Albany March 14, 1859.

To the Executive Committee of the State Normal School,

Gentlemen,

Wishing to accept an appointment recently offered me from an other State, I desire hereby to tender my resignation of the Professorship of Mathematics in the State Normal School; this resignation to take effect at the close of the present term. I offer in explanation of this proposal charge; first, the compensation

242 I am to receive in my new position is somewhat higher than my present salary; second - the duties I am to perform are such as my studies have specially prepared me for.

In thus departing for the second time my connection with this Institution, it is proud that I should express my entire satisfaction with the management of the school as well as the relation I have had the honor to hold with its officers,

I remain,

Very respectfully,

Your Obedt. Servt.,

Geo. W. Plympton,

Prof. of Mathematics.

It was resolved that the resignation of Prof Plympton be accepted.

It was further resolved that Rowley G. Kimball, be appointed to the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Prof Plymton.

It was further resolved that one thousand dollars be added to the salary of Albert S. Dutcher, and that Isaac N. Drake a graduate of the twenty third term of the school, <sup>be appointed tutor</sup> at a salary of six hundred dollars.

The Principal stated that the roof of the school building is in a bad condition, leaking in many places. He was authorized to have it thoroughly examined, and to have it repaired, provided it can be made tight in that way. The Committee then adjourned.
