Employee Organizations Are Vocal On Choice For Mayor

New York City's civil service employee organizations are making definite statements on who they want to win the mayoralty spot in the Democratic primary election this week.

As a matter of fact, the public worker groups are being unusually vocal about who they want as mayor. And if sheer numbers on the record mean anything, Mayor Robert Wagner at this writing has the edge.

Comptroller Arthur Levitt, according to a Leader survey at press time, does not have a large number of organizations backing him publicly. But he does have the announced support of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which lays claim to having more members than several of the organizations backing Wagner combined.

Last week, the Uniformed Firemen's Association and the Uniformed Firemen's Officer Association publicly endorsed Wagner as their choice in the primary. Several public employee locals of the Teamsters Union have gone on record for the Mayor. Transit police, correction officers and other smaller groups also have taken the Wagner side.

The Mayor, of course, has the advantage that any incumbent would have and, in addition, a civil service performance record that his supporters feel has earned him their support.

Levitt is not unknown by any means in the City, however. He has a long public record of supporting state civil service employees' salary and fringe benefits goals and, as head of the State Retirement System, has brought definite improvements in the area of pensions. Prior to his seeking the mayoralty nomination he was actively seeking such Retirement System improvements as vesting rights at age 55 and increased return on employees contributions.

How these employee organizations will act after the primary does not seem to depend on the appeal of the GOP candidate, State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, or City Controller Lawrence Gerosa, an independent. As far as anyone can see now, their choice — as expressed by their organizations — is between the two Democratic contenders.

State Seeks Engineering Examiner

The New York State Department of Civil Service has an opening for a qualified civil engineer to serve as its Examinations Division, Albany. Salary for the position ranges from $7,360 to $8,910 in five annual increases.

The civil service examination for the position will be held on October 21, with applications accepted until September 18. New York State residence is not required of applicants.

Applicants will be rated on both the results of the written test and on their training and experience. An oral examination may also be required.

Candidates must have a civil engineering degree and two years of satisfactory experience in professional engineering work, preparing and rating engineering examinations, college level teaching of engineering subjects, or in any combination thereof.

Applications and further information may be obtained from the Recruitment Unit, Box 10, New York State Department of Civil Service, The State Campus, Albany 1, New York.

Lab & Research Unit Holds 25 Yr. Award Ceremony

The annual service awards ceremony honoring members of the staff of the Division of Laboratories and Research who have devoted 25 years of service to the health of the people of the State of New York was held recently. Members of the staff who were so honored and who received 25 year pins were: Mrs. Thelma F. Muraschl, Edgar LaFontaine, George L. Schleicher, Dr. Albert H. Harris and Dr. William Rae Thompson.

At the Division of Laboratories and Research Building, an open house for retired staff members was also held in conjunction with the award ceremonies. Many of the retired staff members were touched with a bit of nostalgia at the renewed acquaintances and talked over old times with their former colleagues. Their activities also included a tour of the recently constructed laboratories for Radiological Chemistry and development. This trip proved to be a very impressive display of the advances made by the Department in the field of Radiation over a scant few years. Retired staff members also enjoyed the showing of films as well as a program on recent developments in public health.

6 Army Aides Honored For Suggestions

Suggestion award certificates and checks were awarded recently to six Fort Hamilton civilian employees, whose recommendations were accepted for implementation by the Incentive Awards Committee at Ford Hamilton, Brooklyn. Presentation of the awards was made by Col. John K. Daly, Post Commander.

Those receiving awards were: Mrs. Josephine Cusamano, Mrs. Betty Payne and Mrs. Gerald Novack—all of the Comptroller's Division; Walter A. Carroll, Quartermaster Commissary Section, Christine Beumi, Adjutant Administrative Section; and Mrs. Anna M. Kane of the Transer Station.

As a result of the adoption of tow of the suggestions, a savings of more than $5,000 in manhours will be realized annually.

Miss Cusamano, a former clerk-typist, suggested the use of type-out and copy strips for typing errors. This practice has eliminated the necessity of retyping many documents as a result of untidy erasures, or holes caused by heavy erasures. Manhours saved by the adoption of this suggestion are estimated to be valued at $4,925 annually.

The proposal submitted by Mrs. Payne, a clerk, was that the "No-Parking" sign opposite the Post Headquarters parking lot be moved back 15 feet.

The suggestion of Mr. Novack, management analyst, concerned the improvement of lighting in the facility in the Messge Center provided for reading regulations.

