

Sent 4/18/73
TO K-N, T-U

SUNY AT ALBANY
DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY
Colloquium

PROFESSOR DIETMAR SEYFERTH
Department of Chemistry
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Speaking on

THE ORGANIC CHEMISTRY OF ORGANOCOBALT CLUSTERS
CARBON IN AN UNUSUAL ENVIRONMENT

Tuesday, May 1

4:00 p.m.

Chemistry Reading Room (151)

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Sent 5/3/73 to
T-U
K-N

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

M A T H E M A T I C S C O L L O Q U I U M

Professor Helmut Grunsky

Wurzburg University

and

Washington University (St. Louis)

" A NEW DERIVATION OF A SET OF INEQUALITIES IN THE THEORY OF SCHLICHT FUNCTIONS AND SOME OF THEIR APPLICATIONS"

Monday, May 7, 1973

Earth Science Building

Time: 4:00 p.m.

Room: 152 A

Refreshments in ES 152 at 3:30 p.m.

SUNYA NEWS

H. David Van Dyck, Assistant to the President
Nathalie Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
OFFICE OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

CANADIAN EDUCATOR TO ADDRESS CASDA GROUP

James W. Singleton, Halton County director of education in Ontario, Canada, will address the Capital Area School Development Association (CASDA) at its annual meeting May 16 at the Bavarian Chalet in Guilderland.

Alton U. Farnsworth, CASDA executive secretary, said Mr. Singleton's topic will be "Decision Making: a Vital Process for Boards and Superintendents."

The Canadian educator earned degrees at the University of Toronto, Toronto Normal School, and Ontario College of Education. His career has ranged from teacher in a one-room rural school and high school principal to director of education.

Over the years Mr. Singleton has been president of both the Ontario secondary teachers organization as well as of the province's association of education officials, has served on two Minister's committees, was a summer school dean, and was chairman of the Ontario Council for Leadership in Educational Administration.

The CASDA group Mr. Singleton will address is comprised of school districts throughout seven counties in east-central New York. Its headquarters are at the School of Education, State University of New York at Albany.

* * * * *

May 3, 1973

State University of New York at Albany
Information Services, Community Relations Office

SWORN IN AS CAMPUS SECURITY OFFICER at State University of New York at Albany is Frank T. Cunningham. President Louis T. Benezet is shown administering the oath to Officer Cunningham who resides at 1912 Eighth Street, Rensselaer. He has been with SUNYA's security department for several years.

State University of New York at Albany
Information Service, Community Relations Office

SHE'S THE FIRST feminine security officer on the State University of New York at Albany campus. Denise A. Patton, 20, of Troy, is sworn in by President Louis T. Benezet. The newest addition to the force majored in police science at Hudson Valley Community College. Asserting she "always wanted to do something like this--always wanted to help people," Miss Patton added she does "just about everything the guys do".

She resides at 244 Pinewoods Ave., Troy, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Patton.

State University of New York at Albany
Information Service, Community Relations Office

SHE'S THE FIRST feminine security officer on the State University of New York at Albany campus. Denise A. Patton, 20, of Troy, is sworn in by President Louis T. Benezet. The newest addition to the force majored in police science at Hudson Valley Community College. Asserting she "always wanted to do something like this--always wanted to help people," Miss Patton added she does "just about everything the guys do".

Persons interested in geometrical forms this week have been visiting an exhibit of imaginative models in the Earth Science Building on the State University at Albany campus. The exhibit, featuring highly visual and creative aspects of geometry, was sponsored by a class in advanced Euclidean geometry under the direction of Ernest Ranucci of the Department of Instruction.

State University of New York at Albany

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Albany, New York 12222

CHEMISTRY COLLOQUIUM

PROFESSOR WALTER J. MOORE

Indiana University

speaking on

DYNAMICS OF BRAIN PROTEINS

Thursday, November 30, 1972

4:00 p.m.

Lecture Center 12

All Interested Persons are Cordially Invited

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

M A T H E M A T I C S C O L L O Q U I U M

PROFESSOR LOWELL JONES
Princeton University

"DEVELOPMENTS IN SURGERY"

Friday, December 1, 1972

Earth Science Building

4:00 P.M.

Room 146

Refreshments in ES 152

at 3:30

State University of New York at Albany

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Albany, New York 12222

CHEMISTRY COLLOQUIUM

I. C. P. SMITH

National Research Council of Canada

speaking on

CARBON NMR STUDIES OF NUCLEIC ACIDS

Friday, December 1, 1972

4:00 p.m.

Chemistry Reading Room
(Room 151, Department of Chemistry)

All Interested Persons are Cordially Invited

State University of New York at Albany

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Albany, New York 12222

CHEMISTRY COLLOQUIUM

PROFESSOR PHILIP GEORGE

University of Pennsylvania

speaking on

RESONANCE ENERGY OF THE PORPHYRIN RING
AND ITS BEARING ON THE BIOSYNTHESIS OF PORPHYRINS

Monday, December 4, 1972

4:00 p.m.

Lecture Center 12

All Interested Persons are Cordially Invited

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

M A T H E M A T I C S C O L L O Q U I U M

PROFESSOR S. GREENFIELD

Rutgers University

"HOLOMORPHIC MAPS OF BOUNDED DOMAINS IN BANACH SPACES"

Wednesday, December 6, 1972

Earth Science Building

Room 152

4:00 P. M.

Refreshments in ES 152 at 3:30

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

M A T H E M A T I C S C O L L O Q U I U M

PROFESSOR W. MESSING

M. I. T.

"AN INTRODUCTION TO CRYSTALLINE COHOMOLOGY"

Friday, December 8, 1972

Earth Science Building

Room 152

4:00 P. M.

Refreshments in ES 152 at 3:30

State University of New York at Albany

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Albany, New York 12222

CHEMISTRY COLLOQUIUM

PROFESSOR SUNNEY I. CHAN

California Institute of Technology

speaking on

WHAT CAN NMR TELL US ABOUT MEMBRANES

Monday, December 11, 1972

4:00 p.m.

Lecture Center 12

All Interested Persons are Cordially Invited

T-C
K-N

State University of New York at Albany

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Albany, New York 12222

CHEMISTRY COLLOQUIUM

PROFESSOR E. MARGOLIASH

Northwestern University

speaking on

The Molecular Variations of Cytochrome c as a Function of the Evolution of Species*

Wednesday, December 13, 1972

4:00 p.m.

Lecture Center 12

All interested Persons are cordially invited

*Stereo slides will be projected

T-6
K-N

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

M A T H E M A T I C S C O L L O Q U I U M

PROFESSOR T. SUWA
University of Michigan

"COMPACT QUOTIENT SPACES OF C^n
by AFFINE TRANSFORMATION GROUPS"

Friday, December 15, 1972

Earth Science Building

Room 146

4:00 P. M.

Refreshments in ES 152 at 3:30

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
PERFORMING ARTS CENTER
1400 Washington Avenue
Albany, New York 12222

FOR INFORMATION CALL:
Michael T. Sheehan
457-8606

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Department of Theatre, State University of New York at Albany, presents Siobhan McKenna in "Here Are Ladies," a visit with the great ladies of Irish literature, for one performance, only, Friday, December 1, 3 P.M., Main Theatre, Performing Arts Center. Tickets, $2, $1 with student ID, available at the box office, 457-8606.

