Enroll 100,000th Member In CSEA

The state-wide Civil Service Employees Association has enrolled its 100,000th member, an all-time high for the 51-year-old organization, it was announced today. She is Suzanne Barthold, a staff nurse at the State Psychiatric Institute in New York City.

The President of CSEA, Joseph F. Felly, in announcing the achievement, said the 100,000 mark had been an Association goal for more than a year.

Aides Have Faith In CSEA
"It is significant testimony to the confidence that public employees in all sections of the New York State have in the Association," Felly said.

CSEA was organized on October 24, 1910, as "The Association of State Civil Service Employees of the State of New York", with membership open to state employees in the competitive civil service class. In 1929, the Association was reorganized with membership open to non-competitive employees. By 1930, membership had grown to more than 8,000 and continued a steady growth through 1941, when it had reached 35,000.

Consistent Gains

During the war years, membership declined somewhat, leveling off at 25,000 in 1945. The following year, the Association elected to allow employees of political subdivisions to join and changed its name to the "Civil Service Employees Association, Inc."

Judge Appointed

ALBANY, Feb. 26 — Ross A. Patane of Canastota has been appointed County Judge and Surrogate of Madison County by Governor Rockefeller. He succeeds Judge Clarence E. Conley, who resigned.

Membership passed the 50,000 mark in 1951 and has shown consistent gains every year since.

As the 100,000th member, Miss Barthold will be a guest of the Association at its annual dinner meeting, March 1, in Albany, at which she will be presented an appropriate scroll. Miss Barthold resides at 26 Randolph St., Yonkers. She is a graduate of St. John's Riverside Hospital and has been a state employee for one year.

Popular Metro-Southern Spring Workshop Again Set For Concord Hotel

One of the most popular events in the calendar of Civil Service Employees Assn. activities—the annual Spring Workshop of the CSEA Southern and Metropolitan Conferences—will again be held at the Concord Hotel at Kiamesha Lake. The dates this year are April 8 and 9.

As in the past, the Workshop will present a series of state and CSEA officials in panel discussions and question and answer periods on topics affecting state and political subdivision employees.

Two speakers have been listed to date and others will be announced in a future issue of The Leader. Already on the program are Edward Meacham, of the State Civil Service Department, who will speak on "Attendance Rules" and Harry W. Albright, Jr., CSEA counsel, who will report on the results of the current session of the Legislature, which will have ended by that time.

The Program

Charles E. Lamb and Solomon Bendet, co-chairmen of the event, announced that registration would begin on Sunday, April 8, at 2 p.m. Special arrangements have been made with the hotel in regard to care of baggage, room reservations, registration and parking.

The evening activities will include a cocktail party and a dinner, at which a major speaker is scheduled to be featured. Delegates will then be free to attend the Broadway show provided by the hotel in its night club.

The second day will be full of

Minimum Death Benefit, Wage Proposal, Trooper Legislation Are Introduced

ALBANY, Feb. 26—Three bills of major importance to State employees were introduced into the Legislature last week. The bills would 1) provide guaranteed minimum financial protection for the beneficiaries of new employees; 2) increase salaries of State employees by five per cent; 3) provide a four-increment range for sergeant through chief inspector positions in the Division of State Police and, for the first time, longevity steps for all members of the State Police.

The Administration-backed death benefit bill, introduced by Sen. Fred J. Rath of Utica and Assemblyman Robert Watson Pomeroy of Dutchess County, both Republicans, conforms almost completely with the measure sponsored by the Civil Service Employees Association. Both give state employees who have 90 days of service a minimum death benefit equal to one-half of their annual salary. The Administration measure calls for a minimum benefit of $2,000 and a maximum of $10,000.

How It Works

Individual benefits would be computed as follows:

1. If no ordinary death benefit is payable from a public retirement system, the full survivor's benefit is payable.
2. If an employee is eligible for an ordinary death benefit from a public retirement system which is less than one-half his annual salary, a benefit is payable in the amount needed to equal one-half the annual salary.
3. If the employee is eligible for an ordinary death benefit from a retirement system which is in excess of one-half his annual salary, no benefit is payable.

