CSEA Charges Grand Jury With 'Missing the Point' In Rockland Investigation

ALBANY - A grand jury report criticizing the administration of Rockland State Hospital was in turn taken to task by the Civil Service Employees Assn. for "missing the point." "The grand jury's findings, or at least press reports concerning them, use a scatter-gun technique that hits everything in sight with equal force, evaluates nothing in its proper perspective, and attributes everything wrong to poor administration by the local director," said Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl, president of the State's largest civil service union.

The report, in the making for several months and released a few days ago by the Rockland County Court, charged numerous irregularities at the institution, ranging be of higher priority than this. from illegal use of narcotics, organized prostitution and a short- blamed on Rockland's director. age of funds in the community The root of the problem is simple store, to insufficient staff and inadequate security measures.

"While there may be some truth in these findings, the grand jury should have been most concerned with those factors which directly of the hospital's safety officers affect the main function of the hospital, the care and rehabilitation of patients," Wenzl said.

Severe Understaffing

The most significant finding to the tax-paying public, according their off hours and could devote to Wenzl, showed that the hospital was operating with only 75 percent of its normal staff. Whereas the patient load was found to be 96 percent of capacity, the staff was 500 people short," he said.

"If there is anything else wrong at Rockland State Hospital," said the CSEA chief, "it certainly can't And this is nothing that can be economics. It's up to the State to come up with more money to recruit more employees."

Wenzl put the blame in the same place for the fact that many work at second jobs to supplement their income. "If these people were paid on a par with other police groups, instead of $2,000 a year less, they wouldn't have to work in their full attention to their job with the State," he said.

Mayor John V. Lindsay did ly bargained for with the strength of a single unit. CSEA is not easily going to forget this and, after the elections, the Governor is going to have to do some strong wooing to get even a part of the former goodwill he enjoyed from this organization.

> One thing this week's balloting won't affect is the relationship between CSEA and the leaders of the Legislature. Despite the rules of the Taylor Law, which order bargaining done with official negotiators, the CSEA wisely recognizes that no package is worth its salt that doesn't have the approval of the Senate and the Assembly.

CSEA Attacks Problem Of Differential Pay For Part-Time Aides

ALBANY - The Civil Service Employees Assn. last week called attention to the "serious problem" of the ineligibility of part-time State employees for the area and shift pay differentials negotiated by CSEA for full-time State worker last spring.

In a letter to Director of the Budget T. Norman Hurd, CSEA demanded that the State give the differentials - $200 extra area pay for employees in the ninecounty New York City area and $300 extra shift pay for those who work at least four hours between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. - to all parttime personnel, citing the inequity that exists particularly at State institutions.

Vital Helpers

"As you probably know," the letter said, "the staffing at many of our State institutions is such that part-time help in professional and non-profesional titles is absolutely necessary in order to provide adequate patient care. Employees holding such jobs, such as nurses, are angered . . . that they are not eligible for these pay differentials."

The letter further stated that there would be a "serious disruption" of State institutional ser vices if such part-time employeer should decide to seek employment elsewhere "in order to obtain what they considered to be equit able treatment" in salaries.

CSEA asked that Hurd "imme diately" take action to grant the differentials to the part-time em-

Filing For Railroad Stockman | Where to Apply For Public Jobs Completes The Route Today

Today, July 29, sounds the final whistle that signifies filing is about to end for promotion test candidates wishing to become railroad stockmen.

It's an examination open exclusively to employees of the New York City Transit Authority, and the track will narrow down to a single eligibility list.

Your destination in terms of renumeration, should you qualify, will be the beginning wage of $4.0950 an hour. As your tenure accelerates, the salary signal could be saying $4.3900 hourly.

Seeking Blanks?

Your station for application blanks reads on the map as 49 Thomas St., Downtown Manhattan; that's the home office of the City Personnel Department. Consult our column, "Where To Apply For Public Jobs," for a timetable on weekday and Saturday filing hours.

