Assembly Passes On Constitution; Vote Resolutions

Friedlander Heads Meeting; Radical Changes are Newest Features

Introduction of an anti-teacher's oath resolution, and the adoption of a motion providing for an attempt at organizing similar bodies in other capital district colleges constituted the main business of the Constitutional assembly when it held its annual bi-weekly meeting in Room 20, Tuesday, November 16.

Under speaker Leonard Friedlander's direction, the assembly adopted the report of the rules committee, headed by William Bradt, '38, which had framed a constitution for the group.

Resolutions introduced at the session include the following: "Resolved, there be reappointment of assembly districts every ten years following and according to the federal census, and (2) that the governor be given special power to enforce this provision."

"Resolved, that this Assembly oppose the inclusion in the New York State Constitution of a teacher's oath."

"Resolve that the speaker appoint a committee to consult with capital district colleges on the advisability of organizing a convention in each of the colleges of this district. This was unanimously adopted at the session, while the other resolutions were referred to hearing committees for further consideration."

In addition to the resolutions, the Assembly voted to give the speaker full power to appoint committees. In accordance with this power, Speaker Friedlander announced that he would appoint a committee of eight members to attend a meeting of the Superintendents and Principals of New York State, meeting in the Lounge December 4, at 9:30 a. m. to discuss the part of "The Constitutional Convention in Secondary Education."

Betty Hayford, '39, chairman of the labor relations committee announced a hearing on the resolution calling for a bill of rights for labor, on Tuesday noon, November 23, in Room 109.

Attending the session, in addition to the large group of State students, were several representatives from the Hackett junior high school social studies classes.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, November 23, at 3:30 in Room 20.

Board Names Six As Desk Editors

Sophomores on News Staff Receive Advancement From Reporters

In a meeting conducted Wednesday night, the News Board selected six sophomores to serve as sophomore desk editors for the remainder of the school year, according to Sophie Wolzok, editor-in-chief of the STATE COLLEGE NEWS. Those who were promoted include: Robert Cogger, Saul Greenwald, Otto Howe, Leonard Kowalsky, David Minsberg, and Sally Young.

Each year during November, from four to six sophomore reporters are selected to this position. Their advancement is based on the amount of work done during the year, the quality of this work, and the general interest evinced in journalism.

From these six desk editors three associate managing editors will be selected in May from whom, in turn, will be selected the editor-in-chief and two managing editors who will serve in this capacity in their senior year.

Assistants to the Sports department will be announced in the near future. All those students (sophomores and juniors) who are interested in either men's or women's sports are asked to report to the News office on Monday and Tuesday nights to try out.

Classes to Clash In Rivalry Sing

Assembly Program Features Rivalry Song Contest By Lower Classes

The Student assembly will feature a sophomore-freshman sing, according to Warren Densmore, '38, president. Each class will offer four songs including the Alma Mater, own class song, other Class' song, and Arm in Arm. The judges for the sing will be Dr. Hicks, professor of guidance, Mrs. Egelston, instructor in history, and Miss Peitz, instructor in English.

Well! all the practicing is over now. After many rehearsals and much hard work, both classes are fairly aching for the contest and are ready to tear each other apart.

There is some doubt in the minds of the '41ers as to how the singing will be accepted by the student body. Stan Smith, president of '41 says "Juniors and seniors, please note— all overripe fruit must be checked at the doors." Lloyd Kelly '40, president of the sophomores told us that he agrees heartily with Mr. Smith in this respect but differs with him in many others.

Both classes will win easily. Lloyd Kelly, representing the soph opinion about the sophomore throats remarks "the sophomore class is in E-1 condition (E equals excellent; 1 equals first place). The only way we can lose is to have them all throats" cut. Stan Smith for the freshmen says, "It's a toss-up, with the freshman tossing up the sophs. Kelly's cohorts stand as much chance as a hair on a billiard ball. We wish to make an appeal to your sense of fair play to protect the sophs."

Both Marys (Trainor and Miller) are hard at work leading their respective classes on the harmony, melody, rhythm and victory in assembly today. The sophomore songs are, Alma Mater, To the Sophs, To the Fresh and Arm in Arm. The freshman songs are, Alma Mater, To the Fresh, Viva La Sophomores, and Arm in Arm.

Support Red Cross

Sponsored by Myskania, the annual Red Cross drive will be under way in State College on November 22 and 23.

The Red Cross needs no explanation, apology or proof of its benefits to be put before the public. This same public has seen the Red Cross in the headlines innumerable times, working in regions from which other beings fled in terror.

Naturally, an organization of this sort has to depend upon the unselfish contributions from those who wish to help, many of these people realizing that they may be prospective users of this same fund.