Mr. Carroll, a commissary warehouseman, recommended the use of stenciled forms with an itemized list of commissary sales store items, which would preclude the necessity for making lengthy hand-written entries.

It is estimated that this proposal will save $305.50 in manhours a year.

Mrs. Kane suggested the utilization of carts at the Transfer Station for transporting boxes of records to forwarding sections.

On Youth Council

ALBANY, Sept. 4—Governor Rockefeller has chosen a Yonkers business executive to serve on the Council of Youth in the State Youth Division. He is William J. Curtis, president of Horn and Hardart Company.

Members of the council receive $50 a day, plus expenses.

Your Public Relations IQ

By LEO J. MARGOLIN

(Mr. Margolin is Adjunct Professor of Public Relations in the New York University School of Public Administration and is a vice-president of the public relations firm of Martial & Company, Inc.)

THE GUINEAN delegation to the United Nations committed a major public relation "goof" in its wild accusations of racial discrimination and brutality against the N. Y. City Police Dept.

WHAT GUINEA'S chief delegate, M. Teill Diallo, did not know is this simple fact:

NEW YORK City police receive 36 hours of public relations training, including intensive instruction in race relations, courtesy, human relations, and practical psychology. This curriculum has been highly praised by leading educators.

THESE COURSES are effective. In their daily contacts with the public, New York policemen are practicing public relations all the time. Mostly, it's good public relations backed by good performance.

UNFORTUNATELY, the same cannot be said for M. Diallo. His lack of restraint, evidenced by scattershot charges and vague generalities, is bad public relations for his country and for himself.

IT WAS EVEN worse public relations for him to call a press conference to insult all members of the N. Y. City Police Dept. 24 hours before results of the official investigation were known.

IN SHARP CONTRAST, was the calm demeanor of Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy. Although not a professional diplomat, Commissioner Murphy exhibited more intelligent diplomacy than either M. Diallo or his colleague, M. Michel Collet, cause of all the unilateral excitement.

TO MAKE THE Guinean case even less valid, was the conspicuous absence of M. Collet before, during and after the press conference. M. Collet insists — and the Guineans are stuck with his story — that police roughed him up after a minor auto accident in which he was involved. The investigation eventually revealed M. Collet as the belligerent.

WE RECOMMEND to M. Diallo and M. Collet some simple public relations truisms:

GOOD PUBLIC relations must be earned. It cannot come from mere words, adding up to irresponsible charges against 24,000 men and women whose performance is on display for 8,000,000 people to see every day.

GOOD PUBLIC relations for a country also stems from the good behavior and dignity of its representatives who are guests in a foreign country.

GOOD PUBLIC relation cannot be achieved by transforming N. Y. City policemen into propaganda "fall-guys."

Oswego Wins More Liberal Sick Leave Plan

OSWEGO, Sept. 4 — City employees won a uniform, expanded sick leave and vacation program recently, but a more liberal plan sponsored by one alderman was turned down by the Common Council.

Under the program adopted by the Common Council, employees will receive an accumulated total of 120 days of sick leave. In the new vacation schedule, employees with two years of service will receive two-week vacations, with pay; those with five years or more, three weeks of vacation.

The plan, prepared and backed by Mayor Ralph Shapiro, was designed to establish a uniform code for sick leaves and vacations.

Before the final vote, the program was expanded to provide 120 days of accumulated sick leave instead of the 30 days originally in the program.

The plan sponsored by Alderman Crisafulli included additional employe benefits, such as hospitalization and disability insurance, plus tie-ins with workmen's compensation and social security benefits. This plan was defeated when the mayor broke a four-four tie vote that would have sent both programs back into committee for further study.

To start off the sick leave program, employees with up to 10 years' service will be credited with 30 days of accumulated sick leave, those with 15 years, 45 days, and those with 20 or more years, 75 days of accumulated sick leave.

Big Gains For Nassau Sanitation by CSEA

(From Leader Correspondent)

INWOOD, Sept. 4—Only six months after its formation, the Civil Service Employees Association unit in Sanitary District One has won substantial benefits for its members and has instituted payroll deductions for CSEA dues.

The employees of the district, who collect garbage from 25,000 homes in the Five Towns area of Nassau County, met recently to approve various benefits obtained by the CSEA negotiating committee, including a change from a six day to five day work week at the same pay.

