Diagnosing The Republican Situation

Last week's column diagnosed the ills and weaknesses of the Democratic Party. Below is the second of this two-part series, similarly analyzing the Republican Party.

TALK WITH policy-making Republicans, and you will observe a fuzziness of political thinking, a lack of public relations precision. You will note, too, intimations of inferiority and even of political fear as the season for heightened campaigning approaches.

Ask the simple question: What must the GOP do to win? and you are met with a quantity of mumbly, fumbling, and bumbling.

Many "Ifs"

This attitude is not a design for victory in the coming national election.

Yet the conditions for winning that election are in the hands of the GOP, if they can release themselves from their own defeatism; if they can end their own bitter internal strife; if they can read the portents of recent events; if they can understand what the

LEAVE OF ABSENCE FOR RESERVISTS

ALBANY, Dec. 10 — Membership in the Reserve Officers Training Corps or Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps does not itself constitute enlistment or commission in the Federal military service so that temporary public employees on field training are not entitled to the leave of absence benefits accorded by Military Law. The State Attorney General so ruled last week.

Western Conference Meeting for December 17; New Committees Appointed

BATAVIA, Dec. 10—The Western Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association will meet here, at the Moose Club, 32 Elliott Street, on Monday, December 17. The Conference legislative committee will meet at 5 p.m. and all its members are requested to be on hand promptly. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. to all delegates attending the Conference meeting. At 8 p.m. there will be an interim meeting of chapter presidents.

The meetings were called by Noel McDonald, Conference chairman; notices were sent out by Mrs. Melba R. Binn, secretary.

Committee Appointments

Chairman McDonald announced the appointment of committees for 1952:

Legislative: Denton Vanderpoel, Thomas Indian School, chairman; Claude Rowell, Rochester State Hospital; Joseph Crotty, Hamburg; Rose Ann McCarthy, Al-

Wednesday, December 5, received a memo from J. Edward Conway, President of the State Civil Service Commission, which read:

"Governor Dewey has directed that State departments and offices, as far as consistent with the trend to maintain essential services, will be closed on the Monday before Christmas, December 24th, and the Monday before New Years, December 31st.

"Employees who are required to perform necessary duties on these two Mondays shall be given compensatory time off.

"This memorandum applies to all State employees, including those on a per diem and seasonal basis.

Assn. Had Written Letter

The Civil Service Employees Association had addressed a letter to the Civil Service Department on November 26, concerning time off on these two Mondays. The Association urged that the leave be made available to institutional and field employees through a similar grant of time off on other days in all cases where the workers must remain on the job because of exceptional conditions.

Dewey Advisers Consider Wide Changes in State, Local Retirement Setups

ALBANY, Dec. 10—The Dewey administration is considering proposed liberalization, as well as introduction of more uniform practices, for both the State Retirement System and other public retirement systems throughout the State. No decisions have been reached, but detailed discussions have taken place.

One of the projects expected to be on the Administration program is increase in the age limit for taking out pension loans. Now the privilege stops at 65. The proposal is to extend it to 70. The change would affect the State Employees Retirement System, of which employees of local governments also are members.

Additional Annuity

Also, present advantages likely to be recommended for extension include the privilege of buying additional annuity, up to 50 per cent of the normal contribution. This increases one's annuity reserve, and, while wholly employee financed, purchases annuity at a rate unobtainable elsewhere, and increases one's retirement allowance.

The present limitation on what a person retired on disability may earn in private industry may be enlarged, to equal what the pensioner might have earned had he stayed on the job. Thus he would be able to earn up to his potential salary, had he continued in his State job, plus $500, before reaching the pension-benefit cut-off point.

On Public Jobs

As to those pensioners who accept public jobs, the present limitation to $750 beyond the amount of their regular pensions be recommended for increase to $1,-

H. Elliot Kaplan, Deputy Comptroller in charge of the State Retirement System.

000. This provision is independent of the one concerning disability pensioners. The private industry income of regular pensioners is unlimited.

Under what conditions pensions may be suspended is being thoroughly canvassed. The present laws are said to be vague on the subject. Some pensioners hold public jobs and keep their full pension and their new salaries in full, without limitation. But no employment outside of the State is expected to be affected by any such legislation.

Minimum Pensions

What is to be recommended in connection with the Mahoney amendment to the State Constitution, adopted last month at the polls, is being considered by Governor Dewey's advisers. One question is whether the State and the localities are to share the cost, or the State bear all of it, in raising the pittance allowances of pensioners of local communities. Under the present pension relief law, a statute, such sharing takes place. For State pensioners, however, the State itself pays the difference in full.

Laws implementing the amendment will be recommended, and it is expected that an appropriation provision will be included in the bill.

Uniform Retirement

One of the uniform procedures that may be sought by the State Commission on Pensions is to have a uniform compulsory retirement age of 70 years applicable throughout the State. This would not interfere with lesser age retirement elections that all systems provide.

Social Security

The pressure for some form of Social Security benefits, especially for those employees whose local governments have not joined the State Retirement System, is being felt by the Governor and the Pension Commission. Not until a State law authorizes signing an agreement with the Federal Security Administration can these uncovered employees be brought under Social Security. It is estimated that 100,000 such employees in the State are now covered by no pension system whatever. Only 10 per cent of the school districts and only half of the towns and village are members of the State Retirement System.

New State Public Works Annual Salaries Go into Effect on April 1, 1952

ALBANY, Dec. 10—Salaries for more than 1,200 highway maintenance jobs in the State Department of Public Works, which were formerly paid by the day will be converted to annual salaries on April 1, 1952.

This action results from approval by Budget Director T. Norman Hurd of determinations by J. Earl Kelly, Director of Classification and Compensation in the State Department of Civil Service, following extensive study of these jobs with the cooperation of the Department of Public Works.

The New Salaries

On a 40-hour week basis, Highway General Maintenance Foremen, who now earn $2,472 to $3,135 a year when paid by the day, will receive $3,086 to $3,845. There are 149 positions in this title. Six positions of Highway Maintenance Supervisor are reclassified to Highway General Maintenance Foreman and will receive the new rate of pay.

The new salary for 426 Highway Light Maintenance Foremen will range from $2,646 to $3,390 for a 40-hour week as compared with the old rate of $2,292 to $2,655.

Truck Drivers' pay, which is now $2,095 to $2,487, will be $2,508 to $3,238 based on a 40-hour week. There are 637 Truck Driver positions.

