ADMIRABLE CRICHTON

"The Admirable Crichton," a four-act play by J. M. Barrie, was presented by the dramatics class in the auditorium of Albany High School on Saturday night, May 20.

The fine presentation of the play far exceeded any expectation. The audience pronounced it the best play given by the dramatics class in years. The stage setting was remarkably exquisite for an amateur production.

Clara Huddle, as Crichton, admirably portrayed the man under the cold exterior of a perfect English butler. His part was well supported by the blustering Lord Loom, Edward Vines; by the spoiled author, Mr. Wooley, Randolph Funderman, and by the interesting Rev. John Treherne, Edmund Crane. Special commendation should be made concerning the work of Jane McKenna as Lady Lassenby, the leading lady. Together with her sisters, Lady Catherine and Lady Agatha, namely, Florence Allen and Marjorie Silsley, the dignity of the life among the upper classes was truly revealed. Thomas Bentley as Lord Brocklehurst was a perfect man's-boy directly under the thumb of his overpowering little mother, Lady Brocklehurst, Mildred Stetson. Margaret O'Donnell gave an excellent interpretation of a little slavey girl as Fawceny. The minor parts were equally well played.

The success of the play was undoubtedly due to the casting of the characters, the excellent coaching and the clear insight of the players into the character of the persons they represented.

The only thing found lacking was the music of the State College orchestra between the acts.

INDIAN LADDER HIKE

Amidst hot dogs, rolls, marshmallows, and lunches, the size of which was startling to an unpracticed eye, sixty enthusiastic hikers started from College Saturday to find the elusive Indian Ladder. After lengthy discussions and many false starts, the sixty odd were gathered and the trip began. Singing, cheering, and performing acrobatic stunts, the hikers got fairly well along the road toward Slingerlands. Just about noon

STATE ACQUIRES LAND

The land between State College and the Albany High School is now in the possession of the College, the last deed having been filed on Saturday, April 29. The houses now standing on the plot will be removed during the summer and fall. It is hoped that an appropriation will now be made by the legislature for the erection of an educational laboratory on the Washington Avenue frontage. This would include recitation rooms for practice teaching, for all courses in Education and adequate reference library room.

We all realize that the ground without the buildings will benefit no one. So let us once more get in touch with our legislators and impress on them the great need for this appropriation.

PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST

The Prize Speaking Contest, so long talked of and awaited with expectations, will take place Thursday, June 1, at 8 P. M. There will be three men contestants, Mr. Breslau, Mr. Proper and Mr. McClure. Their speeches will be original and ten minutes in length.

The freshman women who will take part in the contest are Miss Parsons, Miss Leek, Miss Schrader, and Miss Tull. These are the four winners of the contest which took place last month, in which there were twelve contestants. The speeches of the women are not original and will be about eight minutes in length.

There will be three judges who are not yet chosen.

Pitter: "What did Rose do when you struck her for a date?"

Pitter: "Why, she gave me the chapel steps."

Pitter: "The chapel steps?"

Pitter: "Yes, the stony stare."

RAIN FAILS TO HALT MOVING-UP DAY PROGRAM

Not even the long delayed April showers dimmed in any way the gay enthusiasm of Moving-Up Day. State College was all too happy to let anything interfere with her most cherished tradition.

As each class marched into the already crowded auditorium, with its colors prominent either in ties, arm bands, or balloons, the enthusiasm of the assembly increased. When all the hilarious, brilliant-colored crowd was at last quiet, and the truant balloons had fought for supremacy near the ceiling, the real Moving-Up program began.

Each class speaker did his, in the case of the freshmen, and her best, in the case of the other classes, to summarize and prophesize the spirit of the respective classes. Edward Crane told the College what an unusual class '25 really was. Elizabeth Gibbons expressed, in the most appealing manner, the good spirit of '24 which always has

FROSH WIN BANNER RUSH

The annual tug-of-war and flag rush between the sophs and frosh took place Thursday evening before Moving-Up Day. There was no doubt, after a glance at the soph line-up for the tug-of-war battle, as to the winners. Probably the same husky winners of last year's contest were again put in to bring victory to the Yellow and the White. At any rate, it was easy to decide them the victorious line-up.

