NOTED INTERNATIONAL MILITARY HISTORIANS TO BE AT SUNYA ON BICENTENNIAL SITES TOUR

More than 40 international military historians will be housed for three nights on the campus of State University of New York at Albany starting Sunday, Aug. 10, as part of the itinerary for the American Revolution Bicentennial Tour of Battle Sites in the State of New York, organized by the United States Commission on Military History for the International Military Historical Commission. Thomas M. Barker, professor of history at the university and a founding member of the United States Commission on Military History, is the program coordinator, assisted by H. Peter Krosby, also a professor of history at SUNYA.

The historical themes of the tour will be The French and Indian War, The American Revolution: New York As A Turning Point, and Loyalism. Visiting historians will include personnel from the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst in Great Britain; the distinguished British military historians Christopher Duffy and David Chandler; General of the Army, Retired, Fernand Gambiez, president of IMHC and France's highest ranking officer; Albert Duchesne, secretary general of IMHC and director of the Royal Army Museum in Brussels; Professor Maurice Baumont of the French Academy; Lt. Col. Reinhard Bruehl, representing the German Democratic Republic; and Mahmud Key, Supreme Commander's Staff, Tehran, Iran.

Other nations to be represented are Austria, Finland, West Germany, Sweden, Lebanon, Poland, the Federal Republic of Germany, Indonesia, Turkey, and Burundi. The New York State sites tour is being supported, in part, by a $1,800 grant from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration via the New York State Bicentennial Commission. It provides funds for translators, guides, communications, and bus transportation.

Activities on the university center's campus Sunday, following a bus tour of Albany's historic sites, will include an academic session on the theme, "Loyalism: New Light on the Tories," conducted by Sung Bok Kim, assistant professor of history at SUNYA; a program planned by The Brigade of the American Revolution; and a reception to be given by the university for participants and guests on the occasion of a special exhibit of historic weaponry.

On Tuesday the historians will visit Crown Point, Lake Champlain; Fort Ticonderoga; and the Saratoga Battlefield. Fort Ticonderoga will host a review of La Compaigne Franche de la Marine, of St. Helen's Island, Montreal, in honor of the historians. The drill unit, wearing exact copies of the uniforms the French infantry wore in 1750, will feature precision marching, a unique musket drill, and a cannon exercise. Memorial wreaths for French soldiers who fell at Ticonderoga in 1757 will be placed by General Gambiez and by a representative of the Montreal company. The latter was created by Cardinal Richlieu in 1683, serving until 1760, and was reconstituted in 1962.

In addition to visits in the Albany area, Saratoga, Ticonderoga, and West Point, the historians will attend academic sessions in Washington, D.C., for eight days. Some will continue on to San Francisco for the 14th International Historical Congress.

SPECIAL NOTE TO COVERING REPORTERS

The Revolutionary Era Encampment and Exhibition of Soldiery, planned for visiting international military historians which is not to be publicized in advance, will take place Sunday, Aug. 10, at 4:15 p.m. in the southeast part of the campus, southeast of the Indian Quadrangle. The exhibit of historic weaponry, which also is closed to the public. is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 10, in the main lounge and balcony of the Campus Center. The exhibit will include weapons from both private and state collections.

Also, please note:

The Revolutionary Era Encampment and Exhibition of Soldiery are being conducted by The Brigade of the American Revolution in this area rather than the Mohawk Chapter of the Company of Military Historians.

HISTORICAL EXHIBITS AT SUNYA LIBRARY

An exhibit on "Education in New York State" is on display in the first floor lobby, north side, of the University Library, State University of New York at Albany, through the end of September.

Among the materials on display are assorted yearbooks of State Normal School dating back to 1900; biographies of contributors to education in New York State, including DeWitt Clinton, Melvil Dewey, Emma Willard, Frances Wright, and William McGuffey; books about New York State's first schools - King's College (Columbia University), Union College, and New York State College for Teachers at Albany (SUNYA); and books on regents and other public schools.

Also being exhibited are a number of objects on loan from Harriet D. Adams, assistant librarian, SUNYA. The objects are a stoneware inkwell and ink bottle, a handblown glass ink bottle and quill pen, and a wooden quill pen.

The exhibit is one of several relating to the history of the United States in commemoration of the Bicentennial. The next exhibit in the series, to be shown in October, will be entitled "New York State as a Radical Center."

