Can You Shorten That Work-Week Of 48 Hours?

"I've had a headache for weeks."
"I never get a chance to relax."

"I had to take a day off to buy some clothes, or I would have had to join a nudist colony."

Those are typical comments heard around U. S. Government agencies since the 6-day, 48-hour week became a necessity to keep up with the extra work and the lowered personnel caused by the war.

And there has been an increase in absenteeism, and in some cases a drop in efficiency since the new work plan was started.

Officials and workers alike are dissatisfied with the present set-up, but it's hard to find a satisfactory change.

Suggestions

It's necessary to work forty-eight hours to get the work done, but some suggestions have been made to shift hours or days around to allow more leisure time.

One suggestion is that each day be stretched forty minutes which would allow Saturday afternoons to be taken off and not reduce working time.

Another is that one Saturday a month be given off to allow time to do some shopping, or visit the dentist, or just relax.

Shopping leaves to be given to employees who can show their threadbare condition is due to lack of time to buy anything, is also suggested.

Officials and employees would be glad to try some solution to the 48-hour headaches.

If you have any ideas on the subject, send them to The LEADER. There must be some way to get the 48 hours in, and the complications out.

Mahoney Trophy To Servicemen

The Jeremiah T. Mahoney trophy will be awarded to the member of the armed forces making the highest score at the annual Carnival of Sports of the Grover Cleveland Athletic Club which will be held at McCombs Dam Park, 161st Street and River Avenue, the Bronx, on Saturday, June 6, starting at 2 p.m. Admission is free.

Other prizes will be a gold plated sterling silver die medal to first place winners, a sterling silver die medal to second, and a bronze die medal to third. The Civil Service LEADER trophy will be awarded to the organization scoring the most points.

Only amateurs will be admitted to the competition, which will be run under A.A.U. regulations. Events will include running distances from 100 yards Civil service organizations and individuals who want to enter may file with Herman Obertusung, attendant to Supreme Court Justice Felix Benvengea, at the Hotel Wellington, 7th Avenue and 55th Street, before May 29.

Move Gaining To Work 1 Hour On Memorial Day

WASHINGTON.—At least two Federal agencies will observe Memorial Day by working an hour extra on May 31 as a tribute to their war dead.

They are Soil Conservation Service, with about 7,000 employees, and Civil Service Commission with 6,000. In both agencies, employees seized upon the proposal, and asked their superiors for permission to work the extra hour.

Meantime, in several other agencies, the move reportedly was gaining headway at week's end.

Job-Freeze Hits All Govt. Employees In New York Area, Beginning This Week

A Manpower Stabilization Plan, implementing the President's "Hold-the-Line" order of April 8, was improved last week by the Labor-Management War Manpower Committee for the New York City area, and will replace the limited plan previously in effect. The new program, which drastically affects civil service employees, begins to operate on Thursday, May 27.

Under the arrangement, all workers employed in essential activities listed by the War Manpower Commission, must secure a statement of availability, or release, before they can transfer to another job at higher, lower or the same wages. Government services are included among the essential activities. Strictly interpreted, this means that no Government employee—City, State, or Federal—working in the New York area may leave his job without obtaining a "statement of availability." Manpower officials this week told The LEADER that the order would be strictly interpreted in every case. It is expected that Mayor LaGuardia will shortly issue a directive dealing with City employees.

Remains Essential

Should an essential employee leave his job without a statement of availability, he remains an essential employee for a period of 30 days. Thus, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, Regional Manpower Director, points out that any employer who gives him a job during that period at a higher wage rate is violating not only the New York City plan but also the McNutt regulations, thereby making himself subject to the penalties provided.

Thus, for example, an Investigator in the Welfare Department earning $40 a week isn't permitted to quit his job and take one (let's say) as an accountant in a clothing store at $45 a week. If he does, his new employer would be subject to penalties.

The only way he could do it is by quitting his Welfare job and waiting 30 days; or by obtaining a release.

Releases cannot be granted solely on the ground that a worker will receive a higher salary or wages in his new job, Mrs. Rosenberg says. In general, according to the terms of the program, "statements of availability must be issued when such issuance will be in the best interests of the war effort, or where denial would result in undue hardship and issuance will not be adverse to the best interest of the war effort." Thus, if a subway worker, say, or an employee in the U. S. Office of Dependency Benefits, wanted to take a job in private industry merely to get higher pay, that wouldn't be permitted. If he would be doing more for the war effort in his new job, however, he would be considered for a release.

When Release Is Granted

The following specific grounds for the issuance of releases are given:

1. When the employee is discharged or laid off for a period of 7 days or more, or for an indefinite period.
2. When the employee has been employed for a substantial period at less than full time.
3. When the employee is competent to perform higher skilled work than his employer is able or willing to provide.
4. When the distance between the employee's residence and his present place of employment is unreasonably great, considering restrictions on the use of gasoline and tires and the availability of transportation facilities.
5. When the employee has compelling personal reasons for wishing to change his employment.

6. When the employee is employed at wages which are defined as sub-standard by the War Labor Board.

7. To permit movement from essential industry within the area to essential industry in out-of-town shortage areas at the same skill; each decision to be made in light of the replaceability of the employee transferred and the labor supply in the specific occupation involved.

If an employer fails or refuses to give an essential employee a release, the United States Civil Service Commission or the War Manpower Commission may issue one after due investigation, including consultation with the employer concerned. (In the case of employees in private industry, they go to the United States Employment Service instead of the Civil Service Commission.)

Influx of Workers

The influx of labor from other areas is controlled by a paragraph which states that "no employer, labor union, or any other organization within the New York City area may hire, rehire, solicit or recruit workers outside the following areas: New York City, Nassau and Suffolk Counties, Rockland County, Westchester County, Putnam County, Fairfield County, Connecticut; Hudson, Essex, Union, Bergen, Passaic, Morris, Middlesex and Somerset Counties, New Jersey;" except in accordance with standards, methods or conditions established by the War Manpower Commission, or after clearance through and approved by the United States Employment Service." Officials at War Manpower said that this would not seriously affect recruiting of employees in New York City.

The official announcement says:

"All employers, employees and other persons or groups affected by the plan are expected to cooperate with the area committee in an aggressive program for the reduction of absenteeism, full utilization of in-plant and pre-employment training, increased utilization of women, minority groups, handicapped and other groups, upgrading and job dilution, and the utilization of manpower at maximum skills," says the War Manpower Commission. This would apply particularly to such agencies as the Board of Transportation.

How to Do It

If you're now working for the Government, these are the steps you must take if you want to leave for another job:

First, go to your appointing officer and ask him for a statement of availability. Tell him your reasons for desiring to leave. If he refuses—

Second, go to the War Transfer Unit of the Federal Civil Service Commission at 641 Washington Street. State your case. The U. S. Commission has authority to over-rule your department. The Federal Commission acts for the War Manpower Commission, and serves for City, State and U.S. employees. If you fail to get a release here, then Third, appeal to the War Manpower Commission, at 11 West 42d Street, Manhattan. You may address your letter of appeal directly to Anna Rosenberg, Regional Director.

Draft Deferment

So far as draft deferment for New York City employees is concerned, the procedure is this:

The department first submits the name and title of the employee whose deferment is desired to Newbold Morris, Council President and City Manpower executive.

Morris decides whether or not a request for deferment on occupational grounds is merited. If not, he so informs the depart-

U. S. Will Train and Pay Young Men for War Work

If you've reached the age of 16 but haven't met your 17th birthday, the United States Government may have a place for you. The program calls for you to learn a trade useful in the war effort, get paid while learning, and then step into a position at higher salary with opportunities for advancement.

Title of the position opened last week by the United States Civil Service Commission is Apprentice, Mechanical Trades. The government plans to train young men in the following trades:

- | | |
|-------------|--------------|
| Blacksmith | Painter |
| Boatbuilder | Patternmaker |
| Boilermaker | Pipefitter |
| Coppersmith | Sailmaker |
| Electrician | Sheetmetal |
| Joiner | Worker |
| Loftsmen | Shipfitter |
| Machinist | Shipwright |
| Molder | Toolmaker |

Pay and Promotion

Pay while learning is $4.64 a day. Apprentices who satisfactorily complete their course of training will be advanced to $7.52 a day. And opportunities for promotion will continue.

The requirements are these, in addition to the one-year

bracket:

- 1.—Citizenship.
- 2.—Applicants must measure at least 5 feet in height and weigh at least 100 pounds.
- 3.—Applicants must be able to read and write sufficiently well to understand directions.

There are no educational requirements, but boys who have had vocational school or practical training will be given preference in appointment.

Applicants will be given an examination, known as a mechanical aptitude test, containing problems of simple arithmetic, simple mechanics, and spatial relations. The test will require 45 minutes to complete.

Application forms are available at the office of the Recorder, Labor Board, U. S. Navy Yard, Brooklyn, N. Y.; or from the Second Civil Service District, 641 Washington Street, New York City. Ask for U. S. Civil Service Card Form 4,000-ABC.

P. O. Custodial Employees in Line For Pay Raise

WASHINGTON.—An estimated 40,000 custodial employees of the Post Office Department stand to get pay raises under a new bill now pending in Congress.

These employees were included at the last minute in the bill which provided a $300-per-year bonus for postal workers.

However, because of a quirk in the law, they are denied the over time pay which goes to other Federal workers. Also, they are denied the night differential which some postal employees receive.

The new bill would correct both matters. It now has the approval of both Budget Bureau and the Post Office Department. Its chances are considered excellent.

U. S. Employees May Have to Wait for Pay

By CHARLES SULLIVAN
WASHINGTON.—A legislative log-jam is threatening Federal agencies, and the pay checks of Federal employees.

Congress is far behind in its work. Not in the memory of the oldest official here have so many appropriations bills remained still un-passed at this late date in the year.

At week's end, not a single major bill had been acted upon. This raised the possibility that many agencies will find themselves without funds when the fiscal year expires June 30.

The probable solution, however, is this: In all likelihood, Congress will pass continuing resolutions enabling the agencies to go on spending at the current rate until the new bills have been approved. That has been the custom in the past.

The unfortunate possibility is, however, that this time there may be a slip. And then you'll have to wait for your pay.

Promotions In Absentia

WASHINGTON.—Credit for one of the best employee relations ideas of the year goes to the Soil Conservation Service.

It has 2,500 men in the armed services. In the last few months it has granted promotions, in absentia, to 149 of them. In other words, SCS is making sure that its employees are not being penalized for being in a uniform. When a promotion opportunity comes up, those who are away at war get the same consideration as if they were still on their Government job.

DPUI Office in NYC Faces Shake-Up And Severe Reduction in Personnel

Exclusive

ALBANY—Geared to handle more than 100,000 claims when the number now is running only between 25,000 and 30,000, the "over-staffed" staff of the Department of Placement and Unemployment Insurance is due for a shake-up and severe cut in personnel by July 1, it was revealed this week.

This is the program as presently shaping up:

1—The number of DPUI offices in New York City will be reduced from 26 to 10. No reduction in offices upstate since DPUI shares quarters of USES.

2—Because of increased activity in June (which is the turning-point of the benefit year when unemployment insurance claimants file for benefits on the basis of 1942 incomes), there will be a jump in temporary personnel.

3—To the staff of 267 permanent employees in DPUI offices in New York City will be added approximately 180 temporaries to handle the June business.

4—On July 1, all the temporaries will be dismissed and the permanent staff will be reduced from 267 to 168. Upstate the personnel will be reduced from 95, including 75 permanents, to about 65.

