

CRIMSON AND WHITE

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1939

ALBANY, N. Y.

THE MILNE SCHOOL

VOLUME IX

SENIOR NEWS

NUMBER 25

MILNE STUDENTS TO BOARD
ROBERT FULTON TOMORROW
FOR KINGSTON EXCURSION

The "ROBERT FULTON", steamer of the Hudson River Dayline Company will leave Albany tomorrow morning, June 10, with all Milnites aboard bound on the annual excursion to Kingston Point.

Dr. Sayles stated on Wednesday that no one may leave Kingston Point during the brief hour and a half that Milnites will be there, for a trip to Roundout and Kingston Point. The return trip will be on board the "ALEXANDER HAMILTON", which will dock in Albany at six o'clock.

Chaperones for the occasion will be Miss Ida Besdesky, Miss Margaret Betz, Miss Naomi Hannay, and Mr. Daniel Snader.

FOOTBALL TO ENTER MILNE
WITH BATES AS MANAGER

"Six man football will become an additional sport in Milne next fall, if present plans mature," Arthur Bates, manager of the organization of such a team, announced Wednesday.

The Central Hudson Valley Football League for high schools is composed of six teams. One team has recently resigned, leaving a place for Milne. "Dr. Sayles is wholeheartedly behind us in the attempt to form such a team," Bates stated. "As yet, however, plans are very indefinite, as expense connected with a team and finding a coach for it are still problems that we must solve."

(Cont'd in column 3)

STUDENTS ELECT BATES PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL

Arthur Bates, newly elected president of Senior High Student Council, is very active in every phase of school life. He has been a Council representative for two years, is a member of Adelphi and Hi-Y, is art editor of the Crimson and White, and is manager of the proposed six man football team.

BATES TO SECURE VOTE
FOR MILNE NINTH GRADE

Final tabulation of votes in the Senior High Student Council elections on Wednesday afternoon revealed Arthur Bates as president for 1939-1940. Bates and his campaign manager, Alfred Metz, stated in assembly on Wednesday at one-thirty o'clock that the nominee would endeavor to introduce three new policies into Milne. He would enable the ninth grade to vote for Senior High Council president, establish a point system making it necessary that positions of authority in Milne be more evenly distributed, and secure more advertising for all Milne games.

SENIORS RECEIVE SHIELDS

Miss Katherine Wheeling, in behalf of the present staff of the Crimson and White, presented Betty Barden, Charles Sanderson, and Herbert Marx with felt shields, bearing the inscription, "C and W" and a quill in appreciation of the fine work in journalism. The presentation was made in the joint assembly on Wednesday.

Following Dr. Sayles' speech on the "Positive Side of Living", Ben Douglas, 1938-39, president of the Student Council, introduced the candidates and their campaign managers. They were respectively: Arthur Bates, Al Metz; John Fink Edward Sternfeld; Gifford Lantz, Robert Gale, and Armon Livermore, Robert Wheeler.

DEDICATION

This, the final issue of the Crimson and White of the year, is fondly dedicated to the Class of 1939, in appreciation of the high standards of scholarship and sportsmanship they have set for us, the undergraduates.

(Cont'd from column 1)

Practice for the team will, of necessity, start some time before school begins in the fall. Others on the committee with Bates are John Fink, Russell Jones, Gifford Lantz, and Robert Stevenson, juniors; Charles Locke and Dexter Simpson, sophomores. Further plans will be announced later.

MEGHREBLIAN WINS ELECTION

Robert Meghreblian will succeed Robert Gardner as president of the French Club. Elections were last Friday at the final meeting of the year. Estelle Dilg is vice-president, Evelyn Wilber, secretary, Adele Lazarus, treasurer, Martha Freytag, mistress of ceremonies, and Robert Zell is sargent-at-arms.

At this same meeting, Mlle Besdosky spoke and showed copies of the French magazine, "L'illustration".

JUNIORS ACCEPT INVITATION

The junior class has accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Wilber to spend the day at their farm near East Post-kill on June 23.

Frank Hewes, general chairman, announced the proceeds from the recent Travel Hop as about $18.

ALBANY HIGH COMES IN FIRST

After taking first place in the district and state band contests at Hudson and Amsterdam respectively the Albany High band brought honor to the school by winning the national contest conducted in New York City on May 26. The band was directed by Mr. Frank Dobbin and Mr. Joel Bailey, who is head of the music department of Albany.

The chorus also placed first and the orchestra second in their respective divisions. On behalf of Milnites, we extend our congratulations.

EMERICH DISPLAYS WORKS

Robert Emerich, '37, is displaying samples of Art works done during his two years at Syracuse University. Emerich set up the exhibit on Tuesday in the Art Room where it will be until Monday. The display is composed of 36 pieces, five of which are valuable oil paintings; others, charcoal drawings.

Q Betty Schriener and Virginia Brown, co-chairmen, have announced that the outing of the Quintillian Literary Society will take place at White Beach on June 30.

S The Sigma outing resulted in many cases of sunburn, but all who attended agreed that the good time had at White Beach last Saturday was worth the burns.

M The incoming officers took their oath on Tuesday. They were sworn in by Janet Jansing, retiring president.