TWO EXHIBITS TO OPEN AT SUNYA GALLERY

On exhibit at the University Art Gallery at State University of New York at Albany will be works by Garo Antresian and Clinton Adams and by faculty members of the department of art, beginning Monday, Aug. 25.

The Antresian and Adams shows are retrospective exhibitions containing 40 works by each of the distinguished artist-teachers who have played prominent roles in the development of lithography in the United States. Each exhibit contains a representative cross-section of the artist's work from 1950 to the present, and together they offer a record of the progress of lithography.

The faculty exhibition will consist of recent works in many media, including sculpture, painting, printmaking, photography, and ceramics. Those exhibiting works will be Dennis Byng, Richard Callner, Robert Cartmell, Edward Cowley, Mark Greenwold, Donald Mochon, Thom O'Connor, Richard Stankiewicz, Melanie Walker, Niles Wallace, and William Wilson.

The Antresian and Adams shows will be on display through Sept. 28, while the faculty show may be viewed through Sept. 3. Both exhibitions may be seen during the gallery's regular hours, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The gallery will be closed Labor Day weekend.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTION AT SUNYA FOR CHILDREN

The State University of New York at Albany Swim Club, in association with the university's College of General Studies, again will offer swimming and diving instruction for children on Saturday mornings.

Diving will be taught from 7:30 to 9 a.m. and swimming from 8 to 9 and 9 to 10 a.m. Instruction will be available at all levels each hour and participants will be grouped by age and ability.

Registration for all classes will be held from 7:30 to 10 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 6, at the pool of the Physical Education Building, SUNYA. Instruction will begin on that day, also.

The fee for each program is $20 per participant. Children must be old enough to attend classes without a parent on the pool deck and should bring with them a suit, towel, and bathing cap.

Openings also are available on the Amateur Athletic Union age group swim team. Those seeking further information may call Ralph Enokian, 489-1304.

DR. SAFFADY JOINS SUNYA FACULTY

State University of New York at Albany has announced the appointment of William Saffady, formerly of Wayne State University in Detroit, as an assistant professor in the School of Library and Information Science.

A graduate of Central Michigan University in 1966, Dr. Saffady holds a master's degree in library science as well as a master's degree and a doctorate in history from Wayne. He taught both history and library science there and also served as an archivist for the University and for the Archives of Labor History and Urban Affairs.

A specialist in information science, archives administration and reprography, Dr. Saffady has written articles for a number of scholarly journals including the "American Archivist," "College and Research Libraries," and the "Journal of Library Automation." He also is an historian specializing in psychohistory. He has written for the "History of Childhood Quarterly" and has served on its editorial board.

Dr. Saffady will be teaching courses in archives administration and information science at SUNYA. He lives at Sherwood Park, Rensselaer, with his wife and two children.

SCIENCE CURRICULUM STUDY COURSES AT SUNYA

Three separate and concurrent Intermediate Science Curriculum Study courses, one for each of the program levels, will be held at the downtown campus, State University of New York at Albany, sponsored jointly by SUNYA and the Capital Area School Development Association, Aug. 18-22.

The major objective of the courses will be to prepare teachers to implement ISCS in their classrooms. Discussions during the five-day meeting will include a rationale for a discovery-oriented program, like ISCS; introduction to processes and content of the materials; analysis of how the levels are sequenced; alternatives for adapting the ISCS program levels to individual needs; classroom organization; evaluation procedures complementary to the ISCS curriculum; establishment of communications with experienced ISCS teachers; suggestions for correlating ISCS with other junior high school courses; and examination of recent adaptation for teaching ISCS.

On the staff are Thomas A. Boehm, association professor, education; Barbara S. Schermerhorn, assistant professor, on-campus supervision; and Thomas J. Atkinson, assistant professor, education. They have participated in the development of a variety of ISCS-related materials to be made available during the summer program. Included will be performance-based unit tests for all levels of ISCS, ISCS behavioral outcomes categorized by levels of difficulty,

SUNYA PLANS WORKSHOP FOR NURSES IN OCTOBER

A workshop on "The Function of Planning in an Inservice Education Program" will be held at the Institute of Man and Science, Rensselaerville, on Oct. 1-3, sponsored by the School of Nursing, State University of New York at Albany.

The focus of the program will be on the purpose and values of inservice education, a review of the components of planning, tools and resources, and work sessions where each participant develops a program plan. Those eligible are registered nurses responsible for development and teaching of inservice education programs in health agencies.

