NEW MYSKANIA TO BE "TAPPED" TOMORROW AS 1200 MOVE UP

HAMILTON PLAYS STATE SATURDAY

Buff and Blue Has Pitching And Hitting; Game is At Ridgefield

The Purple and Gold baseball team will face Hamilton college tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Ridgefield park diamond, in an attempt to resume its victorious march.

The team from Clinton is a fairly strong aggregation and should give State stiff opposition. The Buff and Blue has already played three contests. In their opening game against the University of Rochester, the Hamiltons suffered a 15-0 shut-out. They triumphed at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute on May 8, 2 two weeks ago but suffered another setback in the contest with St. Lawrence college 8-2.

The visitors are particularly well equipped in the pitching department having Evelynson, Harvey and Rennie available for mound duty. Morris, Layton, Rennie, and Eggleston are the heavy hitters on the line.

The State squad has worked very hard the week, determined to make amends for their poor showing last Saturday. Special attention was given to hitting and fielding, in an attempt to remedy some obvious defects in the Baker machine. If the players can show the same brand of ball tomorrow afternoon as they have been displaying all this week, the team should add another game to the winning column.

Evo Allan can be depended upon to hurl his usual steady game, and should increase his batting average.

Robert Goodrich, '32, will captain the team in tomorrow's contest, and Clyde Russell will be the umpire.

The probable line up will be:

Hamilton	State
McFarland	Morris, 2b
DeLama, 3b	Crowley, 1b
Licker	Lawson, cf
Whitson, rf	Eggleston, p (capt)
Goodrich, 1b (capt)	Harvey, ss
Vesta, 2b	Stevens, 3b
Dethlefsen, cf	Kienzle, lf

Juniors Represent Council At Convention

Jean Gillespy and Ruth Hughes, juniors, are representing the State college dramatic and art council at the twenty-first annual convention of the American Federation of Arts.

22 MORE SENIORS SIGN CONTRACTS, SECRETARY SAYS

Twenty-two seniors have secured teaching positions for next year, according to Professor John M. Sayles, secretary of the placement bureau. Louise Fischer will teach commerce at Center Moriches, Long Island; Virginia Studles will teach mathematics at the Albany Boy's academy; Frederick Crumb will be principal at East Nassau; Katherine Graham will teach English at Central Islip, Long Island; Fanny Sopperley, English at Huntington.

Mary Dyer, Latin at Hunter; Myrtle Kenfield, French at Sidney; Marion Botto, history at Central Islip, Long Island; Alison Northrup, history at Riverhead, Long Island; Doris Cobb, physics at Eastport; Richard Winston, physics at Kingston; and Agnes Altro, chemistry at Cooperstown.

Others who have been placed through the English department are: Gladys Bates, who will teach at Frankfort; Margaret Burnap, at North Brookfield; Elizabeth Fandy, at Greenville; and Marilla Parker, Schenectady. Andrea Felhing will teach Spanish at Eldred; Ruth Hannahs, biology at Champlain; and Euelah Nadler, Latin at Greenport.

Margarete Freitag will go to White Sulphur Spa to teach French, and Grace Lemmon will teach French at Narrowsburg. Gladys Newell will teach history at Corinth.

ENGLISH LECTURER TO GIVE SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES

Professor F. T. Bradburn, a lecturer in English, from the University of London and a former lecturer in English at the University of Liverpool, will be one of the visiting instructors on the faculty board of the State college's summer session, according to Dr. Wilbur Nelson, director of the summer school.

Other lecturers in the international conference, Niagara Falls, Dr. John S. Brubaker, a professor of history and philosophy at the University of California, Berkeley; P. Clark, formerly a lecturer in the bureau of naturalization, Washington.

News Gives Names of Three Who had Role of "Playgoer"

The identity of "Playgoer", kept secret by the NEWS this year, is made known with the publication of this issue.

The comments on the plays of both the elementary and advanced dramatics classes have been made by Beverly V. Diamond, and Frederick W. Crumb, seniors. The writing of the criticisms has alternated between the two, although occasionally James Cassidy, '30, has submitted an article.

57 STUDENTS GET GREGG COMMERCIAL TEST RECOGNITION

Fifty-seven students in the commerce department have received typing and shorthand awards from the Gregg Publishing company. Twenty-nine received typing awards and twenty-eight received shorthand awards.

The Gregg junior typing test certificate and pin, awarded to students with a typing speed of forty words a minute who make a perfect copy of the test, was awarded to Constance Clayton, '30.

