

Tower Tribune

Vol. 3, No. 36

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY

July 17, 1972

New Telescope For Student Use

A Boller and Chivens telescope with a 16-inch reflector mirror has been installed on the roof of the Earth Science Building. It will be used for classes in astronomy.

The telescope, primarily a photographic instrument, stands about six feet in height and is three-feet square. Its weight is about 3500 pounds and the telescope tube is five feet in length.

Currently a group of students is involved in the construction of a photoelectric photometer which is used to study the magnitudes of stars in certain colors. Such studies reveal the differences in stellar magnitudes and accent the differences among stars.

Both undergraduate and graduate students will use the telescope. It will be particularly useful for the survey course in astronomy and for the undergraduate research course. Astronomy majors take a sequence of five courses for seniors and three of them will involve use of the telescope and the photoelectric photometer.

Karl Scharl, now assistant security director, coordinated the project of installing the telescope. Donald C. Schmalberger, of the Department of Astronomy and Space Science, will be manager of the facility and scheduling of its use will be under his direction.

Director's Death

President Benezet commented as follows upon learning of the death of Allen D. Bishop, a member of the board of directors of State University of New York at Albany Foundation, Inc.: "The State University at Albany joins the Capital District community in sadness at the passing of Mr. Allen D. Bishop. We share the sense of loss of a man who gave so much of himself to community causes.

"Allen Bishop was an active member of the Board of Directors of the SUNYA Foundation which works to strengthen communications between the public service of the University Center and the surrounding community. He was a keen observer of the local scene and a source of help in many of our projects. We shall miss him as a guide and friend."

Pay Raise Interest Object of SPA Suit

The Senate Professional Association has filed suit to recover some $275,000 in back interest due SUNY professionals, according to a SPA bulletin. The money is sought as redress for the 10-month delay in payment of the unit's 1971-72 six percent salary increase.

The class action grievance, dated May 22, was filed directly with the Chancellor's Office in accordance with Article VIII of the SPA-State Agreement. If necessary, the grievance may be taken to the Office of Employee Relations and arbitration. SPA grievance coordinator Annalee Ziman is processing the case for the association.

Margaret Warren

Pinkerton Prof Is Criminologist

Margaret Q. Warren, of Sacramento, Calif., who most recently has been affiliated with the California Youth Authority, will become the Robert A. Pinkerton Visiting Professor in Criminal Justice for 1972-73. She is considered to be one of the outstanding criminologists in the United States.

Dr. Warren's Interpersonal Maturity Level Classification System now is used throughout the California Correctional System. The psychologist holds degrees from Western Reserve University and from the University of California, Berkeley, where she received a Master of Arts in psychology and a Doctor of Philosophy in clinical psychology.

For five years Dr. Warren served as program director of the Center for Training in Differential Treatment, sponsored by the American Justice Institute and the National Institute of Mental Health. Prior to that time she was principal investigator for the Community Treatment Project sponsored by the California Youth Authority and the National Institute of Mental Health.

As Pinkerton Professor in the School of Criminal Justice, Dr. Warren will teach an advanced seminar and serve as a resource person in seminars taught by other faculty members. The position was made possible by a three-year grant of $150,000 from the Pinkerton Foundation in New York.

Mohawk Tower To House Social Science Disciplines

The departments of economics, sociology, and foundations of education will move their offices into the Mohawk Tower on Indian Quad in mid-August, relieving the pressures of overcrowding in the Social Sciences and Education buildings. They will occupy the first of some 220 offices that will be available when rewiring and installation of new lighting is completed.

The tower was designed originally as a student residence, but the number of students living on campus has declined and the space will not be needed. The university is renting the tower from the New York State Dormitory Authority.

The tower will have a social science orientation when it is fully occupied. The School of Criminal Justice is slated to move from its space in the library basement in January, and the Graduate School of Public Affairs and the School of Social Welfare will move from Draper next summer.

No classes will be held in the tower, although there will be about ten rooms which could be used for graduate seminars. In addition, the lounge areas on the top floor will be available for department meetings, seminars, and special programs. Departments currently are discussing the possibilities of making joint use of faculty and space for research.

Another move in mid-August will see the College of General Studies go from the Administration Building to the first floor of Draper Hall. An increasing number of general studies classes will be held in Draper, as the building is more accessible to the part-time student community the college serves. The graduate admissions office of the College of Arts and Sciences will move from the Social Sciences Building to space vacated by general studies.