CSEA Worked for Years

Intensive appeals by the Civil Service Employees Association on behalf of field workers in the Public Works Department resulted in the substantial changes. The jobs had been on a per diem basis since the work began. The Association had long contended that inasmuch as the jobs continued year after year, the employees should be placed on an annual pay basis, and also that a better salary level should be established.

Recent Association meetings of delegates representing the employees of the Public Works Department have highlighted the desirability of the change, and direct conferences with Superintendent of Public Works Bertram D. Tallamy and Executive Assistant Joseph P. Ronan had indicated their support of the program. Charles Hall, Department of Public Works representative on the Association's Board of Directors, has strongly supported the changes and contributed much time and work in behalf of the employee appeals. Earl Kelly, Director of Classification and Compensation, had also supported the idea of annual pay.

State Title Changes

WHAT EVERY EMPLOYEE SHOULD KNOW

By THEODORE BECKER

How Many Times Can an Eligible Be Skipped?

ASSUME that you had been certified for appointment from a competitive eligible list three times and passed over each time. Assume further that no reason was ever given you. Would you feel entitled to appointment?

An eligible on a NYC patrolman list sought the aid of the courts in a similar situation. He had been removed from the list after a hearing on charges by the NYC Civil Service Commission. Ordered restored to the list by the courts, he had been certified to and passed over by the Police Commissioner three times in less than six months. Soon after, a new list was established while at least three names remained on the old list which might have continued for another five months, if the new list had not been established.

Reasonable Without Reasons
The eligible asserted that the Police Commissioner had failed to justify refusal to appoint him. The Commissioner replied that the eligible had failed to show that any arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable action had been taken against him, and that the Commissioner was not required to give a reason for not appointing an eligible.

The Court noted that under the rules of the Civil Service Commission, the appointing official is given the right of selection, and that there is no requirement that reasons be given for selection or rejection. Hence, the Police Commissioner could not be challenged on this score.

Turning to the effect on the old list of the establishment of the new one, the Court noted that under the Civil Service Commission's rules an existing list terminates when a new list for the same position is promulgated. Hence, even if the eligible's name remained on the old list, this was of no significance after the new list came out.

Three Strikes And Out

It was urged by the Police Commissioner that, for all practical purposes, the eligible's name was no longer on the old list, based on a rule of the Commission which provides that no name on a list shall be certified to the appointing officer more than three times, unless at the request of the appointing officer. Where the list can be certified to only one appointing officer, it is obvious that, if the appointing officer so desires, he can effectively remove an eligible's name from the list by skipping him three times. Accordingly, the Court ruled that whatever rights the eligible had on the old list had expired prior to the publication of the new list. Hence, it dismissed the suit by the eligible, (O'Connell v. Monaghan, 11-9-51, N.Y.L.J. 1191 col 2).

Rule in the State Service

A few words of caution are in order. The rule involved in this NYC case may not be the same in other jurisdictions. It is no longer in effect in the State service or in any civil service covered by the Rules of the State Civil Service Commission, which rescinded a similar rule more than 10 years ago.

Now, in the State and in government units covered by its rules, and in most local jurisdictions, an eligible retains his place on the list no matter how often his name is skipped.

It's Knotty Business, Say State Probers of County Civil Service Entanglements

The Temporary State Commission to Revise the Civil Service Law has held conferences with representatives of county civil service commissions, the latest having been held in Rochester, at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, December 6, at the Court House.

The county commissions' viewpoints on various problems were presented, including difficulties in enforcement, recruitment and unnecessary expenses now required by law.

The regional conference held in White Plains by the Temporary Commission, of which Assemblyman Fred W. Preller of Queens is chairman, was attended also by representatives of the Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Putnam and Rockland county commissions. Henry Albert, counsel to the Preller Commission, and Joseph Schechter, consultant to that Commission, were present. Mr. Schechter is also counsel to the State Civil Service Department.

They Won't Listen
One of the problems broached by the local commissions was the impossibility of compelling county treasurers to abide by orders of a civil service commission stopping a payroll because of violation of some provision of the Civil Service Law. Complaint was made that sometimes the order is ignored and the employees paid, nevertheless. On behalf of civil service commissions, the suggestion was made that the law be changed, so that a civil service commission could seek a court order, when a payroll stoppage resolution is ignored, and the offender be liable to punishment for contempt of court.

Seasonal and part-time employment was another topic discussed. One suggestion was that, since it is difficult to recruit this type of employee, the positions be put in the non-competitive class, and that the commissions be given more leeway regarding certification of payroll in such cases. Also, it was argued that such employees should not be counted as provisionals, to raise artificially the number of provisionals on the payroll.

"It's hard enough to hire such employees off the street, much less through examinations," one conferee commented.

Mostly towns and villages were concerned with the problem of part-time and temporary employees. The jobs mostly affected were clerical.

At a meeting in Schenectady, again the enforcement problem was discussed. The commissions have the power of subpoena and investigation. Inquiry was made as to how far this authority was exercised.

The local commissions said they are powerless to enforce their rulings on payroll stoppage and wanted effective power granted to them in the Civil Service Law. Authority to issue a cease and desist order was asked.

Advertising Expense
The cost of advertising public hearings which nobody attended was one of the items of so-called unnecessary expense mentioned. Commissions want to be able to post notices in court houses, town halls and elsewhere, and if nobody shows up, not hold any hearing, but to hold one if anybody shows up or even asks an opportunity to be heard.

At the Rochester meeting the Preller Commission was represented by Leland R. Yost, assistant counsel, as well as by Joseph Schechter.

City Civil Service Commission conferences will begin soon.

The Preller Commission will meet in Albany this month, date to be set, at which it will receive a staff report. This will deal largely with a summary of the replies received to the questionnaire the Preller Commission sent to various civil service commissions, departments, labor, employee organizations and others.

Pension-Insurance Committee to Meet

ALBANY, Dec. 10—The pension-insurance committee of the Civil Service Employees Association will meet on Wednesday, December 12, at noon, at Association headquarters in Albany.

Charles C. Dubuar of the Insurance Department is chairman of the committee. The other members are Solomon Bendet, Davis L. Shultes, John Mullaney, Charles D. Methe, Clifford E. Irving, Michael Lester, Mrs. Anne LeVine, Grace Hillery and Maureen McSorley.

The Public Employee

By Jesse B. McFarland
President, The Civil Service Employees Association

WITH EACH recurring fiscal year, the State worker looks to the Governor and to the Legislature for sound attention to appropriations for salaries. The fact that each project of government rests upon the annual budget and that the amount received by each employee is actually tied up with what is done during the Legislative session, places a heavy responsibility upon each individual member of the Legislature. That each may be fully informed of the serious situation as to need for substantial adjustment of State salaries at this time, I have addressed the following letter to each Senator and Assemblyman: "I am addressing you on behalf of the State employees in every department and institution throughout the State, to appeal to you to give thought to adequate provision in the 1952-53 budget for needed salary adjustments to provide State workers with fair and sufficient income to meet present living costs."