Registration will begin at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 1. The conference will start at 3 p.m. Wednesday, ending at 1:30 p.m. on Friday. There will be a dinner and a program session on Wednesday and informal discussion periods Thursday evening.

The registration fee is $50 which must accompany the application, the deadline for which is Sept. 24.

Those interested are advised to communicate with Judith P. Whitaker, School of Nursing, SUNYA, 1400 Washington Ave., Albany 12222.

SUNYA TO OFFER THREE OFF-CAMPUS GRADUATE COURSES

The School of Education at State University of New York at Albany will be offering three off-campus graduate courses this fall, one at Fulton-Montgomery Community College, Johnstown, and two at Queensbury High School, Glens Falls. Three credits will be given for each of the courses.

The course at FMCC will be E-Sau 606, "Linguistic Aspects of Communication," which will be taught by M. Gerlene Ross, assistant professor of speech pathology and audiology and department chairperson. It will be conducted from 4 to 6 p.m. on Wednesdays.

At the Glens Falls school the courses offered will be E-Tch 687, "Institute in Education: Critical Issues," which will consist of a series of lectures and discussions, and E-Sst 660, "Supervision in the Social Studies," aimed at the improvement of instruction through innovative materials, design of teaching procedures, testing, personnel and facilities management, program evaluation, action research, and in-service training. Randolph Gardner, former dean of the School of Education, will coordinate the issues course and Gerald W. Snyder, acting chairman, department of instruction, will teach the social studies courses.

Information about the course at FMCC is available from Ellen H. Betz, director, Fulton-Montgomery Community College Enrichment Center. Peggy Baker, Washington-Warren-Hamilton-Essex Board of Cooperative Educational Services, has information about the courses at Queensbury High.

FALL SEMESTER OPENS AUGUST 25 AT SUNYA

Enrollment Expected To Be Larger Than Last Year By 371; 2,100 In Freshman Class; New President To Address Faculty

Fall semester classes begin Monday August 25, at State University of New York at Albany where the anticipated enrollment for the new semester is 15,198, up from 14,827 in September 1974.

The expected enrollment includes 10,329 undergraduates, of whom 9,179 will be fulltime and 1,150 parttime, and 4,869 graduate students.
Of the latter group, 1,958 will be fulltime and 2,911 parttime.

An estimated 2,100 freshmen will begin classes Monday Aug. 25.
Other new students on campus will be about 1,000 transfer students.
This year there were 13,862 applications for admission to the freshman class, slightly down from last year. Transfer applications reached a new high of 6,122.

The university's new president, Emmett B. Fields, will convene the fall meeting of the faculty on Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 2:15 p.m. in the ballroom of the campus Center. Dr. Fields, in his first meeting with the full university faculty, will comment on the current status of higher education, the condition of SUNYA as a university center in the larger picture, and the nature of the work ahead in the center's development.

Preceding the meeting, coffee and tea will be served beginning at 1:30 p.m. President Fields will greet members of the faculty at that time. Exhibits outside of the ballroom, sponsored by the Academic Services Council of the University Senate, will focus on services of the Educational Communication Center, the Computing Center, and the University Libraries.

REDL PINKERTON PROFESSOR AT UNIVERSITY CENTER

Fritz Redl, whose background training is in psychoanalysis and who was Distinguished Professor of Behavioral Sciences at Wayne State University, has been selected as the Visiting Robert A. Pinkerton Professor for the 1975-76 academic year at the School of Criminal Justice, State University of New York at Albany.

Dr. Redl's professional activities and memberships include The Governor's Commission on Youth and Delinquency, State of Maryland; Advisory Committee, State of Michigan, Department of Mental Health, Lansing, Michigan; Committee on Youth Services, U. S. Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.; Society for Correctional Psychologists; and the American Orthopsychiatric Association.

His teaching experience began in the Vienna Public Schools and includes the University Of Chicago. He founded Pioneer House which was the world's most famous residential treatment center for delinquent youths. The two books describing the Pioneer House program, "Children Who Hate" and "Controls from Within" are widely recognized as classics. Dr. Redl also has been a psychoanalyst in private practice.

The visiting professor will conduct a seminar in the clinical assessment of delinquent behavior during the fall semester and also will be giving several public colloquia.

A grant from The Pinkerton Foundation supports the visiting professorship at the School of Criminal Justice. Under it's terms the school is able to invite a distinguished colleague from off-campus each year to become a full-time faculty member.
