

Trackmen Thwarted In Tourneys

by Paul Schwartz

The Albany State track and field team participated in two tournaments over the past week, and came out with mixed results.

On Saturday, the squad placed eighth out of 19 teams in the Union Invitational. A week earlier, the team put together a fine showing in the Capital District Tournament, finishing in second place.

Albany met up with some tough competition in the Union Invitational, and placing high in any event was a challenge. The Danes did manage to come away with a few victories, primarily due to the excellence of Bill Mathis.

The fleet sophomore set a school indoor record in the mile run in 4:16.5, breaking the old record by more than one second. This gaudy time was only good enough for third place in the event, proving the quality of the other participants.

Mathis' heroism did not end with the mile run. The team of Steve Kaplan, Erik Shultz, Mathis, and Sean Reilly blazed through the distance medley relay.

Reilly crossed the finish line yards ahead of any other runner, giving the Danes their solo first place in the meet. The relay time of 10:26.8 set a school and fieldhouse record at Union, bettering by nearly four seconds the mark set last year by the Danes.

Leading Albany in the relay was

Mathis, who clocked in at 3:06 in the three-fourths mile leg.

"He ran a great three-fourths," stated Albany coach Robert Munsey. "His time was extremely fast, and that was where we broke the race open."

The most frustrating event of the meet for Albany was the long jump. Don Dross led the competition throughout the entire event, but was outdistanced by an RPI jumper on his last attempt. Dross was beaten by three-quarters of an inch, but held on to capture second place for the Danes.

Union placed first in their host meet, with Plattsburgh and RPI finishing in the second and third spots, respectively. Albany's eighth-place finish was very close to being much higher. The Danes 27 points was just six points behind fifth-place Cortland.

Two key injuries hurt the Danes' chances of finishing in a higher spot. Jimmy Pollard turned his ankle in the trials, and had to be scratched in the high hurdles.

"Pollard's our scorer in the high hurdles," commented Munsey. "I think he would have come in first or second, and right there we would have moved up a few places in the meet."

Also not 100 percent was Dross, who was performing on an injured foot. Coach Munsey was forced to withdraw Dross from the 600-yard dash, an event which he excels in. "Having Dross in the 600 would have relieved everybody," said Munsey. "We could have used some other runners in events which they are stronger."

A week ago Saturday the Danes placed second in the five-school Capital District Tournament. Albany finished with more first places than any other team, but was outrun by RPI 93-68, with Union placing third with 55 points.

Although the Danes had numerous first places, they did not have many exceptional times or distances. Of exception was the 1:16.5 Dross totaled in the 600-yard dash. A notable performance in the mile relay of 3:31 was the only other impressive time for Albany.

In the long jump, Dross came through with an unspectacular distance of 22.175, good enough for the victory. Dross now has five first-places in seven meets in the long jump, establishing him as one of the main contributors to the team this season.

The principle reason for the Danes' success might not have been the participants for Albany, but the runners who did not participate for Union. Two national class Union runners, Bob Moffat and Kevin Scheuer, were entered in another tournament, benefitting the Albany cause greatly.

continued on page nineteen

The Albany State indoor track and field team finished in second and eighth places in two tourneys over the past week.

Three Albany Grapplers Compete In Nationals

by Ken Kurtz

Three Albany State wrestlers recently travelled to Wheaton, Illinois for the NCAA Div. III National Championships.

At 118, Steve Zucker received a bye in the first round of the 64-man bracket. In his next match, Zucker suffered a 6-3 loss to Schuler of Wartburg, and was eliminated from the competition. Zucker's season record was 10-9, including a sixth-place finish in the New York State Championships.

At 158, Albany Captain Rick Porter also gained a bye in the first round of competition. In the next round, Porter decisively defeated Husak of Coe College (Iowa), 19-5.

In the third round, Porter took a 9-8 decision over Martello of Montclair College, and advanced to the quarter finals. In this round, Porter ran into the defending 158 champion, Mitch Brown. Porter lost a 13-4 decision to Brown, but went on to the consolation bracket.

Porter lost a 3-2 decision to De Matteis of Dubock College (Iowa). "Rick hurt his right shoulder in the first round but hung on to finish the match anyway," stated Albany Coach Joe Garcia. Porter's overall record was 17-7-1, including a sixth-place SUNYAC finish.

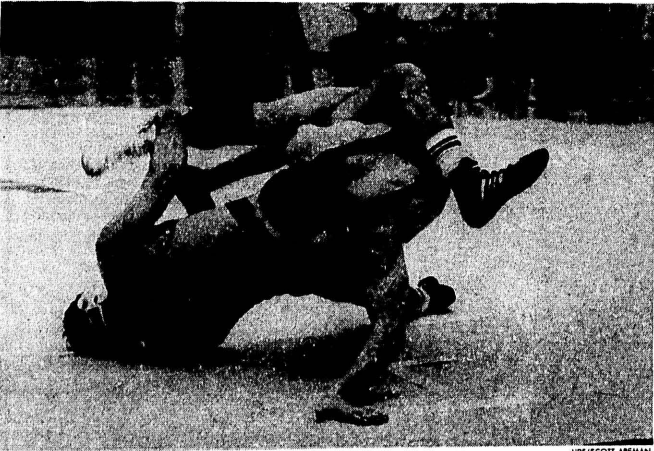

Jim Morrill (190) received a bye in the first round. In the second round, Morrill beat Adams of Pomona College (Calif.), 9-7. Advancing to the third round, Morrill lost a 9-3 decision to Shippee of St. Lawrence. On the year, Morrill was 10-7, including a fourth place finish in the States.

Four SUNY schools finished in the top ten in the National Tournament, and the University of Buffalo won it with 95 1/2 points. Albany competed against five of the top ten teams in the Nationals, an indication of the quality of Albany's scheduling.

Rules Changed
The NCAA has changed the rules for qualifying for next year's tournament, but the top four finishers in the SUNYAC will still receive automatic bids. The SUNYAC is one of five conferences honored with automatic bids to the Nationals for the place winners in the conference championships.