A Adelphoi will have its banquet at Keeler's Restaurant at 6:30 o'clock on June 23. Election of officers will take place at this time. Ben Douglas is master of ceremonies.

T John Fink, Russell Jones, and Gifford Lantz are the nominees for the presidency of Theta Nu. Results of the elections which members conducted at the last meeting will be made public at the banquet on June 24. The banquet will be at Canton's Chinese Restaurant. Jack MacGowan is in charge.

NOTICE

All library books are due on Wednesday, June 14 for inventory.

LANTZ GETS HI-Y GAVEL

Gifford Lantz, newly elected president, received the Hi-Y gavel from Edwin Hunting, who is retiring from that capacity, at a banquet at Keeler's on May 27.

Other officers are as follows: vice-president, Russell Jones; corresponding secretary, Charles Locke; recording secretary, John Fink; treasurer, LeRoy Smith; business manager, Dexter Simpson; and chaplain, Robert Stevenson.

Dr. Stephen M. James, pastor of the First Reformed Church in Albany will deliver the commencement address.

With Robert Gale as the general chairman, the preparations for the Senior Ball on Class Night are being completed.

The ball will take place in the Milne library after the Class Night exercises. The library will be decorated with palms.

Clayton Albright's orchestra will furnish the music.

This year's class song to be sung by the departing seniors on Class Night was composed, both words and music, by members of the senior class. Joseph Ledden composed the music, and Miriam Freund, Janet Clark, Ruth Selkirk, and Joseph Ledden wrote the words.

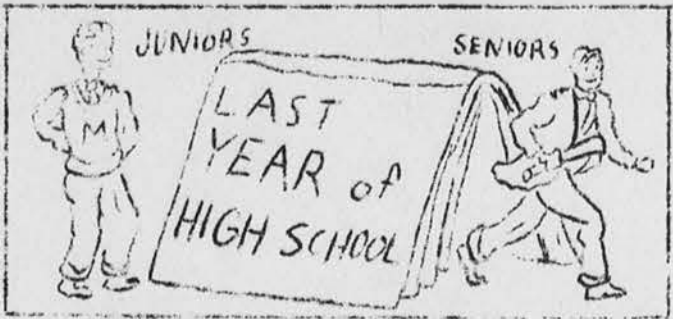

Co-Editors Fred Regan
 Florence Herber
 Sr. Associate Editor Doris Holmes
 Associate Editor Bob Barden
 Art Art Bates
 John Van Acker
 Robert Meghreblian
 Features Estelle Dilg
 Sally Devereux
 Sports Robert Wheeler
 Margaret Chase
 Societies and Clubs Martha Freytag
 Exchanges Harriet Gordon
 Alumni News Anita Hyman
 Librarian Jane Phillips
 Journalism Class

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager Armon Livermore
 Mimeographers
 Carl French Bruce Clements
 Frank Howes
 Typists
 Phillis Reed Marilyn Smith
 Elaine Drooz Marjorie Gade
 Josephine Wilson
 Printer Martin Edwards
 Circulation Ira Moore
 Jack Boughton

Faculty Advisors:
 Miss Katherine Wheeling
 Miss Grace Martin
 Miss Jean Strong
 Miss Sally Young
 Miss Winifred Jones
 Miss Dorothe Posson

Published weekly by the Crimson and White staff at the Milne School, Albany, New York.

Another school year has ended. Another Senior class has gone from our midst; that is the routine which school years bring. Just another Senior class, perhaps, to the faculty and the school, but the important Senior class to the student group who compose it.

For after all, they are not just another Senior class to themselves. This commencement to them is one of the important occasions of living. A finish of years of one kind of life; a beginning of many years of an entirely different kind of life.

If we wish to be a little sad about this occasion, it probably is the last time that all of you will be together; but you in good cheer over the occasion might ask yourselves with a rather thorough analysis concerning the positive qualities of each one; which one of those assets we can and will use for ourselves. For if this is a commencement, it must need some analysis of what is to follow, and if success is to come, the future primarily demands positive assets with which to carry on.

And so each of you must assemble, one by one, those qualities which become inherent in your character in order that "no leanness may appear in the years to come." Make haste slowly, and "be not too eager to reach you destination."

John W. Taylor

Once upon a time there was a certain State College Senior who helped all the Crimson and White Staff for two years. This being her last year around Milne, we would like to review her activities during this last year; Taught Senior English first semester, Editor of the College News, advising the staff on journalistic techniques, and teaching the Monday morning journalism class.

Of course, the staff knows who the person described above is, but for you readers, it is Miss Jean Strong, our most capable instructor.

JOURNALISM CLASS

The term "Journalism Class" has appeared on the masthead for the reporters and others who were left off. The reason for this is that there was not enough room. Listed below are the members of the Journalism Class.

Bob Barden, Fred Regan, Florence Herber, Doris Holmes, Arthur Bates, John Van Acker, Robert Wheeler, Margaret Chase, Martha Freytag, Harriet Gordon, Anita Hyman, Jane Phillips, Phyllis Reed, Elaine Drooz, Josephine Wilson, Valley Paradise, Ruth Van Gaasbøck, Edward Starkweather, Charles MacCulloch, Robert Pfeffer, and Ed Langwig.

