COME ONE - COME ALL

Tonight the seniors, juniors, and sophomores of Milne will have their first big get - together of the new year. The old gym will assume gala attire, but not so the spectaters. Old clothes will disguise the illustrious students of Milne so that they can forget their dignity and swing around in barn dances in the good old style.

The orchestra will also provide music for modern dancing and Paul Jones and nevelty dances and almost everything you can imagine that makes a party go over big. Jane Weir and Foster Sipperley have planned a swell party, all right, with lots of fun for everyone.

If you really want better time than you could have at an ordinary or even a formal dance, come around tonight and enjoy yourself. You all remember the great time we had last year, so why not come to the Senior High School Party tonight and duplicate it?

GONE WITH THE WIND BY MARGARET MITCHELL.

The book Gone With the Wind shows the southern view-point towards the Civil War. The author awakes ones sympathy for the south and not only suprise but also a feeling of shame because of the damage the north did, unnecessarily, to the south.

It is the story of Scarlett O' Hara, the belle of three counties. She has three husbands and finds love too late.

mess of our cowardice -- which turns later to doubt and then to grudging admiration for our bravery; its courage and unfaltering hope which grows stronger in the face of certain defeat; the hardships they suffered, lack of food, clothing and necessities of life--those they had were the worst of their kind; the burning of the beloved homes and land; their flight from town to town in front of the northern soldiers; their offers of the youth of the south, then the younger boys until the only men who weren't fighting were those who were unable to move, for even the very old went; the women had no protection and their courage equaled if not exceeded that of the men; the way is a bright flag of courage, bravery and strength of a broken and defeated people.

After the War comes the rebuilding of a nation which brings horrors worse than the War. The formation of the Klu Klux Klan to protect their women from the outrageous attacks of the negroes.

The book Gone With the Wind is a vivid story of the destruction and rehabilitation of a strong, brave and glorious nation.

NICE GOING, BOYS

The Milne varsity basketball team has showed us what a team can do with the proper support. The other games the team played were away with the exception of one. At the away games the home team had the advantage in more ways than one. They were playing on their own court and had more support than did our team.

The boys have proved they are the best team by only lossing by one point away and winning by twenty-two points on their own court. If you all sincerely want your team to win come out to the gemes and cheer as loud as you can. The boys need your cheering and when they know everyone is behind them they will fight for you.

QU IN:

Froverbs opened the meeting of January 11. Members voted on the girls who the society will ask to join it.

THETA NU:

At the regular business meeting, the members of Theta Nu decided to send Roger Orton, who is ill, a card.

The club passed a motion that any boy interested in swimming may join the swimming club, if he sees Mr. Schaler and is approved by the rest of the society.

This club is sponsored by Theta

The taking of new mambers was discussed.

SIGMA:

Because of the voting upon of girls eligible for entering the society, the business meeting was disrgearded.

ADELPHOI:

Adelphoi is going to hold a banquet Feb. 5 at Jack's Restaurant.

Mr. Carvill gave an interesting talk on the book "The Valley of The Silent Men".

The hero of this story is named Kent and is shot by a half-broad. He recovers, but the search for the half-bread is very exciting.

SUBSTITUTE FOR ANTICS PLANNED

Last Friday, in the Girls Athletic Club meeting, Miss Hitchcock spoke to the members about what would be held this year in place of Annual Antics. It is tentatively decided to have two basketball games, a girls' championship game and a boys' inter-society game. A committee was appointed by Barbara Knox to think of other suggestions.

FRENCH CLUB PLANS PLAY

As the French Club did not have much business to take care of at their meeting on Monday, Miss Browing explained a game which the club then played. The game was played entirely in French. The characters of the play which will be given in assembly have been chosen. They are Frances Seymour, Barbara Soper, Hazel Roberts and Edward Walker.

EXCHANGES

Hello everyone, -- everywhere. Auntie Lucy is greeting you with another batch of witty exchanges.

* * * * * * * *

From The Boulder we get this bright remark.

. Forester: You notice the insects have defoliated the trees.

Betty: Yes, and they have eaten all the leaves, too.

From the Mur-Mur-Ette Nit Wits, this witty piece of literature was taken.

F. Sipperely: (Reading a Joke). Look at this, Bill: Some dumb fool here thinks that a football coach has four wheels.

Bill; -- How! Haw! And how many wheels has it?

Lizzy S. What is the difference between an automobile, a sigh, and a monkey?

Ed. W. I don't know. What is it?

E.S. An automobile is too dear, a sigh is O dear, and a monkey is you dear.

From the Harvester we find that:

The Way To Get --

Trouble is to go looking for it.

Into office is to promise the impossible.