Siobhan McKenna, Ireland's leading actress, enacts scenes and poems about women as seen through the eyes of Ireland's outstanding writers. It is a fully staged performance with scenery by Sean Kenny and music by Sean O'Riada. Originally presented by Joseph Papp at New York's Public Theatre, "Here Are Ladies" was called "an unforgettable evening" by Variety. Some of the characters Miss McKenna plays are Winnie from Samuel Beckett's "Happy Days," Ginny Gogan from Sean O'Casey's "The Plough and the Stars," and Mrs. Tancred from "Juno and the Paycock." The show ends with the extraordinary Molly Bloom soliloquy from James Joyce's "Ulyssess."

Miss McKenna's appearance is part of the Theatre Department's program of bringing distinguished performers from the professional stage to Albany and the University.

★ ★ ★ ★

SUNYA NEWS

H. David Van Dyck, Assistant to the President
Nathalie Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
OFFICE OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

*D. F. J. - pl
ret*
p.r. log book
IMMEDIATE

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

Interested high school juniors and their parents are invited to attend an open house Saturday morning, December 2, at the James E. Allen, Jr., Collegiate Center of State University at Albany. The center, located in the lower lounge of Brubacher Hall on the university's downtown campus, will be open from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

The Allen Center is one of the few programs in the country committed to shortening the time spent in high school and college. It will accept qualified students at the end of their eleventh grade in high school, thus enabling them to complete four years of high school and four of college in seven years.

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

Attention, City Editors:

The attached press release was scheduled to be distributed at a press conference today (Nov. 16) at 10:00 a.m. at the office of the New York City Deputy Police Commissioner, 240 Center Street. Since I have not heard from Professor Brown to the contrary, I assume all went as planned.

This may be of particular interest to you because of the timely subject matter.

Nathalie Lampman

Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy announced today (Nov. 16) he would appoint a committee of police executives to work with the author of a just-released, 185-page report, The New York City Police Department Anti-Corruption Campaign - October 1970-August 1972, on the study of its findings. The report, authored by Professor William P. Brown of the School of Criminal Justice at the State University of New York at Albany, was the result of a year-long study conducted by Dr. Brown and a team of graduate student assistants at the invitation of the Police Department.

The committee, to be chaired by Deputy Commissioner William H. T. Smith, will be named to attempt to develop a program for stimulating the research and the implementation of research findings.

Dr. Brown's study was directed toward three goals: (1) the determination of the nature of the corruption problem faced by the Department, (2) a summing up of the anti-corruption measures taken during the first 22 months of Commissioner Murphy's term of office, and (3) an indication of the directions for further anti-corruption development.

The report concluded that "In a City such as New York there will always be vast, constantly-shifting patterns of pressure toward corruption and more or less frequent succumbing." The New York City's Police Department has changed drastically since October, 1970. The question is "Will the organization which comes into 1974 be a maturing, effective transform of the 1970 Department or will it be a composite of grand ethical goals with unassimilated projects and proposals"?

Noting the urgency to get beyond the issues of "grass eating" policemen or even "meat eating" policemen," Dr. Brown observes that "This impressive but new, raw and still imperfectly articulated Police Department can pull together and grow over the corruption issue. But growth will only occur if the anti-corruption struggle can be transformed from a crusade against evil into a crusade for improvement of the Departmental and societal responses to the broad crime, regulation and service needs which the police must meet."

In determining the nature of his recommendations, the author concluded that the present police administration was honest and politically uncontrolled, that it had worked energetically and imaginatively to fight corruption, and that--with the continuing presence of the "moral overseers," beginning with the Knapp Commission and continuing with the Office of Special Prosecutor--it was not likely to become complacent about corruption in the foreseeable future.

The report continued that, given these circumstances and assuming that corruption must be seen as something more than a manifestation of "rotten apples," simplistic, judgmental prescriptions have little value. "If reforms are to have a chance, they must be seen as interventions in a complex organizational world, introduced carefully, monitored, and continuously reviewed as needed."

On these premises, Dr. Brown argues that because answers are needed, great areas of essential but heretofore never developed information must be explored. His position is that funding and academic assistance should be sought to enable a wide variety of research programs. If these are conducted by recognized research scholars, the Department will have brought into the fight additional help, a greater possibility of research findings being seen as objective and a continuing development of the open relationship of the police to the larger society.

The author has enumerated 10 clusters of problems representing the major suggested research areas. The First Order Problems are those which everyone seems to agree have great importance in any reasoned approach to the problems of corruption. These include the means for keeping a continued emphasis on the control of corruption, the determination of a departmental position with respect to such borderline issues as that of free meals, the specific means for handling such "pockets of uniformed police corruption" as the tow truck racket or extortions from bars and grills, and finally, the best methods for receiving and utilizing complaints as a source of information on corruption problems.

Dr. Brown also believes that research is needed on Second Order Problems--issues important to the corruption control theory development but not as obviously related as the First Order Problems. These deal with such matters as clarification of the police mission, particularly in respect to the police handling of regulatory activities and the victimless offenses. They also include the development of sophisticated patterns of administration for the major new units formed to fight corruption; the Organized Crime Bureau, the restructured Office of the First Deputy Police Commissioner, and the Criminal Justice Bureau.

The final areas indicated for further studies are in the implications of a broadly reconsidered concept of training and work toward a corruption-resistant police subculture.

Earlier sections of the report reviewed the growth of the corruption problem in New York City from the mid-Nineteenth Century "when City politics were at their lowest and most corrupt," through the great promise of the Economy and Efficiency era and into the days of Prohibition which, with "its great flood of easy money and its whole-public support of widespread law breaking, made American policing a training ground for corruption for almost 20 years."

Dr. Brown, who had studied the regime of Mayor LaGuardia for his Doctoral Dissertation, observed that LaGuardia broke the control of Tammany over corruption and ushered in a 40-year period "when graft-- although recognized and condemned--was seen as a matter concerning corrupt individuals rather than a corrupted system." He holds that from the days of LaGuardia, the police were left largely in control of police corruption in New York City. During the 30's and 40's, corruption patterns remained constant enough so that known dishonest policemen had great power. "...in the 50's and through the middle of the 60's, there was a string of vigorous and well-intentioned commissioners. Career paths developed for police executives who were honest, hard-working and effective." Dishonest executives had to be circumspect and effective.

During the administration of Commissioner Howard Leary, a new police establishment and a new police image arose, dominated from the bottom rather than the top. By 1970, according to the author, the weight of inertia had settled over a tired regime. The responsibility for corruption investigation was narrowly centralized while the corruption potential responsibilities, plainclothes and narcotics, were diffused throughout the Department. Narcotics had emerged as the most important source of corruption and the officials in the Department could not control the situation. "A group at the top dealt in platitudes and unrealities; a growing and increasingly undisciplined corruption existed in widening pockets at the base."

