Meets With CSEA

Marshall Pledges Thorough Study On D of E Problem

ALBANY—Despite a ruling by the Court of Appeals that Division of Employment interviewers were not entitled to a new State title of employment counselor, the Civil Service Employees Assn. last week urged the Rockefeller Administration to seek out some positive means by which these employees could receive a salary reallocation.

Governor Rockefeller, who was out of the State last week, was represented at a meeting of CSEA officials and members of the CSEA Special Division of Employment Committee by Alton G. Marshall, his executive officer.

Employees Association representatives pointed out to Marshall that in many cases, employment interviewers had been doing job counseling as part of their duties for some 18 years. It was for this reason, CSEA said, that they had filed suit to gain the new title of employment counselor for these D of E workers.

Two lower courts upheld the CSEA contention but their rulings were upset by the State's higher court.

In the session last week, an extensive report on the career and morale problems of these particular State employees was presented in detail to Marshall and the Rockefeller Administration was urged to find some new means to solve the dead end situation facing these workers in terms of adequate compensation for the duties they perform. Essentially, the Employees Association stressed the point that the work of employment interviewers has changed radically over the years and insisted that this title have a proper and thorough examination with a salary reallocation as the final action.

Marshall declared that the Administration was equally anxious

Major CSEA Bills Still Need Approval

At Leader press time, major legislation sponsored by the Civil Service Employees Assn. was still awaiting approval of Governor Rockefeller. A reliable source reports that these measures would receive action early, however.

Among the most important bills to be signed or vetoed are one which would provide members of the State Retirement System with a 1/60th, guaranteed half pay pension after 30 years' service and another which would give all State employees a $2,000 death benefit upon retirement.

Action by Governor Rockefeller on these and other measures will appear in next week's edition of The Leader.

Feily Urges Special C.S. Commission Meet On Reallocation

ALBANY—Joseph F. Feily, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn. has urgently requested the State Civil Service Commission to schedule a special meeting as soon as possible to reach a long-postponed decision on the Association's salary reallocation appeals for State power plant employees.

The request was an immediate follow-up to the Commission's failure to take expected action in the matter at last week's regular meeting.

According to Feily, the Commission informed CSEA last May that the Division of Classification and Compensation was currently engaged in a survey of all power plant positions, the results of which would be available for the

Nassau CSEA Objects To New Grades and Salaries Set For County Employees

The reclassification report by Cresap, McCormick and Paget for Nassau County employees has been completed. Last week all department heads received copies of the new recommended salaries for each title; the grade number and the amount of each increment.

Irving Flaumenbaum, president of Nassau chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., reported that the chapter received a preliminary report of the new salary structure in the early part of June. An immediate study of this report was instituted by the chapter and as a result, a letter was sent J. Ward Wright, deputy county executive, outlining some of the objections Nassau chapter had to this report.

The first objection was the salary schedule for nurses. Strenuous objection was raised to the scale allotted by Cresap, McCormick and Paget in the original draft of the report. As a result of this letter, CSEA was advised by Wright in a letter that adjustments had been made in the nursing salaries, which adjustments were reflected in the amended draft of the salary report that was made public last week.

Too Many Downgraded

Another objection raised in a letter of June 8th, was the lumping together of clerks grade 3 through 10 into the new title of Clerk II. It was the feeling of a chapter committee, that the salary range in this title was insufficient and that too many people were downgraded. Wright, in a letter of June 28, informed CSEA that the salaries in the Clerk II title will be reconsidered at a later date. Nassau chapter is maintaining a close watch of this situation until such time as the problem is resolved to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Pension-Eligible State Aides Warned To Wait Until Effective Date Of Two Pending Bills

ALBANY—A special bulletin has been sent out from Civil Service Employees Assn. headquarters to all State division chapters alerting members about to retire in the very near future to the effective dates of two bills awaiting imminent approval by the Governor.

Purpose of the bulletin is to insure that employees plan their retirement dates so as to take full advantage of the substantially increased retirement benefits for which they become eligible, if and when the governor signs the measures into law.

The bills in question are the so-called "1/60th Retirement Bill" which would be effective 15 days after being approved; and the "$2,000 Survivor's Benefit" for retired employees with an effective

Dems' Feuding Seen Reviving Search For New Face For Ticket

Commissioner of Public Events

'Bud' Palmer Fights Tape - Ticker & Red - To Improve City Image

By PAUL KYER

The Mayor of New York no longer will pass out keys to the city to visiting dignitaries and ticker tape parades down Broadway will be fewer, but there's no need to fear that the town is going to ignore a gala event or an outstanding figure in the news when the proper tribute is required.

Keys to the city have been replaced by a handsome photo engraving of an early 19th century view of City Hall framed in green leather.