Near CSEA Proposal

The bill would take effect immediately, if approved, and would be effective for one year. It covers employee deaths from April 1, 1962, to July 1, 1963.

Bulletin

Correction Officer Appeal Is Rejected

ALBANY, Feb. 26—A request by State Correction Officers for an upward reallocation of title has been rejected by the Division of Compensation and Classification and Compensation, it was learned at Leader press time.

The reallocation request—which asked that Correction Officers be raised from Grade 11 to Grade 13—was made last fall. The title appeal for Correction Officers, Correction Hospital Attendant, Women's Correction Officer and Correction Youth Camp Officer was brought by the Correction Conference and the Civil Service Employees Association.

Kelly's Reasons

J. Early Kelly, Compensation and Classification director, in rejecting the appeal said "since the state is not experiencing recruitment difficulties for these classes of employment and the vacant positions are relatively few... the application is disapproved."

In 1958, Mr. Kelly rejected a similar upgrading request on the grounds that "little or no attempt was made to support this request by comparing the Correction Officer salary with established grades for other related classes within the New York State compensation plan."

The Employees Association contended that it had documented its case in the area requested by Kelly.

At Leader press time no further details were available. Action planned by the CSEA will be reported in the near future.

Kelly Upheld on DE Title Action

ALBANY, Feb. 26 — The State Civil Service Commission last week upheld a 16-month old decision which denied reallocation appeals of examiners and interviewers in the Division of Employment.

The positions affected by the decision and the grades they had sought are employment interviewer, Grade 12 to 14; senior employment interviewer, Grade 16 to 18; unemployment insurance claims examiner, Grade 12 to 14; senior unemployment insurance claims examiner, Grade 16 to 18.

The original dismissal of the appeals was returned last month by the State Supreme Court to the Commission itself for reconsideration.

In its subsequent denial, the Commission said: "as was the case in the original review of these appeals, the Commission is not persuaded that the alleged functions and responsibilities, nor the increased number of rulings and precedents of the Division in guiding the examiners and interviewers, have been such of such an extensive character that it would warrant advancing the positions to higher salary allocations."

Your Public Relations IQ

By LEO J. MARGOLIN

(Mr. Margolin is Adjunct Professor of Public Relations in the New York University School of Public Administration and is a vice-president of the public relations firm of Martial & Company, Inc.)

TA's "Charm School"

WHEN THE New York City Transit Authority comparatively recently discovered courtesy, it was a great moral victory for those of us who have known for many years that common sense and good public relations are "kissin' cousins."

AS A STARTER, the Authority began a public relations program among its cash customers. The principal medium of communication was a series of clever posters, which showed offenders as "hogs," "jackasses," and unmannerly "bulls."

FIRST POSTERS urged subway riders to be courteous and to say "please, pardon me, or sorry."

VERY ELEMENTARY, to be sure, but it was effective. Our personal survey of black and blue marks indicated a 20 per cent reduction in rib-poking and toe-crushing.

HAPPILY, the Transit Authority also made another discovery: that public relations is a two-way street, i.e., good public relations is possible only when its deserved.

IMPLEMENTING this discovery, the Authority organized what a "N.Y. Times" reporter called "its own charm school." The Authority is now holding classes to teach their employees to be nice to the "sardines" with "patience, politeness and courtesy." The initial class had 40 change agents and 10 porters.

THE RESPONSE from the employees was excellent. They listened with "patience, politeness and courtesy."

TO THE CREDIT of these employees, it must be said that they put their fingers on one of the most vexing public relations problems in the city's transit system. They wanted to know why they were not advised about the facts on service disruptions so they could tell the passengers. They also asked why certain subway lines broke down in bad weather.