"Our kids did a good job this year, especially Rick Porter," said Garcia. "He was a great captain and leader. Our biggest problem this year was depth, as we lost wrestlers due to injuries and personal problems. "We've done a lot of recruiting for next year, and a fifth-place winner in the H.S. states last year, Paul Hornbach, will be wrestling for us next year after transferring from Indiana," concluded Garcia.

Three Albany wrestlers competed in the recent Division III Nationals in Illinois. Dane captain Rick Porter reached the quarterfinals, concluding a successful season. His overall record was 17-7-1.

Spikers Ousted In Semi-finals

by Evan Fortlinsky

"On the whole it was a very positive day," said Albany State men's volleyball coach Ted Earl.

The Danes played in their first Open Tournament in their history at New Paltz last Saturday and lost in the semi-finals to Drexel University. Drexel, who won the tournament, demolished Livingston College in the finals.

This tournament had a round-robin system. Ten teams were divided into two groups and the best squads in each group competed in the semi-finals. All the matches were two games of 15 points; the team with the most total points won.

In their first match, the Danes defeated Maritime College 16-4, 15-6. Immediately afterwards, the Danes lost on total points to Livingston College 10-15, 16-14.

Long Layoff
Unfortunately for the Danes, they had to wait two and one half hours to play their next opponent. Playing against Queens College, the Danes combined a winning effort 13-15, 15-18. This win gave Albany a chance to play in the semi-finals.

After another long layoff, the Danes played very poorly against Drexel University in the semi-finals, never able to run their offense. With little hope left, Albany was eventually eliminated from the tournament 15-1, 15-6.

Individual credit is given to Danes' players Dwight Buck, Herve Guiteau, and Fred Askham. Buck's play was the most consistent for the team. He hit numerous spikes that the opposition was unable to return.

Season Record
Including one forfeit the Danes record for the day was 3-2. Their season's record is now 11-6. Their next matches are tonight with Nyack and Cortland at University Gym at 7:00 p.m.

Pictured in action from a recent Albany State men's volleyball game. The spikers lost Saturday in the semi-finals in an open tournament.

Office Moves Create Dorm Space

by Steve Brackett

A series of academic office shufflings will open up six more floors of Mohawk Tower on Indian Quad for dormitory space this fall.

Acting SUNYA President Vincent O'Leary has ordered the renovation of one-half of the School of Library and Information Science facilities, located under the main library, to accommodate the Graduate School of Public Administration. GSPA is moving out of Mohawk tower.

The move began over the Easter recess and is expected to be completed by the end of May. According to O'Leary, GSPA and SLIS will share the space until the summer of 1979, when SLIS will move to the downtown Draper campus.

O'Leary said that as a result of the move, 140 additional beds will be available in Mohawk Tower this fall.

According to Former Director of Residences John Welty, who is temporarily serving as Acting Associate Dean for Student Affairs, the new Mohawk rooms will be included in the housing sign-up scheduled to begin April 10.

Welty said the office space in the tower would be converted to dormitory space this summer.

A group of SLIS students objected to the move, and said students were not informed of the move until two or three days before it began.

Sarah Honig, one of the students, said she was concerned that LSIS materials which are being temporarily housed in the main library may be difficult to retrieve when the school moves downtown.

Growing Demands
The move is part of a plan calling for the transfer of academic and administrative groups to the downtown campus in order to meet the residency demands of a growing student population, according to Dennis Stevens, Chair of a special space committee dealing with the problem.

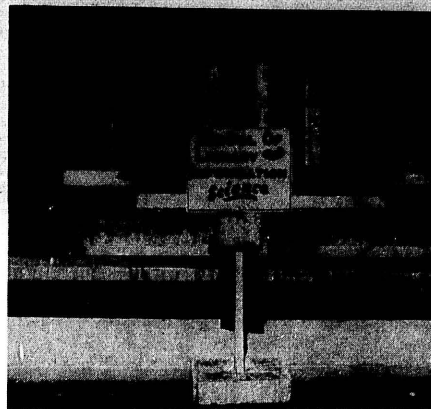

O'Leary is still trying to find room for the School of Criminal Justice and the School of Social Welfare, which occupy the remaining six floors of Mohawk Tower. According to O'Leary, they will be relocated after a selection of academic or administrative groups are moved downtown with SLIS.

Stevens explained that, with no new building construction planned, it was decided last year that in order to move the academic offices out of Mohawk Tower, it would be necessary to relocate some academic or administrative offices downtown.

However, according to O'Leary, when it was decided that the SLIS would be one of the academic groups to go downtown, "it became clear that by moving their private library to the other side of their facility, we could convert space for GSPA right now."

"Moving is a necessary but unpleasant experience," said GSPA Dean Orville Poland. He said that the move will cut the school's usable office space by one-third until SLIS moves downtown.

The School of Library and Information Science, which is located under the main library, has been asked to give up office space.

Youths Burglarize Record Co-op

by Seth Tilles

An attempt at burglarizing the SA Record Co-op over the Easter recess was foiled by officers of the SUNYA Department of Public Safety. Two Albany youths have been arrested and charged in connection with the incident.

Over $500 worth of goods was confiscated from the youths, who were apprehended by Public Safety Officer Jim Reidy Sunday as they were attempting to flee the campus. The Record Co-op will be closed at least until Apr. 5 because the goods, which constitute a large part of the co-op's stock, are being held as evidence.

The names of the youths, aged 13 and 16, have been withheld because of their ages.

The youths were seen by Reidy while he was on patrol. Both carried large bags, and ran when they saw Reidy's patrol car. The goods, which included records, bongos, and pipes, were abandoned in the flight.

The older of the two was captured on Fuller Road after a chase, and the younger was picked up a short time later near his home.

The method the two youths used to gain entry into the Campus Center, where the Co-op is located, is still unknown. The building was locked on the Friday night before the burglary, according to Acting Campus Center Director Jim Doellefeld. There were no apparent signs of forced entry.

After the youths got into the Campus Center they broke into the Record Co-op by punching a hole in the wall with a piece of metal, according to Reidy. He said they took turns passing the goods through the hole and then packed their haul into two large plastic bags.