5—Employees in New York City who will be laid off include managers (more than a dozen in the highest grade); senior and assistant claims examiners; employment interviewers; and assistant clerks; assistant and junior stenographers and junior and assistant typists.

Few to Be Hurt

But DPUI officials declare they believe few employees actually will be hurt. The reasons they give for this conclusion are these:

DPUI is now making a canvass to determine how many of its employees who may be affected by the layoff are likely to be summoned to military service within the next six or eight weeks; the division is actively promoting leaves of absence for war industry jobs by which some employees, due for layoff, will go into private employment under guarantees that they may return to State service through a special eligible list after the war; and because other bureaus of the DPUI may absorb many of those who may be let out. A meeting between DPUI officials and SCMA representatives in New York City confirmed that few may be hurt.

Their Status

The question has been raised about the relative status of DPUI and USES employees who are laid off so far as preferred lists are concerned. Counsel to the State Civil Service Commission said that this presents no problem. He said persons laid off either by DPUI or USES would go on a merged list with seniority prevailing. In any event, he added, present lists are either exhausted or unsatisfactory. Canvassing gets no results. Credit is given he said for time served in USES.

"Layoffs through no fault of the individual do not mean loss of any rights or privileges," he added. "No seniority is lost because in these cases the employee is merely suspended, not separated, from the service, until the list expires."

To Get Crack at Other Jobs

DPUI official employees in claims jobs who are laid off will be given a crack at payroll examiner jobs, where there are more than 100 vacancies, due to the draft and because many are going into higher paying federal revenue positions. There will be a "substantial" number of steno, typist and clerical jobs open upstate also, but it is not believed that many will care to transfer from New York.

Jobs Can Be Found

The opinion of DPUI officials is that jobs can be found for the bulk of those laid off and that those qualified by previous training, even though having held lesser jobs, will be welcomed into the higher paying positions in the tax and wage records bureau—which is begging for help.

Late last week, representatives of the SCMWA met with Milton O. Loysen, Executive Director of the DPUI, on the issue of the prospective firings. Mr. Loysen, according to the union, agreed that there would be no firings until it was seen if those scheduled to go could be placed elsewhere. He also found reason to assert that it would probably be unnecessary to dismiss those below the titles of claims examiner. The union men brought up, too, the question: What happens to the vacation and accrued annual leave of those who may have to be let go? To this Loysen said that he would try to have them paid out of special Social Security funds.

This is our favorite LaGuardia photo. Last week, the City Council gave him more headaches by slicing more than $10,000,000 off the budget. But Butch, as happens so often, will have the last word. For he'll veto the cuts, and the Council can't muster enough members to over-ride that veto. Badly mauled under the Council cuts would have been Welfare and Sanitation. The report on the cuts was such that one official, interested in learning whether Sunday pay for sanitation would be eliminated, got a Yes answer from one member of the Council's Finance Committee, a No answer from a second member, and a shoulder-shrug from a third.

City Budget Cuts Would Slice Promotion Chances

The City Council last Friday acted on the 1943-44 budget, cutting down the amount to be spent on personal services by almost $7,000,000, but not changing the provisions which affect employees of the City, according to Joseph E. Kinsley, chairman of the body's committee on finance.

The $8,000,000 provided for increases to City employees was left intact, stated Mr. Kinsley. Funds are allowed for Sunday pay to employees of the Department of Sanitation; the $1,200 minimum pay for employees also retained, and the pay-raise schedule is not affected.

The report of the Council Committee which considered the budget and introduced the reductions to the Council says, "with few exceptions no positions presently filed have been eliminated or reduced."

The exceptions, explained members of the committee, "are some generals in the Emergency Defense Bureau who have been liquidated."

Unfilled Positions Out

The savings indicated in the Council's version of the Budget have been made by eliminating practically all unfilled positions in the Budget, and making no provisions to fill military vacancies.

On the surface this would seem to eliminate the jobs for temporary patrolman and temporary fireman for which the Civil Service Commission gave examinations a short time ago. Questioned about this, Mr. Kinsley said that the Departments still had ample funds to hire these men if it desired.

Those on Military Leave

Another change in the budget which resulted in a large decrease was the reduction of positions of employees on military leave to a book salary of $1 for the coming fiscal year.

Vice-Chairman Joseph T. Sharkey of the Council said this was done to prevent the accumulations of funds in the various departments which could not be used for the purpose indicated. (The previous budget has carried military accruals at their full salary).

One newspaperman pointed out to Mr. Sharkey that if the war were to end tomorrow, the service men would return and find themselves working for a salary of $1 a year.

Citing the experience of the last war, after which it took between six and nine months after the armistice for City employees to return to their jobs, the vice-chairman discounted the possibility of any service men returning during the life of this budget and finding themselves working at the that rate of pay.

(There seems to be no provision made for men now in the Army (Continued on Page Five)

The Committee which the Mayor set up to study the employee situation in the Board of Transportation, headed by Dean Ignatius M. Wilkinson of the Fordham Law School has recommended that a deputy commissioner be named in the Board to head a Department of Labor Relations.

The first step towards this goal came when the Municipal Civil Service Commission, after holding public hearings on the matter, approved the creation of this position. The Mayor then gave his O.K. and it passed to the State Civil Service Commission who haven't yet given their approval.

Maguire to Accept

Magistrate Edward C. Maguire, it has been revealed, will resign from the Magistrate's Court bench and accept the $1,200 a year position as soon as all the red tape has been untangled.

He has a wide reputation as an expert on labor law, and acted as counsel for several unions during his legal career. It is regarded as a certainty

The Board is reported to be working on a resolution defining the authority of the new officer. He may be given full powers to negotiate with unions and other employee groups on wages, hours and working conditions. He may be placed in full charge of hearings and have (Continued on Page Five)

Physical Tests End for Certain Park Dept. Jobs

The Municipal Civil Service Commission last week decided to discontinue medical and physical tests for those on the preferred list for temporary playground director, school farm attendant, life guard, and chief life guard. This was done at the request of the Parks Department, which pointed out that very few eligibles had been disqualified by the medical and physical tests, and that elimination of the tests would help the department in meeting present day difficulties in recruiting eligibles.

Auto Enginemen Below 1000 on List Have Job Chance

Here's some news for men on the eligible list for auto engineman. The Municipal Civil Service Commission last week decided to canvass the list and find out which eligibles on the list below No. 1,000 would be interested in accepting temporary jobs with the city. The Municipal Civil Service Commission last week decided to canvass the list and find out which eligibles on the list below No. 1,000 would be interested in accepting temporary jobs with the city. Those men who answer that they will consider temporary appointments will be given a practical test very soon in the operation of a passenger car, and will be in line for jobs driving light trucks and ambulances.

Speedy Placement Seen for Those On Grade 1 List

Here's some good news for those 4,409 people on the clerk, grade 1 list who are waiting for their jobs with the city to come through. The Certification Bureau of the Civil Service Commission says that it is taking a canvass of the list to find out just who is available to start work. They expect to have their replies in by the end of next week, and then will begin certifying the names to the various city departments which have jobs in this title filled by provisionals (temporary non-civil service appointees), and other vacancies.

750 Provisionals

There are about 750 provisionals who will be replaced by permanent employees during the next few weeks. In addition, other appointments will be made to fill jobs in this capacity which are vacant now, but which are provided for in the budget. The regular starting salary for the position is $960 a year, but according to the new budget the salary will jump to $1,200 a year on July 1. This raise is provided for the duration. If there are any persons on the list who are ready to work for the city, chances are that they will be offered other jobs in the same salary range if they are not reached for appointment as clerks. The Civil Service Commission has indicated that it will probably use the list for other jobs.

McLoughlin Wins Merit Award

Joseph F. McLoughlin, Chief Clerk of the Appellate Term, Superior Court, and a LEADER Merit Man, has been awarded the Medal of Merit by the Federation of Irish Societies of the City of New York. The award was granted in recognition of his life-long service to cultural, welfare, and similar activities.

Other Cities Set Up Spare-Time Job Plans For Civil Service Help—And It Works

The City officials of San Diego are cooperating with local aircraft plants in providing "half shifts" of City employees who work four hours each evening at the close of their regular working hours. The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation is using 300 boys of 16 and 17 as part-time plane builders. Under arrangement with the schools, the boys work four weeks and attend school for four weeks.

Sweeping Country
The spare-time job plan to bring victory sooner by utilizing every source of manpower and womanpower in the nation, is sweeping all sections of the country.

One St. Louis department store was facing the usual labor difficulty. Employees were going into the armed forces, others into war industry. Here's a novel angle they tried: With every statement the store sent out, they enclosed a suggestion to their customers that they could find jobs at the store to fit almost any amount of spare-time.

"It worked," said the store. The LEADER has surveyed the job field again this week and is listing below a selection of spare-time leads, open to civil service employees and others. Apply directly to the places mentioned. If you want more help in finding the spare-time job for which you are best fitted, and where you can do the most to help the war effort, come in and see Mrs. Matilda B. Miller, our job-guidance advisor. This personal service is free to subscribers of The LEADER.

This Week's List
Here is this week's selection of spare-time jobs:

- Boys and Girls for War Work
They are needed to learn to repair simple mechanical war devices. They can fit working hours into their school program. They can work a few hours in the morning or afternoon, or full-time after school stops. The starting pay is 40 cents an hour. There is an opportunity for advancement, and 60 cents is paid for overtime work. For full information call or write to the Markwell Manufacturing Co., Room 1107, 200 Hudson Street.
- Watchmakers
Experienced watchmakers are wanted for evening work until 9 or 10 p.m.
- Men and Women Typists
Here's a letter and shop needs 3 or 4 typists to address envelopes. They are open 24 hours a day and can use these typists for as many hours as they want to put in. Pay is on a piece-work basis. Apply to the Raymond Service, 80 East 11th Street.
- Woman Cashiers
Two are needed at Roger Kent men's clothing stores. Hours are from 1 to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The salary is fairly high, and all they require is some general clerical experience. Apply to their personnel office at 17 East 45th Street in person.
- This Looks Good
Executive type salesmen are needed to call on large manufacturers, employee groups and civic organizations with this proposition: Through arrangement with the manufacturers, Camel Cigarettes will be sent to servicemen envelopes. The cost to the sponsoring person or organization is five cents a pack, and each pack is imprinted with the name of the donor. The Louis B. Yacht Syndicate furnishes leads and pays a liberal commission on all deals which are closed. The salesman who arranges the initial contract gets a percentage on future business. See Mr. J. P. Felton, at 220 West 42nd Street. It might be well to phone first at WI. 7-3822.

3-A Fireman Case Comes Up Again in Court This Week

The case of the Firemen eligibles who were passed over when appointments to the Fire Department were made on September 16, 1942, will be heard before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in New York on May 28. The remainder of the group will be entitled to appointment in the department if their suit is successful. One hundred and forty-six men were originally denied appointment to the department, although otherwise qualified because they were then in 3-A, and the Department feared that they might be drafted. David Savage, attorney for the 48 men of this group who started legal action, contends that refusing them appointment was illegal.