Meanwhile, in another Sanitary District, Number Seven, Ocean-side, where a CSEA unit was formed only two months ago, employees were this week granted a pay raise. Under benefits negotiated by CSEA unit president Rudy Balsan, drivers will go from a top pay of $89 a week to $108 a week, after five years. Helpers will rise from $80 to $104 a week, over the same period. Both groups, however, will get immediate weekly pay boosts of about $3 with the remainder to be received in yearly steps.

100 Per Cent Membership

Sanitation Unit One, which has 100 per cent membership in the CSEA unit, became the first garbage unit in the county to adopt payroll deductions for dues.

The meeting was attended by Irving Flaumenbaum, president of the Nassau chapter CSEA, and John Corcoran Jr., CSEA regional representative. Flaumenbaum told the members that, "The proper negotiations between employees and employers general produce good results." He praised district officials as being "extremely cooperative."

The CSEA negotiating committee consisted of the officers, President Michael Andriacchi, Vice President Robert Switzer, Secretary Eugene Terrell and Board of Director member Daniel Magliaro.

The officers of the district board of commissioners are Lawrence Rosenthal, chairman, Nicholas Calabria, Ben Peter, John Norris, John Tyler, and Alice Meek, secretary. The district superintendent is Maynard Dudley.

Approval Urged For 10,000 Civilian Jobs

To keep up with the military build up caused by the Berlin situation, the Army, Navy, and Air Force have urged the Department of Defense to approve about 10,000 more civilian jobs.

A week ago the Department approved 10,000 additional jobs. Most of this first batch of new jobs will go to Joint Communications. The second increase of civilian jobs will probably go mostly to research and development operations.

Over 80,000 Employees Under 36 New & Revised Classifying Standards

Eighty thousand civil servants are covered by 36 new or revised position classification standards completed by the Civil Service Commission in fiscal year 1961. Twelve more standards, covering 10,500 employees, were sent to the printer during August.

Thus new standards have been prepared for 207 types of positions covering 700,000 employees in the five years since the Commission placed increased emphasis on its standards production program.

Classification standards are used to establish the kinds and levels of work for most white-collar jobs. They form the basis for establishing grades and salaries for more than 900,000 Government workers. Issuance of new or revised standards is made necessary as legislative, technological, or program changes occur which affect the occupational structure of the Federal Government.

New standards for plant pest control technicians will improve career opportunities for technicians who supplement the work of professional people in planning and conducting plant pest surveys, quarantines, and control operations.

Standards for pharmacy assistant and autopsy assistant provide for higher grades at entrance levels, as well as in subsequent grades, reflecting greater delegation of responsibility for more difficult kinds of work.

The standards for optometrist provide for upgrading to reflect higher education and licensing requirements. Industrial Optometry has been included in these standards and recognition has been given to responsibility for planning and directing optometric programs in industrial organizations.

New classification standards for medical officers provide for grade-level evaluations on the basis of work assignments, coupled with the employee's level of professional development. This will result in some increase in grades, particularly at the upper levels.

Other occupations for which standards were developed in the closing months of the fiscal year include plant pest control and eradication officer, contract price analyst, cartographer (nautical), information receptionist, fire protection and prevention positions (covering primarily fire chief), marine engineer, naval architect, and public information officer.

Standards sent to the printer during August include those covering positions of investigator (alcohol), personnel officer, veterans claims examiner, marine cargo superintendent, medical biology technician, veterinarian, financial institution examiner, occupational therapist, physical therapist, cer-rective therapist, manual arts therapist.

Fifty-eight qualification standards were also completed in the 5-year period to 248. Qualification standards establish the nature and extent of training, experience and skills, plus the knowledges and abilities needed to qualify for some two million Federal positions.

As a part of the qualification standards program, 128 tests and 347 alternate and additional series of tests were developed in the past five years.

Where We Stand

AS A NEWSPAPER oriented toward all public employees, regardless of their political parties, The Leader does not endorse individual candidates or parties in elections or primaries. The guiding principle here is that it is the duty of a public employee newspaper to stand free of any public official and, thus, safeguard the right to be critical without fear of personal ties influencing judgment.

We have always praised officials who have acted wisely and justly toward the civil servant. We have never hesitated to attack those who did not. And this will continue to be our stand.

On the other hand, trends, movements and public employee activity on behalf of particular candidates or parties are news items to be reported and commented on.