During the last school year, the Crimson and White Literary Reviewers Committee has printed a report on the following books:

With Malice Toward Some by Margaret Halsey
Androcles and The Lion by G.B. Shaw
The Rains Came by Louis Bromfield
My Son, My Son by Howard Spring
Action At Aquila by Henry Allen
The Patriot by Pearl S. Buck
Daily-Except Sundays by Edward Streeter
Rebecca by Daphne Du Maurier

Rebecca proved our favorite in the fiction list with My Son, My Son running a close second. In the non-fiction Daily-Except Sundays was preferred by the committee beating With Malice Toward Some by a very close few votes.

We, of the committee, recommend any of these reviewed books for pleasurable reading during the summer.

GOSSIPONIA

Dr. Reginald Gluck, the noted psychologist from California, has issued a warning to high schools and the general public, regarding the widespread plague gossiponia. Gossiponia is a disease which is prevalent in school assemblies, inviolate homeroom periods and in study halls. The word is derived from the English word "gossip" and denotes excessive babbling about little things.

The doctor stated that there are three types of this malady. The first and mildest of these is called note-writing and is caused by sitting too close to too many close friends. The second and medium stage of this is very disgusting to the bystander, for it consists of a hoarse whisper and series of giggles. The third stage occurs as a result of the first two and is manifested in constant conversation with all and sundry. An example of this can be found any day in the study hall when the librarian is deeply engrossed in a bit of the higher literature.

The only cure, which is often only temporary, comes when one is publicly reprimanded in the library. In conclusion, the doctor pointed out that the affliction is not new to the race, but had been observed back in the puritan days, when the somewhat drastic cure was a fling on the sucking stool in icy water.

IVY FOR MEMORIES

It seems fitting in this last issue of the Crimson and White this year that we call to mind the significance of the ivy which clings to the walls of Milne, and from which the Bricks and Ivy, the yearbook, derives its name. Why? Because ivy signifies remembrance.

What will this year's Seniors remember above all else about Milne? The faculty to whom all Milnites have always turned with their most perplexing problems. The principal and supervisors never failed to have some word of encouragement. Nor will Seniors, or any of us, fail to remember the numerous times that supervisors entered the classroom when we didn't know our lessons!

Remember the student teachers? Yes indeed, for they are the ones who have striven through the years to employ patience and tact when Joe Milnite takes pleasure in expressing his opinions on various and sundry themes.

Nor could a 1939 Senior fail to remember his undergrads. There are the Juniors, who are beginning to catch a glimpse into the cultural world of the Seniors. Next come the Sophomores, promising young people, who look forward to that glorious day when they shall take the place of the Seniors they idolize.

We could go much further - but - Ivy for remembrance! What other fond and happy memories there are!

The entire staff of the Crimson and White wish that all students have pleasant and enjoyable summer free from summer school and thought of any text books or 9 o'clock tardy bells.

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT
FOCUSED BY "RIPPER"

The last sport star to grace our column is Guy Nathaniel Childs, of 490 Western Avenue.

Guy, although last in this column, is most certainly not least. He towers six feet three inches and weighs one hundred and seventy pounds.

Guy has played a sensational game of Basketball as the Center. Being a junior he will be able to serve one more year on the Crimson and White Quintet.

On the Baseball field Guy has the position of an outfielder. He has not only played in the field as he has turned in some very good pitching.

Guy with his hazel eyes and towering height is a member of Theta-Mu and has as his hobby the popular art of Photography.

Childs agrees with "Johnnie" Fink that the Cincinatti Reds is the team to bet on in the National League. In Will Haniage's league, however, he would like to see the Cleveland Indians come out on top, and Guy exclaims, "They may---in 1945."

In the football scores Guy is a Perry man, but is undecided as to where he would like to finish his education. He believes it will be some coeducational university.

Now the Spotlight dims and goes with the Crimson and White as it publishes its last edition. "Ripper" wishes all the readers of this column a happy and athletic summer.

MILNE GIRLS VARSITY HAVE MEDIOCRE SEASON

This year the Girls Varsity Basketball team played with Mount Pleasant, Bethel Central, Saint Agnes and the Alumni. They were ably led by Captain Kay Newton, who was high scorer for the season with a total score of 48 points. Virginia Nichols, left forward, followed with a score of 38 points.

In the games with Mount Pleasant, Milne was the victor who crashed both games with respective scores of 32-18 and 18-7.

Milne's encounter with Saint Agnes was hindered by our default of letting the ball reach the hands of their center forward Sally Coughlan. Also their guards did an excellent job of blocking, causing Milne to render to a score of 18-25.

It has been a tradition each year for the Milne Boys' Basketball Team to meet with Bethel Central's Team. It has also become a tradition for the Girls' team to rival with them and over these

(Continued in column two)

TENNIS TEAM FINISH SEASON

During this week the Milne Tennis Team finished a full season, meeting Bethlehem Central in an away match and Vincentian at the Washington Park Courts. Though the Tennis season has so far lost four matches, tied one, and won one, they hope to bring their average up, by the last two matches.