The student who received Gregg junior typing test certificates for perfect copies of the test with no time limit set, are: Betty Amor, Dorothy Butterfield, Constance Clayton, Florence Goodrich, Eva Lackofsky, Bessie Katz, Margaret Richard, and Ruth Vanderton.

Girls who received certificates for shorthand are: Gladys Bates, Alice T. Moore, Ethel M. Grumhofer, Ruth Kellie, P. Clark, M. E. Green, and others.

Other students who received certificates for shorthand are: Betty Amor, Dorothy Butterfield, Constance Clayton, Louise Fischer, Eva Lackofsky, Bessie Katz, and others.

The student who received the Gregg shorthand test certificate was Betty Amor.

NEW MYSKANIA TO BE REVEALED IN UNUSUAL TAPPING CEREMONY

"How Many Will Be Tapped?" Is Outstanding Question of Day; Weeks of Student Speculation to End with Announcement; Marion E. Botto May Tap First 1931 Member

When the retiring members of Myskania choose their successors tomorrow morning, the suspense and mystery of the last few days will be ended. Many of the conjectures as to the members of the present junior class who will be members of the senior honorary body will be verified or routed forever.

Whether the number will be eleven, twelve, or thirteen will not be known until the actual tapping. How many men will be honored is another question which only tomorrow can answer.

The present Myskania is composed of thirteen members, ten women and three men. Not more than thirteen have ever been tapped. In 1928, there were nine women and four men on Myskania.

In the retiring Myskania taps the incoming juniors in alphabetical order. Marion E. Botto, '30, president of the student association will be the first one to tap a junior. If, however, the first one to be tapped is a man, it may be that the first man in alphabetical order on the retiring Myskania, Frederick W. Crumb will be the first to tap. The former method is the one which has been used for the last two years. Louis J. Wolner will be the first one to tap a junior if the incoming Myskania is to number thirteen.

Miss Botto, who will probably be the first to tap, will advance up the aisle to where the junior is sitting while she is to honor, and call out his or her full name. She will then pin on him the purple and gold ribbons, the insignia of Myskania, and escort him to the platform. Then each of the others will in turn tap a junior.

All members of both the retiring and incoming Myskania may never divulge who those are who are chosen by popular vote, so that there is no way of learning who the members of the junior class will be who will stand on the platform tomorrow, elected by popularity vote.

DOROTHY THOMAS WILL DIRECT 1930 BALL ON JUNE 16

The 1930 dance will be given by Dorothy Thomas, '30, on June 16 at the Y. M. C. A. ball room.

The committee are: Helen Ferguson, chairman; Mary Dyer, secretary; Betty Amor, treasurer; Ruth Kellie, publicity; and others.

Miss Schroeder Makes Design For Lion Cover

The cover of the Moving-up day edition of the Lion will be done by Margaret Schroeder, '31.

Contributors to the Junior department are: Alice Splain, '31; Samuel Drankov, and Esther Higby, sophomores; and Helen Waterhouse, '33.

Features will be a Moving-up day rotogravure section, Lion class songs, a Lion stunt, a Moving-up day program, and a special column by Simon Maslan, '30.

REALIZATION

With the tapping of the new Myskama reservoir tomorrow, the hopes of eleven, twelve, or thirteen miles of water will be realized. With that tapping disappointed it will come to many others.

Since its foundation in 1917, the choice of Myskama has been well considered and undebated. It is to be expected that with so many eligible candidates the expectations of some will not be realized. But it should be borne in mind that during the past two months the organization has been collecting and considering its achievements, both scholastic and extra-curricular, of its candidates in the junior class, to insure a fair choice.

While membership on Myskama is considered the highest undergraduate honor that a student can win, membership should not be sought for the honor itself. The past has proven that those students who conscientiously undertake extra-curricular participation for the pleasure they derive in serving are the ones who stand the best chance of being named.

Regardless of the membership of the new Myskama the student association may rest assured that it will as the result of careful and prompt administration on the part of the present body and that the recipients of the honor will have really deserved it.

LETTING THE BOYS PLAY

Men of the freshman and sophomore classes will celebrate the lifting of the ban on the hammer and sickle with great cheer when they clash in the second interclass pole rush amid a barrage of steel trout and antediluvian eggs.

The muted approval of the combatants, by virtue of the wisdom of Myskama's action in permitting the traditional event to take place.

From the beginning of the year absence of the annual interclass night has been noticed. This was done in order to obtain the desired pole rush. By that obedience to this mandate of Myskama the men have commensurately earned the right to mullish in their sport tonight.

The pole rush is one of the few activities which all humans get that men still attend State college. The night tonight will do much to confirm the rumor and in addition will give the men of the two lower classes one of the last opportunities for a "good time" that they will get as undergraduates.