In this area, we are strongly impressed by the open support given Mayor Robert Wagner and State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the antagonists in this week's Democratic primary where the party endorsement for mayor will be won.

Wagner

As the incumbent, Mayor Wagner has a direct record of action on City civil service matters on which to base his appeal for support from New York's public workers. His record has obviously made a popular platform. During the past eight years he has not only raised wages an average of 50 per cent but has encouraged steady reclassification where deserved. Wagner's labor relations record is good. At present he has ordered studies which will aid in an overall revision of the City's pension systems. A cross section survey shows that he has the open and enthusiastic support of the fire department organizations, the City Teamster locals, transit personnel and numerous individuals and organizations.

Levitt

Comptroller Arthur Levitt, while working at the State level, has a long-standing reputation as a friend of the civil servant. As head of the Retirement System, he has brought many improvements to it and continually plans ahead to make the System even better.

Higher interest rates on employee members' contributions and vested retirement rights at age 55 are but two of the retirement goals he presses for yearly. In addition, he has already taken initial steps toward giving public employees a voice in the Retirement System by appointing employee organization representatives to his Advisory Committee.

Under both Democratic and Republican governors, he has been among the first of state officials to lend the weight of his office to employee salary ambitions. He has long been a popular figure among State employees. His appeal has extended itself in New York City, and he has already earned the endorsement of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

To us, the most encouraging aspect of this primary election is the vocalism of the City's public employees. We have constantly urged the civil servant to take an active and open role in the body politic. Nothing makes for first class citizenship than exercising the right of a citizen to state his choice.

Self Criticism

RECENTLY, THE columns of this newspaper reported the observations on civil service made by an outsider. The observations contained both praise and criticism of public employees.

In Rome, N. Y., on Sept. 16, the Central Conference of the 97,000-member Civil Service Employees Association, has invited outstanding newspapermen, political figures and civic leaders to inform the attending delegates to the conference—all civil servants—of their opinion of the public employee.

Self-criticism in the American style is practiced as a means of self-improvement. It is a healthy sign to see our public employees inviting opinion designed to lead to an even better performance from the civil servant.

Letters to the editor must be signed, and names will be withheld from publication upon request. They should be no longer than 300 words and we reserve the right to edit published letters as seems appropriate. Address all letters to: The Editor, Civil Service Leader, 97 Duane St., New York 7, N.Y.

Sees Little Parole Morale Improvement

Editor, The Leader,

The Parole Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. has noted with incredulity the article in your August 22nd edition headed "Report Parole Morale Is Up." By no stretch of the imagination does this article reflect the true facts or the feelings of the staff. Morale in the Division remains at the lowest ebb in its history.

While the Parole Officers were in the process of settling their claim for overtime compensation against the State, the Division succeeded in having the Parole Officers removed from the protection of the Civil Service Rules of Attendance. This means that Parole Officers can now be required to work unlimited hours without compensation. This move only serves to compound a long existing injustice and has dealt a death blow to any possible improvement in staff morale.

If the Governor and the Parole Chairman are truly interested in the morale picture in the Division, it behooves them to go to the source and canvass the staff. In fact, we challenge the Administration to take this step. We do not hesitate to assert that they will receive a resounding note of "no confidence".

Attendant Suggests Practical Nurses Go

Editor, The Leader,

I have read much discussion on the subject of more improvements for the practical nurses. Practical nurses are in great demand for private duty. I suggest if they are so discontent with State working conditions that there are jobs waiting anytime any place on special duty. I think the State has good benefits for all. I have yet to see an overworked practical nurse. Her knowledge does not compare with the knowledge of a registered nurse who spent four long hard years training. I see many attendants doing practical nurses work — giving alcohol sponges, taking temperatures and giving out medicines. When necessary the attendants also fill in as charge for the registered nurse. Attendants are taught by the State basic things in practical nursing. It is a law in the N.Y. State Institution I work in.

ONLY AN ATTENDANT,
NEWARK, N. J.

Civil Service LAW & YOU

BY HAROLD L. HERZSTEIN

Mr. Herzstein is a member of the New York bar

(The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper or of any organization).

Where Do You Live?

"THE NEW YORK TIMES" of August 30, 1961, published Mayor Wagner's program for the next four years. Under "Civil Service", the first item was:

"We shall move to:

a. Repeal our restrictive residence requirement so that we may employ the best talent on our City jobs."