The ticker tape parades have been reduced for a number of reasons. First of all, they don't throw tape the way they used to because so many new buildings along Broadway are permanently sealed to retain the effects of air conditioning. Second, too many parades take away the edge of excitement and the City is now going to reserve such tributes to really outstanding occasions, such as a reception for the first man on the moon, heads of state and those who accomplish feats that are novel but extraordinary. Third, it costs about $30,000 in manpower, lost time and clean up for each parade and the administration of Mayor John V. Lindsay is strenuously avoiding throwing away money these days.

The man who deals with such weighty problems - and when dealing with celebrities, heads of state, important public figures and local New Yorkers with highly sensitive feelings about their own importance they become weighty problems-is an amiable, 6-foot, 6-inch former All American basketball star and television sports announcer named John S. Palmer and known as "Bud" Palmer within seconds after meeting him.

Cutting Red Tape

As Commissioner of Public Events, Palmer has not so much concerned himself with eliminating ticker tape as he has red tape. As the City's chief protocol officer, he is definitely master of ceremonies, arranger of events and all that. But Palmer has tried to enlarge the scope of his duties in order to help bring back to New York many industries-movies in particular-that fled the City because of an excess of red tape in the form of permits, jurisdictional disputes on authority, etc.

"Every department and agency here has a duty to create a better image of New York as a great place in which to work, play and live," Palmer said in an interview recently. "We're working hard to bring the movie industry back here. We've got to do more for our biggest employer-the garment industry. We have to make things easy and simple to the highest degree," he declared.

And one of Palmer's aims, which coincides with that of his boss, the Mayor, is to do things without fuss.

"We Care"

"We want the people of New York to know we care about them and that we care about their problems. We want the people who come to New York to see the City for the warm, friendly, co-operative town it is," he said.

In projecting that image of New York, Lindsay could hardly make a better choice for "Bud" Palmer is a warm, friendly and co-operative man who enjoys his job. He has brought an air of informality to City ceremonies that is dignified without being stuffy. The atmosphere goes with the relaxed, open personality of the athletic Palmer, who at one time was captain of the New York Knickerbockers basketball team and, earlier at Princeton, he also was an All-American in soccer and Lacrosse, as well as basketball.

Like many men on the Lindsay team, "Bud" Palmer is direct and to the point. "When somebody wants to involve the Mayor in a worthwhile ceremony," he said, "I want to know the way to set it up in order to bring the best results for the people involved as well as the Mayor. I find the quickest way to do this is merely to ask "What do you want out of it? Pictures, a story, etc?" We prefer smaller ceremonies where people can actually meet the Mayor. He certainly wants to meet the people and it's hard to do that with large, staged ceremonies in which a lot of speech-making is involved," Palmer said.

The new Commissioner declared that "We still have a lot of things to learn, but we're learning fast. So far we seem to be keeping people happy and that's what we want to continue doing."

When asked why Mayor Lindsay appointed him as Commissioner of Public Events, Palmer replied jokingly that "he wanted someone in the Administration that was taller than he is."

31 New Agencies Join Statewide Plan O'Brien Reveals

William G. O'Brien, Blue Cross-Blue Shield Manager of the Statewide Plan, has announced that 31 new agencies have joined the Statewide Plan in the last three months. They include one county, eight towns, one city, seven villages, six central school districts, two boards of co-operative educational services and six miscellaneous agencies.

"A total of 69 new agencies have joined the Statewide Plan during the first six months of 1966," said O'Brien, "bringing the total number of participating agencies to 169 covering 675,109 employees and dependents."

O'Brien pointed out that the Statewide Plan is designed to meet the specific needs of public service employees, combining hospitalization, surgical and major medical protection in one plan.

"The ever-growing number of public service employees and their dependents who are enjoying the unique protection offered by the Statewide Plan is most gratifying to us here at Blue Cross-Blue Shield," O'Brien concluded.

apart with charges and counter-charges of "bossism" and instead of organizing to win a second term for then Governor Averell Harriman turned the spotlight on their own internal struggles and practically handed the election to a newcomer in State politics, Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Now, to the distress of not only the pros but the rank and file Democrats, the wheeling and dealing accusations made by and against two of the leading contenders for the gubernatorial nomination, City Council President Frank O'Connor and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., are threatening to make history repeat itself.

There is no doubt that the chances of O'Connor and Roosevelt have been hurt seriously in their efforts to win the nomination, although O'Connor's restraint in the feud and his personal popularity with the delegates may yet win him back some of the confidence he may have lost last week. It is also obvious that Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson, who was doing well anyway, is benefiting the most so far from this struggle. Nickerson still has a problem with civil service groups, however, and he must get this straightened out.