IT TOOK A LONG TIME

The committee appointed last year to draw up the amendment to the constitution of the State college student association has presented the results of its work in the recommendation that the "get wise party" and the "red man" reception be constitutionally combined.

Inasmuch as Myskama has already combined these two events the past fall, there remains but to make it a part of the constitution by the unanimous vote of the association.

It must be made the freshman reception in name as well as in fact. There can be no argument in opposition for the permanent "get wise party" had no advantages and many undesirable features.

A NEW ADVENTURE

Letters in incantate for many years, two groups of St. Agnes school will journey to Switzerland to found a school there at an age when most members of the teaching profession are contemplating retirement.

They are Miss Ethel Moore and Mrs. Matilda Craig. Both of them have taught many thousands of students. Their service to the community cannot be measured in words, but the record of their achievement is marked on the hearts and minds of the students with whom they had contact.

It is significant that they should turn to the foundation of a new school in a foreign country as a means of introducing greater culture into this country.

This city, richer for the knowledge they have disseminated and made known and knowable, regrets their parting. Success in foreign fields seems assured to those who have wrought so truly through so long a period of pedagogical activity.

Having worked so near State college, students here can but take inspiration from the example they have set. To successfully follow the scholastic and teaching standards they have set will aid far in the attempt to become good teachers.

BOOKS: BUELL DISCUSSES WAR AND DOPE SMUGGLING

International Relations, Raymond Leslie Buell, $4.25. Henry Holt and Company.

Professor Buell of Harvard university has written a book that is a worthy addition to the library shelf of any student of history or any of the social sciences.

When in doubt as to the correct status of any of the dependencies of the great powers, consult the book. A systematic and careful treatment of all of the great social, racial, political, and economic problems which the nations of the world are facing today are presented.

Of vital present day interest is the treatment of the Indian question. "India is being bled economically by the European overlords," one chapter of the book declares.

The intricate workings of the dope smuggling syndicates is also touched upon, as well as the white slave traffic. In fact, there is scarcely a problem plaguing the political and economic world today that does not receive treatment in the book.

Imperialism, both in America and in all other parts of the world, is discussed together with excellent references for the debater.

Should the United States cancel the inter-dial war debt? This is a question which has occupied the mind of the American public, since the conclusion of the World War. It is one that has perplexed our diplomat and statesmen and has caused for it a certain deliberation on the part of the deliberators who are now handling the subject.

Mewing of '32's "Cat" Mascot Gives Its Hiding Place Away. Freshmen Finders Say

BY BERNARD KERBEL
Reporter, STATE COLLEGE NEWS

Mewing of their "cat," mascot of the sophomores, is the reason given by them for its discovery in the chimney on the sub-roof of Draper hall, Friday night, by three members of the freshman class, William Reagan, Benjamin Ingraham, and Alvin Shaffer.

For five days the freshmen had assiduously searched the College buildings without success. Finally the search narrowed down to Draper hall where it was found.

"Three men and a rope," became the freshmen slogan, following a clue they had obtained that three sophomore men had used a rope to hide the mascot. At six o'clock Friday night Ingraham and Shaffer began the job of lowering Reagan into the chimneys on the sub-roof of Draper hall. Luck was with them, for after one or two tries they came upon the right chimney. Ingraham drew Reagan out of the chimney with the battered mascot in his hands. Sophomores explained that the mascot had been broken during the process of hiding it on Saturday afternoon. The pieces were carefully collected and tied up into a bundle.

The sophomores then lowered one of their number about twenty feet down the chimney. As he descended the chimney he looked down the chimney and under the steps leading to his cell. He was then drawn up and a search for the mascot was made. The mascot which had fallen on the roof of the chimney was then replaced in its hiding place for it to wait the proper moment.

When the mascot was discovered, telephone call summoned approximately one hundred members of the freshman class. They escorted a male dancer on the campus, and then turned a neighboring theater where they viewed "The Unholy Night."

They returned to the campus about ten o'clock under the guidance of Beverly A. Diamond, '30, a member of Myskama. They then set out on the front steps of Draper hall, and sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

A number of sophomores standing idly by felt that the freshmen were not doing all in their power to celebrate their success. They visited a number of neighborhood stores, and returned with a large amount of combustibles. They were joined by six or seven freshmen, and the entire group went to one of the Western avenue entrances to Washington park. Here they paused and completed preparations for the conflagration. As the flames leaped up freshmen formed a ring about the fire and sang class songs. Their merry making was interrupted by a member of the park workers who proceeded to extinguish the fire.

Unflinching, the freshmen proceeded to the downtown sections of the city, stopping at the Albany Eye, to be taken to the photomicrograph and station. They then went home.

