Congratulations . . .

A worthwhile job well done deserves our sincerest congratulations. We are referring, of course, to the fine job done by Ron Koster and the State Fair committee that made the Fair the enjoyable and financially successful event it was. Congratulations, too, to Student Association for lending its wholehearted support to this most worthwhile event.

Encouragement . . .

An encouraging example of studentfaculty cooperation was seen Wednesday night at the first presentation of the Foreign. Film Group. We would like to see this group organized into a permanent activity at State. Here again the participation of Student Association contributed to the success of the evening.

Today's Agenda . . .

Common-Stater

By DEVINE and KRCHNIAK

We've heard of an exciting and practical new plan to have student tax tickets with permanent photos. This idea also provides for cheaper photos for students, available photos for Press Bureau, complete student coverage for Pedagogue, and most important, riddance of the practice of lending tax cards to outsiders. For instance, D&A Council, Music Council and other student organizations are supported by student tax and frequently go to great expense to bring famous artists to the college. Therefore, elimination of this transfer would be advantageous to the college, in that outsiders who formerly have been benefitting from Student Tax Cards will have to pay for these privileges. This will increase the profits for the SA. We are enthusiastic about the possibilities of such an arrangement, and hope SA will support it when it is presented. Watch for it in Assembly!

A JOB WELL DONE

IS THAT ME?

A pat on the back goes to all the organizations which participated in State Fair. It now seems the profits will exceed the expectations. We would like to extend a personal honorable mention to the Mystery Street show, which contained the highest concentration of atmosphere we've ever shuddered through. We also understand Mr. Wheeler had a private auction of (scholarly?) books, the proceeds of which went to the Foreign Student Fund.
