

Dr. Borgatta is also a member of the American Psychological Association and the American Educational Association.

Stokes Directs Band Concert

Charles F. Stokes, director of the Albany State Band, will direct a concert at the Peck Hall on Wednesday, March 15, at 8:15 p.m.

The concert will feature a variety of music, including symphonies, concertos, and chamber music. Tickets are available at $1 per person.

Library Chooses Adkins To Write

Dr. Edwin P. Adkins, Director of Education, State University College of Education, Albany, New York, has accepted an invitation to write for the Library of Education a monograph on "The Educational Program."

The Library of Education is being published by the Center for Applied Research in Education, headed by G. Richard Gottschalk. The advances in the Library will be available to all students of education and its present status as a dynamic institution in our country. At the present time, it is planned to have 75 volumes in the Library.

Les Elgart to Serenade at Junior Prom

The highlight of this year's Junior Prom Weekend will be the Junior Prom Saturday night, March 11. It will be held at the Van Curler Hotel in Schenectady from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. The theme for the semi-formal dance and entire weekend is "Serenade In Blue."

The Les Elgart orchestra will provide the music for dancing. Mr. Elgart is a well-known artist today and can be remembered as having one of the hit name bands of the '50's.

Indonesians Outline Plans

In last week's State College News there appeared an article concerning the exchange program here at Albany under which four Indonesian students from Indonesia are studying at our college. This week's news is concerned with interviews held with three of the graduate students, Mr. Garnadi, Mr. Russetjanto, and Mr. Leo Long Duen.

Mr. Garnadi is originally from Magelang, Indonesia, and he has been studying at Albany State for two years. He is a member of the Indonesian Students Association.

Following his college education, he has worked for 18 years as head of schools for 15 years, and he has become a Senior Lecturer and head of the Education Department in the Faculty of Education in Bandung.

Mr. Garnadi previously studied in Amsterdam for two years and also for four months in the Netherlands. He received his B.S. in Education in 1956. He will continue at the United States' studies at our college for one year. He will then return to his country and his wife and three children, with a Masters degree in Education.