What seems even more likely, however, is that the desire of certain, strong Democratic figures to come up with a new face that has no taint of politics in terms of commitments, bossism or what have you, will now gain more impetus. This is underlined by the first and instinctive statements from Sen. Robert F. Kennedy that he was now uncertain whether or not he would endorse any candidate at all. And if the Democrats are going to win this Fall, their candidate absolutely must have the full and enthusiastic support of Kennedy, the State's Number One Democrat.

On Tap

Fortunately for the Democrats, there is a host of untapped, new faces among their ranks, out of which a new candidate could be drawn. Not only are these men to be found in government but business, industry and labor as well. Most of them have been referred to in prior columns and because the list is so long only the briefest of mention can be made here now.

It should be pointed out first that two skilled hands at the game of politics are still in the background and could emerge the winner yet. These are former New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, and, more particularly, Comptroller Arthur Levitt. Neither should be counted out of the race until the last minute.

But among the rank of new faces the Democrats have such bright and strong personalities as Stephen E. Smith, brother-in-law of Senator Kennedy and a strong political and business figure in his own right, who has shown no indication at all of desiring public office but still might be made to run if the arguments were made strong enough.

Another possible candidate is the highly respected president of Cornell University, James A. Perkins, and there is Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, a gubernatorial possibility who draws votes from all political parties and is probably the best speaker on the hustings in the State.

Theodore W. Kheel, the labor expert and mediator, has a solid reputation with both business and labor. If he could be persuaded to run, Bernard Botwin, the distinguished presiding justice of the Appellate Division of the first department of the Supreme Court here, would make an outstanding, prestigious candidate.

One national magazine recently speculated that a dark horse candidate for the Democrats could be Sol Linowitz, the dynamic industrialist and philanthropist who helped make a financial giant out of the Xerox Corp. and whose name is known in the most powerful financial, political and business circles in America.

One of the strongest compromise candidates could be Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia, who assumed his post in Albany as a relatively minor political figure and, in two sessions as Speaker, has grown in the job tremendously.

This is by no means a complete listing of the possibilities available. It does show, however, that aside from the major figures now dominating the scene the Democrats may have among their ranks a new face, a Wendell Wilkie-type personality that could revitalize the image of the party and shake it loose from the picture of a fussin', feudin' group of politicians that are more eager to knock each other off than win an important political campaign.

Before the Democratic primary next month the internecine quarrels may be ended and one of the "Big Four," O'Connor, Nickerson, Roosevelt and Samuels, may yet end up as the strongest contender. Until that time, however, the call for a new face may be so strong that the Democratic nominee for Governor may well be one of the other men mentioned above.

CSEA Continues Protest Of Rating System Used In Supervising Nurse Test

(Special to The Leader)

ALBANY—The Civil Service Employees Assn. has again protested to the State Civil Service Commission preferential ratings based on educational qualifications of candidates on an eligible list resulting from an open competitive examination for supervising nurse (psychiatric) held last June 4.

At a meeting with the Commission last week, CSEA representatives, headed by president Joseph F. Felly, again denounced the practice as unfair to nurses within the State service who passed the examination but who lack the higher educational credits. For many of these successful candidates, the Association pointed out, the additional rating handicap effectively closes the door to any chance for promotion.

CSEA's original protest, well before the examination was given, was triggered by widespread employee concern following release of the examination announcement. This stated that appointments of successful candidates would be made first, from among those having a bachelor's degree in a field appropriate to nursing; next, from those having 30 college hours credit in courses appropriate to nursing, and last, from among candidates who qualified primarily by experience.

In its renewed appeal, CSEA strongly urged that the Commission revoke the announced preferential rating policy and that appointments of successful candidates be made strictly according to their rank on the eligible list.

The Civil Service Commission agreed to reconsider the matter and to inform the Employees Association of their determination at the earliest possible date.

Representing CSEA at the meeting were: Felly; Joseph D. Lochner, executive director; John C. Rice, assistant counsel; William L. Blom, director of research; Julia Duffy, president of Pilgrim chapter and Felice Amodio, president of the Middletown State Hospital chapter.

Civil Service Department representatives included Alexander A. Falk and Orin S. Wilcox, commissioners; William J. Murray, administrative director; and Stanley Kollin, assistant administrative director.

July meeting. On the basis of this correspondence, Felly said, "we informed our members, in good faith, that they could probably expect a decision by the Civil Service Commission sometime in July."

"These appeals have been pending . . . since September 17, 1965 . . . We believe that the Civil Service Commission has held them for an unreasonable length of time and that immediate favorable action is now imperative," Felly added.

Liberalized Leave Credit Regulation Proposed By Civil Service Department

(Special to The Leader)

ALBANY—The Civil Service Employees Assn. has been informed of the anticipated adoption of an amendment to the State Attendance Rules which would make it possible, under certain conditions, for an employee of a State governmental branch not covered by the attendance rules, to take his leave credits with him when he transfers to an agency which is subject to the rules.