The written test will be held September 19, 1969, and is open to each employee of the New York City Transit Authority who on the date of the written test: (1) is permanently employed in the title of railroad stock assistant; (2) has served as a permanent employee in such title in the Transit Authority for a period of not less than six months immediately preceding that date; and (3) is not otherwise ineligible.

If successful on the test, you will find the following as your typical responsibilities:

To receive, check, classify, store, and distribute materials and supplies at the central storerooms of the transit system, including: loading and unloading trucks unpacking, counting, sorting, marking, and placing materials and supplies received, filling requisition, taking inventory, and handling of obsolete and scrap material; if assigned, perform inspection work on new equipment and material at manufacturing plants; keep records; perform such other duties as the New York City Transit Authority is authorized by law to prescribe in its regulations.

In rating the exam, compute thus: Performance and seniority, weight 50, 70 percent required; written, weight 50, 70 percent required.

The written test will be designed to determine the candirelative judgment and knowledge with respect to training, safety, equipment and materials, records, established procedures, proper work attitudes, and other related areas pertaining particularly to the transit stores service.

Eligibles are required to pass a medical and physical examination given by the Transit Authority immediately prior to appointment. Candidates may be rejected for any deficiency, abnormality, or disease that tends to impair health or usefulness.

CSEA Makes Gains In Uniondale Dist.

AYBANY - The Civil Service Employees Assn. has won added benefits in its dispute with the Uniondale Union Free School District Board.

State Fact-Finder Alexander M. Leslie has recommended a salary increase and reduction in the length of the work week for some 50 female clerical workers in the district.

The recommendations include a five percent across-the-board pay raise for each of the 15 steps of the current salary schedule. And a reduction in the work week for clerical employees during July and August from 35 hours weekly to 30 hours weekly.

There are GS-2 and GS-3 open- York, N.Y. 10013, (telephone numings for clerk-typist, paying $4,360 ber 212-264-0954). and $4,917 respectively, and requiring a high school diploma plus a half-year of experience for the former, while standards for the latter are a year of education beyond high school and full year of typing experience. Card punch operators are also needed.

GS-3 and GS4 jobs for clerkstenographer are similar in qualification to the two grades of clerktypist, with the emphasis on short. hand training and background. These posts pay $4,917 and $5,522 for the grades involved. Additionally, a substantial assortment of fringe benefits is accrued by all successful candidates on the test.

All candidates must be over 18, male or female, and able to take the appropriate civil service exams which are given on a frequent basis, usually weekly.

Applications, SF 171, can be obtained from local Post Offices, and should be delivered to Leonard Welser, Office of Civilian Personnel, Defense Contract Administraion Services Region, New York,

McMorran Successor

ALBANY-E. Burton Hughes of Delmar, a state career employee since 1925, has been named acting commissioner of transportation, succeeding J. Burch McMorran, who has retired.

Governor Rockefeller announced the appointment, noting that Hughes had joined State service as a junior civil engineer and had risen through the ranks to become executive deputy commissioner for the Transportation Department.

Rockland State

recent Grand Jury investigation at Rockland State Hospital, despite some of its superficial criticisms of conditions in the hospital, does underline one basic problem plaguing all Mental Hygiene Dept. institutions—severe under-

The reasons for this continuing lack of sufficient personnel to care for the mentally ill are simply inadequate pay and lack of promotional opportunities.

These points have been pressed home time and time again by the Civil Service Employees Assn. Another factor stressed by the Employees Association—and long ignored is peace officer status for security police in institutions. Even the Grand Jury recognized how vital this status was for safety officers.

Despite the misinformed criticisms of the report, let's hope the more positive aspects of the investigation improve the conditions we mention here.

T HE "City Hall Festival" will feature an award to comedian Alan King on Aug. 5 and we wish to commend Oscar Kanny, director of public information for the City Housing Authority, for the direction of these programs.

Our office being located directly across the street from City Hall, we have had a chance to observe these festivities and the effect they have on passersby. We don't deny anyone's right to demonstrate at City Hall-but the festival is a pleasant change of activity.