In reviewing the anti-corruption action by the Department between October 1970 and August 1972, Dr. Brown noted as the most impressive achievement the development of a leadership group which appears to devote itself to the proposition that success depends on hard, honest work toward managerial rather than stereotyped police goals. The formulation of strong and clear policy guidelines defining and interdicting corruption in unequivocal terms, and demanding that honesty be accompanied by efficiency was noted as were openness and a view that overall questions must be answered beyond those which emerge in the conventional case-by-case consideration. In the area of organization a whole series of changes have shifted the Department from one heading up to a Chief Inspector reporting to a Civilian Police Commissioner to a situation where the Police Commissioner is in administrative control. The First Deputy Police Commissioner's Office has acquired a new, strengthened staff role. Two new units--the Organized Crime Control Bureau and the Criminal Justice Bureau--have developed significant, innovative programs with great potential for the future. Widespread administrative and training changes and a new emphasis on external relationships have been accompanied by the use of a series of strong anti-corruption measures, including adoption of the "Turning" Approach and the Field Associates Program.

Dr. Brown, who retired from the New York City Police Department in 1962 as an Inspector, donated his time and effort to this research as a public service. A National Science Foundation Award paid for the student Research Assistants.

Dr. Brown has studied this problem extensively. In 1965-66, he made a nationwide survey on police corruption for the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice. In 1971, he prepared a monograph concerning this subject on commission of the United States Department of Justice.

SUNYA'S PROFESSOR EGELSTON TO BE HONORED AT RECEPTION

Martha A. Egelston, professor of history, who recently retired after having served on the faculty of State University of New York at Albany since 1929, will be honored at a reception Friday, May 11, from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. in the University Art Gallery. At that time many members of the university community and other friends and former associates of Professor Egelston are expected to be present to extend their best wishes to the former senior member of the SUNYA faculty.

A special resolution of the University Council reads in part:

"Whereas, Martha Jane Albright Egelston (Mrs. George Egelston) for 50 years has been associated with State University of New York at Albany, initially as a student and subsequently as a member of its faculty; and whereas, for 43 years she has served as a member of the faculty; and whereas, during these years of tenure as a member of the faculty she has given faithfully and generously of her time and effort and of her wisdom and dedication in inspiring the zeal of her students toward learning (social sciences disciplines, American history, and Chinese history, and in furthering the purposes of this State University at Albany; and whereas, these years of dedicated and distinguished service are known to have contributed significantly to the effective transition of this University unit from State College for Teachers to State University at Albany, now, therefore, be it resolved, that the University Council of State University of New York at Albany hereby expresses its congratulations and enduring thanks for the loyal contributions and exemplary teaching of Professor Egelston during her long period of service."

Mrs. Egelston, who resides at 61 Northgate Drive, Albany, now is working voluntarily with the Empire State College and helping to develop courses in SUNYA's College of General Studies. Paul F. Wheeler, former acting dean of the college, is serving as chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the reception. Others on the committee are Helen Horowitz, Kuan I. Cheng, Matthew Elbow, Anne McNamara, and Harry Price.

* * * * *

May 4, 1973

CRIMINAL JUSTICE DEAN ELECTED TO AMERICAN LAW INSTITUTE

Richard A. Myren, dean of the School of Criminal Justice at State University of New York at Albany, has been elected to membership in The American Law Institute. He will attend the organization's annual meeting May 15-18 in Washington, D.C.

In advising Dean Myren of the institute's action, Norris Darrell, president, wrote: "The ultimate responsibility for what the Institute does to clarify and improve the law and its administration rests on its membership. No product of the Institute's efforts may bear the imprimatur of the Institute until and unless it has been approved by the membership at an annual meeting. Accordingly, we are very selective in choosing our members since we want to make certain, so far as is possible, that those who are elected will actively participate in the Institute efforts."

The election of Dean Myren to the organization is viewed as a particular honor and a singular recognition of Dean Myren's contributions to the profession since he is not a practicing attorney. He is the immediate past president of the Association of Criminal Justice Scientists, an association of professors of criminal justice in the United States.

* * * * *

May 4, 1973

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

15 SUNYA FACULTY NAMED OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS

Fifteen faculty members at State University of New York at Albany have been chosen "Outstanding Educators of America" for 1973. Nominated earlier this year for national recognition, they were selected on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

The honored professors are John F. Dewey, geology; William N. Fenton, anthropology; Leslie Wilkins, criminal justice; John dos Reis Fonseca, law; Frank W. Kolmin, accounting; Jerold J. Zuckerman, chemistry; Donald Newman, criminal justice; David M. Serrone, pharmacology; Joseph P. Mascarenhas, biological sciences; Norman Greenfeld, psychology; Milton C. Olson, business education; Charles F. Petitjean, business education; Nathan Wright, Jr., Afro-American studies; Walter A. Farmer, Jr., science education; and Margaret A. Farrell, mathematics education.

Nominations for inclusion in the annual awards program are made by officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans, and department heads. Their selection guidelines include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service, and professional recognition.

* * * * *

May 4, 1973

Home addresses:

Dewey - RD #1, Box 260, Rte. 43, Renss.; Fenton - 7 N. Helderberg Parkway, Slingerlands; Wilkins, 14 Brookwood Ave., Albany; Fonseca - 26 Tamarack Lane, Clifton Knolls; Kolmin - 214 Hackett Blvd., Elnora; Zuckerman - RD #5, Box 265, Troy; Newman - 103 Herwick Rd., Delmar; 1400 Washington Ave., Albany, New York 12222 * Area Code 518 457-4901 • 02 • 03

-continued-

State University of New York at Albany
15 SUNYA FACULTY NAMED OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS

Page 2

Serrone - 10 Eileen St., Albany; Mascarenhas - 10 Pinedale Ave., Delmar;
Greenfeld - 51 Northgate Dr., Albany; Olson - Wildwood Lane, Selkirk;
Petitjean - 8 Burning Bush Blvd., Country Knolls, Jonesville; Wright - Box 216
Selkirk; Farmer - Rural Rt. 1, Box 152, East Berne; Farrell - 1676 Western Avenue, Albany.

EDUCATION IN CHINA AND SPECIAL EDUCATION LECTURE TOPICS AT SUNYA

Two lectures of particular interest to the general public are scheduled for next week at State University of New York at Albany.

Alexander Cassella, a specialist on education in the People's Republic of China, will speak Tuesday, May 8, at 3 p.m. in the Campus Center ballroom in a program presented by the School of Education. Mr. Cassella is the executive secretary of the Asian Documentation and Research Center Graduate Institute of International Affairs, Geneva, Switzerland. An additional guest will be Jack Chen, specialist on China with the New York State Education Department, who will be on hand to answer questions.

Thursday evening, May 10, at 8 o'clock in Lecture Center 5 Oliver Nikoloff, professor of educational psychology, will give a lecture on special education. The program is sponsored by Phi Delta Kappa.

* * * * *

May 4, 1973

MUSICAL PROGRAMS AT SUNYA RECITAL HALL

A recital for voice and violin, featuring music students Terri Singer, voice, and Charlene Mobius, violin, is scheduled for Tuesday, May 15, at 8:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center at State University of New York at Albany. Other performers will be Steven Rosenberry, keyboard, and Frederick Toms, piano.