The Red and White, however, were successful in winning the more contested honor,—that of the banner rush. Beaver for the sophs, and Crane for the frosh, each chose a tree in the front campus, and climbed to the top with their respective class colors. Each man, while attempting the daring acts, with the limbs of the tree swaying beneath him, was cheered by his fellow classmen. At the final minute, the judges, MacFarlane and Foster, announced the frosh holders of the highest post.

KAPPA DELTA RHO RECEPTION

The members of the Kappa Delta Rho will give a reception to the entire student body and faculty at their new chapter house, 20 S. Allen St., on Friday afternoon. The house will be open from 3 to 5:30. The fraternity orchestra will play throughout the afternoon.

The house is the third one south of Madison Avenue on the right side of the street. It has been used for fraternity purposes from May 1st, and now the men are glad to be able to receive their friends. In it are fourteen rooms, with a large additional sleeping room on the top floor. At the present time fourteen men are living at the house.

and will exist towards all college activities. Ruth Tefft amused us hugely with her joking, jolly junior speech, while Catherine Peltz concluded the speaking with a very beautiful senior wish which made everyone realize what a very wonderful class '22 is, and what a loss it will be to the College.

Margaret Meyer presented to Dr. Brubacher, in behalf of her class, the senior gift to College, a very lovely and inspiring stained glass window. Dr. Brubacher, in accepting the gift, paid a splendid compliment to the out-going class on its choice of gift.

Dr. Brubacher then awarded insignia to the basketball team: Adrian Johnson, J. Edward Link, Harold Baldwin, Edward Sherley, Herbert Hornung and Edwin Juckett. Insignia were also given to the substitutes: Edmund Crane, John Howe, Robert MacFarlane, Floyd Landon, William Breslau, Lyle Roberts, Charles Keilly, and Ralph Beaver.

The next year's editors of the College News were given pins for their work on the College publication. Those receiving pins were: Robert MacFarlane, Vera Nolan, Grace Fox, and Eira Williams.

Moving Up in its true sense followed. The auditorium rang long and loud with "Where, oh where—?" The freshmen were proclaimed sophomores, class rivalry was ended, all became calm—then—new Myskania were chosen. The eleven new members, elected from the present junior class, are: Caroline M. Berberick, Grace F. Fox, Dorothy L. Dangermond, Gladys L. Hayner, Helen B. Leary, Vera Nolan, Elizabeth L. Renner, Ethel F. Rusk, Agnes S. Smith, Robert C. MacFarlane, and May B. Wood.

The classes marched out on the campus to form their numerals and plant the ivy but, because of the persistent drizzle, they gave up and came inside to prepare for the competitive class stunts.

The senior and junior stunts were dormitoryish in spirit and made decided "hits" with the audience. The sophomore stunt vividly told the tale of the loss and recovery of the cherished banner. The freshman stunt was a scholastic adaptation of the theme of Experience. Good though all the stunts were, the senior stunt was "gooder" than the others, so it was judged the winner.

Assembly adjourned; the crowds scattered; everyone ate and reinforced herself and himself for the strenuous pleasures of the afternoon and evening.

Fate decreed that State Collegians should go on a pilgrimage. Therefore the rain ceased and the sun shone at 2:15 Friday, May 19. The seniors led the procession, with the noble juniors following and the sophs and frosh bringing up the rear. Our class banners gleamed in the sun—that is—they gleamed until it began to pour about 2:35, but our songs and cheers revived our soaking hearts and called forth all inquisitive Albanians to gaze upon such

AU REVOIR

In this last issue of the year the News Board desires to extend to everyone its best wishes for the summer recess. With exams safely passed, may you enjoy a very pleasant and restful vacation. But while you forget the troubles of college life, we hope you will not forget your relation to State. While you are away, wherever you may be, you will have many chances to spread some good old propaganda.

