Wenzl Injured En Route To Meeting In Olean

VP McDonough Assumes Duties As CSEA Leader

ALBANY—Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl, president of the statewide Civil Service Employees Assn., was reported in "fair" condition at Leader presstime at Geneva General Hospital, where he was admitted last Wednesday morning following a one-car accident on an exit ramp of the New York State Thruway.

Dr. Wenzl reportedly suffered a fractured pelvis, fractured right ankle, broken nose and internal injuries when his car struck a bridge abutment as he was leaving a Thruway exit ramp at the Geneva (Ontario County) Interchange. Dr. Wenzl was leaving the Thruway en route to participate in a one-day training seminar for shop stewards in Olean when the mishap occurred. He was scheduled to address the group at a luncheon that day.

Thomas H. McDonough, CSEA executive vice-president, has assumed the responsibilities of acting president of CSEA as provided for in the CSEA constitution and will remain in that capacity during Dr. Wenzl's convalescence, which may be

THAT'S THE STORY — The signs leave no doubt about the way CSEA members feel in a protest by the Nassau chapter at the East Meadow High School. The school board did restore 72 jobs slated to be cut in a new budget, but contract negotiations remained at an impasse. Shown, from left, are: Eleanor Wenzl, Irv Kasner and Doris Kasner, all from the county Medical Center; Ralph Cafaro and Pat Rosa, East Meadow Schools Custodial unit, and Jim Callan, Medical Center. LI Sanit District Sued By Nassau On Contract

MINEOLA—The Nassau chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., has gone to court, charging Sanitary District No. 1 with welsing on a contractual guarantee for a cost-of-living increase.

Nassau chapter president Irving Flaumenbaum said the employees were entitled to a 9.7 percent increase effective last Jan. 1 under the terms of the CSEA contract. Commissioners of the district "stalled and welsed and finally offered to pay a seven percent increase, which is inadequate," Mr. Flaumenbaum said.

CSEA Regional Attorney Richard C. Gaba was filing a lawsuit in Nassau Supreme Court.

The district, according to CSEA officials, tried to escape the contractual guarantee by submitting the matter to the federal Pay Board.

No ruling had been received by the time the Pay Board went out of existence May 1.

"I don't know how long we can keep the men from taking action," Mr. Flaumenbaum declared. "If they do, the blame will rest with the district com- (Continued on Page 5)

ASSURE NO LAYOFFS AT WILLOWBROOK DUE TO UNITIZATION

STATEN ISLAND—Quick action on the part of local leaders of the Civil Service Employees Assn. at Willowbrook State School brought a promise from the State Mental Hygiene Department that there would be no layoffs in existing personnel as a result of the department's proposed plan of "geographic unitization."

A meeting with Mental Hygiene officials was demanded by CSEA leaders when information was leaked of the department's plan to transfer mentally retarded adults to Island View Care Center, a nursing home on Staten Island.

This had led Pat Fraser, chapter grievance committee chairman, to criticize the administration for violating mandated procedures calling for the return of residents to their home boroughs.

Representing CSEA at the confrontation with management were Ronnie Smith, president of Willowbrook chapter; Robert Guild, CSEA collective bargaining specialist, and Adele West, CSEA field representative.

Impeachment Revisited

Removal Of NYS Governor Sulzer

NO one celebrating on the night of Nov. 5, 1912, the election of William Sulzer as Governor of the State of New York could have foreseen that within less than a year the Governor would be impeached and removed from office. Nor could they have foreseen that

CSEA Legislative Items In Race To Wire Before Adjournment

ALBANY — A late report from the Civil Service Employees Assn. headquarters on the progress of CSEA's legislative program indicated a growing likelihood for passage of several important items.

The report, from CSEA counsel John C. Rice to members of the union's statewide and regional legislative and political action committees, came as the Legislature began moving toward final adjournment which is expected about midweek.

Included among the hopeful looking items in the legislative package which would benefit CSEA members are, of course, improvements in the retirement program and the death benefit procedure in the so-called omnibus retirement bill. This measure would also extend temporary

by Paul Thayer

On Department Order 78, dated April 24, the following appears at the head of the page:

"The Fire Commissioner and Staff officers extend their praise, together with the thanks and admiration of the Citizens of New York who witnessed the bravery and resourcefulness of the finest Fire Department in the country, at Manhattan Box 792, fire and explosion at 305 East 46th Street, on Monday, April 22, 1974, where all members labored so heroically and valiantly."