CSEA president Joseph F. Felly was notified of the Civil Service Commission's action in a letter from William J. Murray, administrative director of the State Civil Service Department.

According to Felly, the change would allow such arrangements to be set up by reciprocal agreement between the branch not under the Attendance Rules and the president of the State Civil Service Commission, providing the branch not covered is under "Attendance and Leave Regulations which are substantially equivalent" to the State Attendance Rules.

The amendment is specifically intended to benefit employees of the Judicial and Legislative branches, who do not come under the State Attendance Rules and who, heretofore, have had to liquidate or even forfeit accumulated leave credits upon transferring to a covered State agency.

Felly hailed the Commission's action as an important gain, noting that "CSEA has continuously urged uniform treatment of employees in all branches of State government, including Judiciary and Legislative."

The amendment is now before the Governor and would become effective upon his approval.

Dr. Haight Transferred

Guests at the dinner presented Lindner with an equipped aluminum boat, his service revolver, a purse and a plaque.

Lindner was appointed as a game protector on May 1, 1934 and promoted to assistant district game protector in 1942. He was named district game protector in 1944 and promoted to the regional post on April 15, 1946.

He was presented with the Genesee Conservation League's Conservationist of the Year award in 1952. Upon his retirement, he was elected a director of the league, the largest group in the State.

The Employees Association bulletin cautions State employees planning to retire prior to the effective dates of the anticipated new benefits to review their plans and adjust them to their best advantage.

In the case of State employees faced with mandatory retirement before the effective dates of the pending bills, CSEA urges that they request their agency to arrange an extension date.

In the event members encounter difficulty in arranging such extensions, the bulletin suggests they further advice from their chapter president, field representative or CSEA headquarters.

☆ U.S. Service News ☆ More Q. & A. Including 55-30 Retirement Bill

Despite widespread apprehensions of the contrary, the Federal pay raise and benefit liberalization bill which was signed by the President recently did include provisions for a liberal retirement plan for Federal employees who had served the Federal government for thirty years by age fifty-five. The final bill, as was predicted, called for the 55/30 retirement only on a voluntary basis, however. The Administration had requested the right to retire involuntarily any Federal employee whose length of service met those milestones. Such a stipulation was not given very serious consideration by Congress. Further information on features of the 55/30 retirement bill are included in the following series of questions and answers, continued from last week's column, on the nature of the recent retirement benefit liberalization.

Annuity Liberalizations

In what kinds of retirement cases have annuities been liberalized?

In two kinds:

(1) where the employee retires optionally at ages 55 through 59 after at least 30 years of service.

(2) where the employee is under age 60 and is involuntarily separated through no fault of his own (as for reduction in force).

How is the annuity liberalized in case of optional retirement at 55-59?

Formerly, the annuity of such a retiree was reduced by 1/12 of 1 percent for each month (1 percent a year) he was under age 60. This reduction has been eliminated and the full annuity otherwise due will be payable.

How is the annuity liberalized in case of involuntary separation under age 60?

Formerly, the annuity of such a retiree was reduced by 1/12 of 1 percent for each month (1 percent a year) he was under age 60 down to age 55, plus 1/6 of 1 percent for each month (2 percent a year) he was under age 55. The 1/12 of 1 percent reduction for each month under 60 has been eliminated. The full annuity otherwise due will be payable to an employee at ages 55 through 59 who retires because of an involuntary separation. An employee under age 55 who retires for this reason will still have his annuity reduced by 1/6 of 1 percent for each month he is under age 55.

When is elimination of the reduction effective?

There will be no reduction for those employees who retire on or after July 18, 1966.

Does elimination of the reduction apply retroactively to employees who retired before July 18, 1966?

No.

Liberalized Survivor Annuity Rights

How have survivor rights been liberalized?

They have been liberalized in four respects:

1. The requirement that a child receive more than one-half support from his employee-parents has been eliminated.
2. The age to which a student-child may be paid annuity has been increased from 21 to 22.
3. Annuity to a widow (or widower) which formerly stopped when she remarried will continue without interruption if she is at least age 60 when she remarries.
4. Annuity to a widow (or widower) which stopped because of

Bus Operating Authority Offers Driver Positions Paying $3.14 To Start

Bus drivers are being sought by the Manhattan and Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority, a subsidiary of the New York City Transit Authority.

Applications for the qualifying examination, devised by an independent board comprised of three leading educators, must be filed in person between Aug. 8 and Aug. 26, at the MABSTOA Test Center, 51 Dey St., Manhattan, or the MABSTOA Application Annex, 2128 Seventh Ave., Manhattan.

It is expected that the MABSTOA will be "covered into" civil service shortly. Employees working for the Authority on that date will be automatically given civil service status provided that all basic requirements of public employment are met.