As was the case with most spring sports, the Tennis team was hampered in pre-season practice by the wet weather. In their first match, with the really superior Mount Pleasant team, the Milne netmen took a shelacking 7-0.

In the next match with Vincentian Institute, the boys atoned some what for their defeat by the Schenectady team, by tying up the match 2-2. Next, in their first with Rensselaer High, our team lost a 2-5 decision on their asphalt courts.

Another defeat was handed the Crimson net-men by C.B.A. on Washington Park Courts to the tune of 6-0.

Then, on the day after the defeat by C.B.A., Milne took Rensselaer in a return engagement on Washington Courts by a 4-2 margin.

In the final contest, to the date of this article, Milne lost, by a decimal count, in a match against Albany High School. The final score was 5-2.

High lights of the season so far have been the steady playing of the Captain, Earl Goodrich, who has won four out of six single matches; George Scoville's eight aces in the last set of his single match with the number two man of V.I.; as well as the defeat of Darcy and Brown of Rensselaer by Captain Goodrich and George Scoville.

(Continued from column one)
encounters great interest is arisen. Milne, although in the game and fighting with all their might, was not able to overthrow the exceptional team this year. In the two encounters the final score was 46-14.

The Varsity had practice each Monday night through the winter season and on one of these nights the team played hostesses to a few Milnites who are now doing some finishing work but agreed to return to play a basketball game with the present team. Most of the ace players were there including last year's Captain Louise Nesbit. Both sides did their best but the final score was a tie of 10-10, which made the teams leave with no hard feelings.

MILNITES TOAST SPORTS PRESIDENTS

Although most students who attended Milne for one year were well started in the constantly turning cycle of sports there entered Milne a person, in the eighth grade, who throughout her five years has raised her name high in sports.

Each year as the teams progressed from Soccer, Hockey, to Basketball, Tennis and Baseball, it is without doubt that Ruth Rasp was present. Her patience, determination and loyalty to the team made her one of their "Ace" players. Ruth's true accomplishments in this field are as follows: member of the Varsity Hockey team, Varsity Basketball team and is now Captain of the Girls' Tennis Team.

Throughout the past year she has guided the Girls' Athletic Council to great heights.

Ruth is also a member of Zeta Sigma Literary Society.

Although "Raspy" is a very good athletic person she is going to let conscience be her guide and take a Home Economics course at Cornell University.

A GLIMPSE OF THE BASEBALL SEASON

This year the Baseball team played a hard schedule with exceedingly tough luck. The spirit was great even to the end when Milne came out on the short end of a 2-5 count.

Extremely wet weather before the season opened, cut the schedule to seven games. It also put Milne at a disadvantage because Milne was unable to practice outdoors, and had to compete with teams which had good facilities for indoor practice.

On the opening game with Rensselaer we were defeated 4-0. The fact that Milne had had, at that point, very little batting practice, enabled Rensselaer's star pitcher Childrose to strike out twelve and blank Milne.

The next contest was with Albany High School. A vastly improved Milne nine took a very close defeat from a really tough team. This game's outstanding feature was a home-run by cleanup batter, Johnny Fink.

In the next game Milne gained its first victory from Phillip Schuyler. Don Giesel, who pitched, really won his own ball game as he struck out eleven men as well as bringing in a homerun with one man on base, to bring the winning runs.

The Milne boys' luck changed again as they met Roeselville. The final score was three to two. Guy Childs pitched un-

(Continued in column two)

Edwin F. Hunting, a prominent senior, has spent six years of his schooling in Milne. He has been very active in many of its extra activities. Ed has belonged to many organizations, especially the athletic organizations. Due to his popularity among his friends and fellow classmates as well as his exceptional executive ability, he has held many high offices in the society of which he is a part. Ed was a member of the Junior Hi-Y for one year, during which he was vice-president. He has been a member of the Senior Hi-Y for three years, leading the organization through a successful year as its president. Eddie has also been a member of the Athletic council for three years.

While in Junior High Ed was vice-president of Student Council.

Since the time Ed was a Sophomore he has belonged to Adelphoi Literary Society and during the past year he has carried on their finances.

After leaving Milne, Ed expects to attend the Albany Pharmacy College where he will study to become a pharmacist.

(Continued from column one)

usually well in this engagement striking out nine men.

During the first four games of the season Kirk Leaning caught to replace the Captain Wilbur French, out of play because of a hand injury.

Going into the last of the season Milne met Rensselaer in a return game at Rensselaer. A scoring rally in the fifth inning was not quite enough to break down a twelve run head and we once again bowed in a 12-8 victory for Rensselaer.

The return game with Albany High was disasterous, for heavy hitting compounded with fielding errors gave Albany High a crushing victory by a 9-1 margin. Feeling in a mood for revenge the Crimson batsmen took the final drive in which they played Roeselville. The final score being 8-2. Johnny Fink speed ball pitching with few fielding errors contributed to the victory.