On the program to be performed are Telemann's cantata, "Ein jeder lauft, der in den Shrankenlauft", Ravel's "Cinq melodies populaires grecques", and Beethoven's "Sonata for violin and piano in A major, opus 30, #1".

Student recitals during the coming week will include Lee Beberman, May 11, at noon, and Gail Smiley, cello, at 8:30 p.m. Both programs will be in the Recital Hall.

* * * * *

May 4, 1973

SunyaGram

An Information Bulletin

MAY 4, 1973

KENNETH L. HARRIS, ASSISTANT DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR FOR THE $3 BILLION NEW YORK CITY HUMAN RESOURCES ADMINISTRATION AND DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND CONTROL, WILL PARTICIPATE IN A JOINT SEMINAR WITH THE GRADUATE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS AND THE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WELFARE ON MONDAY, MAY 7, AT 10 A.M. IN THE STUDENT LOUNGE OF DRAPER HALL, GSPA, STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY, 135 WESTERN AVENUE. THE PUBLIC IS INVITED TO ATTEND AT NO CHARGE.

OVER THE LAST 5 MONTHS NEW YORK CITY HAS HAD A DRAMATIC TURNAROUND IN THE WELFARE CASELOAD. DURING THIS PERIOD, THE WELFARE ROLLS HAVE DROPPED 51,000, OR AN ANNUAL RATE OF 120,000, COMPARED TO AN ACTUAL GROWTH RATE OF 80,000 THE YEAR BEFORE. THIS DRAMATIC TURNAROUND IN THE CASELOAD IS WORTH $140 MILLION IN TAXPAYER MONEY. THE DOWNTURN IN NEW YORK CITY OCCURRED AT THE SAME TIME THE WELFARE ROLLS WERE RISING IN THE REST OF THE STATE.

NEWS EDITORS ARE ADVISED
TO CONTACT SANDRO A. BARONE,
ASSISTANT DEAN, GSPA
CALL 472-6292 FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION
(HOME NUMBER - 399-9278)

STAR SCIENTIST TO LECTURE AT SUNYA

Hugo Jamnback, director of the Science Service of the Museum and Science Service in the State Education Department, will give the concluding lecture in the current public series on "The Environment and Natural History" at State University of New York at Albany Tuesday, May 22, at 8 p. m. in Lecture Center 18. The spring programs are co-sponsored by the State Department of Environmental Conservation and the university's Atmospheric Science Research Center.

Dr. Jamnback's subject will be "Bloodsucking Flies and Other Outdoor Nuisance Insects". The identity, habits and life cycles of the bloodsucking flies, ticks, and chiggers and a few insects that are outdoor pests because of their sheer abundance will be discussed, as will studies on the biology and control of blackflies both here and abroad.

Dr. Jamnback has conducted extensive research on bloodsucking insects in New York State, Africa, and Central America, and has served as a research consultant in medical entomology to the World Health Organization, the United States Public Health Service, and other agencies.

* * * * *

May 9, 1973

Copy to: Weiner, Sheehan

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

STUDENT-DIRECTED PLAYS AT SUNYA

Two students in the graduate directing theatre class will present their final projects in performance on Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, in the Performing Arts Center, State University of New York at Albany. There is no admission charge.

David Palma will direct Shaw's "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" in the Arena Theatre, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. and May 12, at 9 p.m.

Jessica Scherer will direct A. R. Gurney, Jr.'s "The Golden Fleece" in the Studio Theatre, May 11, at 9 p.m. and May 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Both productions may be seen by the audience each night. Free tickets are distributed a half hour prior to each performance. Those attending the 7:30 p.m. show may pick up 9 p.m. tickets at the first performance.

Albert Weiner is the faculty member in charge of the directing projects.

* * * * *

May 9, 1973

For information call:
Michael T. Sheehan
457-8608

TWO HONORED AT SUNYA FOR OUTSTANDING TEACHING

Robert Rienow, professor of political science, and David Peak, instructor of physics, have been honored as 1973 Outstanding Teachers at State University of New York at Albany. Each faculty member, chosen by a teachers awards committee consisting of six faculty and six students, received a certificate and a check.

Dr. Rienow has been on the SUNYA faculty since 1936. He is a pioneer environmentalist and has written numerous books and articles on the subject, including "Moment in the Sun - A Report on the Deteriorating Quality of the American Environment". He also created the educational television series, "Man Against His Environment".

Dr. Peak in 1969 came to SUNYA where he earned his doctorate. His research encompasses several areas of theoretical physics. Last summer he participated in a summer college on global analysis, dynamical systems, and catastrophe theory at the International Centre for Theoretical Physics, Trieste, Italy. He was named outstanding teacher for 1972 in the SUNYA department of physics.

The awards committee received 71 nominations from the university community for the two awards. Of them, 65 were found eligible and 58 consented to be considered.

Chairman Dorothy Harrison said the committee recognizes that "the most important rewards of fine teaching are those enjoyed by student and teacher quite apart from this contest. We also note that there are many very good teachers who have not been named by our committee. We hope that by naming two of the fine teachers on this campus for specific recognition we may help to focus attention in one way on the importance that the academic community attaches to teaching".

* * * * *

May 9, 1973

Home addresses:

Rienow - Hollyhock Hollow Farm, RD 2, Selkirk
Peak - 876 Warren Street, Albany

Copy to: Favreau, Seymour, Scott

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

SUNYA CO-SPONSOR OF TRAINING PROGRAM

State University of New York at Albany is co-sponsoring a program in "awareness training" offered by the Albany Metro Area of the National Alliance of Businessmen. The free instructional program is designed to help area executives and supervisory personnel in the training and retaining of new employees, particularly those from a disadvantaged environment. On Tuesday, May 15, the final day-long seminar in the current series of four programs will be held at the Albany Hyatt House.

Coordinating the workshop sessions has been Donald F. Favreau, director of executive development in the College of General Studies, SUNYA, and an authority in the field of executive training. Group leadership has been provided by Warren B. Scott, assistant to the dean, College of General Studies; and William E. Seymour, Office of the Vice President for University Affairs.

The workshops, at which attendance is limited to 20, seek to provide participative learning activity in communication skills in listening, hearing, and instruction; interaction between people developing skills in relating to others; decision making; and management styles.

Demand for the training has been increasing and, if warranted, additional workshops will be scheduled. The seminars are seen as being particularly helpful for firms without their own formalized training and for those who cannot take larger numbers of supervisory personnel off the job simultaneously.

-continued-

Inquiries about the program should be made of Donald E. Stone, manager of job procurement and placement, Albany Metro Area,
NAB, at the Colonie Center Theatre Building, 400 Colonie Center.

* * * * *

May 9, 1973

FORMER SUNYA PRESIDENT TO SPEAK AT WALLACE BUILDING DEDICATION

Evan R. Collins, former president of State University of New York and now on the faculty of Boston College and a resident of Marblehead, Mass., will give the dedicatory address on Alumni Day, Saturday, May 19, at ceremonies officially naming the Humanities Building for the late Edith O. Wallace, first chairman of SUNYA's Division of Humanities. The event is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. at the structure's western entrance.