"An impartial, truthful study of the figures readily available to every citizen shows plainly that the adjustments which have been made in State salaries since 1940 leave the State worker with less purchasing power than he possessed in pre-World War II years.

Responsibility Is With Legislators

"After a thorough analysis of the cost-of-living changes and the salary situation of the State employee, the delegates to the Annual Meeting of the Association adopted an appeal to you and to the Governor to grant a 15% increase in State salaries. We are sending herewith a booklet which sets forth in detail the facts upon which this appeal is based. (The contents of the booklet were as published in the special section of the Civil Service Leader of November 20th).

"A brief review of the booklet will indicate the very great lag in salary adjustments throughout the years that the index was steadily advancing, and in addition to the lag the insufficiency of adjustment on each occasion. 'The losses' suffered by the State employee will never be made up, and to maintain even a lowered standard of living the State worker has been obliged to spend into any savings he had and in many cases to get outside jobs to provide for his dependents. The negative for this picture is in every official file.

"The responsibility for personal service appropriations is with the legislators. It seems plain that the quality of public service always depends upon the training and experience and ability of the civil servant. Private business and the Federal Government, the two main competitors for human brains and ability are at present, by reason of adjustments which they have made, bidding for services on the basis of the value of the dollar of today. It is elementary that New York State service must suffer by inability to compete for competent workers. This matter of maintenance of New York State service on the highest possible plane is a matter of simple logic and good business.

"I trust the State employees may have your sincere and active attention to this matter."

It is important that members of the Association contact their Senator and Assemblyman directly, and for the officers and salary committees of Conferences and Chapters to make known the salary facts to citizens generally. They will be glad to get the facts. The legislators and the Governor will be giving attention to appropriations for the coming fiscal year continuously from now until the State Budget is finally approved.

Frank C. Gerwig, State Canal section superintendent in Amsterdam, N. Y., has been awarded the second highest sum — $400 — ever paid by the State Merit Award Board to an employee. Mr. Gerwig is at left. In the center is Henry A. Cohen, chairman of the Merit Award Board, and at right is Bertram D. Tallamy, superintendent of Public Works, who made the presentation.

$400 Award Won By Canal Employee

ALBANY, December 10 — The second highest award ever to be conferred upon a State employee by the Merit Award Board was presented to an employee on the New York State Barge Canal on December 3 by New York State Superintendent of Public Works B. D. Tallamy. The $400 award was made to Frank C. Gerwig, Canal Section Superintendent of Amsterdam, New York.

The near-record sum was paid to Mr. Gerwig in recognition of a new type of fender which he developed for protecting the lock gates on the New York State Barge Canal. Fred R. Lindsey, Assistant Superintendent of Operation and Maintenance of the State Department of Public Works, has estimated that the new device developed will save between $4000 and $5000 a year in maintaining the Canal gates. Trial installations at two points on the Canal have already demonstrated the value of the new device. It is proposed to install the device on all lock gates as soon as the necessary steel is available.

Sheet Steel Piling

The new fender is an ingenious adaptation of a section of sheet steel piling which can be fabricated and installed by Canal maintenance workmen. Mounted near the top edge of the lock gates, it replaces the old type of timber fender to protect the gates from damage by vessels being locked through the Canal. High cost of maintaining the timber fenders will be eliminated.

Tapper, Co-Chairman of the Membership Committee, Civil Service Employees Association; Eugene Vanderbilt of the Ter Bush & Powell Insurance Company, Schenectady, and Laurence J. Hollister, field representative of the Civil Service Employees Association.

The dinner is not restricted to members — wives, husbands and friends are also invited.

Wage Negotiation Slated for Dec. 13

Norman Hurd with counsel and other representatives of the Civil Service Employees Association on December 3, to discuss a pay increase, has been postponed until Thursday, December 13. # FOSTER REAPPOINTED TO BEDDING DIVISION

THE REGULAR monthly meeting of Sing Sing chapter, CSEA, was held December 4 at Moose Hall, Ossining. More than 100 employees heard John J. Kelly, Jr., assistant counsel of the CSEA, guest speaker, explain the tentative legislative program being sponsored by the Association.

Mr. Kelly conducted a question-and-answer program. Some of the pertinent questions arising during the session concerned vacation backlog, accumulative sick time, holidays, minimum pensions, draft time and the 40-hour week.

Mr. Kelly was given a standing vote of thanks.

He then explained some changes to the proposed by-laws, which had been submitted to the Association for approval. They will be in print shortly.

The refreshment committee, consisting of Sandy Sella, Gus Westphal, and Martin Mulcahey, with an assist from Fred Starler, did a splendid job in setting up the refreshments. Well job, boys!

President James L. Adams thanked the members for their whole-hearted support of the chapter program since his recent election.

Committee reports were given by Charles E. ## New York City

THE RESOLUTION of the Civil Service Employees Association, calling for a 15 per cent increase for State employees, was unanimously endorsed at a meeting of the NYC chapter, held at Willy's restaurant, William and Beekman Streets.

The NYC chapter played an important part in giving the original impetus to a request for a 15 per cent raise. Sol Bendet, president of the chapter, led the chapter delegates at the October annual meeting of the Association in seeking to have such a resolution adopted. Also, as Insurance Department representative on the board of directors of the Association Mr. Bendet spoke up for the proposal.

The presidents of the chapters constituting the Metropolitan Conference of the Association will meet on Thursday, December 13, to discuss means of implementing the Association's entire legislative program. This program is now being rounded into shape. It is based on resolutions adopted at the Association's annual meeting. Careful selection is being made by the Association of those resolutions which would require legislation for effectuation.

No Substitute For Pay Rise

New York City employees have suffered bitterly because of low pay. Their plight has been widely publicized, and even top NYC officials — among them Mayor Impellitteri, Comptroller Joseph, and Commissioner Moses — have publicly stated that the pay situation is far from adequate.

Is the Griffenhagen report the answer? We do not believe that this report is a substitute for a pay raise now. We earnestly hope that the City authorities will discover ways of bringing up pay levels without any more waiting. From uniformed fire officers to civil service examiners to clerks to sanitation men to laborers — in nearly all titles — the cry is constant. These employees simply cannot get along under present living costs; their morale is low, their debts are high, and the City MUST act. In its own interest, too, in terms of recruiting the right kind of personnel, the City authorities have an obligation to all the citizens.