Half in Service
About half of the men are now in military service, and the action if successful will get them retroactive appointments to the Department. They will be placed on the roster and marked "on military leave." When they come back after the

Some Hotel Jobs
The New Yorker Hotel has numerous openings for spare-time workers. They prefer to have applicants come in person and see Mr. Lane at the hotel, 35th Street and 8th Avenue. Bar-men get $3 a day for an eight-hour day, plus tips. Two meals are provided for a worker who puts in a full day, and one meal for half-day employees. Bus boys get $15 for a six-day week and tips. Over the week-end they need cashiers and food checkers. Men and boys over 18 are wanted for these jobs. Apply between 2 and 4 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

At Schraff's
Here is a list of spare-time openings at this large restaurant chain. Apply to their office at 56 West 23rd Street during business hours, daily.
Soda Men-Dishwashers—6 p.m. to 1 a.m.
Waiters—4 p.m. to midnight.
Porters—6 p.m. to midnight.
Women dishwashers and pantry workers are needed for part-time work. Meals and uniforms are furnished.
Girls and young women who want to learn the baking trade are needed for early hours. The working conditions in the bake-shops are described as "good." They also receive uniforms and meals.

Men for Restaurant
The Exchange Buffet at 44 Cortlandt Street needs men for work as floor assistants between 11:30 and 2:30 p.m. They say they offer good pay and free lunches. Apply in person.

Women Comptometer Operators
A few women experienced on comptometers are needed between 9 a.m. and noon, and between 1 and 6 p.m. Apply to the Rubenstein Stores Corporation at 519 8th Avenue. Ask for Mr. Weiner, or phone first at BR. 9-3490. The minimum salary is 65 cents an hour.

Men and Women Typists
Here's a letter and shop needs 3 or 4 typists to address envelopes. They are open 24 hours a day and can use these typists for as many hours as they want to put in. Pay is on a piece-work basis. Apply to the Raymond Service, 80 East 11th Street.

Woman Cashiers
Two are needed at Roger Kent men's clothing stores. Hours are from 1 to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The salary is fairly high, and all they require is some general clerical experience. Apply to their personnel office at 17 East 45th Street in person.

This Looks Good
Executive type salesmen are needed to call on large manufacturers, employee groups and civic organizations with this proposition: Through arrangement with the manufacturers, Camel Cigarettes will be sent to servicemen envelopes. The cost to the sponsoring person or organization is five cents a pack, and each pack is imprinted with the name of the donor. The Louis B. Yacht Syndicate furnishes leads and pays a liberal commission on all deals which are closed. The salesman who arranges the initial contract gets a percentage on future business. See Mr. J. P. Felton, at 220 West 42nd Street. It might be well to phone first at WI. 7-3822.

With Western Union
This company needs many spare-time workers to keep important communications moving. They are looking for men and boys, with or without bicycles, and will arrange for purchase of a bike on the installment plan for those who want that. All hours are arranged to fit with the school program or the other job. They also have two-day openings for Saturday and Sunday.
Here's where to apply: Room M-5, 60 Hudson Street near Chambers, 127 West 46th Street, near Broadway, 422 East 149th Street, near 3rd Avenue, 311 Washington Street, near Borough Hall, Brooklyn, and 40 Journal Square, Jersey City.

Sales Jobs—Women
Fairsex, 423 Fifth Avenue, MU. 5-4077, coats, dresses and furs. Salary and commission—Thursdays and Saturday, 12 to 9 a.m.
Loft Candy Stores—Jobs in Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens stores. Apply 251 West 4th Street, 3rd floor. Phone: ME. 3-7294.

Saleswomen with some experience are needed by the Van-Tex Stores in the Bronx and in Jackson Heights, to sell hosiery, gloves, underwear and sportswear. The hours are between 6 and 10 p.m., daily. On Saturday working hours can be arranged to fall somewhere between 1 a.m. and 10 p.m. Pay averages 50 cents an hour, but they will pay better to highly experienced women. Apply at Van-Tex, 48 East 167th Street, the Bronx.

Sales Jobs—Men
Equitable Insurance Company is replacing drafteres with spare-time workers. Age 25 to 55; high school education required. Experience is not necessary as training will be given. Ask for Mr. Timkins at CH. 4-8200. The office is at 393 7th Avenue.

Home Rock Wool insulation salesmen are wanted on part-time to cover Brooklyn and Queens. Leads will be furnished and the selling is to home owners who can save future heating costs by insulating their homes now. Apply to Mr. Washon between 9 and 6 p.m., every day including Saturday until noon, at the Major Insulation Company, 785 Bergen Street, Brooklyn. Phone MA. 2-8900. Pay is on a commission basis.

The Fuller Brush Company is hiring men and women, to service their accounts. Earnings on commission. Their Bronx office at 2488 Grand Concourse, is interviewing salespeople between 2 and 5 p.m., every afternoon.

Men With Cars
You can pick up extra money working during the day or evening servicing vending machines. The work isn't too hard, and the company can use some men without cars.

Apply to the Canteen Company at 314 East 23rd Street, or phone AL. 4-2923, and ask for Mr. Griffin.

Be 'Cheerful' About Shorter Vacation, Burton Advises

ALBANY—Following a reduction of vacation allowances in two State agencies, John E. Burton, budget director, has called upon heads of all departments and divisions to report to him by May 25 what they propose to do about staff vacations this year.

"Please survey the manpower situation in your department or division in the light of requirements for maintaining services and advise me of your proposed vacation allowances," Mr. Burton wrote in a circular letter.

The Division of Military and Naval Affairs has already notified all its employees, including armory staffs, that their vacations this year will be limited to one week. Employees of the State Insurance Fund have been notified they can have but two weeks for vacation.

Usually 4 Weeks
The usual vacation for State employees is four weeks based upon a total allowance of 22 working days off.

Mr. Burton stated that Governor Dewey is loathe to order any curtailment of the usual vacation allowance, but he pointed out that department heads must be guided in their determinations by the pressure of work.

Mr. Burton hinted that if it is found necessary in some departments or bureaus to curtail the vacation period, the employees should cheerfully comply. He recalled that when the Governor recommended the general pay increase for State workers, "he pointed out that the State manpower had been seriously impaired. He stated that those who remained at their tasks would, he was sure, work harder and longer to make up for the deficiency," Mr. Burton said in his letter, referring to the Governor.

The budget director said even at this stage "it is clear that the customary period for taking vacations, between June 15 and Sept. 15, must be extended." Vacations, he said, should be staggered to meet the different pressure periods of work.

Representatives of organized employees feel that most department heads probably will be able to permit the full four-weeks' vacation, with adjustments if necessary. One of them said that employees now are and will continue to work overtime not only to keep current in vacation periods but throughout the year, it was contended.

None of the employees this reporter spoke to felt "cheerful" about the proposed cut in vacations.

Changed Titles For Maintenance Employees?

Representatives of the C.I.O., the Civil Service Forum, the New York City Housing Authority, and David Savage, attorney for a group of maintenance men in the Department of Hospitals, appeared at a public hearing held last week by the Civil Service Commission on the question of reclassifying maintenance men into the competitive service.

All those present were in favor of the principle of the proposed change, which would take the titles of Maintenance Man and Handyman from the labor class and put them on a competitive basis. The SCMWA objects, however, that the resolution as at present drawn up may prove a wedge for cutting pay of certain employee titles which could be brought under the new maintenance classification.

Savage, too, suggested changes in the wording of the proposed resolution.

Prevailing Rate

In order to assure that men engaged in specialized work would receive the prevailing wage rate for such work in private industry, Mr. Savage asked that they be assured that they would continue to be classed as "maintenance man" rather than "handyman." He pointed out that the Civil Service Commission had divided the maintenance men into groups such as "electrician," "plumber" and "carpenter," and that it would be fair to continue this classification so that they would be paid according to the type of work they perform.

U.S. Legal Exam Opens To Additional Lawyers

The U. S. Board of Legal Examiners this week amended its announcement of a Federal examination to include several new classifications of attorneys. The new groups eligible to apply for the examination are these:

American citizens qualified for any of the positions specified who on Sept. 26, 1942, were living in relocation centers of the War Relocation Authority.

Persons otherwise qualified who did not apply for the examination of Sept. 26, 1942, because they had been officially notified of their imminent induction into the armed services pursuant to the Selective Service Act or of their duty to report pursuant to enlistment or membership in the organized reserves.

Persons who were not citizens of the United States on Aug. 31, 1942 (the closing date for filing application for the examination of Sept. 26, 1942), who have since become citizens and who are otherwise qualified for any of the positions specified.

Persons who were ineligible to apply for the examination of Sept. 26, 1942, because they did not at that time expect to complete the academic requirements for a law degree before Feb. 15, 1943, but who because of an accelerated law school curriculum subsequently adopted, did in fact complete such requirements prior to that date and who are otherwise qualified.

Original Admissions

The original announcement had admitted men only in these groups:

Those honorably discharged from service since the last legal exam was held in September; disabled war veterans and their wives and widows; law students who would obtain their degree between Feb. 15 (last) and Nov. 15.

The legal positions pay between $1,800 and $3,200, depending on length of experience. This is exclusive of overtime pay.

There will be a written and oral examination, and an evaluation of past experience. Application forms may be obtained at the offices of the United States Civil Service Commission, Second Region, 641 Washington Street, New York City.

Action on City Lists

Conductor List Continues Active

The NYC conductor list showed some nice activity this week. One hundred and forty-six names were submitted from this list to the Board of Transportation for permanent positions as conductors at 65c per hour. The last number reached was 4500. 8238 was the last number certified for the position of railroad clerk. These are also permanent and pay 50c an hour. Two hundred seventy-three names were certified for this position to the Board of Transportation.

Supermen Names Go To Sanitation Dept.

Two hundred ninety-two names from one sanitation man class A list were certified as junior sanitation men and 54 names for the position of sanitation man, class B. All certifications are for permanent positions to the Department of Sanitation. The junior men get $1,500 per annum and the class B men get $1,920. The last numbers reached were 6599 for the junior certifications and 2965 for the other.

Phone Operator List Shows Action

The recent list of telephone operator, grade 1, female, promulgated April 20, has begun to move. The first 186 names were sent to the Department of Hospitals for certification to permanent positions at $1,200 a year.

Special Patrolman List Certified

Four additional names were certified to the Police Department from the special patrolman list. The last number certified is 860. The positions are permanent and pay a yearly salary of $1,320.

Life Guard Names Sent to Parks Dept.

There are nine vacancies for chief life guards in the Department of Parks. They are on a temporary basis and pay $7 per diem. Eleven names were certified from the list for chief life guard for these positions. Thirty-one was the last number to be submitted. Forty-seven names were certified from the list for life guard to the Department of Parks. The positions are temporary and pay $5 a day or 62½c an hour. The last number reached was 470.

Council Members To Address CIO Group

Park Chapter of City Local 111, State, County and Municipal Workers of America, C.I.O., will have members of the City Council as speakers at their general membership meeting on June 1 at their headquarters, 13 Astor Place, starting at 8:30 p.m. Council members Stanley Isaacs, Meyer Goldberg, A. Clayton Powell and Peter Cacchione will discuss legislative problems affecting Park employees.

Council Budget

Affect Promotions

If the suggestions of this Council report were carried through in full, they would affect promotional opportunities, as vacant positions toward which persons in lower titles have been looking for advancement are to be abolished.

What Happens Now

Here are the next steps for the budget:

The Mayor has until June 1 to veto the budget as amended by the Council. If he takes no action, it goes into effect. If he vetoes, it is returned to the Council who can override his veto by a three-fourths vote.

It will require 20 votes to override the veto, and the Democratic majority in the Council now has only 17 votes, and couldn't muster 3 more from the minority. The Council must act on the vetoed budget by June 10.

It is expected that the Mayor will veto the Council budget.

Transit Workers Equip Recreation Room

Transportation workers local 634 of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees (AFL), at their meeting last week voted to equip a recreation room for the service men at Camp Shanks, Orangeburgh, N. Y.