SUNY Faculty Senate, CSEA To Join Forces

ALBANY - Representatives of the Civil Service Employees Assn. and the SUNY Faculty Senate will meet for the first time this Friday (August 1) at CSEA Headquarters to discuss programs to implement their recent affiliation.

The two groups recently announced they were joining forces to seek joint certification as the negotiating representative for the professional staff of the State university system. The choice of bargaining agent will be decided in an election to be conducted at a later date by the State Public Employment Relations Board.

Theodore C. Wenzl, president of CSEA, and John M. Sherwig, Faculty Senate president, said that the joint venture will combine the tiated if the association is officialbargaining skills and legal machinery of CSEA's negotiators and Among the many issues that will counsel with the Faculty Senate's specialized knowledge in representing professional university employees.

The two officials agreed that all negotiating would be done by both organization acting as a single negotiating agent under the law. One of the purposes of the Friday meeting is to consider appropriate changes necessary in the constitution of each group to pro- be discussed.

vide for the joint venture, thus leading to a more formal linking.

The meeting will also make initial plans for a public relations program to inform the university's professional staff about the nature of the affiliation and to win their support for it.

Tentative Contract

Also on the agenda is a tentative definition of the terms of the contract that would be negoly certified as bargaining agent. be considered for inclusion in contract negotiations are salary increases, grievance machinery, posting of job vacancies, improved retirement, educational expenses, job security, health insurance, sabbatical leave, discount travel, and legal assistance.

Ed. Aide Lockhart Wins Internship In Washington

ALBANY-James H. Lockhart, an associate in the State Education Department's Division of Intercultural Relations, has won a national internship in Washington, D.C.

The Washington internship program is co-sponsored by the Ford Foundation and the Federal government in an effort to reduce the leadership gap in the field of education.

Lockhart is one of 20 interns selected from throughout the United States on the basis of their potential for leadership in educational programs.

The Albany educator is first vice-president of the Albany branch of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People. He will serve his internship in the Office of Equal Educational Opportunity in the U.S. Office of Education. The program is for one year.

Civil Service Law & You

By WILLIAM GOFFEN

(Mr. Goffen, a member of the New York Bar, teaches law a College of the City of New York, is the author of many books articles and co-authored "New York Criminal Law.")

Mental Incapacity

UNTIL A RECENT, precedent shattering decision of the New York Court of Appeals, legal incapacity to contract d pended upon lack of ability to understand and to think r tionally. This ancient test of mental incapacity does reflect modern psychiatric knowledge. Thus, a person ma be able to think rationally and to possess the ability to u derstand, but still be suffering from a psychosis on account of which a contract was made which would not otherwi have been made.

IN SUCH A SITUATION, Justice Charles D. Breitel wri ing for a majority of the Court of Appeals held that reli should not be denied. The particular case before the hi Court, Ortelere v. Teachers' Retirement Board, presented especially sympathetic case for the petitioner.

THE PETITIONER'S WIFE, Grace Ortelere, was a pul lic school teacher for forty years. She suffered a "nervou breakdown" at the age of sixty with the result that she w placed on a leave of absence. She also suffered from cer bral arteriosclerosis. Her psychiatrist diagnosed the "breat down" as involutional psychosis, melancholia type.

AS A MEMBER of the Teachers' Retirement System the City of New York, Mrs. Ortelere had years earlier selec ed benefits under Option I, naming her husband as be eficiary of the unexhausted reserve. Less than two month before she died, while she was still under psychiatric trea ment, she executed a retirement application selecting t maximum retirement allowance payable during her lifetin with nothing payable after death. Consequently, there v lost to her husband, a man of modest circumstances w had given up his job to care for his wife during her ment illness, a retirement reserve of $62,000. Evidently shock with an outworn concept of contractual incapacity which forced a determination contrary to the goals of justice Justice Breitel wrote:

Nor should one ignore that in the relationship tween retirement system and members, and especial in a public system, there is not involved a commercia let alone an ordinary commercial, transaction. Inste the nature of the System and its announced goal is t protection of its members and those in whom its me bers have an interest. It is not a sound scheme which would permit 40 years of contribution and particip tion in the System to be nullified by a one-instant committed by one known to be mentally ill. This especially true if there would be no substantial har to the System if the act were avoided. On the reco none may gainsay that her selection of a "no option retirement while under psychiatric care, ill with ce bral arteriosclerosis, aged 60, and with a family which she had always manifested concern, was so wise and fool hardy that a factfinder might conclu that it was explainable only as a product of psychos

SPECIAL TERM, also evidently shocked by the injust that had come to pass, had decided for the petitioner af trial. However, the Appellate Division reversed this deter ination, apparently because the evidence did not establi that the retiree met the legal definition of contractual capacity. In fact, it was clear that Mrs. Ortelere co think rationally and knew what she was doing when made the no-option selection.

HER PSYCHIATRIST who was a witness at the testified that her psychopathology affected her rational However, it is not likely in the light of his other testime that the doctor used term "nationality" in the same s as the legal use. Mrs. Ortelere's rationality in the legal se was convincingly demonstrated by a letter she wrote to Teachers' Retirement System two months before her de The letter included a number of pertinent inquiries with spect to whether she should take an option or the maxim allowance. Undoubtedly, as Justice Breitel wrote, deceded rationality in the legal sense led to the reversal by the pellate Division.

THIS LANDMARK case will receive further consid ation in a subsequent column.

What's the catch? There isn't any.

$1,799* is the suggested retail price at the port of entry for the VW sedan.

The price includes the Federal excise tax and import duty.

It also includes the built-in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rearview mirror, padded dash, front seat headrests, and seat belts front and back.

Not to mention the new electric rear-window defogger and the new ignition/steering lock. It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model. What else do you have to pay?

Transportation from the port of entry. Dealer delivery charge, local sales tax.

One optional extra that makes a lot of sense, automatic stick shift. It eliminates the clutch pedal.)

Another is leatherette upholstery. And that's it.

The Statewide Plan:

It's like having a fortune in your own bank vault.

That's a fact. Belonging to the Statewide Plan is like having a fortune in your own bank vault.

Since no one knows how sick he might be, no one knows what a serious illness can really cost. Recently, Blue Cross covered a New York State employee's hospital bill of over $19,000. The patient didn't have to pay a penny.

And the Statewide Plan didn't have an option . . . It paid substantial amounts for doctors and other medical bills under Blue Shield and Major Medical.

With the Statewide Plan you have it all a "no nonsense" three-part program especially designed for you and your family.

There's one hitch though. It's strictly to pay your hospital and medical bills. But on second thought, can you think of any time you'd need money more? We can't.

No Deadline For Applicants As Occupational Instructor

carried out for a number of openings as occupational instructor for the State of New York, for which residence in the State isn't even Minimum requirements asked for include high school graduation or an equivalency diploma and five different options for the additional requirement. These generally fall in the area of academic background or experience.

If you either have two years of satisfactory experience as an aide in an occupational therapy program or in teaching arts and crafts, fine arts, or manual skills in adult education or classroom instruction, or four years' worth of experience practicing one or more of the arts and crafts, or a closely related trade, you will

Alternate requisites call for completion of 225 hours (12 semester credit hours) of post-high school training in one or more of the arts and crafts, plus a year of satisfactory background in the first option mentioned above, or two years in the second optionpracticing an arts and crafts trade. Also acceptable is graduation from a two-year college with coursework in business practice, industrial arts, home economics, or nursery school education. A combination of the above training and experience might qualify as

Suffolk Cty. Seeking Education Counselors

Filing is open until August 20 for the Suffolk County position of educational counselor, at a biweekly salary of $375 to $529. The written test will be held Septem-

Requirements are graduation from an accredited college or university with a bachelor's degree and three years experience in educational or vocational guidance or counseling. There is no residence requirement; however, appointing authorities may give pref. erence to legal residents of their Relevant education will be substituted for experience on a yearfor-year basis.

The written test will be designed to test knowledge of community resources and relations; principles and practices of counseling; principles and techniques of interviewing; principles of education and sources of educational information; and ability to prepare written material.

