Opera Company Ready To Give 4 Performances

Four performances are slated on campus this week by the Lake George Opera Festival, which is appearing in Albany for the first time. Two performances were given here last week.

A satirical comedy, The Threepenny Opera, by Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill will be performed today and Wednesday. Benjamin Britten's stark work, The Rape of Lucretias, will be presented tomorrow, and a "Mozart Gala", featuring selections from Don Giovanni, The Magic Flute and The Marriage of Figaro will be given on Thursday.

All performances are in the PAC Main Theater. Today's is a matinee at 2:15 p.m.; all others are at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are $2 for students, $5 for others. The PAC box office will be open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Thursday.

The appearance of the Lake George Festival at SUNYA is an outgrowth of the Opera Workshop program in which SUNYA staff and opera company members have been participating. "We all felt that having the performances by the Lake George Company on campus would be the perfect climax to the Opera Workshop from a students' point of view," said David Lloyd, general director of the Opera Festival. He also noted that it provides a more convenient opportunity for people in the Capital District area to see the performances.

Unique Adult Education Institute Attracts Members from 30 States

Some 55 leaders in adult education from 30 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands are on campus for the seventh annual Institute for Curriculum Development in Adult Education today through Aug. 18. Albany is the only university in the U.S. offering a graduate program of this kind.

Sponsoring the institute is the department of curriculum and instruction, several faculty members from which are participating. They are project director John A. Ether, program director Harry Lewis, department chairman Joseph Leese, Mauritz Johnson, Daniel Ganeles, and J. Anthony Bosco. Other SUNYA participants include John H. Rosenbach, educational psychology and statistics department chairman, and Antonio Perez, Puerto Rican program.

Also on the institute program are John Camper, State of California Department of Adult Education; Ralph Poe, director of housing for the Urban League; Joseph Magano, NYS Department of Adult Edu-

Grant To Fund 3 Nursing Projects

The recently accredited School of Nursing has received a $27,112 grant from the Division of Nursing, Public Health Service, National Institute of Health. The award will provide funds for three projects intended to improve the quality of nursing education and service in the area.

Dean Dorothy M. Major said, "We welcome the opportunity to expand our program and provide services so vitally needed. . . These funds will permit us to pursue areas of study and service impossible previously because of fiscal limitations."

cation; Thomas Clyne, England; Daniel Boone, University of North Carolina, Bruce Joyce, Columbia University; and Donald Mocker, University of Missouri.

The institute is designed to train participants to recognize behavior to be effected in the undereducated adult that will make him more employable and effective. Also, participants will learn how to design a model for planning, conducting, and evaluating in-service training for teachers.

Bookstore To Expand Operations, Establish Separate Shop for Cards

The Bookstore is expanding its greeting card selection and moving that phase of its operation into the area now occupied by the barber shop. According to Bookstore Manager Arnold Colon, the new facility will open as soon as renovations are completed, but definitely before the start of the fall term. The wall which separated the barber shop and the defunct beauty shop has been relocated to form

Plans are to use the grant money to develop an in-service education program to advance the skills of licensed practical nurses employed in area nursing homes; to begin a program this fall, in cooperation with the Educational Opportunities Program, to recruit and retain nursing applicants from educationally and financially deprived backgrounds; and to support efforts of the School of Nursing to serve as the center of the consortium of nursing programs in the Upstate New York region.

Campus Hosts SPAC Music

A series of chamber music concerts, originally scheduled to be held on Monday evenings at Canfield Casino in Saratoga, will be presented instead at SUNYA's Performing Arts Center. Part of "Saratoga Festival '72," sponsored by the Saratoga Performing Arts Center, the concerts were cancelled in a dispute with the local musicians' union.

The first concert will be tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the PAC Recital Hall. The Philarte Quartet will present works of Haydn, Crumb, and Ravel. Tickets will be available at the door and are $2.50 for this and all subsequent performances.

Les Petits Chanteurs de Paris Chaillot, a boychoir of 70 voices, will perform on Monday, Aug. 7. The DePasquale String Quartet is slated for Monday, Aug. 14. Programs have yet to be announced.

The final concert in the series will be on Monday, Aug. 21. The Philadelphia Baroque Quartet will perform works by Quantz, Celdara, d'Andrieu, Corelli, Pergolesi, and Mazzaferrata.

Nathan Gottschalk, chairman of the department of music, handled the arrangements for SUNYA's co-sponsoring of the concerts. Richard P. Leach, executive director of SPAC, said that the center was indebted to both Dr. Gottschalk and the university for their hospitality. He noted that for the first time in seven summers, the concerts will be performed in air-conditioned comfort.

Mr. Leach also thanked John Costas, president of the Albany local musicians' union, who "has given the center and the university the fullest possible cooperation in the temporary relocation of our chamber music series."

two nearly-equal rooms. The barber shop will occupy the area where the beauty shop was - i.e., the western half - and the greeting card shop will be housed in the eastern half, nearest the Bookstore.

"Our greeting card business has expanded so much that we've run out of space," Mr. Colon explains. "By moving it, we not only can expand our selection of cards, but also free Bookstore space for other items. We plan to expand primarily in personal and gift items."

Marta Santiago, a graduate of SUNYA with a master's in public administration, has been named manager of the gift department. The Bookstore itself has been rearranged with the objective of creating greater shopper appeal and ease of movement.

The American Greeting Card Company is providing display fixtures and the interior decoration scheme for the new shop, which will operate on the same new schedule as the Bookstore this fall: 8 a.m.-8 p.m., Monday; 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Tuesday-Friday; and 9 a.m.-1 p.m., Saturday.