Dr. Wallace, a member of the Class of 1917, died Feb. 11, 1972, at the age of 75. She is the first alumna to be honored through the naming of a building on the university campus. The recommendation for the dedication of the Edith O. Wallace Humanities Building was made by the SUNYA University Council and approved by the SUNY Board of Trustees.

Ruth Schmidt, associate dean, Division of Humanities, College of Arts and Sciences, indicated that the humanities faculty and staff were pleased by the decision. She spoke of Dr. Wallace's long and devoted service to the humanities and of her involvement in planning the division while still on the downtown campus.

After graduating from State College for Teachers, Albany, Dr. Wallace received her Master of Arts from Wellesley College and, later, a Doctor of Philosophy from Columbia University. She served as professor of classics at Albany and was instrumental in establishing a course in humanities which developed into a department of comparative literature. As dean of humanities from 1962 until her retirement in 1965 she expanded her supervision to the larger field of language and literature.

-continued-

Participating in the unveiling of the Wallace Building plaque following
Dr. Collins' dedicatory remarks will be President Louis T. Benezet,
Dr. Collins, and Dean Schmidt. A reception will follow at the site.

* * * * *

May 9, 1973

SUNYA BILINGUAL PROJECT GETS FEDERAL SUPPORT

The School of Education, State University of New York at Albany, has been awarded a federal grant of $180,000 to continue its Bilingual Education Project into 1973-74 according to Richard Light, assistant professor of instruction and project director.

The funds will enable a continuation of the special program where educators are trained to teach both in English and Spanish, and to help children whose command of English is so meager they cannot profit from regular schooling. Best-known phase of the project is at the Main Street School in Amsterdam where youngsters of recently-arrived Latin American families receive instruction in two languages.

In addition to renewing the on-going training program, the grant also will provide funds enabling the School of Education to put into effect several new approaches.

"We call these developmental activities" explained Dr. Light, and he said one of them will focus on the Spanish language.

"We intend to find out what can be done to increase concern for Spanish by its speakers so as to increase its use and prestige," he announced, adding that cooperation of the National League of Defense of the Spanish Language would be enlisted. Such activities as literacy programs in Spanish for illiterate adult speakers are planned.

Another new effort will involve strengthening teacher training. Dr. Light said the School of Education will explore such approaches as exchange of advanced students and teachers with colleges and universities in Puerto Rico, Mexico, and other Spanish-speaking countries.

Dr. Light said other activities will include informing Latin Americans about bilingual education work in the U. S. and exploring possibilities of producing teaching materials on American Indian languages. The grant also will make possible additional fellowships for graduate students and a summer training institute.

Randolph S. Gardner, dean, hailed the grant as a "fiscal tonic which brings New York's schools closer to the ideal of education for each person according to his need."

Said Dean Gardner, "We're pleased that the success of our bilingual efforts during the past two years is noted by the U. S. Office of Education. The supplementary dollars for moving ahead may well be considered a vote of confidence."

Commenting further the dean observed: "Bilingual education is much more than merely teaching words and giving information in two languages; it is a people-centered force involving both school and community where educators and townspeople cooperatively work on a worthwhile endeavor."

Concluded Dr. Gardner: "Although school is considered the major education agent in the life of a child, the youngster's family and his sub-society in which his life unfolds are equally influential. Our bilingual project here at SUNYA is sensitive to this situation."

* * * * *

May 11, 1973

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

SUNYA RECEIVES $421, 792 IN SPONSORED FUNDS

Vice President for Research Louis R. Salkever, of State University of New York at Albany, has reported that the university received $421, 792 in grants during April. Of that amount, $419, 045 was for sponsored research and $2, 747 for sponsored programs.

Recipients of grants for research are Robert D. Allen, biology, $148, 322 from the Public Health Service for "Studies on Selected Biological Movement Processes"; Lance Bosart, atmospheric sciences, $90, 200 from the National Science Foundation for "Winter Interactions of Mid-Latitude and Tropical Circulations"; Charles Edwards, biology, $1, 800 from the Heart Association of Eastern New York for "Potentials in Glycerinated Muscle Fibers"; Jai S. Kim, atmospheric sciences, $24, 000 from NSF for "Mid-Latitude Aurora and Related Phenomena"; Donald C. McNaught, biology, $20, 773 from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (sub-contract from Union Carbide Corporation) for "Zooplankton Production in Lake George" and $79, 000 from the Environmental Protection Agency for "Zooplankton Production in Lake Ontario As Influenced by Environmental Perturbation".

Also, Raymond G. Stross, biology, $23, 000 from RPI/UCC for "Primary Production of Lake George: Its Estimation and Regulation"; Henry Tedeschi, biology, $10, 400 from NSF for "Undergraduate Research Participation" and Harvey M. Fishman, biology, $21, 550 from PHS for "Fluctuation Phenomena and Ion Movements in Membranes".

Steven I. Pflanczer and Sanoma Nixon, of the School of Social Welfare, received $2, 747 from the Social and Rehabilitation Service for "Regional Conference on Aging".

May 11, 1973

* * * * *

SUNYA PROFESSOR TO DELIVER PAPER IN HUNGARY

Ernest R. Ranucci, professor of instruction/mathematics at State University of New York at Albany, has been invited to deliver a paper at the International Colloquium on the Theoretical Problems in the Teaching of Mathematics in the Primary Schools to be Held June 18-20 in Budapest, Hungary. His paper is entitled, "The Role of Space Perception in the Teaching of Mathematics at the Primary School Level".

Prior to joining the SUNYA faculty in 1965 Dr. Ranucci was chairman of the mathematics department at Newark State Teachers College, Union, N.J. He has traveled in Ecuador, Scotland, and Brazil on Fulbright program grants and also has followed professional pursuits in Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, and Paraguay. The educator has authored more than 30 articles on mathematics in various journals and periodicals.

* * * * *

May 11, 1973

Home address:
26 Vagele Lane, Glenmont

HEALTH DEPARTMENT LABORATORY

Workshops May 14-18 at SUNYA

An estimated 200 persons are expected to attend one or more of a five-day series of workshops planned for laboratory directors and personnel by the New York State and New York City health departments May 14-18 at State University of New York at Albany. Dr. William Lawton, principal research scientist with the State Department of Health, is program director.

The workshops are scheduled as follows: microbiology: non-fermentative gram-negative bacilli, May 14-18; mycobacteriology: acid-fast bacilli, May 14; parasitology, May 15; RPR card test for syphilis, May 16; demonstration and presentation on clinical laboratory latex tests, May 17; control and interpretation of serological tests, May 18.

The university sponsor of the workshop program is the department of biological sciences. During the week program participants will include personnel from the Division of Laboratories and Research, Albany; the Clinical Laboratory Center, also the Department of Health; the Long Island Jewish Medical Center; and from other Health Department offices.

May 11, 1973

ONE-DAY THEATRE SYMPOSIUM AT SUNYA

The New York Area U. S. Institute for Theatre Technology, Inc., will hold a one-day symposium on "Plastics in the Theatre" Saturday, May 19, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center. The program will be open to the public at no charge under a partial grant from the New York State Council on the Arts. No pre-registration is required.