There has been enough waiting. Whatever may be the ultimate outcome of the wage scales in the Griffenhagen plan — and we have stated our conviction that they are on the low side — the City employees require wage adjustments now. They have required them for years.

How much more disruption does the City want?

State Public Works Men Win Their Case

THE long-awaited disposition of the request for a per annum salary by per diem employees of the State Department of Public Works has been made in a manner that lifts employee morale immeasurably. Not only has the request been granted, but a better pay structure has been approved, both being projects for which the Civil Service Employees Association fought hard.

The change also means that the men will work 40 hours a week, instead of 44. Those affected are truck drivers, highway light maintenance foremen, highway general maintenance foremen and highway maintenance supervisors.

It is to be hoped that, since laborers work on an hourly basis, their work-week, if automatically limited to 40 hours because of the decision regarding the others, will be at a pay rate raised at least proportionately. Their take-home pay for 40 hours then would be at least the same as it now is for 44.

Police Surgeons May Stay Beyond Age 63

The NYC Council has passed a local law exempting police surgeons from the law enacted earlier this year, requiring the retirement of members of the uniformed force of the Police Department who reach age 63. The surgeons are members of the uniformed force, so included years ago at their own request.

The bill now goes to the Board of Estimate, which is expected to approve it. Then Mayor Impellitteri will hold a public hearing on it.

DON'T REPEAT THIS

newer media of communication are doing to party lines; if they can find fresh, exhilarating political themes and political appeals; if they can take advantage of the morass in which the Democratic Party currently finds itself; if they can more incisively reach the many groups which make up the American public; if they can overcome the ingrown rust of creaky political leadership at the local level; if they can disengage themselves from the "bourbon" appellation which Franklin D. Roosevelt attached to them; if they can come up with candidates, programs, and "selling" devices to reach the voters.

'Facts to Remember'

One nationally-known Republican leader told this column: "We must remember four facts if we want to win the next election. We must have attractive candidates. We must have party unanimity. We must realize that Robert Taft can never carry New York State. And we have to deal with the sad fact that certain aspirants for the nomination don't want party harmony, because harmony might play somebody else's tune."

The Dying Political Machines

The political machines, everywhere, are moribund. The Republicans can depend upon them no more than can the Democrats. The old-time clubhouse was the little man's window into government. With all its faults, it served a function as a political center of education. It was close to the people, and it developed ways of "getting out the vote." It has often been an unsavory place, and today the people see less use in it than ever before. It exists primarily for the control of nominations and funneling of patronage.

Frequently it gets the party into trouble. The efforts of many political leaders are channeled into settling petty squabbles at the clubhouse level, taking care of small-time patronage, rather than in more constructive areas. Both parties — Republican and Democratic — are maintaining an anachronism. Nobody has yet figured out a substitute.

Nevertheless, the Republicans, if they are going to win, will have to build some structure above the clubhouse level, using the clubs as auxiliary devices to perform such small duties as they still can. In most urban areas, GOP leaders looking at their problem honestly and objectively admit this is true. No one forgets what television did for Governor Dewey in 1950; how Impellitteri beat the Democratic New York City machine that same year; and how Rudolph Halley beat both Democratic and Republican machines in 1951.

The County Machines

A New York State GOP leader in the highest echelons, bitterly told this column, "Maybe it's impossible to be a good political leader today. Look at the way the Democrats are fighting among themselves, pro and anti Fitzpatrick. Then," he continued, "take our own five New York City GOP leaders. Their ineptness has been demonstrated many times. John J. Knewitz of the Bronx has certainly shown no great bursts of political sagacity. Tom Curran, the Manhattan leader, managed to pull, in the most recent City election, the smallest vote we Republicans got within anybody's memory. Frank Kenna, the Queens GOP boss, is clerk to a judge, and no ball of political fire. Queens pulls a larger Republican vote than the other City boroughs, but for reasons beyond political organizations, reasons which Mr. Kenna possibly doesn't even comprehend. Brooklyn boss John Crews is a nice fellow, but politically he gets slaughtered in every election. Staten Island's Republican boss, Edward Ruppell, had to be deposed by the Governor for making a very good thing out of his position — for Ruppell, that is." Remember, this is a Republican sizing up a major party weakness.

New Ways Must Be Found

New York is a key state in a national election, and New York City is a key city. The Republicans will have to find ways of overcoming the obstructionism inherent in the crochety, outworn, fat, lazy local machinery. It's true not only in New York City.

The county machines have made no provision for utilizing the new sciences of communication. They don't really understand them. And they don't understand the breakdown of party lines. They know they can't herd the vote to the polls the way they used to, but they don't know why this is so, because their experience doesn't encompass the deep intellectual and societal movements now occurring among the American people.

National Picture No Better

At the national level, the picture is equally sombre. Guy Gabrielson, as national chairman, shows no great imaginative spark. The liberal wing of the party dislikes him. His tie-up in the recent Reconstruction Finance Corporation probe renders him a vulnerable target for Democratic sharpshooting. He will have to resign, and the probabilities are that he will.

Appointment of an aggressive, imaginative leader would be like a blood transfusion. There would have to be, from top down, the building of fiery, hard-working local-level committees, to carry out the job.

'Learning to Talk'

Next, the GOP will have to learn all over again how to talk. The American people simply have not understood the language which the GOP has used in the past two decades. The GOP men have only to take a poll, inquiring how many Americans glow with enthusiasm at such phrases as "free enterprise" or recoil at the polysyllabic "collectivism." The truth is that the great majority of the American people do not understand words like these. The ideas which the Republican Party wants to convey by their use will have to be put over by words closer to the experience of the people. President Truman has shown a great knack for making the people understand what he wants them to understand; he does it intuitively. The GOP orators and press-agents will have to learn the hard way. The old-time worn-out words won't do it. Moreover, the political temper of the times demands forthright statements, dealing with real problems worrying the people, and providing substantial answers. A no answer campaign such as was conducted in 1948 will not win the election. There are indications that substantial segments of the GOP realize this.

Reaching the "Publics"

Related to the need of learning to talk is the necessity of reaching their "publics" more directly. It isn't possible to approach the farmer, the real estate man, the industrial worker, in the same way. If the GOP wants to reach labor, for example, it can't do it parading the virtues of the Taft-Hartley law. Labor itself shrewdly devastated the GOP on that issue by firmly implanting the concept "slave labor law" while the Republicans were trying by detailed, high-sounding explanations to describe what it was about.