For applications and further information write the Suffolk Coun-Civil Service Department, County Center, Riverhead; or call 516-PA 7-4700, extension 249.

Social Work Dean

Harold Lewis, former chairman of the doctoral program and research department of the School of Social Work of the University of Pennsylvania, has been named dean for the new center of the Hunter College School of Social

As an occupational instructor, here is an outline of what you can expect to do: Under direct supervision of an occupational therapist, you'll be teaching arts and crafts to mentally ill or mentally impaired patients at a State institution. Activities are oriented for therapy rather than vocational training. Areas of instruction include bookbinding, ceramics, fine or graphic arts, leatherwork, metal work, needlework, plastics, printing, weaving, willow work, woodwork, and other arts and crafts. Starting salary was $4,915; since April, a 5 percent pay increase has been in effect for all State titles.

Job locations are situated in institutions run by the Departments of Mental Hygiene and Correction throughout the State. A listing of these facilities is found in Bulletin No. 20-146.

Application forms are available at offices of the State Department of Civil Service in Albany, New York, Buffalo, and Syracuse, as well as local offices of the New York State Employment Service. Completed applications should indicate all relevant coursework beyond high school, noting course

No Cut In Head Start

"The Interim Board of Education had no knowledge that the salaries of any of its employees in the Head Start Summer Program were being reduced," Murray Bergtraum, acting president, said. The Board is unalterably opposed to the salary cuts and the imposition of retroactive education requirements.

Salaries, Board Says

The Superintendent of Schools has directed that all employees in the program be paid at least the same rates as they received skills in thinking and speaking, early education we shall attempt last summer, and that such pay-

| Parental Teaching Emphasized For Pre-School Age Children

New York City's public school system is preparing to sible," Mrs. Umans declared. launch this Fall a mini-school project which is expected to blaze new trails in the education of small children in poverty areas. About 210 children will be involved.

With the cooperation of neighborhood leaders, the new type schools are being planned for 90 children between two and five years of age in the East Harlem area of Manhattan and 120 others in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn as a special innovative project in education to be financed by Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

According to Mrs. Shelley Umans, Director of the Center for Planning and Innovation of the City's Board of Education, the nex-type schools will be of inexpensive construction designed especially for pre-school children and staffed by mothers and others from the immediate neighborhood as well as by highly trained teachers. The teachers will train parents and others in the family in the aims and objectives of the new-type school.

"This training will take place right in the home in the evening hours and will be a new development in the concept of having the school go into the home in the interests of the child," Mrs. Umans explained.

Early Learning

The program, Mrs. Umans added, will stress development of well known to the children whose day and year and include psychological services, nutrition and health services and teacher training. An objective would be to show that children can learn much more at an earlier age and more quickly than was previously thought possible.

Mrs. Umans said that the training of personnel for this new project, including the selection of parents and work for them in their homes, will begin this fall. Construction of the new-type schools will follow next winter.

The parental training, Mrs. Umans emphasized, will include utilization of the instructional materials to be used in the school, such as blocks and weights.

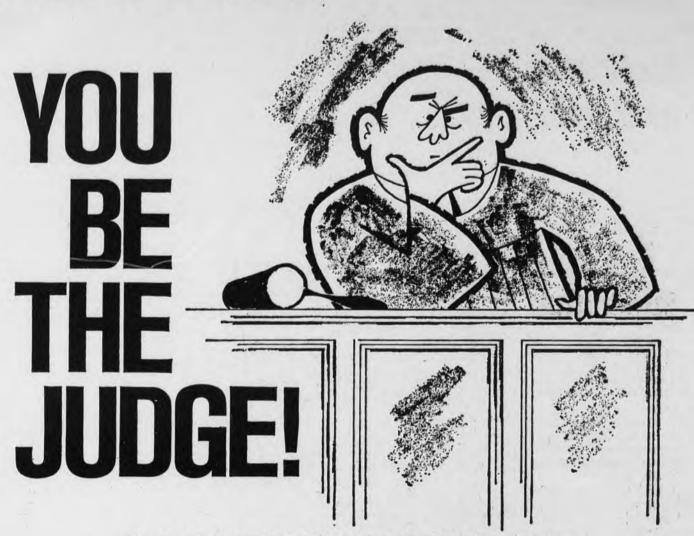

schools — called minischools - will be located, possibly, in school yards or even in the back yard of a home, as a "bubble" on the roof of an existing school or in some other unique location, according to Mrs. Umans. It will feature open interior

BUY U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

The need to cover the high cost of specialist care is greater today than ever before.