It is nice to see credit being given to the troops at long last.

At the scene of the disaster, both Chief O'Hagan and Chief Snyder, in their conversations with the media, sounded like college professors rather than firemen which went a long way toward polishing the firefighters public image.

When the first rearmount ladders went into service in Harlem, based on the firefighter's appraisal and his anticipation of what was sure to happen traffic-wise, I said it was a mistake which would be regretted. More than one captain in the ghetto areas has requested the removal of the rearmount type truck and return to the tiller type as soon as possible.

Now, the Department is receiving tiller type trucks again and the troops in Harlem fervently hope that at least some of the rearmounts will be replaced. It seems so foolish to have to go four blocks out of the way to get to a box because the rear mount simply doesn't stand a chance of getting through the average block packed with double and triple parkers.

Recently in the Bronx, a PD radio car spotted a small rubbish fire, called their Central and asked for one piece of apparatus for junk in the street. Their dispatcher came back with the startling news that he didn't know how to arrange for just one piece so, said the radio car: "OK, we'll ball you out" and they pulled the box.

A few days later, a PD radio car discovered a racoon up in a tree and called their Central who in turn called the Fire Department where the dispatcher said "no dice... call the A.S.P.C.A." When this was relayed to the PD car, it seemed like too much trouble to be bothered soooo, the cops pulled the box!

Now, if the radio cars could just be prevailed upon to stop going for their radios and pull the box for real and serious fires instead of sending it to their Central, life would be a hell of a lot happier for everybody concerned.

While on the subject of PD and communications, we have the case of a certain company backing into quarters and being called by the dispatcher for another run. When the assignment arrived at the fire (about five blocks from quarters) they found a doozy of a fire, going so badly that the smoke was banked down in the ground floor entrance to the building for a fire which seemed to be on either the second or third floor.

Fortunately, they came into the fire block from the right direction for there, in the middle of the block, were three PD cars empty and locked plus one scooter bike. Seeing this, the officer of one of the companies spoke to one of the radio car men after the fire and asked casually: "What time did you guys get this?" The reply without hesitation: "19:10 hours."

The fire officer, somewhat furious, went back to his rig knowing that his time out on the box was 19:20 hours. A full ten minutes after the cops got it, by their own admission. So, with yet another warning to the powers that be about this kind of stuff causing injuries and deaths in the past and in the future, let it not be said that the facts are unknown. When the real tragedy happens you can be sure I'll not let anybody who could have done something and didn't, forget it.

Ladder Company 29 has an unusual second section. It's a railroad caboose which, together with a switching engine, took them out on to the Hell Gate railroad bridge for a fire in the ties. They tell me that this sort of thing goes on all the time.

In fact, on Saint Patrick's Day, they had one on the bridge where the Third Battalion had to arrange for engine companies from two battalions to deliver their pressure extinguishers to a flat car in the adjacent railroad yards so that 48 Truck could go out to do another job on the Trestle which was going but good...!

I recall when the "Firefighter" was first put into service, one of the stunts they pulled to demonstrate her power was to take a trip up the Hudson and approaching the George Washington Bridge, turn on the front monitor and shoot a stream so high it would wash the upper roadway of the Bridge.

Nostalgia takes over here and sadness too for the state of the city in general. The Willis Avenue Bridge won't open. So the Glenn has to substitute for the Wagner which just might be able to reach the Hell Gate ties... and if only we had more fireboats such as the Firefighter instead of motor launches... things seem to be changing so vastly and quickly that one gets sick thinking about better days.

Take for instance the thrill of a visit to the ladder shop where wooden ladders were made by hand with tender loving care by Swedish carpenters who were more like cabinet makers. I remember too the trips by selected officers out to Oregon and Washington on the West Coast especially to purchase the wood for those ladders. How the finished product was a work of art! And remember the new apparatus when it was delivered to quarters with its beautiful gold striping, hand applied at the shops by a man who did nothing but gold striping and was known throughout the country for his art? Mention gold striping today and they look at you as though you have gone barmy.

Looking around and seeing bridges which do not open, and East and West Side Drives which cannot be used—is it any wonder that a fellow shakes his head, heaves a sigh and heads for some quiet spot where he can have a beer in peace?