One of the best brains in the Republican Party, queried by this column, gave a prescription for reaching labor which, he said, he will try to sell to the National Committee. The straight quote from him:

"To reach labor, the GOP will have to recruit a top individual who holds the respect of laboring men — and this won't be easy. We will then need to employ ideas like these: Distribute photographs of the palatial Anastasia dwelling-place in north Jersey; show photos of well-fed corrupt labor leaders, expensively dressed, riding around in big fancy limousines. We'll have to cite cases of negotiated contracts in which the workers were sold out. We'll have to drive home the point that these labor leaders are part of the Democratic machine; that under the Republicans, labor could expect a fair shake."

A PROGRAM

A clear civil rights program, with sure indications that they intend to carry out, would help the GOP with labor and with the minority groups in the larger urban centers. Republicans won't get labor votes, on the other hand, by threats to reveal lists of persons getting government relief. They won't get labor votes by letting the National Association of Manufacturers appear as the spokesmen for their party.

The party's tacticians will have to assess each separate segment of the total American community and reach each one on its own terms.

The Corruption Issue

Corruption in government is a real issue, as the voters have recently demonstrated. The Republicans have an opportunity to build a fire under this issue, but it must be done skillfully. The voter, the little man, will have to be shown how he is personally, individually, affected by this corruption. But in six months, corruption may not be the "hit" issue it is today. For example, not very long ago communism in government loomed as a major issue. That issue has expended itself. Everybody is anti-Communist. Privately, many Republicans fear what Truman may do with the issue of McCarthyism.

Foreign Affairs

The GOP must assess the real feelings of the American people about Korea. There may be a political gold-mine in the concept of a "peace party" which some Taft adherents seem to favor. On the other hand, the fear of Soviet expansion is deep, and the people offset that expansion. It isn't possible at this point to say what policy the Republicans should adopt in foreign affairs, because events are moving too fast.

The Program

But the candidate, whoever he may be, will need to stand for a relatively progressive program. Old-time isolationism, in whatever guise, can no longer be sold the American people. Out-and-out opposition to price controls would not be acceptable to the voters, who show signs of becoming genuinely worried about inflation and the tax burden. Real proof of government waste could be effective. Social welfare is already an accepted function in American life, and no GOP candidate could stand out against — say — social security, any more than he could come out against a prohibition on child labor.

But the people, with the enlightenment they are showing politically, will probably look with suspicion upon campaign platforms. They know from past history how little these platforms are worth, in reality. It could well be that a candidate making no great promises, but demanding sacrifice from the people in these times, might strike a responsive note. Churchill did it.

What About The Candidate?

All factors converge upon the personality of the candidate.

If the election were held tomorrow, and Ike Eisenhower were the candidate, the indications are that he would win. It isn't possible to guarantee that the Eisenhower enthusiasm, which has lasted since World War II, will remain until election time. No one can discount General MacArthur's opposition to Eisenhower. If MacArthur should make a dramatic entrance at the convention, or go on a tour, saying that no military man should run for president it would be devastating. No realistic GOP strategist can afford to overlook such a prospect. But powerful Republicans — those in the larger states — are banking on continuance of the public esteem in which Eisenhower is held.

One prominent Republican interviewed by this column gave his view that Taft cannot possibly win the nomination. "Taft," he said, "has been at it since 1936. He has never been able to get much better than 300 votes at a convention. Despite all the hoopla, Taft hasn't got New York, Pennsylvania, California, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan, Indiana, Washington, or Oregon. Kansas is for Eisenhower. I predict the New Hampshire primary, coming soon, will be for Eisenhower. Last time out, in the Nebraska primary, Taft came out last. Why should it be different now?"

If Taft does win the nomination, predictions in New York political circles are that he will inevitably lose the State. Earl Warren of California would be an acceptable compromise to the New York State Republicans if a stalemate should develop between Eisenhower and Taft.

Taft and Dewey

What would Dewey do if Taft does win the nomination?

750 Permanent Civil Service Posts in School Districts Throughout New York State

ALBANY, Dec. 10—More than 750 permanent civil service positions with school districts throughout New York State, other than city school districts, will be filled through a series of examinations scheduled for January 26. The openings are for custodians, stenographers, typists, account clerks, library workers, business managers, and others.

Applications will be accepted by the State Department of Civil Service until December 21.

For most examinations, candidates must be residents of the school district in which the vacancy exists. A few are open to all county residents.

The Job Breakdown

There are 391 custodian jobs, located in every county in the State outside of New York City. There are 159 stenographer openings, 119 typist vacancies, and about 50 openings in other clerical jobs. There are also positions for business managers, library clerks, school lunch managers, superintendents of buildings and supervisors of transportation.

Salaries for the jobs vary and are set by school district authorities.

Details on the examinations may be secured from local school principals, superintendents of schools, boards of education, or from the respective county civil service commissions. Persons who write for information to the State Department of Civil Service, State Office Building, Albany, should mention the number of the school district, and the township and county of which they are legal residents.

NYC Worker Unions Gain In Members

Employee organizations in NYC report that during recent weeks they have experienced a sharp increase in membership. Not only the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, and the Government and Civil Employees Organizing Committee, CIO, but also the Federal post office union reports an increase. The New York local of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, AFL, reported an increase of 600 in the past two months.

Pay Is Big Reason

Intense interest in increased salaries is one of the main reasons given for the upswing in membership of organizations of NYC employees. Efforts to restore permanent appointments, and recent gains won, were among reasons given for increase in postal employee membership.

Union representatives of NYC employees said that the career-and-salary report of Griffenhagen & Associates was another reason for membership increase. Employees felt the need of union representation, it was said, in expressing their viewpoints on the report, especially as it affected employees individually.

The U. S. charges no application fees. The State and the local Civil Service Commissions charge fees, and at the same rate fixed by law.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

This column deals with public administration — practical day-to-day problems and activities of states and local communities. Among items covered: New products useful to government departments; new ideas and practices in local agencies; new ways of performing public jobs; local government needs of all kinds. The cooperation of local government officials is invited. Are you using some piece of equipment in a new, more efficient way? Has a new program been found workable in a local agency? What are your purchasing needs? Are you managing to get the materials and equipment you need? What problems are you up against? This column invites communications from local government officials, and hopes to be a clearing house for many types of information. Civil service employees will find the material useful. Address all communications to Editor, Civil Service LEADER, 97 Duane Street, New York City 7.