Nevertheless, H.I.P. is still the only plan in this area providing fully paid specialist services—in the office, hospital and home.

WHAT H.I.P. DOES

H.I.P.'s Medical Groups provide care and consultations by qualified specialists in fourteen basic specialties—in and out of the hospital.

There are no specialist charges ... no limit on visits

... no deductibles ... no claim forms.

When needed in difficult cases, H.I.P. brings you the services of specially qualified specialists and surgical teams—also without cost to you!

AND THE OTHERS?

Compare H.I.P.'s broad coverage with the specialist coverage given by the other plans available to City employee families.

by outside labor forces. It is ever true, as the saying goes, 'It is were mailed to employees in that not the size of the dog in the fight | unit when an error was discovered that counts, but the size of the in the original yellow ballots. The fight in the dog.' CSEA has proved deadline for all other units was that it has a lot of fight in it. July 21.

County Members' Effort

"Our county chapters have ingreat endeavor, lending us trecated efforts of CSEA's 172,000 chapters alike, CSEA will sweep the elections in all five collective bargaining units."

Wenzl referred to the five units -the administrative services unit; the operational services unit; the institutional services unit; the security services unit and the professional, technical and scientific services unit—set up by the State Public Employment Relations Board. Separate elections for a collective bargaining representative are being held in each of the units.

Ballot-counting began on July elections."

128, the deadline for all ballots in the security unit. New gray ballots

"In this lull before the votes are counted, all we can do is wait for vested time and money in this the results," Wenzl said. "CSEA waits with confidence. When the mendous support. I am confident results of the elections in all five that, because of the all-out, dedi- units are announced, I am sure that all of us in CSEA will be members in State and county grateful for and proud of our hard work during this trying time. We have shown once again, through our united efforts in the past few weeks, that CSEA is a great organization and that CSEA can do anything its members want it to

> "A giant leap forward is about to be taken by all State employees, when they elect CSEA as their bargaining representative.

CSEA Hits Grand Jury Investigation

zation, Wenzl said. "We've been fighting with the State for many years to get our institutions properly staffed. We've won some improvement, but there's still a long way to go. Our first goal for institution and security employees after we win the current representation elections is to negotiate better salaries and more positions ir these areas of vital need."

Commenting on the report's use of narcotics, Wenzl said the grand jury was "missing the point and doing a disservice to the public and certainly to the employees in playing up these problems." To list all of the irregularities at Rockland with equal emphasis, and without comparing them to the situation at other similar institutions is not fair, he said.

"A loose moral situation may exist among certain individual employees at Rockland, just as it does at any other institution, for that matter, in any other community where people live together," Wenzl noted, "but we Wenzl.

know from first hand familiarity with our hundreds of members who work there that the place is not by any means the den of iniquity suggested by this report. Furthermore, in behalf of these members we strongly resent the implication that all Rockland employees are immoral and untrustworthy."

Praise For Dr. Stanley

Wenzl also took exception to the report's questioning the adcharges of prostitution and illegal ministrative competence of Rockand's director, Dr. Alfred M. Stanley, for permitting the alleged irregularities. "This man (Stanley) is a certified hospital administrator with a long background of successful performance," said.

"If the commissioner of mental hygiene, Dr. Alan Miller, would put sufficient pressure on Governor Rockefeller to get Dr. Stanley enough money to pay his lowergrade employees decent salaries, the problems at Rockland and other State mental hospitals could be cleared up in short order," said