The examination was prepared by Dean William H. Mulligan of the Fordham University Law School, Dr. Sidney Madlick, professor of administration, New York University. The test is designed solely to measure an individual's ability to do the job.

The independent examining board was appointed by the Authority to make certain that the hiring system was fair and impartial and based on merit without regard to race, color, creed or other qualities that are not related to ability on the job.

Base hourly pay for bus drivers will be $3.145 as of Jan. 1, 1967, when the first appointments are scheduled to be made. Pay scales provide for increases to $3.73 an hour.

Candidates must be male United States citizens at least 25 years old as of Sept. 1, 1966, and stand a minimum of 5 feet 4 inches. There are no requirements of formal education or experience, but applicants must have had a motor vehicle operator's license for at least two years before Sept. 1, 1966.

The written test will cover a knowledge of traffic rules and regulations in New York City and points of interest in the metropolitan area.

Successful applicants must qualify for a Class 2 chauffeur's license and demonstrate an aptitude as a bus operator by the end of the training period.

In addition to driving a bus, operators must be able to collect fares, care for passengers' safety and make reports regarding revenue, accidents, inoperative and faulty equipment and unusual occurrences.

Although this is not a civil service examination, candidates are bound by the same regulations as those that apply to other public employees.

Candidates who are successful in the written test will be placed on an eligible list. The Authority will appoint from the list one person from the first three persons standing highest on the list for each job. Persons passed over three times will be dropped from the list. All appointments will be for a probationary period of six months. All appointments will be subject to medical approval and a satisfactory background check.

Start Planning Now

STATE offices in New York City are about to be air-conditioned, according to an announcement by General C. V. R. Schuyler, commissioner of the Office of General Services.

The Federal government is awaiting completion of a complex of new buildings in the Foley Square area—all of which will be centrally air conditioned. Federal civil service employees will then be able to enjoy working conditions now offered to practically all white collar employees in private industry.

But we are waiting to hear of air conditioning plans for New York City's 236,000 employees. True, some of the smaller buildings are air conditioned. But what of the two largest structures — the Brooklyn and New York Municipal Buildings. Thousands of employees are assigned to these buildings — the bulk of the City's white collar force. An additional 2,000 are employed at 125 Worth St.—the Health Department Building.

The City has, it must be admitted, started installation of central air conditioning at the Bronx County Building. But this project has been underway for over two years and not yet half completed.

At this rate, unless plans are announced soon, the buildings will be ready for replacement before the modernization is completed.

We urge Mayor Lindsay and the Department of Public Works to start planning now, in order that City employees can enjoy air conditioning with their counterparts in Federal and State service as well as those in private industry as soon as possible.

No. The reduction is permanent. While you get less each month, you will receive it for a much longer period of time.

How much are the premiums for health insurance?

Hospital insurance requires no payment after retirement; supplementary medical insurance premiums are $3 a month beginning July 1966. These payments will be matched by the Federal Government.

Civil Service Law & You

By WILLIAM GOFFEN

(Mr. Goffen, a member of the New York Bar, teaches law at the College of the City of New York, is the author of many books and articles and co-authored "New York Criminal Law.")

Guilty Without — Charges

IN DEFENDING his client on charges of misconduct, the experienced attorney knows that he must object to the introduction of evidence beyond the scope of the charges. The attorney appears at the hearing prepared to meet the charges. He cannot fairly be required to defend charges that have not been alleged. Accordingly, the hearing officer should sustain an objection on behalf of the employee based upon the fact that evidence offered is not included within the charges made.

IT WOULD SEEM to follow that the hearing officer and the Commissioner should exclude from their consideration evidence not encompassed by the charges. Yet, in a three to two division, the First Department recently sustained the Police Commissioner's dismissal of two detectives for corruption, although no such charge had been made against them. The charges actually made were association with a known criminal, having dealings with him, and failure to investigate a complaint of burglary properly.

ACCORDING TO the testimony at the disciplinary hearing, the detectives were assigned to the investigation of a complaint of burglary from the premises of a New York dress house. They met with the complainant and his two partners in the business. The partners stated that it was they who had removed the merchandise, but they had done so only to prevent its seizure by the complainant who had threatened to recoup his investment in the business in that manner. At this point, a known criminal who was present at the meeting insisted that the removal constituted a crime which would result in their imprisonment unless they made a sale of their interest in the business to the complainant at a ridiculously low figure. The petitioners said nothing to dispute the criminal's contentions. The criminal prepared an agreement for the sale which was signed. However, it was voluntarily rescinded when an attorney had been consulted.

THE COMPLAINANT and the criminal testified at the hearing that money was paid to the detectives to assist in arranging the abortive agreement.

THE HEARING officer dismissed the charge of associating with a known criminal because the officers were unaware he was a criminal. This appears, in any event, to be a strange charge, although warranted by police regulations, in that even a police officer should be free to choose his associations. It is only a corrupt association that may reasonably be condemned. In this connection, one is reminded of Mark Twain's burglar. The author's association with him led to his rehabilitation.