When the two graduate schools move from Draper next summer, that space will be assumed for classes and offices of the new James E. Allen, Jr., Collegiate Center, which will have all its facilities in Brubacher Hall on Alumni Quad this year. Special clinics and centers now in Husted and Richardson halls will remain there.

Films, Concerts, Lectures on Tap

Folksingers Hector and John Simson, coffee house favorites, will perform tonight beginning at 9 in the Campus Center Ballroom as part of the Summeract program. In Lecture Center 7 the film, "Raisin in the Sun", will be shown at 7 p.m., a change in the original date.

Tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. in CC 370, at a bring-your-lunch session, Karl A. Peterson, vice chairman of the Department of Music, will talk about the music program here and the summer opera performances.

Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Mohawk Campus John Henry, of the Educational Communications Center, will have an exhibition and demonstration of color photography. In the evening the film, "Boys in the Band", will be shown in LC 7 at 6:30 and 9, a change in time.

Thursday night at 8:30 the Dalriada Pipes and Drums play in the CC garden.

'Oh, What a Lovely War' To Open SU Summer Theatre This Week

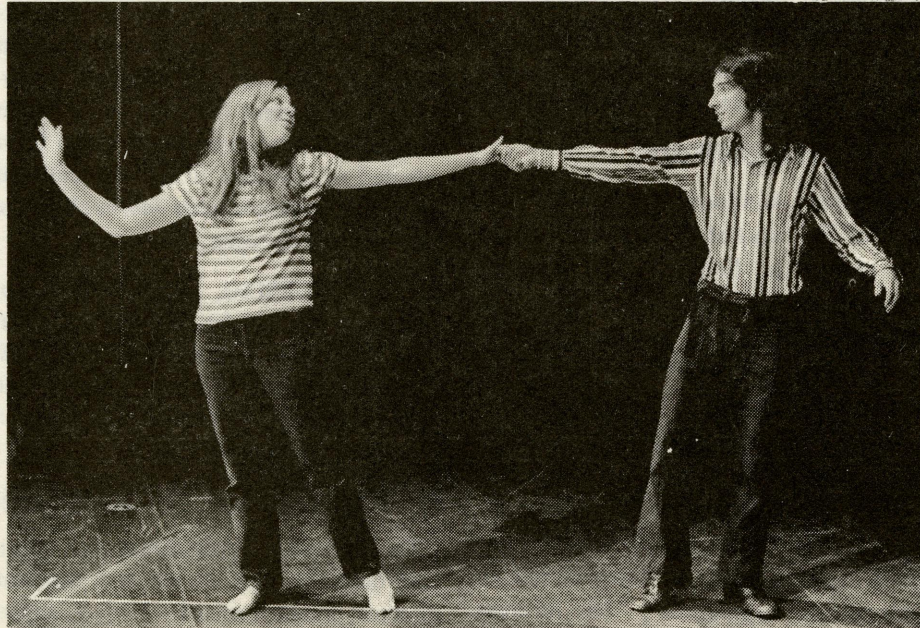

"Oh, What a Lovely War", the first production of the season of State University Summer Theatre, opens here Wednesday night at 8:30 in the Main Theatre of the Performing Arts Center for a four-night run.

The play is an examination of World War I through songs, dances, projections, and sketches created by Britain's famed Joan Littlewood along with her Theatre Workshop company in London.

A ticket for both shows of the season is $4, with tickets for each production priced singly at $2.50. The PAC box office will be open from 12-3 weekdays and at 7 on production nights.

Robert Sugarman is director of "Oh, What a Lovely War". It is produced by Jarka Burian and designed by Edward Mendus. Others involved in the production are Stephen Hirsch, musical director; Polly Landess, choreography; Jo Oliver, costumes; and Erwin Wilder, scenery.

"Pierrots" in the cast are Charles Alfred, Bertilla Baker, Frank Brown, Joseph Cali, Mark Cenci, William C. Doscher, Sharon Fanning, Allanah Fitzgerald, Robert Hebert, Morton B. Hess, Robert Levitt, Robin Sagon, Jessica D. Scherer, and Robert Verini. Deborah Beecher is stage manager, Caroline Meyers, accompanist; Kenneth Kalis, house manager; and Katherine O'Connor, box office manager.