New AFL Local Set Up in Office Of Borough Pres.

A new local of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, A.F.L., has been formed in the office of the Borough President of Manhattan, according to a report from Ellis Ranen, general representative of the union.

Approximately 200 employees of that office have joined the local, Mr. Ranen states. There will be a meeting in the near future at which the group will be formally inducted.

Correction Dept. Civilians Organize

The first organizational meeting of civilian employees of the Correction Department was held last week, and attended by over 100 employees.

Mr. James Wade, who was instrumental in organizing the meeting, was selected as temporary chairman, and appointed representatives from the various city penal institutions who will meet with him, frame a constitution and by-laws and select a name for the organization. Douglas Wade acted as temporary secretary.

It was reported that Commissioner Peter F. Amoroso has expressed his approval of the formation of this employee group.

disciplinary power short of actual dismissal.

On the other hand, the Board may draw up a resolution which would merely give him advisory power and not leave him free to straighten out the deeply-rooted differences between the Board and its employees which had inspired the Mayor to appoint a special committee to investigate the situation.

The present impartial grievance committee consists of two members, Andrew R. Armstrong and Nathan Frankel. The Mayor's committee recommended the abolition of this two-some from the Board.

However, the Board has given no indication that it is liquidating this grievance committee, nor has it announced any plans for the formation of a staff to work under Judge Maguire.

Other Headaches

In addition to the usual differences which arise between employees and administrators, the new deputy commissioner will inherit other headaches.

The pay raises for the Board of Transportation which are provided in the 1943-4 budget are all tangled up, with a lump sum to be divided among the employees on a still undetermined basis.

Then there are labor contracts which came into the Board of Transportation from the I.R.T. and B.M.T. with the unification of the subways and are still in effect. These have been the source of much controversy.

The Board has also found it extremely difficult to meet its minimum manpower needs, and this has further complicated labor relationships.

Couples May Now Apply for War Jobs Together in Navy Dept. War Program

Would you like to live and work in California? The Navy Department is now accepting women as well as men for "classified labor" jobs in the Mare Island Navy Yard near San Francisco. And if you are accepted for the job, the Government will pay your bus fare out to the coast. Men and wives may apply together.

The work consists of general labor around the shipyard, and the women won't be expected to do any work that's too hard physically for them to handle.

Living Quarters Available

When you get out to the job, you'll find Government-owned living quarters available for you. Dormitories complete with recreational facilities, cafeterias, movies within easy reach, etc., are available. Single men or women can find living accommodations for $5 a week for a private room, and $3.50 if shared with another.

Couples can get small furnished apartments for $7 or $8 a week. Larger unfurnished apartments can be had for $37.50 to $42.50 a month, and this includes gas and electricity.

Salaries

The starting salaries aren't bad. Women will get 76 cents an hour, men 88 cents an hour and up, and overtime is paid for all time over 40 hours. Right now the yard is working on a 48-hour week.

Requirements

There aren't any educational requirements, but you must be an American citizen. This job is very important, and if you want to get a job helping to win the war faster, this may be your opportunity. The top age limit for women is 45. Men in 1 A or those facing probable reclassification into 1-A can't be hired.

Physical Test

A physical examination will be given applicants here in New York, but minor defects won't eliminate you. A lot of men in 4-F should be able to meet the physical requirements.

There is a good chance for advancement once you get started on the job.

Apply at the United States Employment Office, 44 East 23d Street. And there are several hundred openings for single people and married right now. Those selected are able to leave immediately, with salary beginning as soon as they are hired here. And the number hired will be no larger than housing facilities near the yard.

General Bradley's Column

By

Brigadier General
John J. Bradley (Ret.)

What Are the Chances of Becoming An Officer in the Army?

CHANCES OF BECOMING AN OFFICER in the Army are growing slimmer, at least for the remainder of 1943. THE FACTS ARE THESE:

1. The Army has already trained in its Officer Candidate Schools nearly as many men as it needs to officer the troops.
2. As larger numbers of men go overseas, the officers who go with them must have opportunities for promotion at least as great as those who remain at home.
3. As the Army approaches its maximum strength, the number of new units put into operation begins to slow down, and this means less need for officers.

THE INDICATIONS ARE THESE:

1. To enter Officer Candidate School it is now necessary to earn a grade of 115 on the Army General Classification Test. It used to be 110.
2. Officer Candidate Schools are sharply curtailing the number of their entering students, and several OCS's have closed down altogether.
3. The Army has cut to a trickle the number of officers it is accepting direct from civilian life.

ON THE OTHER HAND, opportunities for the men in the combat areas are increased. Assignment to second lieutenantcies among overseas units will be made both from OCS graduates and from enlisted men who have shown in battle that they have the capacity to lead. Thus, a corporal or a sergeant who has shown under the stress of battle that he can be relied upon to lead a platoon competently, or has in some other manner demonstrated his ability, will have a chance to fill vacancies.

It is planned that these vacancies at the bottom of the commissioned officer ranks shall be created in this manner:

1. The War Department will bring back to the United States battle-proved officers who deserve higher commands, assign them to new units as commanders of battalions or regiments. There are vacancies which the War Department has left unfilled, and these officers will be promoted to the vacant spots.
2. The War Department won't send abroad officers in the same rank as those which have been brought home. The vacancies in combat areas will be filled at the bottom.

THIS DOESN'T MEAN that the man about to enter the Army must despair of his chances of becoming an officer. (A) Officer Candidate schools have not closed completely, even if their entrance standards are higher. (B) As the war goes on, and as more men become involved in it, more officers will be needed, and it may open the opportunities for a commission more widely than ever. (C) Moreover, there is always the chance of trying for a Warrant Officer's bars. The Warrant Officer is selected by examination, and he ranks, in military parlance, "with, but below, the second lieutenant." He wears an officer's uniform, takes the salute, and his earnings at the beginning are about the same as the earnings of a second lieutenant.

THESE ARE PRESENT REQUIREMENTS for entrance into Officer Candidate School:

- Age: 18 to 46 (to 50 in Army Administration School).
- Intelligence: 115 or better on the induction test.
- Education: Sufficient to enable applicant to complete his work in OCS.
- Height: 5 feet to 6 feet 6 inches.
- Weight: 105 pounds minimum.
- Vision: Minimum of 20/200 in each eye, correctible to 20/40 with glasses. Applicants with lesser vision may, under certain conditions, be acceptable for commissions with the Corps of Military Police, Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance Department, Chemical Warfare Service, Adjutant General's Department, Army Air Forces Administration, or Army Administration.

Before being accepted for OCS, the prospective candidate is given a careful oral "going-over" by a board of officers.

In forthcoming issues, General Bradley will discuss in detail the opportunities available for limited service men; and will discuss more thoroughly the manner in which a man applies for warrant or commissioned officer ranks, the various types of tests he is given, and the kind of preparation which helps in Officer Candidate School.

Navy Wants Craftsmen

Skilled craftsmen are urgently needed in the Seabees—the fighting construction men of the Navy. Mechanics, riggers, carpenters, divers, electricians, welders, blacksmiths, drillers, stevedores, steel workers, wharf builders and other specialists are wanted to build advance bases all over the world.

"If you're between 17 and 50 1/2, there may be a spot for you in this outfit.

Here's the procedure to follow to enlist in the Seabees:

1. Get letters of reference, stressing the fact that you have actual experience in the type of work listed above.
2. Take these letters with you to your nearest naval recruiting station, where you will receive the physical examination.

THE JOB MARKET

By MRS. MATILDA B. MILLER

The Job Market is designed to help readers and jobs get together. The positions listed are gathered from advertisements of all the newspapers, periodicals and communication with personnel managers. These jobs are analyzed and arranged in categories which will be most helpful as a basis for selection. However, it is wise to read the entire column rather than limit yourself to any one item.

It is impossible to investigate thoroughly each position nor is it always possible to foretell how soon they may be filled. We suggest that you mention THE LEADER when you apply for any of these positions.

Comedy of Errors

MAYBE you're not interested in city budgets. You should be. They affect you—a lot. May we tell you a little actual event about this year's budget? We don't feel happy about it.

Here is a City of 7,000,000 employing more than 180,000 persons. These 180,000 represent the vital bloodstream of civic life, and on them depend the safety, health, livelihood, and civic progress of the 7,000,000.

Now these 180,000—the bloodstream—and this work rests on a book of figures known as the budget, which is made up once a year.

After the Budget Director and his assistants, with the Mayor's help, put in months of labor, develop a complicated line-by-line budget (which makes up a book which the average person can scarcely lift) . . . after public hearings are held, at which labor and civic groups and public employees say good and bad things before the Board of Estimate . . . after that august legislative body the City Council solemnly receives the document . . . after the figures are turned over to the Finance Committee, consisting of supposed specialists on financial affairs . . . after these supposed specialists on financial affairs prepare a statement which cuts the budget by millions—deeply affecting the City's services, supplies, personnel, promotions . . . after this Committee submits a report which its own minority members don't see until a half-hour before it is made public—

—After all this, just a few hours on the last day during which the budget could be considered, that report is presented to the City Council for action; its members are asked to decide in these final hours on an item-by-item basis what is to be left in and what is to be eliminated . . . on the basis of material which even a Philadelphia lawyer couldn't figure out in a week of study.

When things like this can happen to a basic document that affects your life and those of every civil employee, it's time to ask, isn't it—

Gentlemen, what kind of legislative perversion are you practicing upon the people? A budget can't—and shouldn't—be put through with the kind of ridiculous performance that took place in the City Council last Friday.

LABOR RELATIONS IN THE SUBWAYS

The Board of Transportation is trying to figure out just where the powers of its new Deputy Commissioner in charge of labor relations (not yet appointed officially, but presumed to be Judge Edward C. Maguire) should begin and end. We'd like to suggest that these powers be broad and inclusive. The old Subway Grievance Board failed precisely because it was a weak body, unable to put into affect its decisions or even to obtain consideration of its suggestions. The grievances and labor problems in the transit system are many and complex. In their solution, they require firmness, directness, and most of all, decision. We hope the Board of Transportation will accept the recommendation of the Wilkinson Committee, which dreamed up the idea of a Department of Labor Relations within the Board, with power to hear the men, deal with their problems and claims, conduct disciplinary hearings, and dispose of these matters promptly.

THE COP-FIREMAN REFERENDUM

The Uniformed Firemen's Association and the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association announced last week that they had collected the 600,000 signatures they need on their petitions to get a pay raise referendum on the ballot this fall.

Good, say we.

The cops and firemen have shown what Government employees can do when they act on their own behalf in a cause that is just.

A WORD ON THE NORMAN STONE MATTER

The teapot tempest that broke last week over the rumored appointment of Norman M. Stone to the post of Director of Education in the Correction Department, had one angle that should get some serious thought from civil service authorities. It is the question whether the rule permitting a department head to disbar women after those women had properly qualified in an examination, is a proper rule from the merit system point of view.

In the Stone case, a woman, Ruth Lentz, had come out number 1 on the list. But Commissioner Amoroso says he doesn't want a woman in the job. He has the legal right to deny the job to a woman. But why should a woman have been admitted to the examination in the first place if she could never hope for the position?

Seems to us the rule granting a department head discretion to name the sex he wants to a job after the exam has been held, and after both men and women had been qualified, might require some re-consideration.

Don't Repeat This!