Ending the longest last year for its fifteen years history, the interclass rivalry, they are now tied with the sophomores, each class having won eight points. The sophomore victory in the more basketball score and the debate accounted for their eight point while the freshmen scored their eight points by winning the women's basketball game and taking the trophy. The first event that will break the tie is the pole rush which will take place tonight. Two points will go to the winner. After the pole rush the women will have the tie of the women's class to receive two points. Moving up day will occur in the final events of the interclass rivalry calendar when the freshmen and sophomores engage in competitive team and a game. The street will be the point and the one will have to be the best to the winner.

STATE NINE LOSES GAME LAST WEEK BY SCORE OF 9-2

The State college baseball team was mangled under the devastating attack of the Long Island university nine last week, at Rye, when they were defeated by a score of 9-2. Five innings of the game were completed with poor base running, contributed to the Purple and Gold defeat.

The pitching battle between Eric Allan and Ed Jacobs, which was marred by the poor pitching of the former's teammates, was clocked through out the entire contest. Allan was a noble savior, allowing the visitors' system to score while Jacobs walked two more. However the former took out his team and was reached for only two hits, while the latter retired seven men and allowed ten hits.

State started out in fine style, the first three batters for the visitors being disposed of in short order. Then a run was pushed over the plate by the Purple and Gold men on a single by DeLama, a free pass to Baker, and a hard hit single by Whiston, which scored DeLama.

The advantage was not held very long as Long Island tallied twice in their next appearance at bat, on a walk, two errors and a sacrifice play.

State was unable to get another run until the eighth inning. Jacobs being batted for four hits up to the time, but he kept them too well scattered to be effective. In the frame the Purple and Gold men started a rally in an attempt to make up a deficit of eight runs.

Captain DeLoe, who had made two misplays earlier in the game, reached second safely in an attempt to score for his misplayed holding. Two men had been put out before then, and Lay Blinn was put in to punch hit for Jacobs. He showed that this was a good move by mashing out a hard hit, advancing DeLoe to third base. Allan then milled fruitfully to right field, scoring DeLoe, but Moreland the next batter struck out for the third out.

In state's last turn at bat Whiston obtained a single but it went for naught as the visitors retired ending the game.

Long Island never did, by scoring this time in the second one each in the fourth and fifth, and two each in the eighth and ninth innings, rolled up a nine run tally.

The hitting of Goodrich, DeLama, Whiston, and Allan figured prominently in State's scoring activity.

If You Ask Me—

Question: Do you favor the re-institution of pole-rush?
Arthur Down, '31: "I am a vocal student body member, as you know, and I am in favor of it. Further more, the pole-rush is a very interesting and healthy activity. It should be re-instituted."

Anthony Sroka, '32: "Yes, it is a very interesting and healthy activity. It should be re-instituted. It is a very interesting and healthy activity. It should be re-instituted."

FIFTY WILL TAKE PSYCHOLOGY QUIZZ

Representatives of Four Classes To be Tested For Research Work

A test will be given next Tuesday to fifty representative students from each class as part of a general research being conducted on problems of admission and guidance, according to Dr. Elizabeth H. Morris, assistant professor of education, and head of the personnel department.

The representatives from the four classes were chosen according to the usual random sampling method in order to get the correct number so that result would not be unduly influenced by any class and one representative from each class.

The test will be given in the psychology laboratory and will consist of a series of questions on the subject of admission and guidance.

ANNUAL MOVING-UP DAY CLASS SINGS TO BE TOMORROW

The annual Moving-up day sing in which all four classes participate will take place tomorrow night.

Each class composes a song to their alma mater for the occasion, and the best one is chosen. However, the three points given in inter-class rivalry, for the winning of the entire sing are awarded to either the freshman or the sophomore class with their alma maters as a basis for the decision.

The music of the alma mater of the senior class was composed by Esther Waters and the words by Beverly Diamond. Alfred Basch wrote both the words and music of the junior alma mater. The original sophomore offering was written by Helen Mead while Irene Godney is the composer of the alma mater of the freshman class.

Epistol Sorority entertained Martha Galpin, ex '31, at the sorority house last week.

HALF OF BUILDING FUND IS PLEDGED

$9,435 Promised for Dormitory; Captains are Confident of Entire Quota

Almost one half of the goal set has been pledged in the campaign for the residence hall fund, according to Mrs. Bertha Eldred Brimmer, executive secretary of the building fund. To date $9,435 has been pledged by one hundred and sixty-four seniors. The campaign will be completed in two weeks, Mrs. Brimmer announced. "The captains are optimistic that the goal of $20,000 which has been set will be reached, since there are still a large number of students to report," she said.