Willowbrook Assurances

headed by Samuel Orenstein, associate commissioner of mental retardation. The meeting was held May 2 at Willowbrook.

To Relieve Congestion

Dr. Orenstein stated that Willowbrook State School is now at its highest point in personnel and residents, and that there has to be a decline in both in order to relieve congestion and to provide better resident care and working conditions.

He said that geographic unitization, a process which would take many years to accomplish, involves the phasing out of residents from Willowbrook into sub-units located in their home catchment areas. Staff personnel needed to care for the residents would also be transferred into these areas.

Manhattan residents would be transferred to an institution in Manhattan; Bronx residents to a Bronx institution and so on throughout the five boroughs in New York City.

An additional unit, Central Services, is planned to provide the supportive staff servicing the sub-units on a vendor/vendee basis. Initially, the sub-units by boroughs are to be set up on the grounds at Willowbrook and will then be gradually phased out into their individual boroughs with their own staffs.

Guild Demands Consultation

Mr. Guild charged the Mental Hygiene administration with proceeding to implement plans affecting the employees without consultation with the union. He called the action an improper labor practice and a contract violation and asked that, in addition to the pledge of "no layoffs," the department consider seniority as a prime factor in the transfer of employees, and that CSEA be kept fully informed and consulted on all plans before finalization. Assenting to the CSEA's requests, Dr. Orenstein said that any outbacks would be achieved through attrition and that transfer of personnel would be done on a voluntary basis. He emphasized that "No action has been taken to implement this plan and no action will be taken without involvement of CSEA."

Referring to the proposed transfer of mentally retarded adults to the Island View Care Center, a 240 bed facility, Dr. Orenstein stated that no contract has been signed thus far with the nursing home nor a license granted for its operation.

BLACK RIVER DINNER

WATERTOWN — The annual scholarship award dinner-dance of the Black River Valley chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., will be held at the Watertown Elks Club May 18 from 6:30 p.m., according to William Dupee, chapter president.

Protesters In East Meadow Win Restoration Of Jobs

(From Leader Correspondent)

EAST MEADOW—Seventy-two school cafeteria monitor jobs that had been dropped from the proposed school district budget were restored last week after a protest demonstration by about 200 members of the Nassau chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn. Pickets ringed the East Meadow High School before the budget hearing April 30.

Nassau chapter President Irving Flaumenbaum spoke on behalf of the district's 360 CSEA employees, and by 11:30 p.m. the school board publicly voted to restore the jobs.

The demonstration also protested the board's failure to bargain successfully on a new contract. Negotiations have broken down and an impasse has been called.

Mr. Flaumenbaum had warned the board that the failure to bargain a new contract coupled with the proposed firings had put non-teaching employees "on the verge of some kind of action."

Ruth Braverman, co-chairman of the chapter's school district committee and president of the East Meadow clerical unit, said the board's offer amounted to a 1 percent increase. "In a time of severe inflation, that is ridiculous," she said. "Our last scheduled negotiating session lasted just six minutes."

The demonstration was led by East Meadow employees under the leadership of Ms. Braverman and Phil Reichenberg, president of the custodial unit, Kay Neville, president of the teachers' aides unit, and Ann Schitsky, president of the cafeteria unit.

They were assisted by CSEA members from the Nassau County Medical Center, under the leadership of president Doris Kasner, and Town of Hempstead, under the leadership of chapter vice-president Ralph Natale and other members.

Retirement Party Is Set For Youngs

UTICA—A retirement party for Loren Youngs will be held May 20 at the Deansboro Hotel in nearby Deansboro.

Mr. Youngs, who participated in the organization of the Clinton Central School District for the Civil Service Employees Assn., has served as the unit's president for six years. He currently represents the unit with the Oneida Educational Employees chapter, and previously held a similar position with the Oneida County chapter before the school employees formed a separate chapter two years ago. He also serves as a delegate to CSEA's Syracuse Region 5 from the chapter.

Tickets are $5 for the party, which is slated to begin at 7 p.m., with food and refreshments included. The Deansboro Hotel is located 13 miles south of Utica on Route 12-B.

Rockland CSEA To Meet May 16 In Clarkstown

NEW CITY—Rockland County chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. will meet May 16 at 8 p.m. in the New Town of Clarkstown Town Hall, according to chapter president John Mauro.