THE MAYOR and the men who worked on the program were obviously writing about the Lyons Law. It was informally named for its sponsor, Borough President James J. Lyons of the Bronx. The public in New York City knows all about the Lyons Law. It has been on the books for some 24 years now, having been enacted in 1937 (Local Law No. 40). The time has come to throw it out.

I WISH THAT the Mayor's opponents and the supporting candidates of all the tickets would promise to vote to repeal it. If they all did, then the civil service would be sure that in the next Board of Estimate there would be a majority for repeal.

The Law

THE LYONS LAW is Section B40-4.0 in the New York City Administrative Code (page 632, Volume 4). With certain exceptions, the law provides that: "Any office or position, compensation for which is payable solely or in part from funds of the city, shall be filled only by a person who is a citizen and a bona fide resident and dweller of the city for at least three years." In plain words, a person who has not lived in New York City for three years cannot get a job here.

THERE IS ANOTHER section of the Administrative Code, also part of the Lyons Law, which requires city employees to live in the City, and while there are exceptions to that requirement, in general city employees must live here (Sections F 41-14.0 to F 41-22, page 444, Volume 5).

Criticism

THE DEPRESSION WAS the stimulus for the Lyons Law. It was conceived in an atmosphere of relief. In the plain words of the law, local jobs were for local men and if New York City was not good enough for them to live in, they could give their jobs back.

THE THINKING behind the Lyons Law was never the thinking of New York City. We had a bad depression here. I learned from my friend, Deputy Welfare Commissioner Phillip Sokol that at the depth of the depression one person out of every seven in New York City was in receipt of some form of public aid. However, as bad as the depression was, it was never bad enough to make New York the provincial town, which the Lyons Law made it appear to be. None of the intelligent people here, and we like to believe that they outnumber the others, ever felt that a local residence should be a basis of selection over ability regardless of residence.

THE LYONS LAW IS very tough on the civil service. At the time when it was enacted there was no housing shortage and no movement to the suburbs. Since World War II, there have been both. Everyone is free to try to better his housing situation and to move to the suburbs if he feels such a move advisable, except civil service employees. The Madison Avenue television personnel may live in Connecticut, the Wall Street financial personnel may live in New Jersey, the Seventh Avenue garment personnel may live in Long Island, but the City Hall and Municipal Building civil service personnel must stay put.

IF THERE WERE SOME advantage in forcing employees to stay here, I believe that the Civil Service Reform Association would be for it. Carwin C. Williams, its Assistant Director, just called at my office and gave me literature which indicates that the Association strongly supports repeal of the Lyons Law.

Questions Answered On Social Security

Below are questions on Social Security problems sent in by our readers and answered by a legal expert in the field. Anyone with a question on Social Security should write it out and send it to the Social Security Editor, Civil Service Leader, 97 Duane St., New York 7, N. Y.

I understand that survivor's benefits are paid for children until they reach age 18. How long are social security benefits paid for disabled children?

Benefits for disabled children are generally paid for life, as long as the child remains unmarried and so severely disabled he cannot engage in any substantial gainful employment.

Will my disability benefits be increased when I reach 65?

Your disability benefits are figured the same as old-age benefits. The amount you receive each month will remain the same.

Watertown City Manager Opens Up CS Exams

(From Leader Correspondent)

WATERTOWN, Sept. 5—This city's city manager, Ronald C. Forbes, has won his fight to open up municipal civil service examinations to more qualified personnel and indications were today that members of the police department, at least, will find greater opportunity for advancement through civil service in the years ahead.

The Watertown civil service commission has announced that two classes in civil service — police detectives and sergeants will be eligible to take a future competitive examination for promotion to the rank of second deputy chief. Up to now the third ranking job in the department has been non-competitive. Mr. Forbes had proposed that the local commission hold a competitive test in the two classes for the promotion, arguing that "opportunities for promotion are limited at best and should be broadened to provide greater incentive for municipal servants."

Manager Has Power

The commission promptly passed the buck to the state department which, in effect, said that under the rules the decision was within the powers of the appointing officer — the city manager.

Mr. Forbes said that in the event Detective George L. Steele is promoted to second deputy chief after the upcoming test, a new policy is likely to be instituted in the department to allow sergeants and most qualified police patrolmen to take the civil service test for promotion to detective.

The detective is in a higher pay bracket than sergeants. Up to now, the police ranks of chief, first and second deputy chiefs have been strictly non-competitive and only sergeants were permitted to compete for promotion to detective.