Record Co-op Vice-Chair Kenny Friedman said that the head shop, a part of the Record Co-op's business, will remain closed for the remainder of the semester.

The younger youth has been released to the custody of his parents and will appear in family court later this week. The older youth has been released on $5000 bail after being charged with burglary, criminal possession of stolen property, and criminal possession of a deadly weapon. A switch blade was found on him when he was arrested.

In a related incident, an attempted burglary of the Record Co-op earlier in the week was prevented by Assistant Campus Center Director Scott Birge. After closing the co-op, continued on page four

Presidential List To Be Released

by Matthew Cox

The SUNYA Presidential Search has narrowed to about a half dozen candidates, some of whom may be issued invitations for visits at a meeting of the Presidential Search Committee this afternoon.

Presidential Search Committee Executive Secretary Sorrell Chesin said the release of a final list of candidates is imminent.

Acting Queens College President Nathaniel Siegel, whose name at one point was being considered, said he has had no contact with the committee. Chesin said the committee has corresponded with all the candidates it is actively considering.

Final meetings with the candidates will probably be opened to the SUNYA community, Chesin said. The search process up to this point, and all of the more than 200 names considered, has been kept confidential.

[This open hearings] is what search committees have done in the past, and I'd be surprised if they didn't follow that procedure again," Chesin said.

Search Committee Chair J. Vanderbilt Straub was unavailable for comment.

The Committee met Mar. 17 and identified six or seven particularly strong candidates from among the 12 it had already narrowed down to, Chesin said.

"We'll continue now on the details of identifying those half dozen at our next meeting," Chesin said. That meeting is scheduled to be held today, he said.

"Once we extend the invitations to visit, the candidates names become public knowledge," Chesin said.

The SUNYA Presidential Search Committee was formed to find a permanent successor to Emmett Fields, who left SUNYA over the summer to assume the Presidency of Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee.

Acting SUNYA President Vincent O'Leary has said he did not submit his name for consideration, but Search Committee members have confirmed last month that his name was among the 35 candidates then being considered.

Straub and Chesin have since refused comment on whether O'Leary is being considered.

O'Leary was Dean of the SUNYA School of Criminal Justice when he was named to replace Fields.

The Presidential Search

Committee, which includes faculty and students as members, has been meeting every other week throughout the academic year, according to Chesin.

Chesin said he could give no firm estimate on when the committee would complete its work.

The search has been conducted nation-wide; advertisements in national education periodicals were placed earlier in the year while applications were still being gathered.

INDEX
ASpects	1a-8a
Classified	14
Columns	10, 13
Comics	8a
Editorial	11
Letters	10-11
Movie Timetable	8a
News	1-7
Newsbriefs	2
Preview	15
Puzzle	17-20
Sports	8a
Zodiac News	9
Death Penalty	see page 3

Trackmen Thwarted In Tourneys

by Paul Schwartz

The Albany State track and field team participated in two tournaments over the past week, and came out with mixed results.

On Saturday, the squad placed eighth out of 19 teams in the Union Invitational. A week earlier, the team put together a fine showing in the Capital District Tournament, finishing in second place.

Albany met up with some tough competition in the Union Invitational, and placing high in any event was a challenge. The Danes did manage to come away with a few victories, primarily due to the excellence of Bill Mathis.

The fleet sophomore set a school indoor record in the mile run in 4:16.5, breaking the old record by more than one second. This gaudy time was only good enough for third place in the event, proving the quality of the other participants.

Mathis' heroism did not end with the mile run. The team of Steve Kaplan, Erik Shultz, Mathis, and Sean Reilly blazed through the distance medley relay.

Reilly crossed the finish line yards ahead of any other runner, giving the Danes their solo first place in the meet. The relay time of 10:26.8 set a school and fieldhouse record at Union, bettering by nearly four seconds the mark set last year by the Danes.

Leading Albany in the relay was

Mathis, who clocked in at 3:06 in the three-fourths mile leg.

"He ran a great three-fourths," stated Albany coach Robert Munsey. "His time was extremely fast, and that was where we broke the race open."

The most frustrating event of the meet for Albany was the long jump. Don Dross led the competition throughout the entire event, but was outdistanced by an RPI jumper on his last attempt. Dross was beaten by three-quarters of an inch, but held on to capture second place for the Danes.

Union placed first in their host meet, with Plattsburgh and RPI finishing in the second and third spots, respectively. Albany's eighth-place finish was very close to being much higher. The Danes 27 points was just six points behind fifth-place Cortland.

Two key injuries hurt the Danes' chances of finishing in a higher spot. Jimmy Pollard turned his ankle in the trials, and had to be scratched in the high hurdles.

"Pollard's our scorer in the high hurdles," commented Munsey. "I think he would have come in first or second, and right there we would have moved up a few places in the meet."

Also not 100 percent was Dross, who was performing on an injured foot. Coach Munsey was forced to withdraw Dross from the 600-yard dash, an event which he excels in.

"Having Dross in the 600 would have relieved everybody," said Munsey. "We could have used some other runners in events which they are stronger."

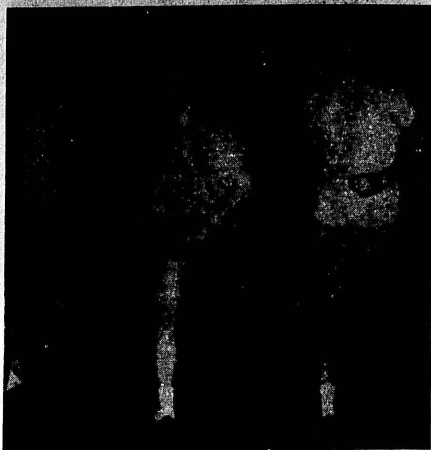

A week ago Saturday the Danes placed second in the five-school Capital District Tournament. Albany finished with more first places than any other team, but was outrun by RPI 93-68, with Union placing third with 55 points.