The one-day meeting will demonstrate current technology in the use of foams, acrylics, fiber optics and vacuum forming techniques as they are applicable to use in the construction of theatrical scenery and properties. The day's activities will be led by Jim Bakkum of the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre, Minneapolis, Minn., and Nick Bryson, of the University of Wisconsin, two of the country's leading creative experts in the use of plastics as an art form for the theatre.

Co-sponsoring the program is SUNYA's theatre department. The session will take place in the Main Theatre.

* * * * *

May 11, 1973

Copy to 5/14/73 - Times Record, (general),
T-2, K-N WLOW, WTRY

SUNYA PERFORMING ARTS CENTER-RECITAL HALL
WEDNESDAY EVENING AT 8:30 P.M. - MAY 16, 1973

LOIS WHITEMAN, Pianist

LOIS WHITEMAN has studied with Carl Friedberg and Bruno Eisner in New York, and Ilse Fromm-Michaels in Hamburg. She has performed in many cities in Germany including Berlin and Hamburg, and has given recitals in London's Wigmore Hall. In the United States she has played in numerous eastern universities and has given many radio recitals. Miss Whiteman has given four Town Hall recitals in New York City since her debut there in 1965. Last year she performed at the New York Cultural Center and she will play her sixth New York recital May 19th at Carnegie Recital Hall.

PROGRAM

- Sonata A flat MajorHAYDN
Allegro moderato
Adagio
Finale Presto
- Variations on the name "Abegg" opus 1.....SCHUMANN
- Prelude, Chorale and FugueFRANCK

INTERMISSION

- Sonata IV opus 58KAROL RATHAUS
Allegro impetuoso
Andante
Allegro, ma non troppo
- From "Miroirs"RAVEL
Noctuelles
Oiseaux tristes
Alborada del Gracioso

Informal reception immediately following the concert

SUNY LIBRARIANS TO MEET AT ALBANY

More than 100 persons are expected to attend the annual conference of the State University of New York Library Association June 8-9 at State University of New York at Albany. Guest speaker at the opening dinner meeting June 8 will be State Senator Ronald Stafford, of Peru, who will discuss Legislative matters of particular interest to the librarians.

Four workshops are scheduled for June 9. They will be concerned with bibliographic data network; SUNY libraries as a public information network; meeting new demands by SUNY librarians in educational, technological, and political areas; and developing goals.

* * * * *

May 15, 1973

SUNYA DEAN ON NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Neil C. Brown, dean for student affairs at State University of New York at Albany, has been invited to become a member of the Career Information Review Service Committee of the National Vocational Guidance Association for a three-year term.

The CIRS is a working committee which provides evaluations of printed occupational information materials for publication in the Vocational Guidance Quarterly. Each member reviews from 10 to 40 pieces of literature on a quarterly basis and rates the materials according to guidelines established by the parent association.

Dean Brown has been a member of the Chancellor's Panel on University Purposes of State University of New York, the SUNY Board of Trustees Committee on Campus Governance, and the Executive Committee of the State University Faculty Senate.

* * * * *

May 15, 1973

Home address:
11 Fernbank Avenue, Delmar, N. Y.

Copy to Rudolph, Majors

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

SUNYA SCHOOL OF NURSING FACULTY MEMBER TO TAKE PART IN TELEVISED PROGRAM

Anne F. Rudolph, instructor in nursing at the School of Nursing, State University of New York at Albany, will conduct an initial series of eight programs on human sexuality to be offered on John Wolfe's "Coffee Break Show" by television station WAST, Channel 13, beginning June 1. The programs will continue the first and third Fridays of every month through September.

Among the topics to be discussed by Mrs. Rudolph will be sex education and the parents' role, helping parents understand their role in the sex education of children, helping parents understand their own sexuality, venereal diseases, and sex in aging persons.

The School of Nursing faculty member recently has conducted in the Capital District a number of instructional programs about human sexuality. They have included those at Albany Medical College, Shenendehowa Central School, and Catholic Central High School, Troy.

Mrs. Rudolph is chairman of the ad hoc committee on human sexuality of the Albany Chapter, Planned Parenthood Association, and also of the ad hoc committee on human sexuality at SUNYA. She is chairman of the education committee of District 9, New York State Nurses Association, and a member of the Council on Nursing Education at the association's state level. She received her basic training in nursing from Bellevue Schools of Nursing and has a Bachelor of Science in nursing education from Teachers College, Columbia University, and a Master of Science in maternal and child health from Russell Sage College.

* * * * *

SUNYA NEWS

H. David Van Dyck, Assistant to the President
Nathalie Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
OFFICE OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

*CORRECTION COPY

Note to Editor:

Please make the following correction in our release, Evan
R. Collins To Be Honored By Alumni Association, mailed May 15:
Second line from the bottom of page 1 the name should read
Mrs. Elaine Drooz Friedman.

Thank you.

Mailed 5/16/73 to:

City Desk: Times Record

T-V

K-N

Schenectady Gazette

Spotlight

WKOB

Alumni Assoc.

EVAN R. COLLINS TO BE HONORED BY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Evan R. Collins, for 20 years president of State College for Teachers at Albany, later State University of New York at Albany, will be honored by the university's Alumni Association Saturday, May 19, as "Citizen of the University". Dr. Collins, who served from 1949 to 1969, will be cited for "strength, compassion, presence, justice...and giving foresight and leadership to the growth from great college to great university" by William G. Floyd, association president, at a banquet Saturday evening in the Campus Center ballroom.

The former SUNYA president now is a member of the faculty of Boston College and a resident of Marblehead, Mass. In the afternoon, at 2:30, he will give the dedicatory address at ceremonies officially naming the Humanities Building for the late Edith O. Wallace, first chairman of the university's Division of Humanities.

Also to be presented at the Alumni Association banquet will be four Distinguished Alumni Awards given for achievement in one's chosen profession or field of endeavor, and/or outstanding service to society or community, or one of the two coupled with service to the university or to its Alumni Association. Recipients will be Elaine Drooz, Class of 1945, of Delmar; Mrs. Martha A. Egelston, '26, Albany; George Rice, '32, Indianapolis, Ind.; and Clifton C. Thorne, '49, Delmar.

Mrs. Friedman, assistant director of alumni affairs at SUNYA, has had a distinguished career in radio and television. In 1957 she was named by the Christian Science Monitor as one of the ten most influential broadcasters in the United States. Among other community activities Mrs. Friedman was founder and first chairman of the Citywide Brotherhood Month Program and served as vice president of the women's board of the Albany Boys Club.

Mrs. Egelston, who recently retired as professor of history at SUNYA, served in that capacity for 44 years. She has had a half-century association with SUNYA where she was chairman of the East Asian Committee and developed Chinese and Asian studies. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women".

Dr. Rice, a former Superior Court Judge, author, attorney, and educator, is considered an authority on Elizabethan English. He served as consultant for the 1970 edition of "Robert's Rules of Order - Revised" and is a trustee of the National Foundation for Education in American Citizenship.