By the same token, the detective on the force has always been promoted on a non-competitive basis to second deputy chief.

The UFOA also vowed support for the Mayor but in addition they named Joseph P. Periconi as their choice for the Bronx Borough President's seat.

A total of 1,263 members of the Fire Department are enrolled in either the active or inactive reserves. According to a report by Chief Arthur J. Messett, in charge of the Bureau of Personnel and Administration, 728 are in the inactive and 535 in the active reserves.

MICHAEL BOLAND

A last minute entrant into the Fireman of the Month list is a third grade fireman from 45 Truck, Fireman Mike Boland, off duty and in civilian clothes was having breakfast in a restaurant at Fordham Road and Jerome Ave. in the Bronx Thursday morning when he heard shots. Rushing one, he saw an off-duty policeman being attacked by seven youths. Pinning on his shield as he waded into the fracas, he dropped one youth to the pavement with a punch, and aided the policeman in holding a second. The remaining five fled. Both youths were charged with Felonious Assault. Commissioner George F. Mend, when informed of Boland's act said: "Certainly, Fireman Boland displayed the usual tradition of a member of this department in coming to the aid of a policeman. In the past there has been numerous cases of firemen aiding both police and civilians. However, Fireman Boland displayed great heroism in his actions. We have great pride in him. He deserves special honors which will be arranged for as soon as the complete report has been forwarded by his superiors."

Captain Nicholas Liebrock (L. 45); B.C. Huber, (B.13) and Acting Battalion Commander Charles Robinson (B.13) all agreed in their reports that Fireman Boland is deserving of a departmental citation for his act.

The UFO this week wired the City Planning Commission requesting immediate action for the approval of funds to replace the many dilapidated "slum" fire houses in the city. The wire was signed by Battalion Chief Gilbert X. Byrne, Vice President of the UFOA.

The upcoming fireman's list has been pared down to 2,858 after the physical test taken last month. 4,509 passed the written test taken on March 18.

Condolences are offered to the family and friends of 18 retired members whose deaths were reported recently, Lieutenant Daniel J. Mechan, formerly attached to Engine 323; Engineer of Steamer John D. ## Syracuse Plans Long Range Fire Program

SYRACUSE, Sept. 4 — A long range manpower program for Syracuse's Fire Department has been proposed by the Fire Subcommittee of the city's Common Council.

H. Newcomb Stuart Jr., committee chairman said there is a definite need for the program, which would establish the manpower requirements of the fire department and how they should be filled.

Adoption of the program would create a number of new openings in the department.

Mr. Stuart said the program would be developed with the cooperation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the National Fire Protection Association and the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

The committee also recommended the filling of the existing 13 vacancies in the Fire Department's roster and promotions from existing Civil Service lists to fill two vacancies in the post office district.

Spinley Plans Fight on CD Job Upstate

BUFFALO, Sept. 4 — When Ernest J. Spinley Jr., Civil Defense co-ordinator for the eight counties of Western New York, failed a civil service examination for the post the circumstances set off a chain reaction that may bring about changes in the Erie County CD set-up.

Mr. Spinley, who lives in Niagara Falls, promptly announced he will appeal the results of the civil service ruling that threatens to eliminate him from the job.

Mr. Spinley was among 11 persons in the state who failed the examination.

Employees of the Erie County Consolidated Office of Civil Defense, however, did not take the test.

It was explained by County Director William J. Flynn that Erie is not receiving federal aid funds for administration. A requisite for such aid is that jobs must be put under civil service.

Mr. Flynn said further that he rejected $58,000 in federal aid because it would have required extra paperwork and adding personnel his office doesn't need.

The Democratic spokesman promptly called for acceptance of the federal funds—elimination of politics in CD job placement and placing Erie CD personnel under civil service.

At the moment, county GOP leaders are taking a second look at the present Civil Defense organization. Changes may be made.

Utica Water Bd. Adopting Job Reclassification

UTICA, Sept. 4 — The Board of water Supply has adopted a job reclassification plan in a move that changed the titles of 47 of the agency's 136 employees.

The plan was drafted by the State Civil Service Commission after a survey of the board. It was approved by the Utica CSC and the water board early this month.

The plan will cost five hourly employees a 10-cent-an-hour cut in pay. Board officials have decided to give the five preference for overtime work to make up for the cut.