Although the Danes had numerous first places, they did not have many exceptional times or distances. Of exception was the 1:16.5 Dross totaled in the 600-yard dash. A notable performance in the mile relay of 3:31 was the only other impressive time for Albany.

In the long jump, Dross came through with an unspectacular distance of 22.175, good enough for the victory. Dross now has five first-places in seven meets in the long jump, establishing him as one of the main contributors to the team this season.

The principle reason for the Danes' success might not have been the participants for Albany, but the runners who did not participate for Union. Two national class Union runners, Bob Moffat and Kevin Scheuer, were entered in another tournament, benefitting the Albany cause greatly.

continued on page nineteen

The Albany State indoor track and field team finished in second and eighth places in two tourneys over the past week.

Three Albany Grapplers Compete In Nationals

by Ken Kurtz

Three Albany State wrestlers recently travelled to Wheaton, Illinois for the NCAA Div. III National Championships.

At 118, Steve Zucker received a bye in the first round of the 64-man bracket. In his next match, Zucker suffered a 6-3 loss to Schuller of Wartburg, and was eliminated from the competition. Zucker's season record was 10-9, including a sixth-place finish in the New York State Championships.

At 158, Albany Captain Rick Porter also gained a bye in the first round of competition. In the next round, Porter decisively Husak of Coe College (Iowa), 19-5.

In the third round, Porter took a 9-8 decision over Martello of Montclair College, and advanced to the quarter finals. In this round, Porter ran into the defending 158 champion, Mitch Brown. Porter lost a 13-4 decision to Brown, but went on to the consolation bracket.

Porter lost a 3-2 decision to De Matteis of Duboek College (Iowa). "Rick hurt his right shoulder in the first round but hung on to finish the match anyway," stated Albany Coach Joe Garcia. Porter's overall record was 17-7-1, including a sixth-place SUNYAC finish.

Jim Morrill (190) received a bye in the first round. In the second round, Morrill beat Adams of Pomona College (Calif.), 9-7. Advancing to the third round, Morrill lost a 9-3 decision to Shippee of St. Lawrence. On the year, Morrill was 10-7, including a fourth place finish in the States.

Four SUNY schools finished in the top ten in the National Tournament, and the University of Buffalo won it with 95 1/2 points. Albany competed against five of the top ten teams in the Nationals, an indication of the quality of Albany's scheduling.

Rules Changed

The NCAA has changed the rules for qualifying for next year's tournament, but the top four finishers in the SUNYAC will still receive automatic bids. The SUNYAC is one of five conferences honored with automatic bids to the Nationals for the place winners in the conference championships.

"Our kids did a good job this year, especially Rick Porter," said Garcia. "He was a great captain and leader. Our biggest problem this year was depth, as we lost wrestlers due to injuries and personal problems."

"We've done a lot of recruiting for next year, and a fifth-place winner in the H.S. states last year, Paul Hornbach, will be wrestling for us next year after transferring from Indiana," concluded Garcia.

UPS/SCOTT AREMAN

Three Albany wrestlers competed in the recent Division III Nationals in Illinois. Dane captain Rick Porter reached the quarterfinals, concluding a successful season. His overall record was 17-7-1.

Spikers Ousted In Semi-finals

by Evan Fortinsky

"On the whole it was a very positive day," said Albany State men's volleyball coach Ted Earl.

The Danes played in their first Open Tournament in their history at New Paltz last Saturday and lost in the semi-finals to Drexel University. Drexel, who won the tournament, demolished Livingston College in the finals.

This tournament had a round-robin system. Ten teams were divided into two groups and the best squads in each group competed in the semi-finals. All the matches were two games of 15 points; the team with the most total points won.

In their first match, the Danes defeated Maritime College 16-4, 15-6. Immediately afterwards, the Danes lost on total points to Livingston College 10-15, 16-14.

Long Layoff

Unfortunately for the Danes, they had to wait two and one half hours to play their next opponent. Playing against Queens College, the Danes combined a winning effort 13-15, 15-18. This win gave Albany a chance to play in the semi-finals.

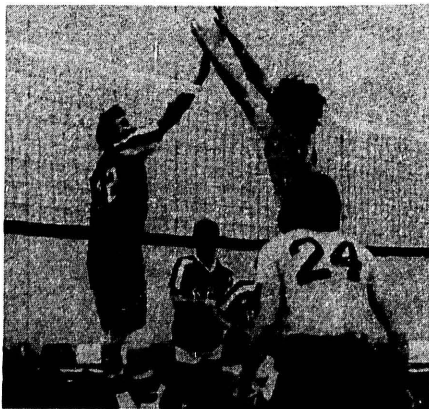

After another long layoff, the Danes played very poorly against Drexel University in the semi-finals, never able to run their offense. With little hope left, Albany was eventually eliminated from the tournament 15-1, 15-6.

Individual credit is given to Danes' players Dwight Buck, Herve Guiteau, and Fred Askham. Buck's play was the most consistent for the team. He hit numerous spikes that the opposition was unable to return.

Season Record

Including one forfeit the Danes record for the day was 3-2. Their season's record is now 11-6. Their next matches are tonight with Nyack and Cortland at University Gym at 7:00 p.m.

UPS/SCOTT AREMAN

Pictured in action from a recent Albany State men's volleyball game. The spikers lost Saturday in the semi-finals in an open tournament.

Kick-in-the-ASP

$1.00

TIME

Man of the Year

Combing the Countryside
For a New SUNYA President

A Letter from the Publisher

Well, it looks like it's Kick-in-the-ASP TIME again. Kick is a TIME-honored tradition at this university and it signals a combination of some of the wittiest, funniest, tastless pieces of bufoonery you will come across each year.

Be it reminded that any relation to anybody living or dead is purely on purpose, for we wouldn't have any fun making fun of people who don't exist. We don't like making fun of dead people either, but in Kick, everybody is fair game.

Read the pages of this magazine with caution. Those who are easily offended sit down, count to ten, and please don't come into our office with a knife in hand. That wouldn't be kosher.

In this issue, we look for our missing president, we miss our AM radio station and we make no mistake about our choice for TIME's Man of the Year.