On Cross Country

With the basketball season almost upon us, it seems a fitting time to say something about cross country. From a minor extra-class sport existing only for the few who were interested in running against their own records, it has grown in power and prestige until it may now be said to be one of State's major sports.

The record of last year's and this past season's successes is sufficient evidence to establish the validity of the claim. The planned schedule for next year will establish the sport in State college and State college in the sports world.

Personal Viewpoints

Commentstater

We have heard in the past rumbles of rebellion against the current curriculum in State college. Through carrying out what Dr. Brubacher's letter suggested last week, these critics have a chance to express their opinion and they may constructively improve the organization of the school.

Of course, it goes without saying that we are not dealing in personalities but in the construction of a schedule of activities that will adequately prepare State's students for the job of teaching.

A problem of any college, we have always felt, is the fact that we do lose touch with the outside world. We become too engrossed in our petty problems such as: who are we going to take to prom?

And now thanks for Thanksgiving. It comes at just the right time—when your nerves are beginning to become coffeeish and you're beginning to lose your perspective. Work, either at studies or on frittering time away has caused most of us to become exhausted and droopy so that when the old twelve o'clock bell rings next Wednesday we're going to feel as happy as the Commons crowd always seems to be.

Another thing that we're afraid of is that the student body may be losing interest in the Constitutional assembly. It really has been stressed a lot but we think the main trouble is too much time being spent on trivia and not enough speed towards the ultimate ends of the assembly.

We felt that the set for that type play might have been more interesting. And, please, costume committee, a more careful attention to colors. The peach and red in the opening scene was probably Bohemian but it was a little hard on the eyes.

Miss Lockwood's play was such a difficult undertaking that she is to be congratulated for the wonderful smoothness and effectiveness of the performance. Several men new to State's stage made an appearance, and we are looking forward to seeing more of them.

Mr. Weiss has a fine voice, and seemed well-suited to that rugged type of part. His scenes with his wife, however, were better than the ones with the sailors. In those latter scenes we felt that he might have been much harsher, and more cruel.

Men Will Receive Fraternity Bids

Section C. All bids must be returned to the Interfraternity council by 12:35 o'clock of the first Monday after Thanksgiving day.

Section D. No bids shall be issued to freshmen between the first Monday before Thanksgiving Day and the first day of the second semester.

State's Stage

Bouquets And Brickbats. PLAYGOER.

Tuesday evening's plays were received by another large audience. We are glad to see that the plays are being so well-attended, for the class is continuing to do a great many worthwhile things.

Miss Hayford was very well cast and made the character she portrayed a convincing one. Mr. Walsh acted a bit too much on the college-boy type, but he had some very good spots, especially in the last scene.

Too much of the play, however, was played far up stage with the actors hidden by furniture. Many stage pictures, too, were confused.

We felt that the set for that type play might have been more interesting. And, please, costume committee, a more careful attention to colors.

Miss Lockwood's play was such a difficult undertaking that she is to be congratulated for the wonderful smoothness and effectiveness of the performance.

The set was really fine, and definitely in keeping with the mood of the play, but, although the first impression of the lighting seemed to strike just the right note, we began to regret it as the play went on.

Again, we are glad to see the class attempting ambitious things, and we hope that they continue to receive the fine support of the student body and their friends.

State Harriers Lose Last Meet To Delhi Aggies

Victors Set New Record; Wilczynski of State Comes in Second

Marring the Purple and Gold's long string of victories, a strong, well balanced Delhi team nosed out the State Harriers, 20-35, at the same time breaking a two year record for the 2.3 mile distance to take the final meet of the season last Saturday afternoon.

Two years ago the Rams led the record of 13:45 for the 2.3 mile Washington course broken by Cary of Delhi who came in the time breaking 12:41.

Starting over a muddy, slippery course in the rain, the two teams alternately took the lead until at the halfway mark at the penitentiary, the Rams, in close team formation, took a commanding lead over the Purple and Gold.

With the finish coming closer the State Harriers increased their pace to catch up with the Hillbillies, and during the last mile both teams were sprinting, the Rams to keep their advantage, and the Peds to cut their opponents' lead.

With the excellent prospect of having six or seven meets next year, plus the fact that the team loses only one man through graduation, things look very bright for the team next year.

According to Joe McKeon, '40, head of the sophomore eleven, the game will be played under the regular intercollegiate football rulings with the exception that there'll be no tackling.

I agree that your analogy of the great sophomore team of Roekne and our college basketball team was apt. I also agree that the event of M. A. A. The speaker of the evening was Miss Ruth Abernathy of the State Hygiene Department, Division of Physical Education.