IF IT MISSED Transit Authority executives, it occurred to us that it's impossible for subway agents to treat the public with "patience, politeness and courtesy" when they are harrassed for information about delays, and have no information to give.

WE HOPE Authority operating executives made careful note of these questions so they can take steps to give their employees the tools with which to generate good public relations.

ALL THIS ACTIVITY for better subway manners by both passengers and employees must be warming the heart of insurance man Maurice Blond. Persistent Mr. Blond has been pressing a one-man campaign to get a smile out of subway employees.

WE FEEL CERTAIN the smile will be forthcoming as soon as the Transit Authority brass make it possible.

Columbia Council Marks Vespucci Anniversary at National Antiques Show

The 450th anniversary of the death of Amerigo Vespucci will be marked by a special exhibit of memorabilia at the National Antiques Show to be held at Madison Square Garden for nine days beginning Feb. 28.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Grand Council of Columbia Associations in civil service.

The material for the exhibit is being assembled from various American museums, private collections, and the city of Florence, Italy, where Vespucci was born and which financed some of these explorations.

Maps and illustrations, models of ships, coins used in the era of Vespucci and Columbus, original documents, books and pictures will be included in the display.

The Grand Council is composed of 75,000 Italo-Americans in City, State and Federal departments, as well as in industry and cultural organizations, and is headed by Lt. Mario Biaggi, who is New York City's most decorated police

Deferment Test Open to Local College Students

Applications for the Selective Service College Qualification Test to be given April 17 are now available to college students at the Selective Service local boards throughout New York City. Colonel Paul Akst, New York City Director of Selective Service, has announced.

He pointed out that scores made on the test will provide local boards with evidence of aptitude for continued undergraduate and graduate study. The scores will not of themselves determine eligibility for deferment, but are considered with other information by the boards in determining whether to defer individual registrants for further study.

Applications for the test must be postmarked no later than midnight, Tuesday, March 27. Eligible students may also obtain information about the test from any local board.

Named Trustee

officer and is currently on leave from the department and is now serving as Governor Rockefeller's director of community affairs in the New York State Housing Division.

Biaggi was recently elected to the National Police Hall of Fame as America's number one officer.

Mile of Floor Space

The show will include wares from ancient Egypt, pre-historic Persia, pre-Columbian America, 16th century Siam, 14th century Russia, 18th century Europe and Colonial America on one square mile of floor space.

And there will be exhibits of 19th century Theatrical Posters, civil war memorabilia, a reconstruction of the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac that changed world history just 100 years ago, a coin and money display, and whose rows of decorative rooms that show how to use antiques in modern homes. There will be more than 250 exhibitors.

Questions Answered

I am a veteran who has been retired from active service because of disability. I have GI insurance with the Total Disability Income Provision rider. May I apply for the TDIP payments?

You may apply. In order to qualify for the TDIP payments, you must present medical evidence that you are disabled to the extent that you cannot carry on substantially gainful employment.

I have participating GI insurance policy. When may I expect to go my 1962 dividend payment?

The VA is paying the 1962 insurance dividend on the anniversary date of each policy - that is, on the date the policy became effective.

As a widow of a World War II veteran, I am receiving death pension for myself and two children. I realize that, if I remarry, I am no longer eligible, but would the children still be eligible?

The children will be eligible in their own right until age 18, or if in school, until age 21, unless they marry earlier.

My son has been in a nursing home for incurables since childhood. He will be 18 soon. Will his pension be stopped then?

No. Since he is unable to become self-supporting his pension will be continued.

MENTAL HYGIENE MEMO

By WILLIAM ROSSITER

CSEA Mental Hygiene Representative

(The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper or of any organization).

A Tribute to Dr. Hoch

THE ADMINISTRATION of a large State department is a difficult and challenging assignment.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE for one to convey in the limited space of this column all the views, opinions and feelings that the mental hygiene employees, patients and citizens in the community have in their hearts for the top man in our department.