Enjoy the reading, have a happy spring; if you are a senior, good luck finding that job; if you are a freshman, who cares; if you are alive, it's probably better than the alternative. So life live while you're here, die death while you're there, and in between, curl up on the podium and listen to that guy playing the guitar as this magazine hopefully brightens your otherwise hunched SUNYA existence.

Index

4 Cover: The search for a permanent SUNYA president has carried members of J. Vanderbilt Highway's committee to the four corners of the world and has sent several over the brink.

5 Media: Oops! It seems that someone inaccurately computed this campus' need for a FM radio station. Find out about our new carrier current AM facility.

7 Barren: This issue explores the life of one of the true SUNYA greats. Find out about TIME's Man of the Year inside this issue.

34 World
French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing promises to bring the left into active participation in the government. ▶ In Italy, another unsuccessful week in the search for Aldo Moro, the kidnapped former Premier. ▶ Rhodesia's Ian Smith formally brings blacks into the top echelon of government.

44 Religion
Greek-Turk feuding imperils the ancient patriarchate of Constantinople. ▶ 10,470 clergywomen now—and counting.

66 Art
Frank Stella, star abstractionist of the '60s, displays his rigorous yet lushly painted constructions in a Fort Worth show

49 Medicine
After heated debate, 7,000 doctors essentially agree that coronary bypass surgery is O.K.—for properly selected patients.

50 Economy & Business
Carter's economic and political advisers split on anti-inflation policy. ▶ Foreign banks in the U.S. rack in cash

64 Environment
Ecological disaster endangers Brittany's coast after a U.S.-owned supertanker breaks up, causing the biggest oil spill ever

65 Dance
Gelsey Kirkland and Mikhail Baryshnikov dance up a storm in his sleek, breathtaking new version of Don Quixote

4 Letters
63 People
70 Science
76 Cinema
89 Books

67 Behavior
The average American tells some 200 lies every day. Are any, all or none of them acceptable? And can lying ever be moral?

73 Sport
Nancy Lopez is the engaging new star of pro golf. ▶ Kentucky's Thoroughbreds are threatened by a venereal disease.

84 Essay
A dearth of mirth afflicts the U.S., but a new mathematical theory offers hope for raising the grass-roots national laugh.

Letters

Rah-Rah!

In reference to your article on SUNY Chancellor Clifton Horton's plan to build a football stadium at SUNYA, I think it is a great idea. I knew that once the football season came around, ol' Cliff would start getting homesick for Michigan State and their huge program. Imagine, the Great Danes playing in front of 35,000 screaming fans in the SUNYA stadium! And who says we didn't need a fieldhouse!

Steve DiMented
Somewhere in Utica

Distribute It Around

On behalf of the For Undergraduate Curriculum Knowledge committee, better known as F.U.C.K., I would like to say a few things. We are not advocating distribution requirements where the students will have to take a course out of their major that they are not interested in. We are advocating the recruitment of students who are interested in everything. Then we'd have an idea university environment—student could take all kinds of neat courses, even accounting. The tentative distribution requirement plan has you rolling a pair of dice for your out-of-major requirements. If you are a math major, a seven will get you an English comp. If you are an English major, a seven will get you a math teacher to help you count the numbers on the dice. If you are an accounting major, you are probably too boring to deal with anyway. Roll an eleven if you're a psych major and you can get an instant sun tan. If you are minoring in Chinese, an eight on the dice will get you an eggroll.

Now that's what a university student is all about.

Frank Cannon
BA (where else?)

Dixie Blues

Mah friends, ah misses y'all. Ah'm down heah in Dixie—Nashville Tennessee, to be exact. Mah accent is getting a mite thick, but I'm sure you recognize me. That's right, it's your ol' friend Emmett! Ah hates it down heah. They all talk in a dumb drawl just like me and ol' Gunner Williams did back up at SUNYA. It sho' was fun when me an' Gunner used to go huntin' down by the Indian Quad lake for that ol' stubborn gator that lives there. Down heah, all they're interested in is tennis and whether the black boys should play with the South African boys. Life is hard over here. Ah ain't got any doctoral programs to hack any more. Now that was almost as much fun as huntin' gators! Why, me and ol' Bob Shirley used to git together, have a few brews an' then out programs and jobs an' ruin peoples' lives. Boy that was fun!! Ah jes' gotta say hi y'all to mah friends at SUNYA. Remember, ah was the man that cut over 15 programs and built that empty parkin' lot on Colonial Quad. Boy, you Yankees were dumb to let me do all of that! Oh well, see y'all and give mah regards to the gator.

Emmett Fields,
Mid Court Forest Hills

Sounding Off

We have something important to say, and we feel it is our right to have the attached letter printed in your publication. Member of the undersigned organization have agreed that the information therein, and the conclusions drawn therefrom, should be read by everyone.

We talked to your letters page editor, and gave him a copy of our letter, and even stressed to him how strongly we feel about the rights of stray cats with six toes. We yelled and we howled him around, but he obviously didn't see that he had to print our letter.

He went so far as to suggest that we purchase advertising space to spread our message. We should not have to give money to a newspaper to publicize our opinions. It doesn't matter what the opinions are, or how they are expressed, or how they were arrived at! You have to print what we tell you to.

So, here is our letter. We expect to see it in the next issue.

Members of Organization Society
Albany, 12222

Dear Society: Eat Shit!

Copulation Mangler Pat Agun

Founders: Fred the Bird
Floyd Frog

Idiot-in-Chief: Room For Jello
Managing Idiot: Jon Enlarges

New Idiot: Matthew Balls

Associate New Idiots: Jill Labor,
Iron Smith

Asspicks: Gee Whiz Zackerly, Dennis Shyster

Sports Idiot: Rich Sell Exxon

Assoc. Sports Idiot: Poor Sports

Ed. Pages Idiot: Lafayette Not Here!