It was not poor pitching or weak hitting that made us defeaters in the round of baseball. As well as the exceptional pitching we must congratulate the remaining members of the ball team for their cooperation. Also to the Captain "Willy" French we give an exceptional long and hearty cheer. Members who also have done their bit of work are the managers Bob Gale and Eddie Sternfeld. To them we also donate the extra cheers.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

The majority of concrete, not cement, things have signs. For instance, there are signs along the roadside, rent and for sale signs weather signs, (dark clouds indicating the possibility of rain, a clear sky meaning fair weather, etc.) signs a girl is falling for you, society signs (pins, if you have no imagination) and so on.

Milnites offer the combined signs listed above plus several others.

Momentarily dealing with the weather, as indicated by students, observations are thrust at you. Spring, having been the most recent season encountered, will be discussed first.

One of the first signs of spring is the increasing popularity of brush cuts (Dex Simpson's for example). These, of course, add much to the young master's comfort, but unless he has plenty of "it", not meaning the haircut, the severe clipping may tend to detract from his movie-star appearance.

No one in Milne wears a hat any more often than is necessary, but another significant factor is the debut of straw hats (those visible outside of a fish market). The first one is usually worn by some young dapper early in May.

Ankle socks can no longer be considered heralds of sweet spring since it's the vogue to wear them all year. At least, one does change. Weakens to dainty cottons.

Having gone from head to foot, it might be well to continue for a while at this lower altitude.

After a long winter's hike (Cont. in next column)

ing around the halls, it is surprising how thin the soles of many shoes are worn. Anyway ever so many new pairs rush around in the springtime. Some daring creatures who really go in for flashy doghouses have purchased the two-tone, woven type (referring to Jack Mac-Gowan's); the more conservative individuals choose the exclusive saddle shoes. (Really something new, you know.)

As the temperature soars, neckties, vests and coats stay at home. The Milne men take it easy as they pour over their review books and notations at the last moment.

Now about the signs of fall. Everybody looks grateful for the privilege of coming back to school to rest up after the strenuous summer vacation.

One of the most noticeable things is the scarcity of new brush cuts. Saddle shoes are still the favorite foot garb, and wool socks are again shown. Suede jackets are the thing, but extra-unusual sweaters will do.

Immediately following the first snow fall, even if it's just frozen mist, all of the proud possessors of ski boots begin to wear their heavy outfits and stare moodily at scattered snow flakes.

Stark terror seizes the heart of many a Milnite as he realizes that mid-term exams are near. Extra conferences keep the halls filled until Jim says, "Four o'clock!"

Everybody can tell when spring is nearing. That dreamy look comes into all eyes and the supervisors questions are answered with "Er-a- pardon me I-a-guess I didn't hear."

That brings us right back where we started. Time to sign off.

* STALETTES *

The witty caption of this column was explained in a previous issue, but if you've forgotten, it leads you on to things which have "gone before".

The Travel Hop:

"Whispering Willie" Pugliese evidently was so engrossed in his conversation with Marsh Wiley, that he forgot to attend the Junior dance--the primary purpose of the date, too.

Ye olde shuffler, Bob Cooke, was one of the best advertisements, meaning that he travelled around considerably. Kay Newton, his partner, and an energetic one, too, came dressed as a petite Dutch gal, wooden shoes and all.

Nobody could possibly know who escorted Bette Tincher--Johnny Fink, whose ideal has been Miss Tincher for quite some time, was the fortunate "homme."

Dollars to doughnuts, a certain trio had a pretty good time; too bad one of them nearly fell down the stairs.

By the way, does anyone know how the fellows from Pratt gained entrance to the dance?

Al Metz, one of our most fleet-footed Juniors, again disappointed several young ladies by refraining from dancing.

Stanley Edison, "the adorable one with the curly hair" (taken from a locker-room description) was a bit bored with the evening, that is, if nearly falling asleep expresses boredom.

How to Kill an Oyster or
I'll Take Clams

Don't drown him deep in vinegar
Or season him at all.
Don't cover up his shining form
With pepper like a pall;
But gently lift him from his shell
And firmly hold your breath
Then with your eager tongue and teeth
Just tickle him to death.

--Fizz

Introduction:

Mademoiselle FiFi is sojourning to distant points for the next few weeks, but her observations are being carried on by Dashe, FiFi's faithful little scandal monger-el.

Tuesday meant a swell vacation day for most folks, but for me it was just plain boring. I gnawed some bones and tried one of FiFi's new spectator pumps, and played with the scatter rugs, but even so, I didn't have much fun. I decided upon a wqk. A lot of people were standing along a street,--perhaps something was up, I thought, and trotted over. Sure enough, it was a parade,--a big one, too. Looking about, I saw a lot of kids I knew. I thought Marji Gade saw me too when she waved, but I decided otherwise when I noticed the grin on one of the faller's faces. Darn that Pete guy, anyhow!

Our swellest next-door neighbor took me for a ride in the afternoon; we rode and rode, and after awhile, we came to a lake. Lotsa people were in swimming, and some were playing on the grass. I watched them and thought quite a few looked familiar. Familiar, yes, but oh so different--they were all red and funny. (It was all due to sunburns, I learned next morning in the locker room.) I trust they were all having a good time!!