CITIES REAP REVENUE FROM UNUSED AIRPORT ACREAGE

AIRPORTS are reaping revenue from part-time farming. The Municipal Finance Officers Association reports that Omaha, Neb., has some 250 acres of municipal airport land under cultivation. Alfalfa, wheat and corn are being raised by lease or share-crop arrangement on the airport-farm. An income of $1,500 or more a year is the anticipated yield from this project.

Toledo has been farming its spare airport land for some time. Unused acres have been under cultivation, growing such things as sugar beets, oats, soybeans and wheat. Income from the farm in 1949 was $8,000 gross, and the following year's income was somewhat larger.

FEES REPLACE FINES FOR PARKING VIOLATIONS

OVERTIME parking privilege payments in place of penalty payments is winning praise from the parking in El Dorado, Kansas.

There, the International City Managers' Association reports, a newly-adopted scheme requires drivers to pay for the privilege of exceeding parking meter time limits rather than being forced to fork over a fine.

The system works like this: When a policeman spotted a red flag flying indicating an overparked car, he made out a ticket which is on the back of a small envelope. The envelope-ticket has blanks for the date, license number, make of car and time of the offense. A note is also enclosed which informs the driver that he has been overparked and the charge for the extra time is 25 cents, if paid within 24 hours. If not paid within 24 hours, the charge is $1.00. The fee can be placed in the envelope and deposited in a special box, convenient to the parking meters or the motorist may pay it at the traffic desk in the city building. For each additional hour that the offense occurs, another charge of 25 cents is made.

Envelopes are numbered to correspond with stubs in the officer's stub book, and, if the notice is disregarded, the driver gets a note from the chief of police requesting payment. If this letter is ignored, a follow-up communique is sent in which it is pointed out that warrants are issued for all outstanding parking meter violations if not paid within 10 days.

Indicative of acceptance of the scheme is the fact that since its inception only 20 tickets on locally-owned cars have been outstanding out of some 3,000 notices issued. More important, policemen's popularity with the parking public is improved because drivers are not as offended by paying an overtime fee as when paying a parking fine.

CITY BANS SOOTHSAYERS

CITY officials of Hutchinson, Kan., have turned thumbs down on crystal ball gazing. An ordinance bans fortune telling, palmistry, phrenology or clairvoyance.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS STREAMLINE OPERATIONS

Local governments are continuing to prune out overlapping jurisdictions in an effort to streamline their operations.

Consolidation of city-county functions received new impetus as a result of early November voting in Pennsylvania, the International City Managers' Association reports. There, a constitutional amendment permitting the city and county of Philadelphia to be merged as one governmental unit was approved by a three-to-one majority. Only passage of enabling legislation by the state legislature is necessary to make final consolidation effective. Such a bill is slated to be considered by the legislature when it reconvenes December 10.

Under Philadelphia's reorganized government, all county departments will become city units and all employees will be placed under civil service. Then, when the legislature acts, the Philadelphia city council will have the job of integrating the various jobs and deciding which shall be abolished. Although the city and county of Philadelphia have been the same geographically since 1854, the dual government with its many problems had remained.

Earlier this year, the town and city of Norwich, Conn., merged to form a city and adopted a council-manager form of government. Their action leaves only four unconsolidated towns and cities in the state. In Connecticut, both the town and city governments have their own officials and police and both levy taxes — the city taxing residents within the city limits while the town government collects taxes from residents of both city and town.

Effective with the new year, Atlanta's so-called plan of improvement law takes full effect. Under the act as passed by the Georgia legislature this year, functions of the city and county will be re-allocated and geographic boundaries of Atlanta will be revised. Atlanta's city limits will be extended to take in some 82 square miles of territory with more than 100,000 residents. Atlanta will also take over all city-type services for the county such as fire, police, parks and sanitation. The county will take full responsibility for health services for the area.

Classification Hearings on In Buffalo

BUFFALO, Dec. 10 — A new classification and salary plan is in the process of development for the employees of the City of Buffalo. The classification work has been completed and hearings have been held over the problems that have arisen from the classification.

Hearings are being held on the allocation of jobs to salary grades. An interesting feature of the new plan is the method that is being used in the placement of the various jobs to the grades in the service. The system being used is common in private industry and is known as the "point system of job evaluation."

Point System

An adaptation of the point system of job evaluation was used in Westchester County in 1946. Many employees have expressed dissatisfaction over the grade to which they have been assigned.

The problems that have arisen from the new allocations are being resolved by a special committee appointed by the common council of the City.

2 State Aides Win Merit Board Awards

ALBANY, Dec. 10—Two awards to State employees have been announced by Henry A. Cohen, Chairman of the New York State Employees' Merit Award Board.

$100 to John C. Byron, 38 Morris Street, Albany. A Senior Sanitary Engineer in the Department of Public Works, he designed an inexpensive system for measuring the volume of flow at water pumping or sewage disposal plants in State institutions and municipalities. The metering device, consisting primarily of an electric clock connected to the pumps, can be installed for less than $50.00 while commercial equipment to perform this function would cost from $1500.00 to $3000.00.

$25 to Miss Elizabeth Cockcroft, 27 Herrick Avenue, Elmsmere, for an improved system of filing corporation records which she proposed in the Department of Taxation and Finance where she is employed.

Erie County Employees Ask Pay Rise

BUFFALO, Dec. 10 — The Civil Service Employees Association has reiterated its request for a salary increase to the budget committee of the Board of Supervisors of Erie County.

The local chapter requests that a pay raise be granted as follows: 12½ per cent on the first $2,000; 10 per cent on the next $2,000; and 7½ per cent on all salaries over $4,000 with a $300 minimum and $1,000 maximum.

Henry Galpin, Salary Research Analyst for the Association, appeared before the Budget committee to present this request and to provide the committee with factual information.

New Pay Plan Up in Niagara

NIAGARA, Dec. 10 — At present there is a move under foot in Niagara County on the part of the Board of Supervisors to develop a new salary plan for the County employees. It is understood that the municipal civil division of the Civil Service Department has been consulted concerning this.

The Civil Service Employees Association has indicated a desire to participate in the development of this new plan.

It is thought that by having employee representation, the usual difficulties that are encountered when the time comes for the installation of the plan will be considerably lessened.

The Niagara chapter has expressed a desire to submit a plan to the local administration. The way has been cleared for technical assistants from the staff of the Association headquarters.

"You may be not a little surprised to hear that I'm back in Erie! Yes? I'm here since November 8, having come by plane direct from Idlewild to Shannon air field in ten and one half hours.