THE HEARING officer sustained the remaining charges, strangely including that of dealings with a criminal of whose criminality they were unaware, and recommended a fifteen day suspension without pay.

CONCLUDING THAT the evidence established corruption, former Police Commissioner Michael G. Murphy disregarded his hearing officer's recommendation and dismissed the petitioners.

MR. JUSTICE Aron Steuer, writing the majority opinion, reasoned that the language of the charges did not preclude corruption and that they did encompass the transactions in which the corruption appeared. He stated that the petitioners were therefore not prejudiced in the presentation of their defense.

MR. JUSTICE James B. M. McNally in his dissenting opinion observed that the petitioners were dismissed because of a finding of corruption "although no such charge has been preferred against them, examined into, heard or investigated and there is no substantial evidence to support the finding."

THE JURIST called attention to the petitioners' excellent records. One had received eight citations involving meritorious and excellent police duty and valor. The other had

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

I am a widow, age 50, with an only daughter. I applied to have my daughter's social security benefits start again because she is a junior in college only 20 years old. Before she was 18, I also received a monthly social security check because she was in my care. Will my benefit start again?

No. You received a benefit because you cared for your daughter who was under 18. This part of the law was not changed. However, a change in the law permits you to choose reduced widow's benefits as early as age 60.

Will social security benefits continue to the student during a summer vacation?

Yes. Benefits continue for any period of non-attendance of four months or less as the student returns to school after the non-attendance period.

I am 65 years old and still file an application only for Mediworking. Would you advise me to care at this time?

Since you are 65 and are probably insured for monthly social security benefits, you should file an application for monthly benefits. If your earnings are too high to permit payment of monthly checks, they will be held back until you retire or reduce your earnings. This application will entitle you to health insurance benefits whether or not you work.

I hear that there are two plans under medicare; what are they?

The first is hospital insurance; the second supplementary medical insurance. Hospital insurance offers help with hospital bills, and other services; the supplementary medical insurance helps with doctor bills and other medical expenses.

Assume that I choose to start reduced widows benefits at 60. Will my benefit be raised to the

WHAT'S SO SPECIAL ABOUT H.I.P.'S "SPECIAL SERVICES"?

At H.I.P. there's a department known as "Special Services." It provides perhaps the most dramatic service ever conceived in a medical insurance plan. It demonstrates H.I.P.'s unique ability to bring to its members the newest life-saving discoveries and techniques in surgery and medicine. And without cost to H.I.P. members!

Illnesses that were once fatal or incurable are cured today by "miracle" surgery and other unusual and delicate procedures performed by physicians with special skills. The fees of these super-specialists ordinarily run to thousands of dollars. But their services are provided for H.I.P. members without charge. "Special Services" takes care of the bill.

Here are some of the difficult and expensive procedures fully covered in H.I.P.:

- Open-heart surgery
- Cold-knife surgery for brain tumors and Parkinson's Disease
- Surgical repair of detached retina of the eye
- Delicate inner ear surgery
- Multi-million-volt radiation therapy for cancer
- Resection of aortic aneurism (ballooning of artery) and replacement by artificial tube
- Newer forms of lung surgery
- Exchange of blood for RH factor in infants
- Cobalt radiation treatment for cancer
- Radio-isotopes for diagnosis and treatment of thyroid and other conditions

"Special Services" represents another level of medical care — another level of protection for H.I.P. members.

Why sweat?

The Mobilair® 5000. 59 pounds of Westinghouse air conditioning in a compact unit that cools rooms 12 x 16 or smaller, cools them all over.

Carry one home — it plugs in like a lamp into any adequately wired circuit. Fits any window 19 1/8" to 42" wide. Got another room in the house that's roasting? Why not two? Whether you carry home one or two or more, each Mobilair carries a 5-year replacement guarantee: if the hermetically sealed refrigeration system should fail within 5 years, your Westinghouse dealer will replace the entire unit.

Honestly now, why sweat?

You can be sure... if it's Westinghouse

Your Public Relations IQ

By LEO J. MARGOLIN

Mr. Margolin is Professor of Business Administration at the Borough of Manhattan Community College and Adjunct Professor of Public Administration in New York University's Graduate School of Public Administration.

The Effect Of Computers

ONE OF THE first things that the civil service corps should learn about computers is that you can't automate your personal public relations and therefore the public relations of civil service.

EVERY CIVIL servant should know about computers—at the very least, what they do, how they do it, and how computers may help in the task of making government more efficient. After all, government invented computers—ENIAC, produced by the War Dept. and the University of Pennsylvania in 1946 to solve problems in ballistic research.