HIS UNDERSTANDING in his relationship with his fellow man should be foremost in our appraisal. He has devoted his entire life to the care of the mentally ill. He knows his job.

RESEARCH HAS been of great interest to him and he has spent many years in this field. He still crowds into his busy schedule a certain number of days each month at our research center, the New York State Psychiatric Institute and Hospital in New York City.

HE IS ONE OF the foremost architects in the mental health field and has gained prominence throughout the world.

HIS IS A BUSY schedule. Demands on his time are tremendous.

HIS MEETING calendar shows that he attended 167 meetings in 1961. Some of these meetings, to mention only a few (they were all most important) included meetings with the Governor, State officials, legislators, State Commissioners in other departments, newspaper correspondents, the Budget Director, employee organizations, meeting with his department heads, various mental hygiene council meetings, meetings in other state and countries, principal speaker at various dinner meetings.

HE VACATIONED in Europe from August 25th to September 19th, 1961. You guessed it—he attended several mental hygiene meetings while there.

GAINS ARE BEING made in the attempt to erase the stigma of mental illness and building up and improving the image of the mental hygiene employee. We are weak in good, effective public relations. Our boss knows that this is very factual and he is constantly trying to improve our public relations.

SOCIAL ATTITUDES toward the mentally ill are either progressive and knowledgeable or archaic, superstitious, primitive or detached. Only by patience, hard work and understanding can both the mental hygiene employee and the community in general, work together to make common gains.

OUR CONTACTS with the Doctor have been favorable. Consensus is that he is a right guy.

AT THE COMPLEX solving of labor-management issues he is at home. At ease in his deliberations, we find that he possesses a wealth of illuminating, seasoned guidance and constructive thinking.

DR. PAUL H. HOCH, Commissioner of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene has made many signal accomplishments. New York State should be proud of the man and his record.

WE LIKE HIM because he symbolizes fair play and respects man's dignity.

WEST CONFERENCE'S TRAVEL PROGRAM NOW OPEN FOR BOOKINGS

A grand tour of Europe, a Scandanavian tour or a visit to California and Hawaii comprises the comprehensive travel program now available for immediate booking by members of the Western Conference of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

Last year's extremely popular Hawaiian program is being repeated and this year will leave Buffalo on Friday, June 8, returning there two weeks later. Again, the program will include a visit to Hollywood and Disneyland; a long stay directly on Waikiki Beach in Honolulu at the famous Hawaiian Village Hotel, with sight-seeing tours, a beach party, etc., and on the return home, a visit to scenic San Francisco, the nearby Redwood Forest and a final celebration of dinner in famous Chinatown.

Applying for Hawaii

Price for all the above—including round trip air transportation from Buffalo and all hotel rooms—is $495. Applicants in the Buffalo area should apply immediately to John Hennessy 276 Moore Ave., Kenmore, N. Y. and to Claude E. Rowell, 64 Langslow, Rochester, 20, N. Y., in the Rochester area. Persons who applied late last year could not be accommodated and therefore early booking is urged. To offer a wider choice of travel in Europe, the Conference this year has approved two separate itineraries, both priced at $727 for the 25-day tours, including round trip air transportation.

To Europe June 25

The tour groups will depart together from Buffalo on June 26 and return to New York City on July 23. Upon arrival in Europe, those who have selected the grand tour will visit France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Monaco. Those booking the Scandanavian tour will visit France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Luxembourg. The price of $727 will include, in addition to the air transportation, all hotel rooms, all land transportation in Europe, most meals, sightseeing tours, tips, baggage handling and other items. First class service and a complimentary bar will be features of the flight itself.

Death Benefit, Trooper, Pay Bills Introduced

In commenting on the death benefit measure, CSEA President Joseph F. Feily said "this measure is almost exactly what the Association proposed in recent meetings with Governor Rockefeller. It provides immediate protection for new employees at a time when their insurance needs are greatest."