Politics

There is persistent talk that Dean Alfange, ALP candidate for Governor, is in line for a top appointment from Mayor LaGuardia. Reason: The Mayor and the right wing ALP are somewhat estranged. Alfange is not too well-liked by right-wing leaders like David Dubinsky. However, Alfange, who proved such a spectacular drawing card in the election, is an important figure with rank-and-file ALP voters. A combination of Alfange and LaGuardia might hold against Dubinsky and other labor leaders, and help swing ALP LaGuardia's way—if and when . . . Straw in the wind: Alfange made no public statement against the firing of Johanna Lindloff by the Mayor . . . Boner of the year was pulled by the Mayor last week, in the presence of a group of American Indians. A flier who had fought the Japs, told the audience, "The only good Jap is a dead Jap." Quipped LaGuardia: "That reminds me. Where I come from we used to say the only good Indian is a wooden Indian." Nobody laughed. . . .

Changes

State Deputy Comptroller Howard Jones, formerly Civil Service Commissioner, left quietly last week to attend the Army's School of Government. . . . Walter O'Leary, who last week got a big Board of Ed. job, is the brother of Joe O'Leary, former State Comptroller. Wonder why none of the newspaper mentioned this? . . . Jesse Erlanger, comely personnel technician of the State Civil Service Commission, leaves to handle employer-employee relations for the OPA. . . . Another who leaves soon for the Army is David Savage, well-known civil service attorney, who was one of the last to enter through VOC . . . The City Council, meeting to take up the budget in the last crucial hours, opened the discussion with what to do about Coney Island photographers. . . . Seems every time the Council's Finance Committee decided

Merit Men

ONE OF THE BUSIEST of government offices in New York City is located on the 22nd floor of 11 West 42d Street, in Manhattan. And what goes on in that office affects the job and wartime condition of every employee. During the past few weeks, many important job problems affecting government employees have been thrashed out here. May a subway conductor leave his job to take another one in wartime industry? Can a War Department employee in the Watervliet Arsenal obtain a release for a job in a private factory? What will New York City do about its "essential" services as employees continue to leave for the armed forces and for other positions?

The whole staff is involved in finding the answers to problems like these, and giving fast, reasonable answers to the harried public. Anna Rosenberg, regional manpower chief, constantly on the go between New York and Washington and Albany; Deputy Director Joe O'Connor, who holds down the line in the New York office; Abe Savage, who deals with the press and sometimes has to meet questions for which there aren't any answers yet; and some 500 others.

We looked in the other day and said hello to Louis Ritter, who is Assistant to the Deputy Director. Louis is a trouble-shooter who talks with the man in the street, and we thought he might have some interesting angles. He did.

Never a Dull Moment
We found an affable, alert chap to cut something out, like the Health Research Institute, a fine story would appear about it in the papers the next day. Finger of suspicion pointed to Councilwoman Gertrude Weil who looks surprisingly young to have been a machine-gunner in World War I. Louis Ritter is responsible for the budget of the regional office, acts as liaison man with selective service, has a hand in determining policy on essential activities in this area. But his big job is one which isn't down among the official duties: Dealing with complaints of the irate, grievances of the wronged, vagaries of the bewildered. If you feel that your draft board has done you wrong, or you have a problem about changing your job, and you don't know where to turn, and somebody tells you why not see War Manpower—like as not you'll find yourself sooner or later in the office of Louis Ritter.

Ritter first undertook to organize the complaints for his boss—then he got stuck with the job, which keeps growing. The day we were there, he got 48 phone calls, 30 letters, and held 15 personal interviews.

Read Your Paper!

He wishes people would read their newspapers better. "The outstanding complaint is that they're not informed. They just don't know. Neither employer nor employee generally has any idea of what it's about until he's personally affected. Many employers haven't sufficient appreciation of manpower problems. They plan carefully for machinery, equipment, and materials, but stop when it comes to manpower."

By profession, Ritter is an accountant. After serving two years in the last war, he came back to a period which he describes as "dislocated." He found it difficult to make a living, and started studying accounting at night. He took a crack at the certified public accountant examination, and passed it at the first crack. He likes to deal with figures, and his great passion is social security. "That," he says glowingly, "is one of great things we have to develop and look forward to." The enthusiasm stems from 1936, when he participated in a civil service examination, and landed a job with the Social Security Board. He rose rapidly, and soon took over the post of assistant regional auditor. Next step was to Old Age Survivors, and from there to his present job in the War Manpower Commission. He knows all there is to know about such things as pensions, unemployment insurance, old age insurance.

As a recreation, he supervises a credit union for the people in Selective Service and War Manpower.

Klein, who, the accusers say, kept running to the Mayor with reports of the pending cuts. The Mayor forthwith would issue a statement about what a fine thing that something is. . . .

Mud-slinging At U. S. Employees

Sirs: Regarding your article in reference to "Smearing" of Federal workers who are exempt from military service, it might be relevant to also advise the mud-slingers that according to an order issued by the Navy Department and signed by the higher ups, no Federal worker deferred for any reason can enlist or apply for any commission. It seems that if a Federal worker wanted to enlist, he couldn't anyhow, because he would first have to obtain a release from his agency, which is well nigh impossible. The only way for him to get into uniform is via the draft.

From one corner the Federal worker is being smeared, while from another corner he is being frozen to his job. What to do? Without being called a draft dodger. PLEASE PUBLISH.

Housewife Wants Better Pay for Cops-Firemen

Sirs: One day last week, a fireman came to my door and asked me to sign a petition that would allow the people to vote on giving the members of the Police and Fire Departments a bonus.

When the next election comes I am going to cast a vote for that bonus and ask all my friends to do the same.

MRS. L. M.

Shopping Around

Sirs: I see by your paper that if a man take a promotion exam he can go from one department to another.

If I want to change my job from my present department where I am not satisfied, I have to go shopping around the whole City to find some other department that needs a man in my title and will take me.

I think the Civil Service Commission or some other City agency should keep a list of these kinds of openings in the City. It's the same way with people who take temporary jobs with the City. They have to spend time shopping around, too.

The Civil Service Commission should know when some City department needs certain kinds of help and be able to tell people where to go.

M. K.

If you should be on a city-wide promotion list, the Civil Service Commission will send your name to another department when it is reached on the list, and provided the other department has an opening. You won't have to go shopping around.

POLICE CALLS

What's wrong? Two weeks ago Police Calls promised to publish the replies of Messrs. Valentine, Guardia, O'Connell, and ... about police promotion being assigned to positions of plainclothes.

Every member of the Department would like to read their replies. Why do you not print them?

STILL IN UNIFORM. We'd be only too glad to print them if the gentlemen in question would only answer. So far they haven't.

Valentine Kills Promotion League

To the Editor: I am a constant reader of your paper. I like your frankness about how police officers get the 'brush-off' when it comes to being promoted or placed in plainclothes.

I am on a promotion list; quite high up too. But from the article and letters you have printed in the past month, I am convinced that in justice to myself and my fellow workers joining the new promotion league is one of my paramount obligations.

This letter will probably be received and printed too late to permit men reading it to attend the first meeting of the police promotion league, but I hope it will convince men of the necessity of their joining so that all can act as a group.

FAIR PLAY FOR ALL.

Last week, Commissioner Valentine turned thumbs down on the promotion league. By what right he presumes to dictate that employee organizations like this may not function, we don't know.

Angle on Carton Opposition

Here's an angle on the PBA nominations. Delegate George Deegan, 70th Pct., is said to be a strong Harnedy man. Now John E. Carton is on Harnedy's slate for the vice-presidency. Now come then, that Deegan nominated Edwin Crane to oppose Carton? One rumor going the rounds says that Harnedy fears Carton's growing popularity among the delegates, and that Crane was nominated in order to test Carton's present strength. This story says, moreover, that the Harnedy forces fear Carton as a candidate next year, and they want to know just how strong he is now.

Or could it be that Deegan nominated Crane because they're both from the same precinct, and he wanted to do Crane a good turn?

Disgusted Cop

To Editor of Police Calls: You have printed, in the last two weeks, letters which would indicate that certain captains and deputy inspectors would like an opportunity to compete for the higher ranks in the police force which are now occupied by officers unable to perform efficient police duty due to advanced age.

Why don't your paper give the man on the bottom a chance? Take my case. I am on the Sergeant's list. From past and present performances I am those responsible for morale through giving the 'man on the street' a chance for advancement, my attitude is gradually changing from one of cooperation to one of just holding a job.

Inefficiency due to old age is only one reason why the police force is not what it should be. What about the line organizations which do nothing to further promotions? What about the elimination of promotion opportunities through budget cuts? What good are superior officers who have their retirement papers on file and are doing nothing? What attitude towards their promotion lists whose chances to well-earned promotion are repudiated? What view will a police officer assume when he becomes aware of the fact that favorites of the administration get extra compensation while his promotion money is used for the extra compensation?"

DISGUSTED PATROLMAN.

Donovan Goes After the Men

Interest in the Harnedy-Burkard-Donovan-Smiles contest for presidency of the PBA continues to grow.

Biggest bombshell is the sudden campaign of the new group known as "A-Vote-for-Every-Patrolman Committee," headed by Ray A. Donovan. Organized quietly and efficiently, this committee has set up flying squads of patrolmen who will cover every precinct and try to speak to every patrolman in the PBA. The boys have petitions which the cops are being asked to sign. Those petitions call for two things:

1. Amending of the PBA constitution and by-laws so as to provide for direct election of officers by the members.

2. Repeal of the present provision for the election of officers by delegates.

Donovan, who has been for these principles many years, once collected more than 10,000 signatures of patrolmen calling for his election, which is some indication of his signature-getting ability. However, his vote-getting ability with the delegates is pretty near nil. "Now," says Ray, "I'm not interested in my own election to office. What I want to do is to establish the principle once and for all of democratic elections. If the people of this country have the brains to vote for President of the United States, the cops have the brains to vote for President of the PBA. The present delegate set-up is undemocratic, based on distrust of the men, and removes from the patrolman any say in the organization which purports to represent him."

Donovan doesn't ask for doing away with the whole system of delegate representation. He asks only for direct elections. The Uniformed Firemen's Association has direct elections, he points out.

Talking about his plans, Ray says: "I have never heard a logical argument presented in favor of the delegate system. I have never talked with a patrolman who didn't want the vote himself."

The By-laws of the Patrolman's Benevolent Association are peculiar in that they make no provision for any method whereby the patrolmen may voice their opinions about organizational matters. There are no such things as membership meetings. There are no definite terms for the delegates, and the manner in which delegates get chosen has sometimes been open to question. For example, Donovan says "There are cases where a man became a delegate simply because the captain in the precinct said, when a vacancy occurred: 'Aw, let so-and-so be the delegate.' And that was that."

In such a situation, Donovan argues, the patrolman cannot expect to get real representation. "The answer is direct election of officials. Such officials must be more responsive to the needs of the men."

As this issue was going to press, Donovan's forces had laid plans, which they aren't yet revealing, about what they intend to do with the signatures when they get them. They're talking to attorneys who are delving deep into the PBA by-laws and history. By Monday of this week, the Donovan boys had plenty of petitions filled with names, and more coming in from all parts of the city.

While Donovan himself was somewhat reticent about his plans, it was learned that he is trying to accumulate more than 7,000 signatures, which would give him a clear majority of the members. According to legal advice, he would then be in a position to take strong action.

His force of men gathering the signatures began with 35, in all parts of the city. They gather recruits as they go along. One difficulty they've met is that they have to do the job on foot, in view of gas rationing. This slows them up quite a bit.

From where we look at it, this appears as though it may bring about major changes in the structure of the PBA.