"The weather is poor, and the sun shines occasionally! However, I manage to get around and see places and old friends. I've even visited Cong where a recent movie, Quiet Mar was made by a Hollywood cast. It should be soon showing in the States.

"Of course, the primary purpose of my visit at this season of the year, was to see my aged parents, both of whom are over eighty years.

"I hope to get back to the States on December 8, landing at Idlewild at 7:25 a.m. In the meantime, please convey to my many friends, through the LEADER my heartiest best wishes from Ireland.

"Best regards to you and your staff.

"MICHAEL J. MURPHY."

DON'T REPEAT THIS

publican high in New York State party affairs:

"Dewey will fight hard to get the nomination for Eisenhower. If Taft wins, Dewey is still in the picture in a big way. Unless Taft is a great fool, he knows he would have a tough fight on his hands to win the election. There is no doubt that ranks would close. The first think Taft would have to do, after a bitter convention battle, is call together his strongest foes — Dewey, Duff and Warren. Who else will carry the three big states for him? Dewey would then be in a position to demand changes in policy. Deeply interested in foreign affairs, Dewey would probably demand a free hand in foreign policy, perhaps even a commitment that he would become secretary of state if Taft wins. Only on this condition would he consent to campaign in the northeast industrial states without which Taft couldn't win."

This view isn't shared by all of Dewey's men. Some of them have sounded out sentiment in upstate New York, traditionally Republican, and have returned with the view that Taft can't carry upstate. If he can't carry upstate New York, and certainly not New York City, then he can't carry any of the large industrial states.

Conclusion: The Republicans need Eisenhower to win. Maybe Warren of California could make it.

Strong Auxiliary Candidate

In view of the growing independence evidenced by the electorate, the GOP will need strong auxiliary candidates as well as a strong presidential candidate. The public is showing a great reluctance at accepting hacks. The great lesson was, of course, when in 1950 New York voters elected Republican Dewey for Governor, Democrat Lehman for Senator, and Independent Impellitteri for NYC Mayor. It happened again this year, in many sections of the country. The GOP will make a high-calibre error if it hopes to win Congressional seats with second-raters. In New York State, they have a strong Senatorial candidate in Irving Ives.

More About Dewey

It is being said that Dewey will not serve out his full term as Governor. He himself has given no evidence of this. But the political chessboard boys figure it out this way: Dewey didn't want to run last time, but was persuaded on the ground of party duty. He has long wanted to get back into private law practice "and start making some money for his family." The only way that he can control the choice of his successor is to resign and allow Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore to take over. After the national convention, there would be no further reason, politically, for him to stay on. It is certain he would not want to run for the Governorship again. Moore would be obligated to him, and through Moore he could continue his hold on the State machine.

FIRE OFFICERS MAKE CASE FOR PAY INCREASE

This chart has been prepared by the NYC Uniformed Fire Officers Association, to show how badly these men — upon whom so much of the City's safety depends — have fared. Firemen salaries of 1944 and 1951 are used as the base for both sets of percentages. The conclusions reached by the UFOA are these: Deputy Chiefs have lost 35 percent, battalion chiefs 24.3 percent, captains 16 percent, and lieutenants 9.6 percent as a result of these salary differences since 1944. The UFOA says also: The percentage salary gain granted for promotions has been reduced by one rank. The deputy chief of 1951 gains less than did the battalion chief of 1944. The battalion chief of 1951 and the captain of 1944 are about equal. The captain of 1951 and the lieutenant of 1944 are almost the same. For example: a pre-1944 captain, after years of study, passing examinations, assuming higher responsibilities, merely succeeds in maintaining his pre-1944 captain's percentage salary above the fireman. The UFOA holds that officer salaries are from 65 percent to 78 percent below what they should be.

AFL District Council Hits 'Sabotage' of Career Report; Suggests Improvements

"The American Federation of Labor's District Council 37 is taking this approach to the Griffenhagen Report," according to Henry Feinstein, its president. "We see both weaknesses and good in it. We are going to fight for improving the report where it is weak; at the same time we want to retain the valuable parts of it." District Council 37 is a section of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Mr. Feinstein revealed that he and a group of his union officials had spent six hours with John Leavens, of Griffenhagen & Associates, going over "dozens" of criticisms of the report.

None to Be Hurt

"We are coming up with these specific suggestions," said Mr. Feinstein.

"First, no present employee is to be hurt in any way. If an employee has been downgraded, we want his promotion rights and all his other rights protected. It isn't enough that he will get no salary cut. It's not the employee's fault that he was caught up in an out-moded classification system. He passed the tests. He deserves a continuation of the opportunities. Moreover, we think it's illegal to deprive him of those opportunities.

Salary Levels

"Second, the salary levels are too low. We have fought long and hard for proper scales of pay. We aren't going to accept any half-measures. While the supervisory scales in the Griffenhagen plan represent some good improvements, employees earning less than $5,000 a year haven't been given a proper shake. We're going to fight for increasing those pay levels far above those in the Griffenhagen Report.

No Sabotage

"Third, we won't tolerate any attempt to sabotage the report by present department heads. We understand the Civil Service Commission is trying to undermine the report. We won't allow them to do so, merely to continue in perpetuity the blunders which have developed over the years and which they have done nothing to eliminate."

'Should Talk to Unions'

He then added: "As an American Federation of Labor union, we must add that we bitterly oppose the action of the Comptroller in designating high responsibilities in this matter to one employee group whose president happens to be working in his department. On matters affecting the employees' interests, we expect the Comptroller to act on his own, or after communicating with the trade unions in the City."

Changes In Answers Of Two Tests

The NYC Civil Service Commission has announced the following changes in the key answers of two examinations.

Inspector of water consumption, grade 2, three changes:

Question	Tentative	Final
1	C	C or D
25	A	A or D
59	C	C or D

Sanitationman, class C (promotion), four changes:

Question	Tentative	Final
9	C	C or W
29	W	W or C
90	C	C or W
92	C	C or W

The other questions in both exams remain unchanged.

Following is the second consecutive weekly installment of the questions and answers in the last regular exam for promotion to sergeant (P.D.), given by NYC. Another installment will be published next week.

11. The number of licenses issued per year by the New York City Police Department to carry pistols on person or on premises has been most nearly equal to (A) 10,000 (B) 15,000 (C) 20,000 (D) 25,000.

12. A crowd of rioters far outnumbered the police assigned to disperse it. If you were in command, the best action to take would be to (A) split the crowd into two or more parts and disperse the parts separately (B) temporize with the mob until reinforcements arrive (C) take cover until the crowd dwindles or reinforcements arrive (D) avoid contact with the mob but take some decisive action, such as firing over the heads.