To the seniors who are going out to take up their life work do we especially wish success. We do not say goodbye, because we hope to see and hear from each one of them. The columns of this paper will be open for any contribution they desire us to publish. We hope that the News will afford an easy way to keep up an intimate relation between the graduates and their Alma Mater.

To the retiring News Board we also extend our appreciation for their guidance and help they have given us. We hope that they will always find the paper up to their highest standards.

SILVER BAY SPIRIT

Silver Bay spirit is growing every day. Did you see the pageant last Wednesday? If you did, you learned a lot of the different reasons why girls go to Silver Bay, and perhaps you caught a glimpse or so of the best that is to be found there.

Helen Walker, as the Spirit of Silver Bay, welcomed the girls who had come to the conference for Social Good Times, Athletics, Dramatics, Music, Individual Problems, and Association Problems. She showed the part that each of these phases of Silver Bay has in the general program.

Ruth Heminover, as the Spirit of Self Lost in Others, led a torchlight procession out of the auditorium and across the campus to the cafeteria. There a strawberry short cake supper was served, followed by several joyful cheers and songs and some very informal speeches by members of the delegations of other years.

This year's conference is to take place from June 23 to July 3. There will be a chance soon to sign up on the Y. W. bulletin board.

COLLEGE APPEAL TO COMMUNITY SPIRIT

The plan to utilize the old Second Presbyterian Church in Chapel Street for a moving picture theater has aroused protest, not only from the historic and art lovers all over the state, but also from the most representative institution of the state, State College. College sentiment is entirely against such action.

The students of State College are attracted, not only to the College, but to the city of Albany, of which one of the chief attractions is its historic places of interest. It is the capitol of New York State. It is old. It is educationally desirable. In every traveler's guidebook, on every city post card, in historic novels, Albany is pictured a treasure of historic places. Albany boasts of its Schuylcr Mansion, its relics of the days which gave us independence. Albany is an aristocratic, reserved stronghold; proud of its treasures. That is what the traveler's guidebooks say—but what has happened?

Has Albany lost interest in all that is beautiful? Do art, reputation, and history mean nothing to the city? Or does a movie theater, of which we have plenty to satisfy the needs of the most ardent fans, mean more than a monument of famous architecture, of which any community would be justly proud?

State College students do not all come from Albany. They represent New York State. They come from places where even an historic cannon is held in high regard. They know what it is to appreciate art and beauty in its most perfect forms. Those who have nearly completed their course at college appreciate the old church, not only for its historic value, but also for the genius and renown of Philip Hooker, the celebrated Albany architect. They also appreciate it for the principle involved in the desperate struggle being made for its safety by those few who appreciate it, not only from a personal, but from a State College viewpoint.

State College represents New York State. The students will be the future teachers of the State's children. They represent the class which will influence public opinion in the very near future. They are the ones who will or will not praise Albany in her action towards this relic of so great value. Must they say of Albany that her passion for one more movie theater overruled her desire to retain one of the finest relics with which a city was ever endowed?

If Albany is really desirous of keeping State College the kind of a college its representation creates, it must not lose its standard of good judgment in the eyes of State's present and future students.

ORGANIZATIONS

French Club has closed the most successful année of its career. It not only gave a most profitable and delightful fête but also served as hostess at a thoroughly enjoyable thé, where no one was obliged to stand and where everyone had enough manganer. Besides having these fetes a plaisir, the club has sent to its French orphans enough d'argent to make them happy for a long time.

Now at the close of the season, French Club wishes to thank all of the members, who in any way have aided in making the club the fine organization it is, and it hopes to greet them all as members again next année.

The club officers-elect for 1922-23 are:

President—Elizabeth Renner
Vice President—Dorothy V. Bennitt
Secretary-Treasurer—Nellie Maxim

CITIZENSHIP SCHOOL AT STATE

Thursday, May 18, the League of Women Voters held a meeting in room 101 of State College at 3:00 P. M. The purpose of this league is to educate women in citizenship and it is non-partisan. Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany of New York spoke.