ROBIN SAGON AND FRANK BROWN rehearse a scene from State University Summer Theatre's "Oh, What a Lovely War" which opens Wednesday.

Grants Top $1 Million Mark For Research and Programs

Vice President for Research Louis R. Salkever has reported receipt of $1,119,110 in sponsored funds during June. Of the total amount $794,014 is for research and $325,096, for programs.

Research grant recipients include John M. Bird and John F. Dewey, geology; William D. Closson, chemistry; James Corbett, physics; Tara P. Das, physics;

Group Sessions For Counselors

Underway here this month is a colloquium series in group development planned as an aid in inaugurating the new sequence of group development - group counseling courses and as a means of providing students in the Department of Counseling and Personnel Services with an opportunity to interact with leading figures in group work. The series has been arranged by Floyd I. Brewer, associate professor, and Walter Lifton, professor, in the department.

At the opening session Shirley Zeitlin, assistant professor of education and director of the Child Study Center at SUC New Paltz, led a demonstration-participation experience in the effect of the individual on a group. The second session was concerned with group approaches to self exploration. The laboratory experience was directed by Bruce Irons, a member of the Center for Humanistic Education staff at the University of Massachusetts.

Other meetings in the series will include a marathon group experience, group development film festival, group dynamics and counseling, and group work in real life.

Student Foot Patrols Protect Conferences

In his monthly report for June, James R. Williams, director of security, describes the special coverage in the form of radio-equipped student patrols for two conferences. The International Children's Theatre Conference was provided with a 24-hour foot patrol in the State Quadrangle where the delegates were housed and the American Association of Physics Teachers was loaned portable radios in order that two physics graduate assistants could patrol their exhibit area from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m.

Twenty crimes were reported on campus during the month, substantially less than the 73 reported in May. The reported value of property stolen was $1,544.

Categories of crimes were burglary, 2; grand larceny, 1; petit larceny, 13; criminal mischief, 2; public lewdness, 1; and criminal trespass, 1. In general, service calls declined slightly during June, reflecting the decline in population.

Workshop Held in School Management

Approximately 150 persons are attending a four-day School Business Management Workshop which began last evening at State Quadrangle under the sponsorship of the university's Department of David L. Edwards, biology; Benton Jamison, mathematics; James E. Justo, Atmospheric Sciences Research Center, Henry Kuivila, chemistry; Bernhard Lettau, atmospheric science.

Also, Nan Lin, sociology; Peter Marfey, biology; Donald McNaught, biology; Volker A. Mohnen, ASRC; Yash P. Myer, chemistry; Paul Pimsleur, education; Edward Renshaw and Bruce Hartmann, economics; Russell Rupp, mathematics; Ramaswamy H. Sarma, chemistry; Raymond G. Stross, biology; Hans H. Toch, criminal justice; and Bernard Vonnegut and Henry Chessin, atmospheric science and physics.

Sponsored programs receiving funds are "Social Studies Seminar for Central American Teachers", Frank Carrino; "Motorcycle Operator Education Institute", Richard Ellis; "Summer and Continuing Institute for Training Curriculum Leaders and Developers for Adult Basic Education", John A. Ether, "Bilingual Education Project", Richard L. Light.

Also, "Graduate Training Program in Psychiatric Social Work", Charles T. O'Reilly; and "Title VI Instructional Equipment Grants Program - Category I" and "Title VI Instructional Equipment Grants Program - Category II", Robert C. Rowe.

OPEN EDUCATION, learning more about it, is the goal of the above group as members board the bus at Administration Circle, first leg in their trip to attend a summer workshop in England offered by SUNYA in cooperation with the University of Manchester. Alexinia Baldwin, visiting assistant professor, boards the bus.