Respect is to live as if you expected

Respect is to live as if you expected it.

Lady at Almond counter. 'Who attends to the nuts?"

Clerk: "Be patient, I'll be with you in a minute."

A little of History B enters here as

Mr. Hastings: "Miss Shultz, can you tell me the three classifications in which men are divided?

Betty J.: 'Rich, poor, and good looking.

"Mama," said little Virginia, "If there are any men up in Heaven, why is it that we never see any angels with whiskers"

"Well", replied her mother, thoughtfully, "I guess its because most men get there only by a close shave.

Well, another day passes, and I again resume my deep concentration on-the finals.

COLMITTTEE WORKS ON PLAY

Monday at the joint meeting of the groups of the dramatics club, they decided to give a three act play probably some time in April. The president appointed a committee of Frances Livitz, Barbara Knox and Virginia Kelsey to find a suitable play.

THRU THE KEYHOLE

... By Hide and Seck

We're in again, trying to attempt what is practically the impossible. And that is, to tell you Milneites something you don't already know. As your various teachers try to find out the extent of your knowledge through questions, why, we'll do the same. To start with—

What Junior boys, prominent on the basket-ball team, rushed a pretty little eighth grader at our last basket-ball game?

Wonder how Jan Bremer feels being a divorce? We know we wouldn't mind-not if we collected the alimony she did.

Why are Lowell and Barbara always together? Well, we wouldn't know either. But, they should be more careful—even if it is after school hours. We never knew that the Page Hall steps had that "certain atmosphere"—did you?

Why is it that Brud Davis doesn't seem to realize what a really swell kid Lois Nesbitt is? Before he knows it he is going to find himself out in the cold—if he isn't already.

Although it's r ther in the past—How did Je n ambler like her New Year's Eve date from Princeton?Was he blond?

Look out for "Flash" Carvill and Janet Cole at the party tonight. They will be there (together) unless we're gravely mistaken.

Late nights seem to suit our basketball players or does the De Witt Clinto sooth their nerves? At any rate 8 of our boys..were there last Friday night and were two certain junior girls mad:

Verna knocks for admittance to Narren's heart. Or is it vice--versa? Anyw y, a tall, dark, and handsome man and cute, blond, girl do look neat together.

Why, Fran Se mour! You're not getting to be chiseler, are you? You'd better keep off Pond's territory or she will Skip away.

Shall we send a committee to read Jimmy's and Margaret Charles' correspondence? Or shall we just let them peacefully so their way?

Is that rumor 'bout the invincible Bob Taft really true? Or-Weren't he and Ginny McDermott together at Wagar's last Satdee nite?

well--what's your averge? We hope that your mark ish't very good. Then we can hope that you enjoyed this column.

THE COMMENTATOR

Happy New Year is right: 1937 gave us a grand start last Saturday night when our "Crimson Five" triumphed over Bethlehem Central High '40-18. "Ace" Sipperley led the field with 13 points, making some of them from the middle of the floor. He did a grand job shooting the ball like a bullet right through the old basket.

Did you notice that this victory gave us a picture on the front page of both of Albany's sport pages? This is exactly what we needed and the boys deserve the credit.

With a new spirit in Milne, we look forward to this Saturd y night when we play host to Rennsselaer High and show them how we relly play. You remember they took us the last time by one point, but we're going to make them sing "You Turned the Tables on Me" by reperting the Delmar same.

We couldn't kick about the crowd it the Delmar game, it certainly was the real support the term needed.

Oh, yes, I almost forgot our Junior Varsity. They lost to Delmar 18-11, but don't let that fool you because in proportion they've done better than the Varsity. Milne doesn't have to worry bout a team for the next one or two years because this J. V. team will take hold as soon as the Varsity graduates.

GIRLS TRAVEL TO DELMAR FOR BASKETB-LL PLAYDAY

The Milne girls' varsity attended the Bethlehem Central High School Playday last Saturday from 10:15 to 4. They played five games with Delmar, Cobleskell, the teachers, Mount Pleasant, and Cambridge.

The girls to their dinner in the school cafeteria where they song songs, and had a real get together. The Princip I made a speech, and also some of the coaches. Favors were small basketballs with the schools colors, designating where the members of each team were to sit.

After lunch there were more 6-mes, and then the entertinment which was presented by the various schools. This was followed by dancing to the music of the Rhythm Rangers.

The sirls who went are Virginia Tripp, Elizabeth Simmons, Kay Newton, Margaret Charles, Marion Kosbob, Lillian Eclichymer, Norma Kapewich, Virginia Soper, Bette Potter, Carolyn Hausmann, Barbara Knox, and Frances Levitz.
