From Now Forward

With the fever of one battle thoroughly cooled, or temporarily allayed at least, another contest presents itself to the Student Association. Today, the student body will weigh the pros and cons of the Goldberger Plan for Student Council Revision.

Earlier this week, at an open Student Council meeting, the issue was submitted to a preliminary airing. It is to be hoped that the discussion today will progress farther than at the previous hearing. We hope that the many weaknesses of State College will not evidence themselves; that petty details will not be batted back and forth; that past issues and personal grievances will not hold the floor.

It was brought out in last week's assembly that It was brought out in last week's assembly that if change was desired, efforts should be made imof an experiment. Right here at my side, on my desk in the News office, is a Hearst paper of unfinished business. It is indeed true that now is the time to bring any plans, suggestions, and criticism to the fore. However, it is also imperative that the student body should not lose sight of the primary issue. When small "sore points" are allowed to take precedence, nothing is accomplished.

Literary Contest To Close May 5

Dr. Shields McIlwaine, Professor of English and director of this year's Leah Lovenheim contest, announces that the deadline for submitting manuscripts is May 5. The literature called for includes stories, poems, and essays. The contest is open to all undergraduate students of the College.

This year, the $25 prize will be divided as follows: $5 for the best poem; $10 for the best short story and $10 for the best piece of nonfiction. The $25 is contributed each year by Mr. Jerome Lovenheim, Amsterdam attorney, in honor of his mother. Leah Lovenheim, an alumna of State College. This year is the twenty-first year in which the contest has been held.

In the non-fiction category fall personal essays and biographical sketches or portraits. Last year, only thirty-two non-fiction manuscripts were submitted. According to Dr. Mc-Ilwaine, there should be at least fifty non-fiction papers to intensify competition, and he hopes that more interest will be shown in this type of literature for the 1944 contest.

Miss Vivian Hopkins and Miss Dorothy Koch, both instructors in English, will be judges of the short stories and the non-fiction manuscripts, respectively; and Dr. Mc-Ilwaine will judge the poetry.

There are no definite restrictions length of the manuscripts. Any of March: further information regarding the boards.

State Is Out To Lunge With Swords At 20 Feet

Foiled again! They say fencing is an invaluable asset to any wellrounded, er, personality. After all you never know when you will be called upon to fight a duel, you know. It's best to be prepared! Tomorrow morning at 10 A.M. State's dashing damsels are planning to "touche" their rivals to pieces in the Page Hall arena. The rules will be regular, but not so the contestants. The men (yes, read it again) from La Salle Institute in Troy are set to oppose our girls on the field of honor. All those with gory temperments are invited to come and watch the proceedings and mayhap carry off the bruised and broken remains of-the referee?

Council Releases Garfall Wins Election M-V Speakers; Skit Directors

Auditor Sets Deadline For Treasurer's Books

Student Council has released the names of class speakers and rivalry skit chairmen for Moving-Up Day. The speakers are: Rhona Ryan, '44; Lucille Kenny, '45; Helen Slack., '46; and Marjorie O'Grady, '47. The speakers will appear in order of class numerals, with the freshman speaker first.

Betty Rose Hilt and Ruth Bentley, freshmen, are in charge of the freshman skit, while Helen Slack and Helen Rankey, Sophomores, are in charge of the Sophomore skit. The class which presents the winning skit, will be awarded 21/2 rivalry points. Myskania will announce the results of rivalry cheering in Assembly today.