Clarkstown Supervisor George S. Gerber is scheduled to welcome CSEA to Clarkstown. CSEA executive vice-president Thomas McDonough and Southern Region 3 president James Lennon are expected to attend the meeting.

MARCHING OFF WITH A PRIZE — New York City Fire Department's Bagpipe Band is shown doing their thing at Putnam County's seventh annual Loyalty Day Parade last week. The band received a special trophy at the parade, which had more than 60 marching units passing in review along the Main Street of Carmel and then down Route 6 to the Putnam Plaza Shopping Center. More than 8,000 area residents viewed the parade. (Leader photo by Ted Kaplan)

Vehement Protest Stalls Hauppauge Parking Fee

HAUPPAUGE—The Civil Service Employees Assn. is coordinating action on behalf of a score of state units whose members have been threatened with a parking fee when the new state office building opens here this month.

The proposed $5-a-month employee parking fee has been forestalled by a call by CSEA for negotiations as provided in the state contract.

Regional CSEA president Irving Flaumenbaum led a delegation of employee leaders into the new building April 26 to meet with a management team dispatched from the Office of General Services in Albany.

The meeting, he said, was exploratory. Negotiations on the issue were left for formal discussions at the department level.

However, the CSEA delegation ticked off a series of reasons why any parking fee would be inappropriate, discriminatory and a hardship on employees. The Long Island situation is unique, because there is no shortage of parking as sometimes encountered in downtown locations. In addition, there is no public transportation at all to serve as an alternative.

Further negotiations are being coordinated by Joseph Reedy, Albany-based collective bargaining specialist.

The question affects members of a score of state agencies, especially the Region 10 Department of Transportation of the Long Island Region and the State Division of Taxation & Finance, whose branch-office staff is connected with the New York City Chapter. New York City chapter president Sol Bendet was also involved in the negotiations.

Employees have been alarmed and annoyed for several months while rumors circulated that a parking fee was being considered by OGS. When that was confirmed two months ago, CSEA cited contractual guarantees providing for prior negotiations.

Mr. Reedy argued that a fee would also violate a contract provision for "fair and reasonable working conditions."

No major employer on Long Island charges employees to park at work, it was noted. The Grumman Aircraft Corp., for example, provides parking for almost 23,000 employees at no charge.

Robert Pols, vice-president of the Region 10 DOT chapter, said that longer commuting to the new office building plus a parking fee would result in a seven to eight percent cut in take-home pay for members in the clerical ranks.

Attending the exploratory session were: Mr. Flaumenbaum, Mr. Pols, Lou Mannelino and Arthur Allen of the D.O.T., and Mr. Reedy.

The first employees were to be moved into the building this week, with no parking fee in effect.

NYC Executive Bd. Meets

Robert Keeler, standing at right, from Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, explains his stand at a meeting of the executive board of the New York City chapter at Barclay's Restaurant, Manhattan. Mr. Keeler advocates recognition as a separate chapter for his unit, but the New York City chapter, largest of CSEA's state chapters, warns of the consequences of eroded strength. Also speaking with Mr. Keeler was Helen Kasowitz, seated in front of him. At left, with the microphone, is Solomon Bendet, chapter president, and to his left at the head table are Martha Owens, first vice-president, and Arthur Lakritz, third vice-president. Shown in front of the head table are Samuel Emmett, left, a former chapter president, and Everett Owens.

The monthly meetings of the New York City chapter's executive board draw new representatives from time to time. Shown attending their first meeting are, at rear, Larry Rosenthal, left, new delegate from Human Rights, and Rick Rhoads, new delegate from Disability Determination. In the foreground is Hal Goldberg, veteran delegate from Mineola Sales Tax.

Jack Schuyler, delegate from Vocational Rehabilitation, is emphatic as he stands to make a motion that the union continue to press Governor Wilson on cost-of-living increases for state employees. The New York City chapter approved the motion unanimously.

E. Hudson Pkwy. Tests Staff's Blood Pressure

PLEASANTVILLE—The East Hudson Parkway Authority was among the first state departments to offer its employees the free blood pressure testing program, and it was fully supported by the leadership of the Civil Service Employees Assn. departmental chapter.

The program is in line with the warning issued by the National Heart Institute that "uncontrolled high blood pressure forces the heart to work harder and may eventually cause strokes, heart attacks, and heart failure."