Staph Blighters: Steve J. Milked Boded,
Dick Kurtz, Denise Letme, M.J. Mjmtt, Jerry Mitochondria, Peter Navel, My
Osterterson, J.M. Jmjimly, Stewed
Vicinas

AP Manglers: Ellen Martan, Yes Insurer

Kodak Noose: Glory Glazer

Cleavage Page: Helene Fan-her

Noose Assistant: Burning Shrub

Morlie: Mrs. Robuson

Bizness Fuhrer: Spendit Rapidly

Avirgin Mangler: Ioto

Boston Mangler: Halter? Sureman

Billing Department: Carol Count-This

Pay Role: Ellen's Fine

Sails Joke: My Car Dad, Lady
Marmelade

Crossified: Lawn Mower

Copulation: Pat Agun, Frisky Sours

Add Copulation: I Lean Firmly, Ever
Larting, Kelly's Cuter, Debbie Fuzzph, Quasi-L-z, Stuff My Shirt In

Produce Manager: Queen for a Day

Ass Produce Manager: Mike Miktoast

Typing Head: Jody Willnot

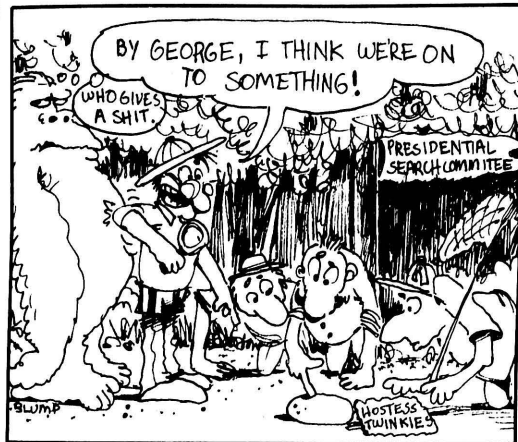

Graphite Collaborator: Phred the Blum

Vertical Head: Rudyard Kaylow, Jeff
Levitation

Pasta: The Ram in Peru, Thick Pizza,
Laure's Stillwell, Ease Her Well

Typical: Clark Haphazard, Clara
Keeper, Laurie Ego, Roll Over Liberty,
The Knees My Son, Diana Oracle, Amy
Lilslup, Alka Seltzer, Heaven's A Bunyon

Albany

The Great Chase

The Search for a SUNYA President

he search for the new SUNYA president has reached epic proportions, combing the wilds of Africa, the frozen tundra of Alaska, and a gas station in Cohoes.

The person chosen for this hallowed position will become the leader of the great SUNYA, university of capital district, retrencher of professors, molder of boring accountants.

The search committee has donned its pith helmets and kaki shorts in the quest for the perfect president, according to committee chairman J. Vanderbilt Highway.

"I've told them committee members of mine to go out there and not to come back until they've found us a president," J. Vanderbilt mumbled.

TIME has obtained the diary of committee member Paul Feldperson telling of the vain attempt to track down the new top banana in the wild jungles of Africa.

Here are some of the key excerpts: Feb. 1: We arrive in the jungle equipped with our resumes, butterfly nets and dart guns. We are hot on the trail of the feared animal, "Potential SUNYA President." I have been given my instructions to return with the beast or at least a good excuse for not returning with him. We camped out tonight in a local Howard Johnson's. Tomorrow, the hunt begins.

Tomorrow: It is tomorrow, at least by yesterday's standards. By tomorrow's standards it's yesterday, but for the sake of avoiding confusion, we shall go by today's standards, which would make it today. I said yesterday that the hunt shall begin tomorrow, and well, I guess that means we will have to wait another day, because after all, tomorrow is another day.

Another Day: The hunt shall begin. Equipped with the necessary bait, a university of immense talent, unequalled symmetry, limitless potential, and a package of Hostess Twinkies, we begin the search. Our native guide, Gunner

Williams, points out the trail left by the feared animal. "Ah sees footprints, and if y'all look closer, them ain't normal footprints. They've got the markings of an egghead—their's real PhD footprints!" We quit the search and return to camp in time to enter the Howard Johnson's barbershop quartet contest.

While in the middle of a chorus of "Sweet Adeline," a tremendous roar is heard from the inner jungle. It is the feared "Potential SUNYA President" and we could all hear as he bellowed; "Psych Experiments, PhD Losses, Retrenchments. — Aaaaaurgh!"

"Quick," I yelled, "The Twinkies, get the Twinkies." Gunner loaded his shotgun with twinkies and shot in the direction of the roar. It was to no avail—the creature growled even louder: "White Concrete, Cold Winters, Indian Quad Gators, Renaissance and DiMestla Postponements, Business Majors—Aaaaaaaurgh!"

For a while, there was quiet. With binoculars, I could see a hairy arm rush in and swipe a package of Twinkies. Finally, he made one last roar: "Next Time, Bring Me A Walts Sub!"

I could see him stick his tongue out at me and give me the Nelson Rockefeller finger as he turned to leave into the darkness. "Is that a no?" I yelled to him. No answer. We retire for the evening, tired, discouraged and Twinkieless.

Although there have been other failures such as this one, none has hurt as much.

"That was a major blow," said J. Vandy. "Even worse than the Alaskan ice chopper or the Cohoes gas pumper who both said they had better offers."

Each possible candidate has to conform to a special set of criteria, according to the ever aged Vandy. "Oh yes, it is essential that the new president be up to the following standards. First, he must be able to talk a lot and say nothing. That is a must. He must be able to cut program with razor precision. He must have a PhD, in something. He must have had at least one possibly fatal childhood disease to build character. And he must have an inny bellybutton, of course."

It has been learned that the search committee has rejected the presidents of Dartmouth and Princeton Universities for the job because they are reportedly "outies."

"It's not that we discriminate against outies, but you have to watch out for them. They'll be in your homes, taking your T.V. sets and your women if we don't watch them closely," said J. Vandy, as he quietly removed the lint from his bellybutton and ate it.

It has been rumored that former SUNYA President Emmett "The Terrible" Fields was an outie. Fields is currently serving as this country's major advocate of white minority rule in South Africa.