Judging from the queer-looking crowd that appeared in school the next day, these seniors weren't the only ones who took advantage of the beautiful day. Estelle Dilge, who really looked baked, attributed it all to her southern vacation and the glorious sailboats which the Staten Islanders possess. Says Estelle, "The sunburn was rather painful, until I used some of my own newly-formulated oil; it's so wonderful, I think I'll take out a Patton on it".

The Sigma gals got up an extra lot of pep for their outing. If any of them looked a bit redder, it was all because of this. "Evie" Wilber, who really goes for horses, went for a pony ride in shorts; she's a bit bruised, but happy.

Geo, I don't seem to have done my job very well because I haven't covered all my points, but there isn't any more room on my observation sheet. That's all, but I shall be back next fall.

Have a swell vacation.
Dashe

As the Earth Turns, in Milne
or
What's Happened This Year??

Summer-housecleaning has been taking place; rummaging through the files of the Crimson and White, a sly glance at the various issues brings forth a, "I had a wonderful time at that dance" or "Gee, I'd forgotten that!" If anyone is of the opinion that this has been a dull year, the following may possibly serve as a contradictory reminder.

Milne opened with a bang, or rather a chatter, one bright Monday morning in the last part of September. The best part of the morning was spent in making out schedules, three sets, no less, writing down the tricky titles of the new textbooks, and getting acquainted with the new supervisors. It was impossible to overlook the surging crowd of seventh graders (getting smaller every year) who innocently asked their way to homerooms, the co-op, the annex, and some, the way out of doors.

After a week of recalling the experiences of so-and-so, the Milne students lapsed into the routine of work, at least the work connected with the Fall Reception. Soon light-hearted sophomore girls could be seen waving small white letters -- invitations to a society rush. Meanwhile, the boys, inclined toward more rapid procedure, had tapped, initiated and resuscitated the first few whom they took into their society.

Class rings, both Junior and Senior took a bow among the favored pieces of jewelry.

The Penquin Promenade, our first "big thing" of the year, was sponsored by the boys' societies. All of the lads put their hearts into the formal, and really made it something.

Drama! Open house was held just before vacation; the dramatics club contributed its bit to the seasonal entertainment by keeping everyone baffled with the mystery of the dead canary.

A delightfully long Christmas vacation offered lazy mornings in which to snooze and to lose the haggard looks which were beginning to show on some faces. Incidentally, no one had to worry about taking the shine off the new ski-boots or scratching prize skis, because the snow simply forgot to fall.

Excitement was great at the basketball games; our cute cheerleaders brought on enthusiastic cheers and yells, and nearly everyone went home with a voice unrecognizable by all except mother.

Announcements were posted concerning the ski club meets, but the weatherman continued to be stubborn.

(Continued from col. 1)

In view of the fact that money is usually useful, the Senior class decided to have a Sweater Stomp. Joe Milnite made an almost personal appearance; at any rate, he loaned his next-to-best clothes to the Seniors who displayed them in the center of the floor. The nickle-odean smashed all of its records -- not musical ones, by not stopping once.

Plans were being formulated for the second Senior High dance, a rather "fishy" affair since the gym was decorated like an aquarium, full of fish.

The Semester Shudders and Shivers were suddenly upon us!. Exams! Who knows what, anyway?! Not helping matters any, but the golf course was covered with inches of the most wonderful snow this side of the North Pole. The halls echoed with the dying clomp of ski boots as the early finishers rushed off the practice fancy turns and jumps.

Going definitely southern, the Hawaiian prom was a delight. The Commons was filled to capacity, too.

On the brink of another vacation, the two sports clubs arranged the HiY-GAC. A swell job was done on the decorations, and many a couple argued whether fir, spruce or hemlock made the woodsy background (it was pine).

Easter vacation was cold, but not too too bad. Plenty took advantage of the opportunity to sleep!!

The Senior girls began to appear with sparkling keys dangling around their necks. (Not only girls' but boys' societies keys, naturally!)

The gala Q.T.S.A. was the last big dance of the year to which all Senior High members were eligible. Jan Jansing was crowned as our lovely queen, a new thrill for a Milnite, but a procedure which this year's class hopes to establish as tradition.

The inexhaustible Juniors staged a successful Travel Hop. Again the nickle-odean was employed and it kept its good record.

Yet to come are outings, the excursion, Class Night, the Senior Ball, and last, but far from least, Commencement.

Who thought this was a dull year?

WHEN SENIORS LEAVE US

When Milne closes shop this year,
The latter part of June,
The class of '39 will leave,
Singing its Senior tune.

And when Milne opens up,
The early part of fall,
We'll miss the Seniors' friendly ways
Of chattering in the hall.

Oh school just won't seem right
Without little Ducky Dey,
Whose kindly sense of humor
The largest scale can't weigh.

Dick Paland will be going, too,
Our mighty basketeer.
Golly, we just wish he'd stay
With us another year.

And nothing can compare to Ben
Our mighty president,
Who did as well as any could
Our school to represent.

And there's more than Sigma-ites will miss,
Janet Jansing, our queen.
For on her downright friendly aid
We many a time did lean.

One of the finest on the team this year
Was peppy Willie French,
And if the others followed him
Our team would need no bench.