The bill falls short of the CSEA proposal, Feily said, in that "it will not continue after an employee's retirement and will not be made available as a benefit under the State Retirement System for members of political subdivisions." He said the measure, despite its shortcomings, represents the acceptance in principle of the CSEA plan.

Salary Bill

The Administration's salary bill is sponsored by Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield of Poughkeepsie, and Assemblyman Prescott Huntington of Long Island, both Republicans. It would grant a flat, across-the-board raise to State employees effective Aug. 1.

The CSEA has its own salary

proposal in the Legislature, which calls for a flat 10 per cent increase, and is fighting for an effective date of April 1.

The State Police measure, introduced by Assemblyman Christian H. Armbruster, a Yonkers Republican, in addition to the new four-increment range and the longevity steps, retains the existing six-increment salary range for troopers and the two-increment range for corporals.

The State Police benefits called for in Armbruster's measure would be in addition to the proposed five per cent increase for state employees.

The European program this year can only accommodate 80 persons—no more—and therefore immediate bookings are really necessary and initial deposits should be made at once to assure space.

In the Buffalo area, write to Celeste Rosenkranz, 55 Sweeney St., Buffalo, and to Mrs. Melba Binn, 149 Elmdorf Ave. in Rochester for complete description of the tour and an application form.

Merely Blumenstein Marries Attorney

Merely L. Blumenstein, who is chairman of the Rochester Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association, was married on January 14, at Temple Beth Shalom to Samuel Schwartz.

Mrs. Schwartz is an employee of the Rochester Office of the Workmen's Compensation Board. Mr. Schwartz, an attorney, was recently a candidate for Rochester City Court Judge.

NFFE Approves 'In Principle' Of Pay Proposals

The National Federation of Federal Employees last week expressed approval "in principle" of the Administration's new Federal pay reform proposals and commended President Kennedy for "his initiative in taking constructive and long overdue action on this vital problem."

"The NFFE believes," President Vaux Owen declared in a statement, "that the proposals represent genuine progress and that, in the main, they can furnish the basis for legislative action which can substantially improve the Government's position as the largest single employer in the Nation."

He said that a basic long-range reform in the Federal pay system is an "essential task too long deferred. Action at this session of Congress is dictated by every consideration of sound national policy."

Reemployment Rights Discussed in Labor Department Pamphlet

Leonard Burchman, regional director of the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights, has announced that the U. S. Labor Department has issued a pamphlet explaining reemployment rights of reservists and National Guardsmen under 1961 amendments to the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

The Act, which give members of the Armed Forces protection of their civilian job rights for up to four years of voluntary military service, was amended last October to protect the rights of reservists and guardsmen recalled to duty in the recent military buildup.

Mr. Burchman said the pamphlet, "Field Letter No. 20," contains the full text of the reemployment section (sec. 9) of the UMT law and the amended language. It clarifies the 1961 changes in question and answer form.

Single copies of the Field Letter may be obtained without charge from the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights, U. S. Department of Labor, 341 Ninth Avenue, New York 1, N. Y. Additional cop-

Recent Kelly Decisions Are Cause For Concern

TWO title reallocation appeal decisions by J. Early Kelly, State Director of Classification and Compensation, appear to be based on unjust and dangerous reasoning.

A few months ago, Mr. Kelly rejected an appeal to upgrade nurses in state institutions and a large part of his reasoning for so doing was that "the state is getting its fair share of nurses."

This past week, in announcing that a title appeal from Correction Officers had been rejected, Mr. Kelly stated that "the state is not experiencing recruitment difficulties for these classes of employment."

What this means to us is that Mr. Kelly apparently determines the merit of a reallocation appeal on recruitment difficulties, not work performed. It is unbelievable to us that this should be so—but the Classification Director's own words tell us that it is.

Things have arrived at a poor state when an employee's demand for proper pay is judged not on his duties but on a help shortage. Does Mr. Kelly mean to say that the only time a job is worth upgrading is when no one wants it?

He may find this the case unless he stops this irrational judgement on title appeals and begins to render his decisions on the need of the employee—not the recruitment office.