A list of possible candidates has been divulged to a TIME reporter. On that list are the following potential SUNYA presidents: Dorothy Hamill, Saduharu Oh, Marc Benecke, Ralph Boxley, Tony Bennett, Amy Carter and Jerry Garcia. Of the candidates, Garcia seems to have the decided edge in experiencing the administration calling after traveling with the living Dead. Garcia wormed his way into the hearts of many search committee members with his rendition of Martin Luther King's moving speech, "I had a Spleen."

What of Vince Delirious, acting SUNYA president? Sources close to the committee say that the Acting President is not in the running.

Acting SUNYA President Vince Delirious is reportedly not in the running. He is looking forward to playing a different role in university affairs.

Albany

WCDB studios are now being dismantled

The Dream Begins Again

After years of working toward FM, WCDB has decided to return to an AM carrier current station, according to station manager Paul Rosencranz.

"It was never our intention to seriously become an actual FM station," said Rosencranz, a bearded gent who is trusted by even the little children in the streets. "We just wanted to see if we could do it. Now that we know that may time we want to, we can go FM within 10 years, it really doesn't matter."

Rosencranz and chief engineer Ira Guildenstern said that the return to the AM carrier current format was for the benefit of the student population. "We went on the air the other day, and we realized, 'Good God, there are people listening to us up there,'" said Guildenstern.

"It was frightening," said Program Director Richard Shakespeare. "After all, I kinda like my music and I kinda played it and you really wouldn't believe it, but people called me up and they said they didn't like it."

Shakespeare reportedly has featured a program schedule of Beatles albums played backwards, the theme song of "Father Knows Best" and Armenian love songs.

Rosencranz said that the transition to an AM carrier current station will be a long and difficult process.

"It will entail the processing of our application to the FCC to cease broadcasting and become a fuzzy, buzzy station that will be picked up only on Dutch Quad." Rosencranz said that this might take a considerable amount of time because he couldn't find the section on the FCC application that pertained to becoming a fuzzy, buzzy station that will be picked up only on Dutch Quad.

Dean for Student Affairs Neil Round said that the university was 100 percent behind the return to the AM dial. "Paul's a good kid," said Round. "It is the only sane thing for him to do; it is definitely an asset to the university community to have a station that is fuzzy, buzzy and will only be heard on Dutch Quad. I just hope the folks on Dutch Quad don't mind. Besides, Paul has a well trimmed beard and is trusted by even the little children in the streets."

There might be a problem with the proposed destruction. The Atmospheric Sciences Research Center has lodged a complaint saying that a change to an AM carrier current station might interfere with their research on the affects of lightning on termites in quad walls.

"Yeah, that's right," said ASRC Prof. Bernard Igottafamousbrother. "Them termites might get all freaked out by the carrier current and stuff and you really don't know how tough life can be until you've tried to study the affects of lightning on a freaked out termite."

Rosencranz said that he wished to thank all of the fine people at SUNYA that will be helping to make the AM dream a reality. "I can't wait until the day when we will have the assurance that no matter what time of day it is, nobody will be listening," he said. "Maybe in our lifetime . . ."

Meals Change

Ethnic food planned

After what seemed to be a long and tiresome meeting with Albany's Student Alliance, UAS General Manager E. Norbert Zahm has agreed to institute a "minority" meal plan on all quad cafeterias.

"The food here has been too Waspy," confessed Zahm. It is unclear at this point whether he was referring to the ethnic group or to the wasps detected in the honeydew during last Thursday night's quad dinners.

Several students had strong reactions to the peculiar meal and had contacted TIME's Man of the Year SA Vice President Kathy Barren about it. "I'm fed up with these constant wasp-food-is-best type gestures," complained one student.

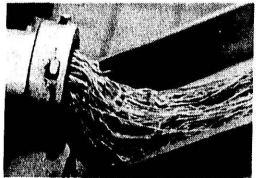

Zahm admitted that the wasps in the honeydew might have reflected poor taste, yet made no reply on the additional charges of discriminatory practices involved in the selection of the quad menus.

Baron had a mouthful to say on the matter. "I see no reason why in a university as diversified as ours, we can't at least try and accommodate our menus to the different needs of the students. I phoned the nutritionist involved and told her that it she doesn't shape up she might have her pension plan frozen tomorrow."

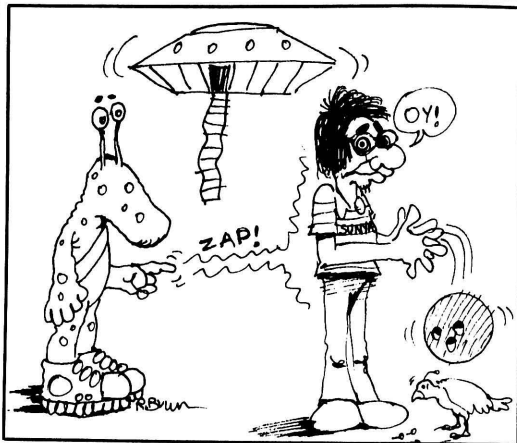

As a result of all the recent uproar, a minority meal plan will be instituted on all the quads as early as next week, serving food such as knishes, kumquats, okra, enchiladas and other ethnic delicacies on a more or less daily basis.

A "feminist" meal plan is also being considered, including foods such as bananas, eggs, clams, pickles, and ice cream. Also in consideration is a NYPIRG meal plan consisting solely of vitamins and protein supplements and a "presidential" meal plan, consisting solely of hot air.

At this time the staff nutritionist could not be reached for comment; he was out to lunch at MacDonald's.

Albany

Weird Woes at the Wellington

Deadly brainic ray takes its toll

In a report filed with the Albany police yesterday, students of the Wellington Hotel claimed that aliens from another planet have gradually taken control of the 9th through 12th floors. UFO's have been regularly sighted landing on the roof of the Wellington since late September, however, as one student commented, "We thought they were just part of the South Mall or something."

The alien creatures have subdued the student population with the feared "braimic ray." The braimic ray is said to have a wide range of effects on those zapped by it. Some students have been reported eating up to 17 seat covers off a single SUNYA bus, while others are observed smuggling Shawn Cassidy posters into their rooms, and rolling bowling balls back and forth in bathtubs full of water.