AND IT WAS government which installed the first commercial computer—UNIVAC I. This monster ran for 73,000 hours during 12 years before being retired in 1963 to the Smithsonian Institution.

TODAY 22 agencies of the Federal Government have automated personnel systems covering 1,500,000 employees. Chairman John W. Macy, Jr. of the U.S. Civil Service System reports that systems covering an additional 500,000 are being developed.

WITHOUT QUESTION revolutionary changes are being wrought in government by computers. Most of these changes are in the area of record-keeping. For example, there is hardly a government entity of any size that has not automated its payroll.

BUT AS THE use of automated data processing becomes more widespread in government, what direct effect is there on the individual civil servant?

CHAIRMAN MACY insists that use of computers is all to the good and augurs well for the civil servant now and in the future. We are inclined to agree with him that there should be no fear "that computers will de-emphasize humanity."

"FAR FROM it!" Mr. Macy says. "By removing the clerical decisions and the mass of paperwork details the computer may well free the mind of man for more worthy use."

"ALREADY IT has heightened the need for imaginative and innovative managers who can grasp ideas, think in broad, philosophical terms, and apply such terms in decisions relating to public welfare.

"IT HAS forced a finer degree of quantitative precision in executive judgment. It has liberated the manager to give his mind the greater scope of creativity. Rather than degrading the worth of the human being, the computer has placed a premium on man at his best."

CHAIRMAN MACY is right. With automation taking over more and more of the clerical drudgery, the civil servant can now concentrate on using his ingenuity, his imagination, and his skills at face-to-face contact with the public he serves.

IN OTHER WORDS, he can concentrate on achieving the outstanding performance which is so indispensable to good public relations. Equally important is the more time automation affords him in communicating this outstanding performance where it will do the most good.

WE HAVE MET all too many civil servants who have told us they didn't have the time to worry about public relations because they just about had sufficient time to complete their workload. Thus, public relations to them became a time-waster instead of a valuable tool to do their jobs better.

AUTOMATION eliminates that excuse. The civil servant who fails to take advantage of the new opportunity to enhance his public relations and the public relations of the civil service corps, is not being fair to himself or to his colleagues in civil service.

her remarriage before age 60 may be restored if the remarriage ends.

Elimination of One-Half Support Requirements

What is the main effect of eliminating the one-half support requirement?

It permits the children of a woman Federal employee to qualify for survivor annuity even though her husband was the main support of the children. Of course, if the husband is the employee and the wife provided the main support, the children could qualify for annuity if the father died. Formerly, if the employee-parent contributed less than half the support of the children, they could not qualify for annuity.

When is elimination of the one-half support requirement effective?

It applies to the children of employees who die on or after July 18, 1966.

Is the one-half support requirement eliminated for children of annuitants?

Yes, but only for children of those annuitants who retire after July 18, 1966.

Age of Student-Children Raised From 21 to 22

Are all children who are students and who are under age 22 eligible for survivor annuity?

Yes. The age liberalization applies to any unmarried student-child of an employee who died, or of an annuitant who retired and died, on or after February 28, 1948.

If a child's annuity stopped at age 21, can it be restored?

Yes. If the child is still a student and has not yet reached age 22, his annuity can be restored as of July 18, 1966.

If a child's annuity stopped at age 18 because he was not a student at that time, can it be restored?

Yes. If the child is now a student and has not yet reached age 22, his annuity can be restored as of July 18, 1966.

If a child's annuity stopped between ages 18 and 21 because he was no longer a student, can it be restored?

Yes. If the child is now a student and has not yet reached age 22, his annuity can be restored as of July 18, 1966.

What if the child never received a survivor annuity because he was over 18 when his parent died and he was not then a student?

If the child is now a student and has not yet reached age 22, he can begin to receive annuity as of July 18, 1966.

If a student-child drops out of school and his annuity is stopped, can it be restored if he later returns to school?

Yes, if he is still under age 22 when he returns to school.

Must an application be made to have a student-child's annuity restored?

Yes. Inquiry should be made of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Bureau of Retirement and Insurance, Washington, D.C. 20415.

Does a student-child's annuity stop when he reaches age 22?

Yes. However, if he reaches age 22 during the school year (Sept. 1 through June 30), his annuity will continue to the end of the school year.

Does a student-child's annuity continue during school vacations?

Yes. The annuity can continue for as long as five months between school years or terms.

Continuance of Widow's Annuity After Remarriage

Under the new law, how does a widow's (or widower's) remarriage affect her survivor annuity?

If the widow (or widower) is under age 60 when she remarries, her survivor annuity stops. However, if she remarries at any time after her 60th birthday, her annuity will continue without interruption.

When does this provision of the new law become effective?

On July 18, 1966. It applies to widows (and widowers) of employees who die on or after this date. It also applies to widows (and widowers) of annuitants who retire on or after July 18, 1966.