And Quin will miss its Millie,
The girl with the loving heart.
It makes us grieve so very much
To see her soon depart.

Then there is lovely Dottie,
The Shattuck's little girl,
Who for her sense of humor
Is fine as any pearl.

One of our kindly Seniors
Is jolly Jeannie Best,
Whom we have noted through the years
To be "one of the best."

There's a girl named Betty Barden,
Who did so much for school.
Her diligence in everything
Denotes her as a jewel.

This year there leaves with the Seniors
A fellow we call "Don,"
And we other than Theta-Nu
Will miss him when he's gone.

Another leaving us this year
Is one we hate to see depart,
For Ginny Nichols gave us much
Including her talent in art.

If only there were just one other
Of an Echlyshymer - like Lil,
Who always was the best one
Our hearts with sport to fill.

Among our friends at Milne
We find one Janet Clark,
Whose initiative as we have known
Will in our world make mark.

Though Helen Ehman is rather shy
She always did her bit,
With nimble fingers and skillfulness
To make our paper a hit.

It just won't seem like Milne
When there is no more Seim,
For Walt just rated tops with all,
And all the time.

Although we know there is no hope
Of having Posy "flunk,"
We wish Miss Froundt would stay with us,
Without her we'll be sunk.

When we had need of someone,
Who would give for Milne his all,
We always found it true
That "Fletch" would answer call.

Of all the dark-haired lassies
That for Milne repute have won
We'll always remember Una
For she was the leading one.

Next year we'll miss the red curls
Of charming Nancy Glass,
Who always could be depended on
To liven up the class.

And we have grown to know
That always cheerful Len,
Considerate, kindly Len Benjamin
Rates high among Milne's best men.

"Personality plus" is what
They say of Bette,
And for all that "Tinch" has given
We'll always be in debt.

Although Ginny Mitchell is quiet
We've noticed when on a fence,
She's always the one to offer advice,
The essence of good common sense.

We always new Jean Layman's opinion
As firm as any rock.
For she always offered a willing hand
In bringing our social ship to dock.

Though next year there will still be
Tall people in our group,
We'll never find one half so nice
As friendly Ruthie Rasp.

Why must we lose George Scovill,
That carrot-headed lad?
For parting with this lanky man
Makes us feel downright bad.

(Continued on next page)

(Continued from preceding page)

A dart of gladness has come each day,
As though someone were shootin';
And now we've found those shots to be
By that genial sport, Kay Newton.

We've always felt that one adjective
Described Milne's "Janie" Grace.
And we are sure you too agree
She's a lady of true grace.

Next year it won't seem right,
Without that Jordan smile,
And wit and twinkling toes.
Gee, can't she stay a while?

Although we never got to know
Dot Leonard very well,
Her loyalty to all Milne things
Is more than we can tell.

Joyce Murdock is the greatest fun,
And has a swell sense of humor.
That we will miss her very much
Is more than just mere humor.

All within and without school
Love and admire "Ruthie."
For Selkirk's activeness in all things
Has made Milne noted for youth.

And there's the man to us
Who's always known as "Dick."
It's Swift you know, and 'tis the truth
Through thick and thin he'll stick.

Oh Gardner is a dandy guy
Whom all of us call "Bob,"
And when we needed clever hands
He was always on the job.

Another of our lusty Seniors,
Nice as well as tall,
Is Ira Moore, whose face we'll miss
When passing through the hall.

Because of being a swell guy,
We'll always remember Joe.
But, gosh, we certainly hate to see,
That Ledden music go.

He's loads of fun, and a good sport too,
Our little Walter Plummer.
And wouldn't it be just swell
If his absence were only for summer?

"Marby" Sherman, that cute little gal
Is one of the Senior class;
And we'll miss her personality
When from our doors she will pass.

We'll always think of Esther
As the girl with the musical fingers;
And even though she will leave,
Her music ever lingers.

And now, to all you Seniors,
We bid a fond adieu.
From all your fellow Milnites
The best of luck to you.

ON BOARD SHIP

Ship --- sailors ---ahoy! THE EDSON.
River Day Line's finest ship (we don't know which one yet) weighs anchor promptly between 9:00 and 9:30 A.M.

Do's and Don'ts on the Boat

First of all, do have your tickets when you get on the boat at Albany. It's also advisable to have a fragment of one when boarding the home-ward bound vessel at Kingston Point. This is just in case the ticket-taker does not appreciate your tale of woe and threatens to make you swim home.

Once on the boat, try all the types of chairs and decide which one is best to leave your lunch on. Then, go down to the cafeteria and find out what the menu is; not that you intend to buy anything--just for the satisfaction of knowing what you could buy.

Walk up to the upper deck to see what the top of a ship looks like and wander over to the orchestra pit and decide whether the players are the same as last year's and if the drummer's mustache is as cute as it was last year.

Enroute to the boiler room, stop for a drink of water. By all means, resist the temptation to accidentally let any of it splash over the side of the cup and find its way to someone's lapel. This is very tricky and will keep your attention for all of two minutes.

After that, settle down to really enjoy yourself. Sample some of your sandwiches. It's always interesting to have a small debate with a few friends on whether it's best to eat all of your lunch on the boat or save it to nibble on at Kingston.