The league plans to conduct a "school of citizenship." For three days of the second week of October, there will be a "school" held in State College. The league expects to have meetings in every college in the state, but the first will be had here. Everyone is invited and it is urged that as many students as possible will attend.

ALUMNI MEET

The intensive campaign for a $300 000 fund for a State College Dormitory was opened in Albany with a most enthusiastic meeting of nearly 100 alumni at the college on the evening of May 17. John M. Sayles, chairman, gave a very encouraging report of similar meetings held all over the state of New York and in New Jersey. The sum of $2,000 is credited to the efforts of Albany alumni, exclusive of individual pledges.

Mrs. E. M. Cameron presented a cheering account of the attitude of alumni elsewhere as shown in the letters of the class councilors and suggested new "ideal" reasons for the generosity of alumni support in our project.

Dr. Brubacher explained the influence of this particular alumni activity upon the attitude of the state toward the land purchase bill for which the association has worked so long. The land payment upon the land has been made by the state. Now for some buildings! This suggests at least four by-products of the drive.

1. The passage of the land purchase bill.

2. The correction of nearly 1000 alumni addresses.

3. The return of over 1000 alumni questionnaire from alumni who have never before responded.

4. The discovery of common alumni ties among friends and neighbors.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. Brubacher will deliver the commencement address at the Albany Girls Academy on June 13.

Miss Pierce addressed the Alumni Association of Syracuse on Wednesday and that of Watertown on Friday night.

The class of 1922 will have as its commencement speaker, Dr. James M. Edsall, assistant superintendent of Schools of New York City. Dr. Edsall is a member of the class of '84.

Dr. Brubacher will address the Adirondack Schoolmaster' Association on June 2.

ATTENTION SENIORS!

The examination in Education 2 will be given at 3:45 on June 1.

INDIAN LADDER HIKE

began the ascent of the Helderbergs. About the same time the two buses decided they were tired of the hikers' company and refused to go farther. Ever mindful of the dogs and rolls, the girls started along the steep trail to the ladder. There were several in the party who claimed that they were perfectly familiar with the place and knew how to get there. The others, ever trusting, followed blindly. The result was the separation of the party into four or five groups, each of which was bound to arrive there sooner than any other. By this time the rain decided it had held off long enough and began to descend in gentle showers that increased till they were no longer gentle. With the rolls still tucked under one arm, the marshmallows safely in tow and the rain drenching bobbed heads and curls, the gang finally arrived and assembled at four o'clock for the cats. Swimming parties, explorations and baseball games furnished diversion until all agreed that they would look for the buses. But alas, the buses were not to be found. A four-mile hike lay before them to the nearest railroad station. They finally arrived at the charming village of Mendowdale and had tickets bought to return to Albany. The train came puffing down the track and all were ready to leave when a bus driver even more puffing appeared and they returned at length on the buses. Miss Bennett and Miss Phillips accompanied the girls. Muriel Daggett was chairman of the cats committee and Billy Heinemann of the bus committee. Altogether it was one of the best hikes ever held and a "good time was had by all."

signs as "Help the Dorm Fund." However, nothing could go seriously wrong with the mascot of the soph class along. So the rain ceased its downpour, the umbrellas were lowered and the balloons were again raised. The march was rather of a success financially as Betty McManus, in behalf of the class of '24, collected $2.50 in actual money for the dorm fund from the innocent bystanders who were too weak to resist her onslaughts.

At Ridgefield the respective classes cheered and sang. The result of the baseball game was a score of 8 for senior-sophs to 3 for junior-fros.

In the evening the classes, arranged so as to form a hollow square about the plaza, sang competitive and class songs. The seniors won the prize song. While singing the "Step Song," the juniors moved down the front steps of the College, while other classes changed their respective positions. The class of '22 handed down "Oh Say, Don't you Think" to their sister class '24. We all enjoyed the dancing on the campus, the least exciting event of which was not the snaking of youngsters off the plaza by the big policeman.