The following seniors have subscribed to the campaign to date: Helen Bacon, Mary Shigo, Betsey Anos, Ruth Bellack, Wilbur Adams, Edith Kato, Edward Buckle, Dorothy Brimmer, Augusta Brown, Marion Burns, Grace Brody, Hazel Bowker, Emma Bradt, Miriam Dolan, Helen Drossin, Mary Dyer, Mary Agnes Dugan.

PROFESSOR TALKS BEFORE INSTITUTE FOR NURSES IN TROY

Dr. Earl B. South, assistant professor of education, recently spoke before the Nursing Education institute at the Masonic Temple, Troy. His topic was: "Further Results of Psychological Tests in Nurses Training Schools; Comparison with Previous Data Collected, Training Class and College." He was assisted by Mrs. G. V. Clark, a member of the Nurses Examining Board of New York state and a graduate student here in collecting the data, he said. The address will be printed later in the American Journal of Nursing.

1933 To Have Revotes For Officers Next Year

As a result of a revote in the freshmen elections, a girl will head the sophomore class for the first time in four years. The revote will be conducted between Ruth Reynolds, present president, and Betty Gordon. The revote for vice president will be between John Dutton and Mary Dolerty. Bertha Buhl and Violet Putman are tied for the office of secretary. Katherine Long was re-elected song leader for next year. J. Bruce Filby was the only nominee for treasurer.

SPORT SHORTS

The boys put on a very sloppy fielding and base-running exhibition in the Long Island university contest. It seems that they got off on the wrong foot and just couldn't get started.

It certainly is a shame to read in a city paper that the excellent hurling of Leo Allan, State's veteran twirler, was termed by one of the reporters for that paper as a "poorly hurled game".

Any pitcher who allows just five hits and fans ten batters, is certainly not honestly spoken of, as pitching poor ball. His opponent on the mound, Ely Jacobs, gave the boys ten hits, and retired seven of them via the strike-out route, yet one couldn't say he pitched poorly.

The undergrads are supporting the team in a very commendable manner. The crowd at the games thus far this season greatly exceed those of the previous years.

Fay Blum came through nicely with a hard hit single when sent to bat in place of Kinsella in the eighth inning.

He can now boast of a perfect batting mark. Leo Allan is not far behind him, having garnered five hit in six times at bat.

The visitors showed good sportsmanship throughout the contest. Russell called several questionable decisions, but the Long Islanders accepted them without voicing a protest.

The true value of a squeeze play was amply demonstrated by Long Island university in the second inning when this strategic move scored two runs.

Annual Dinner Of Club Scheduled For May 24

The annual dinner of the Commerce club will be served in the College cafeteria Saturday, May 24, Marie Hayko, '30, president, announced today. Gertrude Guyette, '31, president-elect of the club will speak. Following the dinner, dancing will take place in the Lounge.

Betsey Anos, '30, is general chairman in charge of the dinner. She has appointed the following committees to assist her:

Tickets and publicity: Gertrude Guyette, '31; Dorothy Butterfield, Betty Katz, and Eva Jackolsky, seniors; decorations: Jane Jones, chairman, Hilba Robins and Ruth Vinkelstein, seniors; Betty Kauter, '31 Genevieve Winslow, '31 is in charge of entertainment.

All members of the commerce department are invited to sign up on the main bulletin board. Miss Anos said. Attendance is not restricted to commerce club members, she announced.

Entry Card Required Of Guests Tomorrow

"Since Meeting up day is a function peculiarly limited to State college students, those who wish to bring guests must obtain a card from the office of Miss Anna F. Pierce, dean of women," the administration announced today. Parents and close relatives will be exempt, however, from this ruling, Miss Pierce said.

WOMEN'S CHORUS WINS $100 PRIZE IN SONG CONTEST

The State college women's chorus was the winner of the $100 prize in the sectional chorus competition which took place last Saturday in Chancellor's hall. A trip to New York next October with an opportunity for the 75 winning members to compete for the $300 state prize was the additional reward given by the sponsor, the Women's Federation of Musical Clubs of America.

The College was also represented by Miss Eleanor Foote, special student, who sang with the Monday Musical club of Albany, which won second prize. The third prize went to the "Ulica Ladies" choir. Many members of these opposing choruses were professionally trained singers. The two selections given by the State chorus for the contest were "My Love is a Fisherman" and "The Song of the Sun". Dr. Glyn directed, and Miss Maria Goukin accompanied.

While the ladies were making their decision, the State chorus sang two additional compositions, "The Fire Song" and "The Rose Tree Song".