The five, whose new pay rate will be $1.72 an hour, are James F. Murphy, Angelo Bonacci, William M. Schrader, John G. Swertfager and Eugene F. Waskiewicz, all water maintenance men. Their titles were changed to water maintenance helper, a shift from a non-competitive classification to laborer.

Two hourly employees, Frederick Brewer and James A. Shanley, will receive pay boosts, to $1.82 from $1.72. Their titles were changed to maintenance men instead of helpers.

As another result of adoption of the plan, nine employees must take competitive examinations because of classification changes from either laborer or non-competitive jobs to competitive jobs.

New Trustee

ALBANY, Sept. 4—Phillip W. Scudder of Painted Post has succeeded Richard Stowell of Lendley as a member of the board of trustees of Corning Community College.

Additional Work Coming To Brooklyn Navy Yard

Congressman Victor L. Anfuso, announced this week that the Navy Department in Washington has assigned the construction of three new ships and the conversion of three other ships to the New York Naval Shipyard under its 1962 ship-building program to modernize the U.S. Fleet.

Anfuso was informed of the assignments by Navy Secretary John B. Connally. The New York Naval Shipyard is located in Anfuso's district in Brooklyn.

During the past several months, Anfuso and other Brooklyn Congressmen held meetings with top Navy officials in an effort to obtain more work for the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

"If our efforts had not succeeded, as many as 5,000 workers at the Navy Yard were in danger of being laid off in the coming months", Anfuso said. "This would have hurt not only the 5,000 families directly involved, but it would also have affected economically many businesses and the Brooklyn economy."

Expressing his satisfaction that more work will now be forthcoming and the dire economic threat to these families has been averted, Anfuso reported that the six ships assigned to the Brooklyn Navy Yard are as follows:

Three new amphibious transports dock (LPD) are to be constructed. These ships will be capable of transporting, landing and supporting U.S. troops.

Two destroyers of World War II origin will be converted into modern naval vessels as part of the Navy's modernization program.

One communications relay ship, a major conversion project, will be capable of supplying vital communications services in any sea area of the world.

Anfuso said he was hopeful of obtaining additional work for the Brooklyn Navy Yard in the near future with the hope of additional employment.

Binghamton To Settle Resident Requirements

(From Leader Correspondent)

BINGHAMTON, Sept. 4—A long-awaited vote on new residence requirements for city employees appeared likely at City Council's meeting here this week.

Council has amended a proposed new local law, an action which forced a postponement of a final vote on the issue.

Under the proposed law, as amended, the Municipal Civil Service Commission would be permitted to grant a two-year waiver of the existing requirement that city employees live inside Binghamton.

The idea would be that the out-of-city resident would have two years in which to move into the city.

If at the end of the two years the employe had not moved into the city he could be granted another two-year waiver of the requirement.

Waiver Limit Set

However, after the first two-year waiver had expired, the employee would forfeit his rights to tenure and promotion as long as continued to live outside Binghamton.

At present, the city has a law that all employees must live inside the city. It has not been enforced largely because some city jobs can only be filled if residence regulations are waived, according to Civil Service Commission officials.

John W. Lounsberry, a commission member, said some time ago that 150 city employees live outside Binghamton. Of these, he

Postal Employees Support Sought By Candidates

Mayor Robert F. Wagner this week assured representatives of over 16,000 postal workers in New York City of his interest and concern with their efforts to obtain long overdue retirement and longevity improvements in the waning hours of this session of Congress.

Led by Morris Biller and Ben Sufian, president of the Manhattan-Bronx and the Brooklyn Postal Workers, the group had already interviewed Louis J. Lefkowitz and Arthur Levitt, both of whom had already promised assistance.

Postal employees are seeking legislation to permit retirement at age 55 with 30 years of service at full annuity. Endorsed by the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, such a bill, S-188, has yet to reach the Senate floor. Present law exacts a penalty of 1% per year for retirement between ages 55 and 60 with 30 years service.

Also pressed are longevity improvements which would provide in-level increases after 10, 13 and 16 years of service, instead of the present 13, 18 and 25 years. A bill embodying these improvements passed the Senate on July 17, but the House has taken no action.

"Retirement and longevity improvements are not only reasonable, they are long overdue", Biller and Sufian declared.

They added, "We have every right to expect action on these from the present Congress. Postal employees have already waited too patiently and too long for action on their modest requests."

said, about 75 are working at Binghamton General Hospital.

The Civil Service Commission long has sought a more liberal law than the existing one.