'Round the Campus

Members of the New York State Aviation Historical Association have contributed some 300 lithographs and photographs of World War I French, German, and American aircraft which are now on exhibit in the second floor gallery of the Campus Center. There is a special section devoted to Manfred von Richtofen of "Red Baron" fame and also a display of models. Search committees are being formed to find a dean of the School of Business and of the College of General Studies. They will begin their activities in September. Hours for the Lake George Opera Festival box office on campus have been changed to 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be no Saturday hours. Nura D. Turner, professor emeritus, has been invited to participate in the Second International Congress of Mathematical Education to be held beginning late in August at Exeter University in England. A new state law which established traffic regulations on SUNY campuses and includes a section allowing employee wages to be garnished to recover unpaid parking fines is being studied by the Senate Professional Association. The measure which may infringe illegally on constitutional rights of university staff is under consideration by SPA legal counsel for appropriation action. Kenneth Frasure, professor of educational administration and chairman of the department, has resigned effective at the close of the summer session to become director of studies in education at the University of Tennessee at Nashville. Former acting dean Albert C. Mossin, of the School of Business, who retired recently, will be visiting professor for a year at the Institute of American Studies in Paris where it is affiliated with the University of Paris. George S. Pierce, great-great-grandson of Cornplanter, war chief of the Seneca Indians, was elected president of the New York State Archeological Association at a recent meeting on campus. Students seeking admission to SUNY number more than 15 per cent over last year's total.

Campus Exchange

FOR RENT: Campsites for tents and trailers in wooded area on private lake near Warrensburg, new modern facilities, 1½ hours from Albany, available by week, weekend, or season. Call the Hathaways, 518-623-2198.

FOR SALE: 14' aluminum boat, 5 hp motor, trailer; $375. 1970 Harley Davidson motorcycle, helmet, saddlebags. Call 482-7175 after 6 p.m. IBM electric office typewriter, $95. Call 438-0946. 4-bedroom colonial in Albany, living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast nook, enclosed porch, attached garage, fireplace, w-w carpeting, dishwasher, slate roof; on SUNYA bus lines; $35,000. Call J. DiNapoli, 489-8551. Records, classical, opera, musicals, others; furniture; miscellaneous items. Call 439-5779 after 3 p.m.

Faculty Notes

JACK BULLOFF, history and systematics of science, has published "Quantum Reunification of the Sciences" in the Journal of Quantum Chemistry. His previous paper appeared in Teaching the History of Chemistry, Akademiai Kiado, Budapest, 1971.

KENNETH FRASURE, education administration, has two publications included in a listing of AASA ERIC Abstracts on In-Service Education for Staff and Administrators. The publications are entitled, "In-Service Role of Professors of Administration, A National View," and "Perspectives Concerning In-Service Education for Educational Administrators."

JOHN HERLIHY, educational administration, spoke at the 27th Annual Conference of the ASCD in Philadelphia. His subject dealt with the instruction modules for process education.

RICHARD KELLY, biology, has been awarded the Visiting Fellowship-1973-1974 by Kingston-upon-Hull College of Education in Hull, England. He will give lectures on biology education in the United States, instruct a course in methods of teaching biology, and participate in a course in general biology.

EDWARD LE COMTE, English, is the author of an article, "Jack Donne—From Rake to Husband," in Just So Much Honor: Essays Commemorating the 400th Anniversary of the Birth of John Donne, published by Pennsylvania State University Press.

RONALD LEY, educational psychology and statistics, presented a paper, "Subject-generated and Experimenter-supplied Associations to Words and Paralogues in Cued Recall," at the annual meeting of the Psychonomics Society in St. Louis, Mo.

SAM M. MCGEE-RUSSELL, biological sciences, presented a paper at a conference on high voltage electron microscopy held at the U.S. Steel Corporation Research Center. He also lectured at the annual meeting of the American Society for Cell Biology.

PAUL MEADOWS, sociology, contributed a paper entitled "The contemporary Rediscovery of the Environment" at the Fourth International Conference on Science and Society. The proceedings, "Science, Man and His Environment," have been published in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

JOSEPH SZOVERFFY, comparative literature, is the author of "Iberian Hymnody: Survey and Problems" published with a grant from the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. He has also been selected as co-editor of the international journal Mittelateinisches Jahrbuch of the University of Cologne, Germany.

JAMES TEDESCHI, psychology, is co-author of two articles, "Parental Occupation, Coercive Power, and Behavioral Compliance" and "Factors Affecting the Effectiveness of Reward Power" in Psychonomic Science.

6 Positions Available

The following professional and classified vacancies exist on campus: assistant director, Public Executive Project, supervisor of grounds, receptionist, principal clerk; statistics clerk; maintenance man.

Tower Tribune

Published weekly when classes are in session by the Community Relations Office as a service to the university community; carries news of campus-wide interest for and about students, faculty, and staff. Submit items in writing one week in advance to AD 235 or call 7-4901. Name and address must be included. Items for "Campus Exchange" should be submitted to AD 262. All material is subject to editing. The Tribune is printed on recycled paper stock.