Nobody expects Donovan to land more than about three votes from the delegates. This latest move to take away election control from the delegates alienates him still further from that group.

PBA Election News

Sizing up the PBA campaign as of now. It looks like this:

- 1. Harnedy running ahead. 2. Burkard closing in. 3. Donovan away down. 4. Smiles—away down.

Both Harnedy and Burkard are entering a period of heavy campaigning. Harnedy is playing up the referendum for all it's worth. He's managed to get plenty of newspaper space on it. The men collected the necessary number of signatures. Harnedy is taking full credit for this. He and his supporters are talking to the delegates everywhere, trying to drum up a sure victory.

Burkard's tactics are different. First, a Committee has been set up which represents itself as a Delegate's Committee—as opposed to the Harnedy forces, which Burkard refers to as the "Officers' Ticket." Burkard contends that the Board of Officers is in a way to perpetuate itself.

At the nominations, something happened which may have serious repercussions later. The Harnedy slate was nominated as a whole, not as individuals. The legality of this move was questioned on the floor by delegate Frank D. Pasquale of the 74th Pct. But Harnedy waved the question aside. Now the question comes up whether it was legal to nominate the slate in one fell swoop. If there is a way of proving that it wasn't legal—and if the Harnedy slate wins—then you can look forward to a legal battle to oust Harnedy and his men.

For direct arguments, Burkard is using what he calls the "no-accomplishment record" of the Harnedy regime. In speaking to the delegates, Burkard's supporters say that Harnedy failed the patrolmen in the following ways:

- 1. He didn't get the communications bill through, which would have prohibited the appointment of civilians at the telephone jobs. 2. He vacillated on the temporary patrolman bill, which, argues Burkard, isn't in the best interest of the cops. 3. He failed to get a pay raise.

The third point is the one Burkard hammers away at most. He says: "The people who wouldn't do anything for Harnedy gave the State employees the biggest raise in years. He failed in the City, too."

About the referendum, Burkard says:

"What we need is a pay raise, more than a bonus. When the war ends, this bonus goes out the window. What's more, if it goes through, we don't start getting more money until April 1, 1944. What are we supposed to live on in the meantime? If the war should end before that date, we would have gone through this whole period holding the bag."

V For Vetgossip

By ARTHUR LIEBERS

Your Chance for A Post-War Job

Boss Charles Reichert feels that there is a pretty good chance that those now working in the Veterans Administration will have their jobs in the post-war period.

Reichert went through the last war with the Veterans Administration and knows how much responsibility will be placed in the hands of the bureau after the hostilities have stopped. The Government is expected to organize a huge rehabilitation program for war veterans who cannot return to their pre-war jobs because of service-connected disabilities. Many will have to be retrained for new types of work; they will have to receive Government help until they get back on their feet again, and all this will be part of Veterans Administration's job.

Then the business of paying compensation for men who have been permanently disabled, and working closely with the military hospitals to protect the rights of war veterans will take a large permanent staff of employees. One good piece of evidence that is more than just speculation is the fact that Mr. T. O. Kraabel, national director of rehabilitation for the American Legion, was around the building last week.

And while we're on the subject of jobs at Vets, the question of pensions happened to come up. Five percent of your salary is deducted and goes into the pension fund. Some war-service appointees have been complaining about this "kick-back," but it seems that the set-up is fair enough.

If you remain in Government service for good, you can retire at sixty, or after 30 years of work, and know that you'll have a life income. If you leave within five years, then you can withdraw the money contributed, with interest. If you stay in Federal service more than five years, the dough stays where it is. But, suppose that you get a job in private industry later. Then you'll be paying social security and the money you paid while in the Vets will be credited to your social security account. So you can't lose.

Vacations

You kids in Vets are pretty lucky this year when it comes to vacations. You still rate your 26 days for a full year's service (if your super hasn't clipped you for too much annual leave for things like being thirty seconds late).

Some Washington offices have been cut down to as little as six days. The only restriction here is that not more than 12 percent of any department can be on vacation at one time.

Batter-ess Up

We hear that the gals are trying to form a soft-ball team and think they can beat the boys at the sandlot game. If the girls get their squad organized, there ought to be a game between the two sexes. Winner will have the right to use the name "Veterans Administration." The other team will have to bow its head in shame and pick another name for itself. Any gals who want to get their exercise hitting at balls and running around bases can see Miss Shirley at 4th Floor—West.

On the Lighter Side

Six Modest Maidens come through again with their medley of comment from the 7th Floor—West wing . . . the poor darlings complain that people look at them with disdain now that they've become journalists. . . (If they only knew some of the places I've been thrown out of while engaged in my professional activities!) Well, here's what the six lovely typists have to say this week:

Every week the Arcadia Ballroom is taken over by the Armed Forces for a U.S.O. dance, free of charge, for men in uniform and girls from Government offices and large business houses. . . They want to know why the gals at Vets never get any tickets. . . (Ed. Note. This will be looked into and we'll see what can be done.)

They think that the "gorgeous red haired glamour girl of the 7th floor who stops production when she walks down the aisle deserves a mention in this corner. (O.K. now?)

The gals say that Mrs. Anita Keltz is a ringer for Lucille Ball, but nicer. . . And Hattie, who does imitations of people, is rated orchids for her take-off of that supervisor, complete with facial expressions and pencil-tappings.

From the 10th Floor

There's one gal in Miss Smith's section on this floor who is sure doing her bit to keep up the morale of the Army. She writes to 21 men in service, and has a beau here in New York. . . Most efficient detail clerk is Irene Palmer, they agree. Here they list two active workers in home front activities, Mrs. Daisy Lemon. . . She's on the Mayor's Committee for Civilian Defense, Hostess at Stage Door Canteen and contributed several hundred books to the Victory Book Campaign. Mrs. Josephine Jackson. . . She's a Red Cross Nurses' Aide for the duration, now helping out at Northport Veterans' Hospital.

The Bond Drive

Here's where we stand in the Bond Buying campaign: Out of 2,910 employees, 2,648 are buying their share of a bond each payday. That's 89.5 percent. . . Come on, Kids! Only a few more to sign up for the 100 percent goal. . .

Late Entry

N-5 comes through at the last minute with their entry for the Vet glamourite. It's Ruth Parkus, and they thought they'd fool me by describing her in French, but I stopped a French sailor on the street and asked him to translate the note. . . If you see one of those gobs with the pom-pom on his hat hanging around you'll know why. . . Five foot-two with eyes of blue is her description, and very "chic."

The Other Side Of the Fence

I'm always glad to give both sides of the picture, so here's a letter from Miss Dicks' Section which says she's O.K.:

"This letter expresses the feelings of the majority of employees in Miss Dicks' section. So many unpleasant things have been printed in your column concerning her that we thought it was about time something was printed extolling Miss Dicks.

"Many of us have worked under various supervisors and we all agree that Miss Dicks is as fine a Section Chief as they come. She has gone out of her way in many instances to see that individuals under her supervision get a square deal without fanfare of any kind. She is very courteous, understanding, capable and an all-around swell person. If she appears stern and a bit strict at times it is because there are a few individuals who seem to forget that we are at war and have a job to do that must be done. They fail to realize the importance of this insurance and how very much it means to the members of the armed forces of the United States and their families. Miss (Continued on Page Twelve)

A STAMP A DAY

For the Boy Who's Away

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES—YOU LEND YOUR MONEY

JOIN THE CLUB

How the Club Works

Any person who has a son, brother, father, husband, relative or friend in the Armed Forces of the country is eligible for membership.

The sole qualification is a sincere desire to help that man in the Armed Forces get the fighting equipment he needs by saving a War Stamp every day in his honor.

There are no dues and no obligation other than a person's own obligation to himself to live up to his pledge to save "A-stamp-a-day."

Choose now. Either we give our boys the planes, tanks, guns, and ships they've got to have to win—or we're letting them march to their defeat and our destruction. Planes cost money. Tanks don't grow on trees. And the storks don't bring subchasers.

We've got to pay for them. "We" means all of us—including you.

How? By buying War Bonds and Stamps. And every time our savings amount to $18.75 we get a Bond, worth $25 in 10 years. That's $4 back for every $3 we put in. Isn't that the least we who stay at home can do to help win the war? Stop and think about it—together before the election. Burkard contends, too, that many of the delegates are angered because Harnedy didn't keep them informed of progress on the referendum—and the first they knew what was happening was what they read in the press. Burkard is playing this for all it's worth, using it as an argument to show, he says, "that the delegates don't play the role they think they do in this organization."

We want to correct the list of nominees in one respect. The Board of Trustee candidates from the Bronx are William F. Raphael, of the Telegraph Bureau, on the Harnedy slate; and Walter Kuntz, of the 41st Precinct, on the Burkard slate.

Who Bungled It?

Where's that $400? The men who sued in the Schneider case to collect $400 due them in back pay haven't received their money yet. When they do receive it, it'll be less the 5 per cent Victory Tax and less any other taxes that might come up in the meantime. The Schneider case covered only 17 men of the 300 appointed of June 5, 1940. These 17 now have a judgment against the city—and although they haven't been paid yet, they will be shortly.

Now the new case which has been started for the same thing—the Adrian case—covers only 8 men of several hundred appointed in June of 1941. If they win, these 8 will have a judgment against the city and must be paid.

There are some 883 patrolmen not mentioned in either suit, who are now firmly gripping the well-known empty bag. The City doesn't consider itself bound by the decision in the Schneider case or, presumably, by the decision that will result from the Adrian case, if it is favorable to the men. In other words, if the Adrian case is won, the 883 must still bring suit on their own behalf. On the other hand, if the Adrian case is lost, the 883 men will be unable to get a favorable decision, as that case will be held as determining theirs.

Interesting for you men to do some thinking about is this: Who's responsible for the bungling of this case in the first place?

Citizens' Volunteer Cop Force

The Department has been short of Patrolmen for years and especially since the outbreak of the war. But there has never been a shortage of ideas on how to solve the manpower problem in the Police Department. Yet each idea seems to blossom for a day and then suddenly or quietly dies of shame like a beautiful but bad-smelling flower.

First it was the City Patrol Corps. Much fuss made over it, but the police problem persisted.

Second, the Temporary Patrolmen idea blossomed out amid a great furor, and yet it fell quietly.

The latest wrinkle is a result of a conference held between the Mayor and over twenty clergymen of uptown Manhattan—a conference held as a result of the critical condition in that part of the City. The plan evolved at that conference provides for a citizens' volunteer group who will patrol the streets of the City from 8 P.M. to midnight every night. Every volunteer will be expected to perform this patrol duty twice weekly. Volunteers will be approved by a board of clergymen as to their character and qualifications and will be clothed with full police powers while on duty. In some parts of the City they may be permitted to carry firearms, but most of them, it is planned, will be armed only with a night-stick.

If the preliminary conferences now being held by the clergymen convince those concerned that the plan is practicable you can expect Butch to announce it with much fanfare and trumpets.

LIMITED PARTNERSHIP

CERTIFICATE OF LIMITED PARTNERSHIP

We, the undersigned, being desirous of forming a limited partnership pursuant to the laws of the State of New York, do certify as follows:

I. The name of the partnership is W. R. K. TAYLOR & CO.

II. The character of the business to be conducted by the partnership is a general stock brokerage business.

III. The location of the principal office of the partnership is No. 120 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York, N. Y.

