In regard to Thesis II, we are attempting the impossible by trying to analyse the temper of Student Association. Uncontrollable factors such as time, speakers and attitudes influence voting. We believe all these entered into the voting Friday. By this we do not mean to say the students did not know for what they were voting. However, it would seem that the students did not consider ity, I'll take the blame of being a letters which have no signatures, their vote as for or against the Council.

Such a controversy as this should never have occurred. Student Council is not certain of its powers and Student Association is not sure of the powers it wishes Student Council to have. While the work of the Council is not seriously impaired by last Friday's vote, the Council has been handed a set-back. The question of Student Council power is becoming more urgent since the formation of the working, interested body we now have. It is therefore necessary that some decision be reached as to what the Council will and will not be empowered to do. This should certainly be one of the most important considerations in the revision of the Constitution.

Soph Eds. Swelter, Slave, As News Copy Vanishes

Writing and planning a newspaper once is trouble enough. but this week seven haggard Sophs had to put out the News

It all began in the wee hours f Thursday morning when several stories were put on the train for Hudson, where the paper is printed. The copy, however, went sailing right through the town and is probably on its way to Florida now. By noon yesterday the P.O. was in an uproar as the Sophs were faced with the prospect of not having their issue until next week.

Several rapid phone calls followed and it was decided to go to Hudson en masse and rewrite the missing stories. At 1:041/2 the staff tore through the Railroad station and caught the 1:05 train for Hudson.

The tradition of the News was upheld as they entrained for home late that night, secure in the knowledge that the paper

Original Dance Will Interpret Europe's Struggle Co-Chairmen Kunz, Bittner; Script Writer, Conley

The Page Hall stage will be the scene of a musical production, "Highlights In Footlights," tomorrow night at 8:30. This unique musical, sponsored by the Sophomores, was written by James Conley in an attempt to depict America in its various stages of development. Song and dance arrangements date from America's first era of expansion and follow through to the Co-chairmen

Lorna Kunz and Betty Jane Bittner are co-chairmen of this event in the Bib '8' series. Ten committee heads support the two co-chairmen, assisted by a large representation of the class on each committee.