If you have been sitting still for about five minutes, leave your chair, and depart in search of some pals. It is very effective if about ten link arms and amble from one deck to another. This tends to hold up traffic, but don't let a little thing like that bother you.

The cameras usually swing into full action the second hour. Remember to keep a sweet smile all the time; the camera hounds are always hoping to catch you in an unbecoming pose.

Nobody needs to be told that Kingston Point offers a wonderful place to play a vigorous game of ball or discover a new wildflower about which everybody else already knows.

The bridge looks pretty good to us again, and we guarantee that if you follow this simple program plus a few of your own ideas, you will be duly tired at night.

Sanderson
Plugs
Hate!!

Border Comes Up The Hudson
From

HERE IS NEWS

The following are short biographies or personals in the lives of the seniors, which they wish were forgotten. The facts were compiled for the feature writers by the 'Past Dug Up or Replanted Defective Agency'.

Everyone knows Betty, they must, for she is the girl whose name sat atop the masthead of this paper this year. Betty is the same girl, who said "Good is not good enough if it is good, in order to be good it must be good not good." She was in a constant effort to steer the Crimson and White to greater Heights. and always had a helping hand for those who might need it. Miss Barden was a Countess out of Russia in the first (revolution). She came to America on a cattle boat; it was there that she met that bug she writes about. She got a job on the Hudson River Day Line, but was fired when the boat reached Albany. As a result, she came to Milne and from there every one knows the story of the poor little Russian peasant.

The second senior on this goodly staff was the senior associate editor, Charles Sanderson, better known to his close friends as 'boney'. Sanderson was born in the foot hills west of Loudonville—the only son of a full blooded 'Chipasceru' Indian. In his early life he was referred to as Little Chief Long Muscle because of his great ambitions to become a great wrestler. It is just a snap of his wrist, in fact he would jump anything from a wild deer to the swiftest hare. He came to Milne in 1917 so as not to have to join the army. The few decades he has been in Milne, Charles has shone as a scholar and has ever contributed his bit to the culture, to the retiring class.

There was some-one in the sports department last year, yes, those two big Egyptians from South America, Ruth Rasp and Edward "campaign manager" Starkweather. Both of the kids are famous in Milne. Fat-boy, the Milne base ball star-r-r, has for the past few years been an idol of the smaller seventh graders. Ruth helped engrave the girls basket ball records since her seventh year; we hear she is good.

FAT BOY
RUTH
EDWARD

Bette Tincer and Doris Welsh, the prognostical feature editors, also have an interesting history.

Bette, it seems, used to be a stand-in for Curley Dimple in Hollywood before she came to Milne. After her graduation in June she intends to go back to Hollywood and stand-in for An! um! oh! Hedy LaMarr. And Milne's best glamour gal can do it too, I sez.

Doris Welsh came from Wisconsin where she und her mama und papa used to milk the cows and water the horses. Doris and Bette wrote the feature page and it's sort of a "ornery" trick to print this on their own page.

SOUTH AMERICA

Ducky Dey and Joyce Murdick, Milne's super-students, also were on the Crimson and White last year. Ducky and Joyce both came from the same boarding house as children but the Landlady wasn't very tall so she built a house to fit herself, and that is the reason Misses Dey and Murdick never grew any taller than they are; if they tried to grow they just bumped their heads in the ceiling.

HOW DID HE GET ON THIS PAGE?

Any similarity of this to the whole truth is purely and accidentally coincidental.

RF

MILNE - 38, 39

REGENTS EXAMINATIONS

IN CASE OF CONFLICT, SEE BOTH SUPERVISORS INVOLVED AT ONCE

A.M. 9:15 - 12:15

P.M. 1:15 - 4:15

Monday, June 19

History B - 28 Richardson

Economics - 230

History C - 23 Richardson

French II - 224, 226, 227, 228, 233

Typewriting - 235 (and at other times as arranged by Dr. Kinsella)

Latin II - 130, 135

AMO
AMAS
AMAT

Tuesday, June 20

Business Arithmetic - 230

Chemistry - 227, 228

English IV - Little Theatre, 233

Physics - 320, 321

Plane Geometry - 320, 321, 324, 329, 333

Shorthand II - 235

Wednesday, June 21

Bookkeeping II - 230

French III - Little Theatre

Intermediate Algebra - 320, 321, 329

Latin III - 333

Thursday, June 22

Business Law - 230

English III - Little Theatre, 228

History A - 28 Richardson

Latin IV - 333

Solid Geometry - 128

Trigonometry - 128

$$\tan \angle = \frac{\text{OPP.}}{\text{HYP.}}$$

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

Monday, June 19

Elementary biology - 250 Huested

Home Economic courses - 336

General Science - 250 Huested

Tuesday, June 20

Ninth grade mathematics - (all sections) - 127, 128, 129, 130, 135

Bookkeeping I - 230

QU'AVEZ-VOUS?

Wednesday, June 21

French I - 128, 129, 130, 135

Economic Geography II - 230

Typewriting special - 235

Thursday, June 22

Introduction to business - 233

Shorthand - 235

Friday, June 16 - Senior art class examination