Does this new provision apply to widows (or widowers) who are receiving survivor annuities which began July 18, 1966?

No, nor does it apply to future widows (or widowers) of annuitants who retired before July 18, 1966.

Restoration of Widow's Annuity After Termination of Remarriage

Suppose a widow (or widower) remarries before age 60 and her annuity stops. Can it be restored if her marriage terminates?

Yes. When the remarriage ends (because of death, divorce, or annulment), the annuity could be restored.

If a lump-sum benefit was paid when the survivor annuity stopped, would it have to be paid back?

Yes. The widow (or widower) would have to refund the lump-sum benefit before her annuity could be restored, regardless of whether she or someone else had received the lump sum.

Suppose a widow (or widower) was remarried to another Federal employee or annuitant and then he died. Would she be entitled to have her old annuity restored as well as a new survivor annuity?

No. However, she could choose between the old and new annuity, whichever was to her advantage.

When does this provision of the new law become effective?

On July 18, 1966. It applies to widows (and widowers) of employees who die on or after this date. It also applies to widows (and widowers) of annuitants who retire on or after July 18, 1966.

Does this new provision apply to widows (or widowers) whose survivor annuities stopped because they remarried before July 18, 1966?

No.

Increase in Annuities To Certain Survivors

Which survivor annuities will be increased?

The annuity of the widow (or widower) of an employee who died before October 11, 1962. Also, the annuity of the widow (or widower) of an annuitant whose retirement was based on a separation from the service before October 11, 1962, will be increased.

Do surviving children of such employees and annuitants get an increase?

No. The increase is only for

Many Jobs With NYS For Stenos, Typists, Key Punch

The New York State Employment Service has announced continuous filing for examinations for stenographers, typists and key punch operators. Positions are available in many parts of the State, with some located in New York City.

Starting salary for the stenographers is $3,810 per annum with five annual increments to a maximum of $4,755. Typists and key punch operators will receive a starting annual salary of $3,635 with annual increases to $4,535.

Examinations for these positions are given regularly at offices of the State Employment Service. In New York City, the office to contact for the exam is at 575 Lexington Avenue, Manhattan, except for the key punch operator. That test is given by the State Civil Service Commission and that agency should be contacted for the time and place of that exam.

There are no education or experience requirements for these exams. However, candidates will have to pass a spelling and vocabulary test and a practical test in typing, stenography or key punch machine operation, whichever one applies to your position.

For further information contact the State Department of Civil Service, the State Campus, Albany, or the State Office Buildings in New York City, Buffalo and Syracuse, or any local office of the State Employment Service.

widows (and widowers).

How much will this increase be?

received four citations of a similar nature. The former Police Commissioner, however, was satisfied with the evidence established that the petitioners had received $2,000 as partial payment for assisting the complainant. Even assuming that there was substantial evidence to justify this conclusion, would not due process require that it be used as the basis for new charges against which the petitioners would unquestionably have fair and full opportunity to defend themselves?

CERTAINLY, THEY should not have been found guilty of corruption based in a charge dealing with a criminal of whose criminality they were unaware.

Nassau Chapter Fights New Reclassifications

Still another very serious objection raised by the chapter was that employees who were downgraded were stopped in their salary at that point where their salary reached the highest amount in the new grade they received. This amounted to, in many cases, a drastic reduction in income for some employees. The objection to this problem was very strenuous. Nassau chapter expressed the feeling that those employees whose positions are affected, should be permitted to go to the top of their present grade. Then, the only persons to be affected by the new salary scales, where there is a down-grading, would be newcomers to county service and not the incumbents.

In his letter of June 28th, Wright informed CSEA that the resolution of this objection would be up to the County Executive and the Board of Supervisors. Flaumenbaum then sent a letter to County Executive Nickerson and Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Ralph Caso, with copies to all other members of the Board of Supervisors on July 28th. In this letter, these same objections were raised and the chapter stated its wish to be represented at all discussions of the reclassification before its final adoption.

Called Unfair

The position of the chapter relative to the down-grading of Nassau County employees is that it is eminently unfair. When an employee was appointed from a list to a permanent position with a stated salary scale, the chapter feels that this is tantamount to an oral contract and should be so honored by County officials.

There are many questions to be raised relative to this report especially regarding longevity; the new step the employees will be put in upon the installation of this plan and many other problems which will have to be resolved before this plan can be fully acceptable to the Nassau chapter. Flaumenbaum asked that all employees who feel that the plan has been unfair to them, to send a letter to the Board of Supervisors and a copy to CSEA telling of the circumstances that support their claim. Flaumenbaum assured all employees that Nassau chapter will continue its study of the plan and will raise all necessary objections as they appear.

"There will be no white-wash or willy-nilly acceptance of this plan until all objections are ironed out," he said.
