THE MILNE SCHOOL

Albany, N. Y.

Volume V, Number 15

JUNIOR NEWS

FIRST RADIO PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN MONDAY

Monday, March 4, from 2:30 to 4:30 the school's new radio will be used in room 336. College students will be included, and Milne students of the Social Science groups may find it compulsory to come. We hope for a big attendance from people who are not assigned.

Over WOKO we will receive on a national hook-up a program entitled "Of the People, By the People, For the People." Cabinet officers will talk on the high lights and history of the New Deal. Between the talks Edwin C. Hill and Mr. Kaltenborn will comment on the talks. Also there will be music and plays based on the New Deal.

JOINT ASSEMBLY HELD WEDNESDAY

Last Wednesday at 10:00 o'clock in the Page Hall Auditorium, Miss Futterer from State College Dramatics Department gave some readings. Miss Hitchcock, gym teacher, awarded athletic letters to the girls who have won them.

MR. MOOSE WISHES GUM CHEWERS TO STOP

Mr. Moose wishes that gum chewing be stopped during classes. He states that more money is spent on gum than should be.

The eighth grade general science classes are studying weather and it will soon be possible for them to predict the weather in advance.

The ninth grade biology classes are working on projects which should be finished in two or three weeks.

SUPERVISOR IS ILL

Students of mathematics and algebra as well as the pupils of home room 124 have been regretting for a month that Miss Bills is ill. Her home room sent her a bunch of roses, and she has sent them a card of thanks. She hopes to return by next week.

NOTICE

Tickets for the Annual Antics may be purchased from Miss Hitchcock. The event will take place in the new gym, next Friday, March 8, at 8:30 o'clock.

MILNE JRS. DEFEAT THE "PIRATES" 13-9

Last Saturday at 7:00 o'clock, the Milne Jrs. defeated the "Pirates" from School 23 with a score of 13-9. Davis was high scorer for Milne with 7 points. The players for Milne were Davis, Hawkins, Taft, Cresy, Game, Funk, and Walker.

There were quite a few fouls in the game, but otherwise it was a good game. The game was faster than any of the others have been.

MILNE DEFEATS STATE FRESHMEN

Milne defeated their next door neighbors, State Frosh, by a score of 28-14 last Saturday night. Milne was never in danger, always leading by a comfortable margin. The score at the end of the half was 19-3 in Milne's favor. Rosenstein was high scorer with 8 points, closely followed by Simmons with 7. Those who played on the Milne team were: McHarg, Blocksidge, Simmons, Norvell, Rosenstein, Carvill, Sipperly, Kneller, and Hotaling.

Tonight Milne will play Peru High School. The game will start at 8:00 o'clock. It is urged that everyone attends as it is Milne's last game at home. Come out and support the team!

SOCIAL SCIENCE ENLIVENED BY MOVIE

Last Thursday at noon the ninth grade social science groups B and D met in room 121, where Mr. Rogers showed a movie film and gave a talk on transportation. The students then discussed the gasoline tax and what it was used for. Mr. Rogers was on his way to give the same talk at Lake Placid before the New York State Highway Planning Commission, so the two groups who saw and heard it should feel quite flattered. The A and C groups hope that they may be allowed some such entertainment, too.

NINTH GRADE PUPIL HONORED BY MAGAZINE

Herbert Marx of homeroom 122 recently received a letter from the Time Magazine congratulating him on getting the highest mark of the ninth grade in the social science current affairs test which was part of the mid-year examination.

TEACHER'S PESTS

Have you ever heard of "teacher's pets" or "teacher's pests?" What are the characteristics of each? Naturally a teacher will like a pupil who is co-operative, who usually does his homework, and who does not cause too much disturbance in class. Being late is one of the many little annoyances which cause you to become a "teacher's pest." If you were teaching a class, would you like pupils coming in just after the bell had rung? Probably you wouldn't.

We should all bear in mind that loitering in the halls will not do us any good, and if we break in on a class just as it has settled down, we interrupt it, and then it is "just a few minutes more" before the class gets under way. Also, please see if you can't get up five minutes earlier so that you can catch the bus which always goes by when you are just two houses from the corner.

It is usually better to be neither a teacher's pet or a teacher's pest, but just remember a little kindness and courtesy is never wasted.

ANY STUDENT AFTER LIBRARY

We sat at a library table for a hundred years;
And outside it was snowing, but inside there were tears.
Miss Eaton scolded crossly, and we all felt rather blue,
But still we all insisted that we had nothing else to do.
The hour went by bit by bit; we thought 'twould never pass
And all the boys were yawning, and so was every lass.
But at last we heard the clamor as the hour bell rang out,
And we rushed off all together with many a joyous shout.

FOREVER BLOWING BUBBLES

Rack your brains as hard as you may, you'll never guess the latest fad for the ninth grade. Chewing bubble gum, no less! Yes, our own Billy Saunders is often seen with enormous balloons of gum coming from his mouth. He's the acknowledged champion. Alfred Wheeler is a close second, while Ed Walker is really quite an expert at the game.

Just to be different Robert Wilke has discovered that he can't make the beautiful big bubbles that his friend Billy can. He huffs and he puffs but he doesn't even get a half-way decent sized bubble, much less blow a house in.

If you think the boys are the only ones involved in this affair, you are wrong. Frances Seymour blows as mean a bubble as you could ask for. In fact, it's colossal. Some of the eighth graders have taken up the fad; among them Janet Clark and Jean Best are especially prominent.

Well, heigh-de-ho and away in the search of some bubble gum to rest our tired brain with. Brain food, aye?

PLEASANT OBSERVATIONS

Dear Diary: As I was strolling down the hall a few days ago, it suddenly dawned upon my consciousness that the ninth grade has become a regular fashion parade. Each member tries to outdo the next in the latest styles of clothing, hairdressing, etc.

Lately, a certain member of the 9A group came to school sporting a light blue sweater over which was worn a sleeveless brown one. (This made quite a hit with certain boys.)

Crocheted and knitted neckties lead the boys' styles, as shown by several of the junior high boys. A very prominent member of the ninth grade has lately been showing off a bright blue sweater. Formerly he has kept it concealed under his coat.

Lois Hayner is following the fad of wearing a tiny bow in the hair. This enhances the beauty of wavy hair. Another fad, although it has nothing to do with clothing, is playing the amusing game of "Hangman." If you haven't heard of it, ask "Jerry" Pond.

BRAIN TEASERS

1. The beginning of eternity, the end of time and space, the beginning of every end, and the end of every place.
2. What relation is that child to its own father who is not its father's son?

The answers will be found in next week's Crimson and White.