IV. The name and place of residence of each member is as follows:

General Partners
WILLIAM R. K. TAYLOR, JR., Scribner Avenue, South Norwalk, Connecticut.
JOSEPH H. McMULLEN, 49 Grosvenor Road, Short Hills, New Jersey.
JACOB J. HEINRICH, 91-06 79th Street, Woodhaven, Queens County, New York.
FREDERICK BOURNE HARD, 38 Garner Lane, Bayshore, Long Island.
THOMAS W. BARTSCH, 34 Edgemere Street, Pelham Manor, New York.

Limited Partner
DeCOURCY L. TAYLOR, Field Point Road, Greenwich, Connecticut.

V. The term for which the partnership is to exist is from the 1st day of April, 1943, until terminated in one of the following manners:

- A—By mutual consent of all of the parties hereto;
- B—By notice in writing delivered by any party to all of the other parties hereto, which notice shall state the date upon which he elects to have the partnership terminate, which date shall be not less than sixty days from the date of the delivery of the notice;
- C—By the death or insanity of any party hereto, provided, however, that in such event the surviving partners may continue said firm for a period of sixty days thereafter and the capital contribution of such deceased or insane partner shall remain a part of the capital of such continuing firm during such period and the surviving partners of the firm shall not be required to pay to the legal representatives of the deceased or insane partner the amount of his interest in the firm until the expiration of such period of sixty days and any claim of such representative to such interest shall be subordinate in right of payment and subject to the prior payment or provision for payment in full of claims of all creditors of the continuing firm arising out of matters occurring before the end of such period;
- D—By a majority in interest of the parties hereto requesting that another party hereto shall retire from the partnership, which request shall be in writing, signed by a majority in interest of the partners and delivered to the party whose retirement is sought, and which request shall state the date upon which such retirement shall be effective, which date shall be not less than thirty days from the - date of the service thereof.

 - VI. The amount of cash and a description of and the agreed value of the other property contributed by each limited partner is as follows:
DeCOURCY L. TAYLOR contributes the sum of Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000.00) in cash.
 VII. No additional contributions are agreed to be made by the limited partner.
 - VIII. The time when the contribution of the limited partner is to be returned is at the termination of the partnership, as hereinabove stated.
 - IX. The share of the profits or other compensation by way of income which each limited partner shall receive by way of contribution is as follows:
DeCOURCY L. TAYLOR is to receive interest from the 1st day of April, 1943, at the rate of 5% per annum upon the sum of Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000.00) contributed by him in cash. All such interest shall be paid before any interest shall be paid to a general partner.
 In the event that the net profits of the partnership in any calendar year shall be in excess of $50,000.00, he shall be entitled to interest at the rate of 8% per annum on the cash capital contributed by him.
 In the event that the net profits of the partnership in any calendar year shall be in excess of $75,000, he shall be entitled to interest at the rate of 7% per annum on the cash capital contributed by him.
 In the event that the net profits of the partnership in any calendar year shall be in excess of $100,000, he shall be entitled to interest at the rate of 8% per annum on the cash capital contributed by him.
 He shall receive no other share of the profits or other compensation.
 - X. No right is given to the limited partner to substitute an assignee as contributor in his place.
 - XI. No right is given to the partners to admit additional limited partners.
 - XII. There is no right given to any limited partner to priority over other limited partners.
 - XIII. The right is given to the remaining general partners to continue the business for a period of sixty (60) days in the event of the death or insanity of any general partner. No such right is given in the event of retirement of a general partner.
 - XIV. No right is given to a limited partner to demand or receive property other than cash in return for his contribution.
- IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have hereunto set their hands and seals as of the 26th day of April, 1943.
- WILLIAM R. K. TAYLOR, JR. [L.S.]
 - JOSEPH H. McMULLEN [L.S.]

Dicks is responsible for her section turning out a certain quota of insurance applications each day and these certain individuals who persist in wasting most of their time here seem resentful because they can't get away with it.

"As final evidence of Miss Dicks' popularity among her employees, approximately 125 of them attended a testimonial dinner celebrating her 25 years in Federal Civil Service. It was held Monday evening, May 24, at the Havana-Madrid. The affair was a surprise to Miss Dicks, as all arrangements had been made quietly and without her knowledge."

Jottings

The rule book says "No solicitations in the building," but the 4th Floor has allowed one group of magazine salesmen to do business on the lower floors. . . . And the building cops are sure on their toes. One day last week I was whispering to people and marking things down on paper when the long arm of the law walked over and wanted to know whether I was making book (you know, horse bets, etc.) or taking orders, but it turned out O.K. . . . he reads this column too.

And girls . . . one of the good-looking cops is still single, but I can't give his badge number or he'll be rushed to death. That's all for now. See you next week.

$3 a Head To Investigate U. S. Employees

WASHINGTON. — Many Government employees in Washington are burned up about the constant investigations which they undergo. They feel that a certain amount of supervision is necessary in time of war, but now it is approaching the stage, according to complaints, where there will soon be two investigators for every employee. (Investigator No. 2 is there to check on investigator No. 1.)

Now the Public Buildings Administration, which is charged with the protection of Federal buildings, has issued a new order that all employees in buildings which it controls must be re-investigated.

War agencies are number one on the new check-up list. Each department must make a "blanket certification" that all of its employees are loyal. They were told to check their employees, social security numbers, height, weight, nicknames, etc. It seems that some Government agencies have thrown up their hands at the constant request for employee checks and have hired private investigation bureaus to investigate loyalty at a fee of $3 a head.

3. If you pass the physical examination you will be interviewed by the Construction Officer who, if he is satisfied with your qualifications, will authorize your enlistment.

THEN

If you 17 or between 38 and 50 1/2

The construction officer will authorize your enlistment and you will be enlisted in class V-6, U.S.N.R.

If you are between 18 and 38

The construction officer will certify that you are qualified for Special Service in the Navy, with a rating.

The recruiting officer will give you letters to your local Selective Service Board requesting that after induction you be assigned to the Navy.

Your draft board will send you to the induction center where you will receive another examination and be sworn into the Navy. Then you will be assigned to a Seabee Training Center. If you wish you may have the regular furlough period.

At the training center you will first have four weeks of military training and will learn to use rifle, pistols, hand grenades and bayonets, and military drill and courtesy.

The next eight weeks will be devoted to training in the use of advance base equipment and special duties which you have to perform under actual working conditions.

Before shoving off for the distant islands you will be given a leave to visit your home.

Base pay in the Seabees runs from $54 a month for a Second Class Seaman to $126 a month for a Chief Petty Officer. Pay and allowance for overseas duty raises that to $92.80 and $188.70 for men with one dependent.

Women, Too, Can Become Mechanics

And here's a chance for the girls and women to help the men on the firing lines.

The Brooklyn Navy Yard is in the field for women to learn a trade and help keep our fighting ships in trim.

They'll train you to become an electrician, machinist, painter, sheet metal worker, ship-fitter or other skilled worker.

The lowest salary is $4.64 a day, and it jumps up to $5.12 and $5.60 plus overtime with more skill. Training is given you right on the job.

These are war-duration appointments under civil service.

Requirements

You must be over 18, but there is no maximum age. You must be a citizen.

You should have completed public school, but if you can show that you have held a job above that of unskilled labor, it will be accepted as an equivalent.

You'll have to stand on your feet for eight hours a day at these jobs, and will be given a physical examination to see whether you can stand the strain.

How to Apply

Here's how to apply:

Get application form G or G-1 at the Record Labor Board, the Navy Yard, foot of Sands Street, Brooklyn, or at the Civil Service Office in the Federal Building, Christopher and Washington Street.

Mail the filled-in application to the Recorder, at the Navy Yard, or bring it down in person.

Civil Service League Affair

The 14th Annual Dance and Entertainment of the Civil Service League held on Saturday evening, May 22, was attended by 1,000 persons, according to John Hughes, president of the organization.

Chairman of the function which was held at Webster Hall on East 11th Street was Ernest Karstendick. Others on the committee were Alexander Delgado, Thomas Hagan, Anna Donovan, Rose Kahn and Patrick Higgins.

The name of the partnership is A. & F. WELDING & MACHINE WORKS. The character of its business is welding, machine and manufacturing. Its principal place of business is at 529-31 West 50th St., N. Y. C., N. Y. The general partners are MADELINE VAN der BRONDEBEEK, 456 East 149th St., N. Y. C., and ALVIN KIRCHOPFER, 1638 East 32nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y. C. The limited partners are WILLIAM KIRCHOPFER, 1638 East 32nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y. C., and MILDRED O'DRISCOLL, Lake Hill, N. Y. The term for which the partnership is to exist is from May 1, 1943, to January 1, 1948. Each of the limited partners has contributed $5,000 in cash. No additional contributions are to be made by the limited partners. The contribution of each limited partner is to be returned upon the termination of the partnership. Each of the limited partners is to receive 25% of the net profits. The limited partners' interest may not be assigned. No limited partner shall have any priority over any other limited partner. Said certificate was duly subscribed and acknowledged by all of the partners.

What WPA End Means to Welfare

The end of the W.P.A. early this month has added a few more responsibilities to the Department of Welfare, and has accelerated the trend away from the "public charity" angle towards a broader outlook as overseer of the general welfare of the City's population.

The care of children in day nurseries has fallen to the department. With more working mothers expected to take their places at the machines for war production this will become an increasingly important part of the department's activities.

A new section has been set up under Helen Harris of the Mayor's Committee for the War-time Care of Children at Central Building. Seventeen of the children's day nurseries which the W.P.A. used to maintain have been incorporated as the nucleus of a setup which is expected to expand rapidly.

The cost to the City isn't very high as the nurseries are operated by private agencies, under the supervision of Welfare Department which is charged with approving their budgets and supervision to assure compliance with the health and social welfare laws.

The cost is split three ways, with the City and the State each giving one-third, and the balance being made up by the sponsoring agency.

The four dental clinics which the W.P.A. ran have also been taken over, but this isn't much more than a bookkeeping change as the City has always been paying a large part of the operating expenses of these clinics, and now it will have to meet a few more salaries and pay the rent for clinic space.

The end of the W.P.A. sewing project has resulted in another change in procedure. Formerly, the Welfare Department used to purchase cloth which was made into garments by the W.P.A. sewers and distributed to relief clients. Now a cash payment for clothing is added to the individual budgets.

The increase in case load with the end of Federal assistance, wasn't very high. Figures of the department show that the absorption of relief recipients from the W.P.A. was hardly higher than the normal number of new cases which came in regularly as a result of the 18-month limit on W.P.A. employment.

The School Lunch program is the one which will add the greatest load to Welfare. About 65,000 children from underprivileged families are now receiving free lunches and milk which is provided from City funds, but distributed by W.P.A. personnel. The Mayor has been in touch with Washington about this and indications are that the situation will be reversed. The Federal Government will pay for the food. The Department of Welfare will provide the labor for the distribution. This means that about 1,000 workers, laborers, kitchen workers and helpers will be needed. The cost of this program has been fairly equally divided between labor and food expenses, so that the financial setup will be about the same. The Federal Government is carrying on this program until July 1, when the City will in all probability take over.

Investigators Get A Break Now the Investigators get their break. There's a new system in the department. Nope, they don't get rid of their clerical duties, but the system has been streamlined to cut down the amount of paper work they have to turn out and gives them a chance to get out every now and then and drop in to see how the cases are getting along.

Here's a brief resume of the new procedure:

1-Assistance of all types may now be authorized for a full year.

2-The case load has been cut down to 75 from the old burden of 85.

3-Statistical reporting has been simplified to cut out five statistical forms, 11 worksheets, and 11 statistical summaries from worksheets.