13. The practice of "hand to hand" fighting or individual combat in dealing with rioters is generally undesirable because (A) no more force should be used than is reasonably necessary to accomplish the mission (B) individual patrolmen are liable for errors in judgment in determining how much force is necessary in a given situation (C) control and unit action will be lost, and the police are generally outnumbered (D) temporizing with a mob is usually an exhibition of poor judgment.

14. Assume that you are a Sergeant. A newly appointed patrolman has been assigned to a post under your supervision for several weeks. The one of the following questions least appropriate for determining how efficiently this patrolman has learned his post is (A) "What does the clerk of the small chain grocery store at South Avenue and R Street look like?" (B) "What is the name of the proprietor of the Acme Jewelry Shop at South Avenue and S Street?" (C) "How many banks are there on your post and where are they located?" (D) "At what time will the Peerless Drug Store at South Avenue and T Street close tonight?"

15. Assume that, as a Sergeant, you are questioning a holdup victim in order to obtain a description of the gunman. Of the following, the best example of a type of question to be avoided is (A) did you notice any scars or unusual features? (B) did he wear a brown or black coat? (C) what color were his shoes, (D) approximately how tall was he.

16. Assume that you are a Sergeant. While on patrol, you notice an ambulance turn down the next street. You investigate and find that a man was shot and seriously wounded as he was leaving a restaurant, by a man in a passing automobile. The patrolman at the scene reports to you that he heard a shot and ran to the scene. After instructing a bystander to telephone the precinct, he dispersed the crowd and administered first aid. As an alert Sergeant, you should realize that this Patrolman's action was defective chiefly because he (A) may have reduced the possibility of apprehending the gunman (B) failed to safeguard possible clues at the scene of the crime from destruction (C) may have seriously endangered the life of the wounded man (D) failed to take decisive action immediately.

17. The Children's Division of the Domestic Relations Court reported that juvenile delinquency in New York City in 1946 dropped approximately twenty per cent under the previous year's figure. This drop is attributed chiefly to (A) the influence of youth organizations, such as the P.A.L. (B) organized child placement (C) resumption of normal family relations following World War II (D) changes in the laws governing procedures for handling delinquents in courts and correctional institutions.

18. Assume that you are a Patrol Sergeant. Several burglaries have been reported in a residential area under your supervision. The detectives investigating the crimes inform you that, in each case, a home was entered late at night in the absence of the residents and jewelry, silverware, clothing, and expensive paintings were removed. Of the following, the most important caution for you to advise the patrolman under your supervision to exercise is to check carefully all suspicious (A) cars and delivery trucks in the area late at night (B) characters frequently bars and grills in that area or in neighboring areas (C) youngsters residing in the area who are known to be wild or mischievous (D) pedestrians in the area after midnight.

19. "When he reached the scene of the crime, the patrolman found a revolver and a fired shell. He

An Extra Monday Over the Holidays

Federal and State employees will have the two Mondays off that precede Christmas and New Years Day. Governor Dewey's order gives the employees the Monday as a gift and states that such employees as are required by circumstances to work on those Mondays will get compensatory time off. The chief beneficiaries of the alternate benefit will be institutional employees. The Federal Monday off permits four days off in a row for the Christmas and three for New Years and is in exchange for working on the following Saturdays.

The State precedent should be immediately followed by the heads of government in cities, counties and other units in the State.

By the way, the benefit flows not exclusively to the employees. Government buildings, because of the extended disuse, will not have to get up steam for heating. The U. S. figures that the seven days will save $100,000 on coal and oil throughout the country.

immediately marked both pieces of evidence by placing a number of parallel scratches on the bottom of the revolver barrel and on the bottom of the shell." The patrolman's action in this situation was unwise chiefly because (A) extremely small objects should not be marked, for they may be defaced (B) fingerprints left on a flat surface are generally most clear (C) identifying revolver markings appear on the bottom of the shell (D) the marking of evidence shall be distinctive and unmistakable.

20. The term "double action", with reference to a revolver, means most nearly that (A) the revolver has both safety and automatic firing action (B) pulling the trigger cocks the hammer and presents a fresh cartridge for firing (C) the revolver can fire with or without automatic shell ejection (D) the shell of a fired shot is ejected and a fresh cartridge is pushed from the magazine at the same time.

Final Answers On NYC Test For Inspector

The following are the final key answers as adopted by the NYC Civil Service Commission at a meeting held on the 20th day of November, 1951. These key answers result from careful consideration of all protests submitted by candidates and include such modifications of the tentative key answers as were allowed by the Commission. The test was held on September 22.

Examination No. 6318
Examination for Inspector of Water Consumption, Grade 2.

Bus Operator List To Be Certified; Porter Is Next

The surface line operator eligible list is about to be certified by the NYC Civil Service Commission to the Board of Transportation for filling bus operator and conductor jobs. Those who want to be conductors must be at least 5 feet 6 inches tall.

The last time the list was certified was late in October. Since then eligibles have been clamoring for action on the list. Also, the Board is eager to make appointments, since there are 642 job opportunities, because of 369 provisionals and 273 unfilled jobs.

After the surface line operator list is certified the Board will receive about 300 names of railroad porter eligibles for the first certification from that new list. More than 500 eligibles have been fingerprinted. The Commission doesn't want to certify names subject to investigation, hence is completing investigation of record and character of the top 300.

796 Provisionals

There are 796 provisionals in the railroad porter title. Besides, car cleaners, railroad watchmen and caretakers will be appointed from the list. The provisionals in all four titles total 1137.

When provisionals have to be replaced by eligibles the Board always first terminates the services of those not on the eligible list, in this order: non-veterans, non-disabled veterans, disabled veterans. Of those provisionals who are on the eligible list — and there are many such on the surface line operator and the railroad porter lists — the lowest one on the list is terminated first, regardless of length of service. Veteran preference doesn't figure again, because already taken into consideration in establishing the final score of a candidate in the test.

AFL EXTENDS ORGANIZING EFFORTS IN LONG ISLAND

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL, is intensifying its efforts to organize the public employees in Nassau County. It has set up units in Glen Cove, Sea Cliff, Oyster Bay, Hempstead, Syosset, Freeport, Babylon, and Port Washington.

It is working now largely among sanitation, parks and highway workers, and water works employees. The union has instituted a suit for prevailing rates of pay to per diem employees of Oyster Bay, under section 220 of the State Labor Law, and claims to be in process of concluding a signed contract with the City of Glen Cove.
