

University Senate of the University at Albany

Voluntary Contribution of 2009-10 Pay Raises

Whereas, the teaching and professional faculty members of the University at Albany have willingly made many sacrifices to benefit the University, have a significant stake in its well being, and continue to be committed to the University,

Therefore, be it resolved, that the University at Albany Faculty Senate work to find a mechanism by which senior faculty may voluntarily elect to contribute all or part of their 3% pay raise from the 2009/10 academic year to the University.