Since 1971 Dr. Thorne has served as Vice Chancellor for University Affairs of State University of New York. For six years prior to that time he served as vice president for student affairs at SUNYA where he also was instrumental in broadening the scope of alumni affairs. He first joined the faculty of the university in 1952. Numerous community activities have included presidency of the board of managers of the Albany Home for Children.

Four Alumni Association awards for excellence in service will be presented at a luncheon on Alumni Day. At the affair in the Campus Center ballroom Julia Dolan, '04, Albany; Mrs. Lorena Shaffer Frevert, '26, Lindenhurst; Madeline Schnabel, '68, Delmar; and Mrs. Gladys Teetsell Van Allen, '21, Albany, will be honored for outstanding contributions to the Alumni Association.

Miss Dolan has served as class councillor for 34 years as well as on various committees for over 50 years. Mrs. Frevert has been class councillor since 1926, and has consistently supported the work of the Alumni Association. Miss Schnabel, class councillor since 1968, also has served in other capacities, including chairmanship of Alumni Day 1971. Mrs. Van Allen, a class councillor with 24 years of service, has been identified with innumerable alumni activities dating from soon after her graduation to the present.

* * * * *

May 15, 1973

SENATOR HUGHES TO ADDRESS DEGREE RECIPIENTS AT SUNYA

United States Senator Harold Hughes, of Iowa, will be the speaker at the 129th annual commencement program at State University of New York at Albany Saturday, May 26, at 2 p.m. when an expected 2,536 degrees will be conferred and 47 specialist in education certificates awarded. The program site will be the football field behind the Physical Education Building on the south side of the campus.

Degree candidates include 1,230 Bachelor of Arts; 612 Bachelor of Science, encompassing 304 in arts and sciences, 200 business, 65 education, 29 nursing, and 14 medical technology. Also, 647 master's degrees, encompassing 117 Master of Arts in arts and sciences; 73 Master of Arts, education; 51 Master of Arts, criminal justice; 14 Master of Arts, public affairs; 29 Master of Science, arts and sciences; 16 Master of Science, business; 265 Master of Science, education; 39 Master of Business Administration; 57 Master of Library Science; 19 Master of Public Administration; and 67 Master of Social Work.

Forty-seven doctoral degrees will be conferred for May 1973 as follows: one Doctor of Public Administration by the Graduate School of Public Affairs, 21 Doctor of Philosophy by the College of Arts and Sciences, two Doctor of Philosophy by the School of Education, three Doctor of Philosophy by GSPA, and 20

Doctor of Education by the School of Education. The 47 University Certificates will be awarded by the School of Education.

The May conferrals are in addition to the degrees granted in August 1972 and December 1972, including 603 bachelor degrees, 803 master degrees, 51 doctoral degrees, and nine specialist certificates.

For the academic procession, which begins at 1:30, the University Band will play Gustav Holst's "Moorside March." The program will open with "America, The Beautiful," to be followed by an invocation by Rev. Paul F. Engel, pastor of Blessed Sacrament Church, Albany.

Candidates for degrees will be presented to President Louis Benezet by Phillip Sirotkin, executive vice president and vice president for academic affairs; Louis Salkever, vice president for research and dean of graduate studies; L. Gray Cowan, dean, Graduate School of Public Affairs; John Farley, dean, School of Library and Information Science; Randolph Gardner, dean, School of Education; William Holstein, dean, School of Business; I. Moyer Hunsberger, dean, College of Arts and Sciences; Dorothy Major, dean, School of Nursing; Richard Myren, dean, School of Criminal Justice; Charles O'Reilly, dean, School of Social Welfare; and Seth Spellman, dean, James E. Allen, Jr., Collegiate Center.

Concluding the ceremony will be the singing of the Alma Mater and the benediction by Rev. Louis C. Brewer, pastor of Union Missionary Baptist Church, Albany. The recessional selection will be Sousa's "Nobles of the Mystic Shrine."

Senator Hughes is serving his first term in Congress after having served three terms as governor of Iowa. He is chairman of the special subcommittee of the Senate Labor and Public Affairs Committee, which is concerned with alcoholism and narcotics. He also chairs the Subcommittee on Drug Abuse in the Military. Senator Hughes twice was chairman of the Democratic Governors' Conference.

In the event of rain, the commencement ceremonies will be conducted in the Physical Education Building gym with only graduates and faculty present. Academic garb will be required for admission. Guests may view the event over closed circuit television.

Commencement day activities will begin at 10:30 a. m. with a concert by the University Wind Ensemble in front of the Performing Arts Center. From 10:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. there will be tours of university facilities, including the Art Gallery, Computing Center, Library, Nuclear Accelerator Laboratory, Educational Communications Center, and Atmospheric Sciences Research Center.

From 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. there will be a closed circuit television presentation in all lecture halls.

The traditional torch night ceremony will get underway Friday at about 8:45 p. m. on the front steps between the Administration and Fine Arts buildings where seniors will pass their torches to under classmen. Joining in the event will be President Benezet and the newly-elected president of the Alumni Association, Lloyd L. Kelly, of Greenwich, Conn. Mr. Kelly, soon will move to Binghamton to assume his new duties as president of the New York State Electric and Gas Corporation.

Following the ceremony there will be a senior class reception for graduating students and their guests on the Campus Center terrace.

* * * * *

May 22, 1973

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

SUNYA HEBREW TELEVISION PROGRAM ON CHANNEL 17

A non-credit course in Hebrew, produced by the Judaic studies department and the Educational Communication Center of State University of New York at Albany, will be presented by WMHT, Channel 17, starting Tuesday, May 29, on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 3:30 p. m.

The videotaped program for beginners without background in the Hebrew language was produced in the ECC studios for use on the SUNYA campus where the course has been taught for a year. Zvi Abbo, acting chairman of the Judaic studies department, is the lecturer.

There are 34 segments in the series. Professor Abbo has stated that anyone who follows the program should be able to acquire the fundamentals of reading and writing after five sessions. Additionally, there will be an opportunity for viewers to ask questions of the department and to request checking of written work.

The program is being offered on an experimental basis.

* * * * *

May 22, 1973

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

HOLD FOR RELEASE SATURDAY, P.M., MAY 26

BRITISH WEST INDIAN STUDENT RECEIVES NURSING DEGREE AT SUNYA

Anis Veronica Phillips, of Bequia, St. Vincent, British West Indies, is the first international student to be graduated from the School of Nursing at State University of New York at Albany. She received her nurse's pin at the school's third annual convocation ceremony held Saturday morning, May 26, in the Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center and in the afternoon she was the recipient of a Bachelor of Science at the 129th commencement program of the university.

Miss Phillips, a graduate of Bequia Anglican School, prior to completing her degree requirements did independent study in maternity nursing at Downstate Medical College, New York, where she explored the role of nurse-midwife. She stated she was interested in that particular aspect of nursing "because in my island midwifery is an integral part of the nursing curriculum".