Farewell, Lyons Law

THE Lyons Law is almost a part of New York history. It may have had merit in its day, but there is little doubt that in past years it had become a piece of detrimental legislation. We are happy to see it go by the boards, something these columns urged for years, and we are sure the City's employees feel greatly relieved.

History Has Moved

WE have a question for State Assemblyman Frank Cox, a Democrat who represents the First District of Albany County. The question is: have you read any history since 1870 or thereabouts?

Mr. Cox, who last week took off on the Rockefeller Administration for alleged lack of bipartisanship in the Temporary Commission of Investigation, also took a swipe at the Merit System.

In speaking of the history of bipartisanship Mr. Cox stated "A Democratic governor could always find a sniveling Republican to do his bidding. A Republican governor could always entice a sniveling Democrat with a bag of gold. The history of civil service is the classic example. It never was bipartisan. Many, many decades ago one of the greatest of Republican leaders labeled it 'snivel service' and nothing has happened in the intervening years to change that apt description."

If Mr. Cox has read his history he knows that the above quote was made at a time when creation of the Merit System in Federal government was being attacked by members of both political parties. The above senator and others wanted no part of any unpolitical system that would eliminate their patronage rights.

But apparently Mr. Cox didn't read his history any further because he says that nothing has happened in the intervening years "to change that apt description."

Now don't be alarmed, Mr. Cox, but for your information a Civil Service Law was adopted by the U.S. Government and, shortly after that, by the New York State government. And since that time, millions of persons have competed with their fellow citizens for jobs through unbiased examinations. Once they are in the civil service, they continue to compete for promotions. And they get these promotions on merit, not on political patronage.

Mr. Cox may feel he has a case in attacking Administration policy. He is going far afield when he includes a smear of the Merit System in his attack. He owes thousands of public employees in our State an apology—and owes it to himself to catch up on history.

Says City Jobs Cost Too Much

Editor, The Leader:

The demise of the Lyons Law is good news but a better piece of news would be elimination of filing fees.

There are many (at least three) New York City jobs for which I am qualified and interested in. But when I sought information on these positions I was told I would have to pay a separate fee for each examination. This can add up and I don't think it's worth it.

I was told that there were a lot of openings in two of the fields I would have applied for. I can see why.

Lieut. Governor Answers Charge of Salary Inequities

Editor, The Leader:

A recent letter to The Leader indicated that salary inequities still exist in the State service, and that there were some 15 such inequities at the Mt. Morris State Hospital. At my request, the Department of Health rechecked the payroll records for the Mt. Morris State Hospital and found that salary inequities no longer exist. Perhaps this is a problem of semantics. In our view a salary inequity exists if an employee is paid a salary above the highest paid for his grade, a salary that can not be achieved by a new employee.

All employees now allocated to the same salary grade, including those formerly with a "no loss in pay" guarantee, can ultimately reach the same salary ceiling—the maximum salary plus two increments (i.e., the salary paid at the extra longevity step). Since no present employee who formerly had a "no loss in pay" guarantee is paid in excess of the extra longevity step, we feel justified in saying that salary inequities arising from the reduction in the workweek have been eliminated. I trust that this clarifies the matter.

Questions Weinstein On Death Gamble Elimination

Editor, The Leader:

I read, with interest, Mr. Weinstein's first article on the pros and cons of the elimination of the "death gamble" which exists in our pension system at the present time. Mr. Weinstein and I became examiners in the State of New York Insurance Department more than thirty years ago. We are very good friends and I respect his opinions highly.

We have discussed the "death gamble" situation on several occasions. Max, at times, even refused to acknowledge the words "death gamble" and "constructive option". I know from my conversations with Mr. Weinstein that he is opposed to the elimination of the "death gamble".

Mr. Weinstein has known of the Civil Service Employees Association's position for some time. It is strange that while the legisla-

Civil Service LAW & YOU

By HAROLD L. HERZSTEIN

Mr. Herzstein is a member of the New York bar

(The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper or of any organization.)