4-Relief issuance has been simplified with the O.K. of the State Department of Social Welfare and the State Department of Audit and Control. Relief rolls will be consolidated and investigation reports made simpler.

Must Still Dive But the Investigators will still have to dive into the files when they want anything and will have to manage without the clerical help they still need.

All cases have to be visited in accordance with the Social Welfare Law; Old Age Assistance and aid to the Blind, at least once every six months; Home Relief and Aid to Dependent Children, at least once every three months.

Choral Group

The Department choral group needs more people who want to let out with the vocal chords. Arrangements are being made for the group to visit Government hospitals in the metropolitan area and entertain hospitalized service men. The group meets every Thursday at 5:30 p.m. at the Second Floor of 902 Broadway.

Capt. Wm. Pedrick Is Honored

To the employees of the Internal Revenue Office of the Second District of New York, of which Captain William J. Pedrick is Collector, May 20 wasn't just another working day. It was the Collector's birthday.

This year, the personnel, of which there are about 600, presented their chief with an illuminated scroll in burnished 22k gold, containing the autograph of every employee. The scroll was presented, in behalf of the personnel, by Raymond Ryan, assistant to Collector Pedrick, who said: "Your employees, Mr. Collector, have requested me to express their sincere appreciation for your untiring efforts made in their behalf throughout the year."

Estimate Board To Reconsider "Dead" Park Bill

The "park per annum" bill, which had been killed by the Board of Estimate, was back on the calendar last week for reconsideration. This bill would place Park Department employees now on a day-to-day basis into the annual-pay class; moreover, it provides certain changes in the pay structure of park employees, and authorizes the Parks Commissioner to impose the wearing of uniforms on employees.

Subject of violent controversy, the measure was passed by the City Council, after Commissioner Robert Moses had put in a personal appearance asking for its passage. The Board of Estimate turned thumbs down on it, then reversed itself and stated that it would take the bill up once again. It was not immediately clear what had brought this change of heart, but it is assumed that Moses may have personally intervened.

Among the employee organizations in the Parks Department, one favored the bill, three opposed it. The favoring organization was the Greater New York Park Employees Association. Opposing organizations were the Civil Service Forum; the State, County, and Municipal Workers (CIO). The SCMWA planned this week to barrage the Estimate Board with appeals not to pass the bill.

Home Permanents

A handy beauty service for women who want all this and comfort too, is offered by ANNAMARIE MEYER of 35 West 65th Street. By calling her at TRafalgar 7-7913 or VAnderbilt 6-0492, you may arrange an appointment for a permanent wave given in the ease and privacy of your own home! Miss Meyer guarantees that speed and satisfaction are features of this convenient service.

The Curious Cat

The last place in the world you'd expect to find a cat is in a beer advertisement. But this particular feline really gets around and keeps popping up in one Ruppert ad after another. At first, the cat merely peeped into the picture. But now no Ruppert cartoon advertisement is considered complete without its mascot.

DUCOUT, FLORENCE SCHEFFEL. — P. 3175, 1931. — Citation.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Hazel J. Beckman, Kathryn K. Bache Miller, The Chase National Bank of the City of New York National Surety Corporation; and the executor or administrator, and all the children, if any, and all other heirs at law, next of kin, devisees, distributees and creditors of Henri Ducout, deceased, being the persons interested as creditors, distributees, or otherwise, in the estate of Florence Scheffel Ducout, deceased, who at the time of her death was a resident of the County of New York. Send Greeting: Upon the petition of Harold A. Content and Clifford Michel, trustees, residing at 116 East 68th Street and 952 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y., respectively. You and each of you are hereby cited to show cause before the Surrogate's Court of New York County, held at the Hall of Records in the County of New York, on the 25th day of June, 1943, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why the account of proceedings of Harold A. Content and Clifford Michel, as trustees of the trusts created by paragraphs tenth and eleventh of the will of Florence Scheffel Ducout, deceased, should not be judicially settled, and why the fees of Griffiths & Content should not be fixed, pursuant to Section 285 of the Surrogate's Court Act, in the sum of $8,250.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Honorable James A. Foley, a Surrogate of our said county, at the County of New York, on the 20th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-three. GEORGE LOESCH, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

 ment head—and that's the end of it. If on the other hand, Morris feels that the employee is essential to his department, he gives the department the green signal.

The department head next gets in touch with the local board and requests deferment for the employee. If the local board refuses, the department will take an appeal, or ask selective service headquarters to give consideration to the case.

In the case of State employees, each department acts on its own. The set-up for Federal employees is more like that of the City. If a department head feels the employee is essential, it asks a special committee set up for the purpose whether it may request deferment. If the answer is yes, the proper papers are submitted to the local board.

Maintenance Men May Have Chance to Advance

The Municipal Civil Service Commission is considering changing maintenance man and handyman titles from the labor class to the competitive class. Such a change would improve the promotional opportunities for employees in these groups by making them eligible to take promotional examinations.

Racing

Racing fans who dislike walking look forward to the opening of Aqueduct, June 7, although Belmont still continues to draw crowds via bus lines from the subway station. Cancellations of racing at Saratoga for the season leaves the session free for Aqueduct or Belmont with Aqueduct holding the slight edge because of transportation advantage.

On Thursday, the Rivoli Theatre brings to the screen RKO Radio's drama of courage, "This Land Is Mine," with Charles Laughton, Maureen O'Hara and George Sanders. Warner's "Action In The North Atlantic," now playing at the Strand Theatre, tells a thrilling story of the U. S. Merchant Marine and the convoy of war cargoes to the fighting fronts. Humphrey Bogart, Raymond Massey and Alan Hale are in it. An added attraction at the Radio City Music Hall is "Show Business at War," March of Time feature describing the war effort contributions of screen, stage and radio. More than 75 top-ranking personalities of the entertainment world are in the cast, including the late Carole Lombard in her final bond-selling tour; Clarke Gable, Tyrone Power, Al Jolson, Martha Raye, Carole Landis and others. The comedy hit, "The More the Merrier," continues for a third week. Starting tomorrow the N. Y. Paramount presents "Five Graves to Cairo," co-starring Franchot Tone and Anne Baxter. Another opening tomorrow is "My Friend Flicka," at the Roxy, with Roddy McDowall, Preston Foster and Rita Johnson. Mary Small, the radio warbler, has been signed for "Early To Bed," which opens at the Broadhurst on June 10.

POSTAL NEWS

Vacation Note

Your vacation this year is going to begin in the middle of the week, and end during the week. And it's going to be scheduled to avoid travel over a holiday weekend. The Post Office Department, like all other Government bureaus, is cooperating with the Director of Defense Transportation to lighten the load on the railroad and bus lines. And there's liable to be a duration veto on conventions and gatherings which attract many people from any distance.

The Government figures that moving men and war materials around is more important than anything else right now, and asks all Federal agencies to set an example for the public to follow.

Now Its the Subs

Post Office men always have an issue. Now it's the poor lowly substitute who's getting most of the attention. Lot's of men think the subs ought to be eliminated and made permanent.

If they can get together what with that ban on traveling around, the Joint Conference is planning an Eastern Seaboard Substitutes Conference to start the ball rolling to get them on the permanent roster. Plans call for the conference to be held in New York City about the end of June.

On the Local Front

First Officer of the Joint Conference to get this call to the colors is Max Rosenson, who is a hubby, president of Branch 36 Credit Union, auditor and delegate of Station "B." With all that experience he should be a valuable man to the Army. Uncle Sam has already taken up the option on him and he's walking around with furlough papers in his pocket . . . the boys are going to give him a big "shindig" before he leaves.

John J. Larson, veteran delegate from "T," is retiring from the system. His social obligations are being taken over by Oscar Ganesberg.

From the railway men we learn that William R. Mitiguy was installed for the third time — getting to be a habit—as prexy of New York City Branch of the Railway Mail Association.

And we've just learned that another man owes his life to the Branch 36 Blood donors. Frank Sheiner, a carrier at Station "G" was desperately ill in a New York hospital. A call for blood donors went out, and now he's at home nearing a rapid recovery. The men who came through when they were needed, all from his station are: Samuel Weiss, Herman Hassell, John Devine, Leo Smith, Max Alberts, Timothy Mitchell, John Monahan and Samuel Scheps.

Speak for Yourself! And do it effectively, too, at meetings and gatherings. See Reader's Service Guide, page 13, for the places where you can go to acquire the silver tongue.

WASHINGTON GAZETTE

WASHINGTON.—Don't get mad—but Board of Legal Examiners has decided to open its forthcoming new Federal attorney exam to Japanese-Americans who were interned in concentration camps at the time of the September exam. . . . War Production Board's new budget calls for a personnel reduction of approximately 600 after June 30. However, at OPA the new budget calls for an additional 8,000 employees, mostly in the field. . . .

Perhaps the biggest Victory Garden on Government property is that at the little "Federal city" at Suitland, Md., just outside Washington. There, 600 Census and Navy employees have combined to farm a 14-acre tract. . . . Significant new, long-range development here is the decision of House Appropriations Committee to build up a staff of Executive branch experts to help in its investigations. Eventually, it hopes to have a card file of 500 men whom it can call upon for particular investigations. In other words, the Committee is getting ready to subject Federal agencies to much closer scrutiny.

Cop-Fireman List Appears, Rapid Appointments in View

The eligible list of those who have passed the temporary patrolman-fireman examination has been made public by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. Containing a total of 230 names, the list was prepared with record speed. The Civil Service Commission reveals that appointments may be expected just as soon as the medical and physical examinations are completed. As a matter of fact, the Police and Fire departments will not wait until all the candidates who passed the written test have taken the medical and physical examinations. Just as soon as a man successfully completes these remaining parts of the examination, he may be snapped up by either one or the other of the departments. The medical tests begin on Thursday, May 27.

The men who obtain these temporary jobs will earn $2,000 a year, and serve for the duration of the war. They will not be eligible for any of the civil service or retirement privileges which present members of the departments enjoy. They will not obtain the regular wage increases which permanent members of the departments get. They may not be promoted to higher rank. On the other hand, they begin their careers at $2,000, whereas the permanent appointee begins his service at $1,320, and doesn't reach the $2,000 figure until he has served his six-month probationary period. So far as responsibilities are concerned, the temporaries will work side by side with the permanent men, will wear the same uniforms, go on the same tour (or hours) of duty. The temporary men will replace only those patrolmen and firemen who have been called to military service. There is provision in the new budget for 600 patrolmen and 459 firemen.

Older Men Wanted
The final list of those who pass all parts of the examination would ordinarily be ample to fill the positions open, except—

When the Civil Service Commission went over the names of men who had applied, it found that a substantial number were below 38 years of age, that potential draftees. It is known that the first call will be for men between 38 and 50 on the list. It is entirely possible that Commissioners Valentine of the Police Department and Walsh of the Fire Department may refer to consider the hiring of men under 38 altogether. Walsh has been particularly unfavorable to the idea of taking on men who he would have to release for armed service. On the other hand, the new War Manpower regulations designating government service as "essential" and freezing the positions of government employees, may open way for the City to ask for occupational deferments of the men on the temporary patrolman-fireman list.

Before being finally assigned to their new jobs, the men on the list will be investigated for character by the Civil Service Commission and the Police Department. Once appointed, they will go through the same kind of schooling that all patrolmen and firemen undergo.

The Top Names

Following are the names of the first 100 men on the list. The complete list is at the LEADER office, 97 Duane Street, Manhattan. Those who took the examination are welcome to view the list any day of the week between 9.30 a.m. and 5 p.m.