The newly-graduated nurse plans to remain in the United States in order to gain required experience in maternity nursing to qualify for admission to either a certificate program in nurse midwifery or a master's degree program in maternal and child health with a certificate in nurse midwifery. "I've always been interested in nursing but I enjoyed maternity nursing the most in my training," she said. "Perhaps the primary reason for this is the satisfaction received from providing care for, and from moving to so close a relationship with, other human beings at so special a time in their lives."

-continued-

Miss Phillips said she had gained a tremendous amount of knowledge during her four years at SUNYA which she hoped to take home with her. She added, "I also hope, maybe, to function in a teaching capacity there as well as nursing so some of the concepts can be implemented in my own country".

* * * * *

May 22, 1973

REGIONAL CONFERENCE ON AGING AT SUNYA JUNE 3-5

The Institute of Gerontology of the School of Social Welfare, State University of New York at Albany, in cooperation with the university's Graduate School of Public Affairs, the College of General Studies, the School of Nursing, the School of Library and Information Science, and, with the New York State Office for the Aging, will conduct a three-day conference on professional services and special needs of the elderly. Sessions will be held June 3-5 at the SUNYA campus Lecture Center.

The keynote speaker opening the formal conference on Monday morning, June 4, will be Martin B. Loeb, director of the School of Social Work at the University of Wisconsin. He will speak on "Professional Services to the Aged - and the Use of Volunteers." Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, special consultant to the President on problems of the aging, will be the luncheon speaker. Dr. Flemming was Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare during the Eisenhower Administration, has served as president of Ohio Wesleyan University and of the University of Oregon, and has been the recipient of numerous degrees and honors for distinguished public service.

Two workshops are scheduled for the afternoon. The roles of the clergy, the social worker, the volunteer, and the aging will be led by Monsignor Charles Fahey, diocesan director of Catholic Charities, Syracuse. The second workshop will be devoted to the roles of the physician, the nurse, health-related services, and volunteers in working with the elderly. Leader for the workshop will be Dr. Raymond Vickers, gerontologist and associate professor of geriatrics at the Albany Medical Center. Other participants will include Rev. Robert T. Cobb, associate director of the New York State Council of Churches; Dr. Girard J. Craft of the Albany Medical College; Miss Dorothy Demby, program specialist with the American Foundation for the Blind of New York City; David Jeffreys, vice-president of the National Center for Voluntary Action, Washington, D. C.; Philip Johnston, executive secretary, New York State Board for Social Work; Mrs. Florence K. Kallen, director, Retired Senior Volunteer Program; Shirley Kane, assistant dean, School of Nursing, SUNYA; Sheldon Ornstein, past chairman, Gerontological Conference Group of the New York State Nursing Association; Mrs. Janet Sainer, director of programs for the Aging Community Service Society of New York City; and John Wagar, field representative, New York State Office for the Aging, Albany.

-continued-

The conference is a project of the Institute of Gerontology which is an interdisciplinary facility dedicated to research, instruction, and services to the community. It seeks to promote knowledge about social gerontology. The purpose of the conference is to examine the relationship between professional services and the needs of the elderly who are planning for, or are maintaining, a life style of independence in their own homes. Special attention will be paid to the use of volunteers by direct service professionals and to the development of regional resources.

Dr. Flemming was the national chairman of the recent White House Conference on Aging. His luncheon address will mark his first appearance at an open meeting in the Capital District. He will speak on the subject, "Programs, Planning - and New Development in Aging Services."

The registration fee for local participants desiring to attend the conference is $2 for the three days of activity with the exception of the luncheon, for which there will be a fee of $3. The selected number of guests of the conference will include retirees from counties within State University Region 3.

Additional information is available from Mrs. Dawna Bartlette, 472-7565, or from Mrs. Glendora Jacobson, 472-6720.

* * * * *

May 22, 1973

THIRD NURSES CONVOCATION AT SUNYA

The third annual convocation ceremony of the School of Nursing at State University of New York at Albany will be held Saturday, May 26, at 10 a. m. in the Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center where 29 student nurses will receive their pins. Martha Rogers, head of the Division of Nursing Education, New York University, will give the principle address.

Others taking part in the program will be Rev. Harold Baum, of the SUNYA campus ministry; Dean Dorothy Major; Mary Evans Hamdi, class advisor; Deborah Zahm, president of the Student Nursing Organization; and Hollis Edwards, president of the graduating class. Peter Laspiner will provide piano music.

At commencement exercises in the afternoon, the graduates will receive bachelor of science degrees.

* * * * *

May 22, 1973

NEWS SUNYA

Office of Community Relations

H. David Van Dyck, Director, Community Relations
Nathalie E. Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

ATTENTION EDITORS

Enclosed are lists by county of 197³ graduates of State University of New York at Albany. Those counties which your circulation area serves have been included for your use.

The lists are not as precise as we would prefer; however, an effort has been made to reconcile the differences where possible, and to insure that all those listed are in the appropriate county.

Degree abbreviations are as follows: B.A., Bachelor of Arts; B.S., Bachelor of Science; M.A., Master of Arts; M.S., Master of Science; M.A.A., Master of Business Administration; M.P.A., Master of Public Administration; M.S.W., Master of Social Work; M.L.S., Master of Library Science; Ed.D., Doctor of Education; D.P.A., Doctor of Public Administration; U.C., University Certificate; Ph.D., Doctor of Philosophy.

You also will note that the listing includes the graduate's major field.

May 22, 1973

SUNYA NEWS

H. David Van Dyck, Assistant to the President
Nathalie Lampman, Director, Information Services
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY
OFFICE OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

PICTURE POSSIBILITIES

SUNYA COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES 1973

- Friday, May 25 TRADITIONAL TORCH NIGHT
- 8:30 p. m. Ceremony front steps between Administration and Fine Arts buildings
- 9:10 p. m. Senior Class reception for graduating students and guests on Campus Center terrace
- Saturday, May 26 COMMENCEMENT DAY ACTIVITIES
- 10:30 a. m. University Wind Ensemble Concert front of Performing Arts Center
- 10:30 a. m. Tours of Fine Arts Gallery, Computing Center, Educational Communications Center, Library
to Nuclear Accelerator Laboratory
Atmospheric Sciences Research Center
- 1:00 p. m. Weather Map Room - Earth Science 332
Meteorological Observatory - Top of Mohawk
Tower, Indian Quad
- 11:30 a. m. Receptions front of Performing Arts Center, Campus Center, Library (Rain: 11:30 a. m. -
to 1:30 p. m., East, West, and South Lecture
1:00 p. m. Center Hallways)
- 1:00 p. m. Assemble for Procession - Physical Education Building
- 1:30 p. m. Academic Procession
- 2:00 p. m. Commencement football field.

Don Weaver, DE TODAY

Editor, Business Ed. World

" , Journal of Business Ed.

Maudlyn Gustafson-Laraire

Gillette, Sincerely Yours

Editor, The Spotlight

" , American Vocational

Journal W/O Pif

Editor, Business Ed. Forum

Editor, The Balance Sheet
" , Alumni News
Editor, Eastern Post-Opinion Assn.
" , Delta Pi Epsilon News
" , News, Notes, & Quotes
" , Collegiate News-Views
" , The Belvidere Times-Tribune
" , A Lumbi News-Susquehanna
" , The Titusville Herald