Police Hearings

A DISCIPLINARY case against a police officer is the most difficult to prove in the civil service.

THAT IS THE opinion of many people, both professional and non-professional. I meekly add that that is my opinion too. As I keep growing up in the civil service law, I notice this more and more. I am not arguing for or against that conclusion; but am merely stating the existence of that fact.

WHAT IS the reason for it? You tell me. Are the reasons good? Well, I leave that to you also.

PERHAPS

THERE ARE many reasons advanced for the results favorable to police in hearings. Let me state some of them.

PERHAPS, IT is the strong presumption in favor of the integrity of the police, with which everyone starts. The hearing is held in the police department room, with policeman everywhere. They look good.

PERHAPS, IT is the disinclination to testify fully against an officer in his presence. This partakes a little of the first reason given above, but not entirely.

PERHAPS, AS stated in the St. John's Law Review of May, 1960 (to which I will refer later), the complainant is often a disreputable person.

PERHAPS, AS stated by the Court of Appeals in Evans v. Monaghan, 306 N. Y. 312, at 320, the lack is something which is needed "in order to command the judicial confidence".

The "Perhapses" mentioned above are significant. I could add and add to them; but I do not feel that it is necessary.

EVANS vs. MONAGHAN

PERSONALLY, I feel that the most important "Perhaps" mentioned above is the first one, that is the strong presumption in favor of police. However, as in other subjects that is something between people which does not enter into litigation. As far as judicial comment is concerned, the strongest item is the last mentioned in the list, it is what is needed "to command the judicial confidence".

IN ORDER "to command the judicial confidence", the evidence must be substantial in its power. By the use of this language the Court of Appeals in Evans v. Monaghan, called for the strongest type of proof. At page 277, the St. John's Law Review summarized it as follows:

What appears to have happened is that the theory and experience of the criminal law has been brought to bear upon that quantum of evidence called substantial in order to insure its reliability. In this approach, the dominant characteristic of substantial evidence is its power to 'command the judicial confidence'.

THIS IS a wonderful goal as to the type of evidence necessary. I hope that it will be applied in all employee cases, not only those affecting police.

SOME EXTERNAL EVIDENCE

IN THE EVANS case the Court of Appeals was stressing the rights of policemen. We do not know whether they intended all employees within the terms of their discussion. We hope so because the application of the police cases to all other employees will save a lot of people.

IRVING MENDELSON, an old associate, was one of the defendants' attorneys in the Evans case. I am sure that he would agree with me that the principles so carefully made applicable to the police in this case could well be applied to all employees.

are used, the legislation which is now pending does not take away from any beneficiary any of the rights he or she may have at the present time. It simply gives the beneficiary an additional right which the beneficiary may avail himself of, should it prove to be, after study, to his advantage.

I can see no disadvantage in the adoption of this legislation for any member of the New York State Employees Retirement System. Its consideration should not be immersed in a sea of actuarial words.

tion is pending he begins a series of three articles in The Leader which I am certain will terminate with his opposition.

The facts, unless they are obscured by the actuarial terms used and which will be used, are very concise and clear. They are as follows:

1. The "death gamble" in the New York State Employees Retirement System does exist. There are many cases where a member of the state retirement system has not survived the thirty day waiting period and his beneficiary, as a result, has lost valuable benefits.
2. The "constructive option" legislation which is now pending will benefit all members of the retirement system.
3. No matter how many words

"Now there's a poker face
if I ever saw one!"

A smoke screen may be just the thing for a poker game... but it's not good for New York. That's why, over the years, we have spent millions of dollars pioneering the development and use of new smoke-control devices... installing the most modern and efficient equipment available.

For instance: We've put $5 million worth of smoke-cleaning equipment on each of the new giant coal-burning boilers we have installed in the past three years.