A spokesperson for the university stated that a stand must be taken against the eating of the plastic seat covers.

"The students involved don't realize what a puke-o thing they're doing," said Dean for Extraterrestrial Affairs Nerd Yellow.

While the Health Service hasn't had any increase of stomach disorders due to the intake of plastic, the Campus Center

Bowling Alley has lost a record 75 bowling balls over the last two weeks.

Student Association has decided to donate one-third of the Record Co-op's total sales receipts on Herb Albert records to a new committee presently studying the Wellington problem. "I thought it will be hard to study them while they go to the bathroom, it might be necessary," commented a typically high SA official.

"It's totally ininflabulant of the SA to donate money to such a cause," said Reggie Jackson after picking his nose behind a water cooler at the Yankee's Ft. Lauderdale training base. Although President Carter was unavailable for comment, a teacher's-aide at Albany High School stated, "If Republicans can't win an election in the ring than they don't belong in the wedding party."

During the strange events at the Wellington, student activities have gone on as normal with flogging demonstrations every Wednesday night at nine, and paralyzed frog races on Friday afternoons. "It's hard to say how many students the aliens have under their control, or if it means anything in terms of the existence of the South Mall," said one Wellington "though lately I've seen a lot of pugsos flattened with bowling balls."

Man-of-the-Year

Flamboyant and Confident

Barren Wears the Pants

he sits on a swivel chair behind a desk cluttered with letters to Helen Gurly Brown, and signs a memo approving the new Gloria Steinem monument to be built on Indian Quad. She stairs at a picture of Dave Mold wearing a dress.

Believe it or not, the lady person behind the desk is the current SA Vice President Kathy Barren. She looks like an ad for Virginia Slims, but it's difficult to judge this ad without reading the copy.

"I was born in Boystown, USA," she claims. "When I was three years old, we moved to Long Island, into a white ghetto." She tired of the atmosphere quickly, she says. "I got tired of being called 'Girl!'"

At thirteen, Kathy got her first job: selling Person Scout Cookies. "Cinnamon," she gleams.

Kathy got her first taste of politics later that year, when she ran for a seat on her schoolbus. After a tough run, she succeeded and one of the most brilliant political careers of this decade was launched.

She continued her political career as a freshman at SUNYA. Her first project was an attempt to install birth control pill dispensers on campus.

"A serious problem arose when we couldn't decide whether to put them in the men's room or the women's room."

It soon becomes apparent that Ms. Baron can indeed enjoy a laugh. "It's always bothered me that people accuse feminists of having no sense of humor. We do. For instance, did you hear the one about the feminist who fell into the lens making machine and made a spectacle of herself? Or how about the one about the feminist who had a rabbits foot? The other foot was normal. But really, men are such chauvinists. Take my boyfriend, please."

Before running for office here at SUNYA, she tried her hand at academics. "I took a couple of easy courses, you know, Minnie Mouse courses. I got bored and decided to run for vice president."

It was her feats as vice president which won her TIME's Man of the Year Award. After a hard campaign in which her competitor, Jim Arunoff decided he'd rather be an ivy leaguer, Kathy launched a one-person crusade against just about everything.

One of her first achievements was to help represent the SUNYA coalition of birds after the student newspaper ran an offensive "Fred the Bird" comic strip in which Fred tells his girlfriend to "go spread her wings". "I really get upset when I see something offensive like that," she says. "That was definitely birdist."

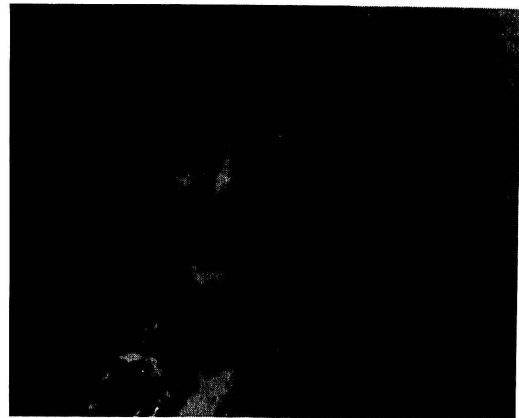

When she isn't busy threatening the campus radio station, Ms. Barren is hard at work harassing wimps, dwarfs, gods, nerds and other Student Association types. Says the flamboyant and confident Barren, "I'll show them who wears the pants around here!"

Currently, Ms. Barren is working on providing SUNYA with a Women's Sex Clinic. "What this campus desperately needs is a place where women can go to have sex," she says. "I realize that the chief at the Infirmary Janet the Hood says that 95 per cent of this care can be had at the Infirmary, but I tend to disagree with her figure."

Kathy is currently on SUNYA's Affirmative Action Committee, designed for racial and sexual equality here. Her first task is to erase the form of "institutional racism and sexism" prevalent at SUNYA. "We are going to start with the structure of this campus," she says. "First we're going to paint every other pillar black and replace the bell tower, that phallic symbol of SUNYA, with a giant breast."

Still in her early twenties, the darling of Albany's student politics has made her mark at SUNYA. On the verge of greatness, Kathy awaits discovery in the inner recesses of the SA office. Soon she will grow up and leave student government. But for now she's TIME's "Man of the Year", and our SA vice president... We think we'll keep her.

"WHEN YOU'RE RUNNING AN OPERATION LIKE MINE, YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO GET FILLED UP."

- E. Norbert Zahm,
U.A.S. General Manager

Here at UAS, you really can't afford to get filled up. And just to prove it to you, we've come up with a new idea that will have your wallet crying out as loud as your stomach.

For years students have been upset that the delicious food served them at lunch and dinner on the quads leaves them hungry for something more.

That's why we've opened the UAS Sub Shops - because we know that once is not enough when you eat UAS food. With the money left over from the meals you miss every time you go away for the weekend, we've opened up our shops just for you!

And we are taking the liberty of charging you for these subs, even though it was your money that paid for them in the first place...

Because we know that when it comes to taking student money, once is not enough.

UAS. EVERYTHING YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED IN A MEAL. AND LESS.