Con Edison will continue to install the most advanced smoke-control equipment available. We are anxious—as you are—to make our City one of the cleanest in the world.

PBA Men Work Hard, Effectively to Gain Needed Legislation

(From Leader Correspondent)

ALBANY, Feb. 26—A soft-spoken but hard-working New York City patrolman is making his presence felt on Capitol Hill.

He is John J. Cassese, president of the New York City Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, who, together with two other PBA officers—Edward J. Klernan, first vice president, and Benjamin Chodar, second vice president, have formed a lobbying team to win legislative passage of bills benefiting police.

In Albany each week to contact legislators on the PBA legislative program, the three patrolmen have obtained sponsorship of PBA bills and now are concentrating on getting their measures approved in committee.

Half Pay at 20 Yrs.

Mr. Cassese, in an interview with The Leader at the Capitol, described a PBA bill to guarantee retirement for police after 20 years of service at half-pay as "Our number one objective at the 1962 session."

The legislation was introduced by Senator Thomas Mackell and Assemblyman William Brennan, Queens Democrats, at PBA request.

Before the measure can be acted upon in committee, however, it will require a "home rule" message from the City of New York endorsing it.

A similar bill providing half-pay pensions for police in other cities of the state, having their own pension systems also is being sponsored by the PBA. It has been introduced by Senator MacNeill Mitchell, Manhattan Republican, and Assemblyman Anthony Savarese, Queens Republican.

'Death Gamble' Elimination

Mr. Cassese, a veteran of 24 years service himself, said another major objective "is the elimination of the 'death gamble' for New York City police."

At the present time, he explained, a patrolman who stays in service past the 20-year retirement mark, faces the loss of the city contributions towards his pension if he dies.

The PBA would guarantee the full pension to the next of kin, similar to the law now in effect for New York City teachers, who continue teaching after reaching retirement age.

At PBA request, the "death gamble" bill was introduced by Senator William Conklin, Brooklyn Republican, and Assemblywoman Aileen B. Ryan, Bronx Democrat.

The PBA, which has 22,800 members among the 24,000-member New York City force, also is seeking legislative action to formally legalize Rockland and Suffolk counties as places of residence for New York City police.

The association estimates that about 2,000 police now live in the two counties, which technically are out-of-bounds. Two years ago, the PBA was successful in getting a state law passed to permit police to live in Nassau and Westchester counties although working on the New York City force.

The new bill was introduced by Senator D. Clinton Dominick, Newsburgh Republican, and Assemblyman Joseph F. K. Nowicki, Rockland County Republican.

Other Measures

Other measures being pushed by the PBA "team" would increase from three to four percent the payment on pension contributions and give the widows of police killed in line of duty a full pension.

Mr. Cassese pointed out that the cost of providing full protection to the wives of police would be negligible. About five men a year are killed in New York City while on duty. The PBA bill would benefit, particularly, those wives whose husbands are new in service and who may have young children.

Under the terms of the bill, the widow would draw a full pension until such time as her husband would have reached the 20-year retirement point. Then pension payments would be out to three-quarters. If the widow were to remarry, the pension would stop.

John J. Cassese

Soft-Spoken Fighter For Police Rights

John J. Cassese, who heads the legislative efforts of the New York City Police Benevolent Association, is serving his second consecutive term as PBA president.

When re-elected for a second two-year term in July, 1960, it was the first time since 1894 that an association president ran unopposed.

His associates say the Indians have an explanation for it. It seems Cassese was made an honorary "blood brother" by the Cherokee Indians and given the tribal name, "Wise Hawk."

The name, the Indians said, was for demonstrating the courage of the hawk in fighting for police benefits and for showing wisdom in his efforts.

He also has been made an "honorary mayor" and is one of two New York City policemen to be enshrined in the Police Hall of Fame in Florida.

In addition to his work for the New York City PBA, he is a vice-president of the National Police Conference and once served as legislative chairman for the New York State Police Conference.

Married, he lives with his wife and two children at 10 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn.