Raymond Radzivila, the Authority's executive director, said the tests were taken voluntarily by nearly two-thirds of EHPA's 300 employees. It was the first time management and employees were offered an examination of this type.

"The test findings showed that Authority employees are a very healthy group," Mr. Radzivila said.

"However, a few had to be referred to their doctors for further examination."

Chapter president James J. Lennon said: "The CSEA is vitally interested in the health and welfare of our members and we applaud the Authority on its far-sighted outlook and concern for employees' health and safety. The East Hudson chapter, CSEA, will continue to work for increased methods to keep our members No. 1 in the health field."

The blood-pressure testing was done by nurses of the Westchester County and Columbia County chapters of the American Red Cross, the Putnam County Health Department, and the Dutchess County chapter of the Heart Association.

The Authority operates and maintains nearly 170 miles of parkways in the four counties

Researchers Give Aid To Indian Child

STATEN ISLAND — The Basic Research chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., in Staten Island is now sponsoring an American Indian child, Eugene Makes Good, 10, of the Oglala Sioux Tribe in South Dakota.

Leah Kolodny, chapter president, explained: "We are not just giving a few dollars to a child. We are extending the hand of friendship to someone from outside his own culture and community; and since the income of the average American Indian living on a reservation is limited, usually less than $900 a year, this helps to provide clothing and supplies necessary for regular school attendance."

The chapter has learned that part of its sponsorship funds also go to Indian communities for projects based on self-help principles. This helps the adult community of the tribe to develop their own leadership abilities and to participate more fully in community affairs.

The dispute could become a key test of the Taylor Law, pointing up the failure of the law to provide penalties for employers who act in bad faith.

CSEA field representative Nat Zummo, who has been assisting unit president Vincent Castellani on job problems facing employees, charged that the district acted in a spirit of retaliation because CSEA had filed a series of grievance actions relating to working conditions.

The 9.7 percent cost-of-living where the testing took place, including the Taconic State, Sprain Brook State, Saw Mill River, Hutchinson River and Cross County Parkways.

adjustment cited by CSEA was based on federal Bureau of Labor Statistics figures specified by the contract as the data to be used.

Sixty-nine employees in the district provide refuse service in the vicinity surrounding Baldwin.

"We were forced by the district's bad faith to take legal action," Mr. Flaumenbaum asserted. "We have faith that if the district will not act in good faith that the courts will."

Utica Meeting

UTICA — The Port Schuyler chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. has scheduled a dinner meeting for May 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Elks Club on French Rd. in this city, according to chapter president Philip Caruso.

In a letter late last week to CSEA directors and chapter presidents, Mr. McDonough said "our president's regrettable accident is a sharp blow to all of us" and "we look forward to Dr. Wenzl's complete recovery and to having him back with us in his leadership position." He continued, "I would like to convey to you and our entire membership my personal reassurance that our leadership structure is intact and is prepared to carry on effectively with CSEA affairs at all levels throughout the state."

Cards and letters to Dr. Wenzl may be addressed to him at Geneva General Hospital, Geneva, New York 14456.

CSEA Leadership

WHEN a leader is stricken, there is a sudden moment of panic as to who is going to take over the reins. Even if the next in command has had a long record of accomplishment, there is still that moment of doubt as to whether he can handle the top position.

A case in point recently was the succession of Lyndon Johnson to the presidency after the assassination of John Kennedy. Even though LBJ had compiled an impressive record as Majority Leader of the Senate while JFK was a relatively insignificant back-bencher, the election of 1960 changed that relationship completely around—and it was Vice President Johnson succeeding President Kennedy.

The Civil Service Employees Assn. suffered a blow last week when its four-term president Theodore C. Wenzl was seriously injured in a one-car auto accident as he was on his way to address a meeting in Olean, Cattaraugus County.

Early reports indicate that Dr. Wenzl will be able to resume his duties as CSEA president in time. Meanwhile, executive vice-president Thomas McDonough is faced with the challenging responsibilities of heading the largest independent union of public employees in the world.

Mr. McDonough's major difficulty during this period will be to provide leadership without changing the basic policies of CSEA that Dr. Wenzl has followed. It's about as ticklish a position to be in as we can imagine.

Although Mr. McDonough as a vice-president of CSEA has been next-in-command for the organization for nearly three years, and has many years of experience behind him as a chapter president, as a member of the Board of Directors and as a statewide committee chairman, this is a whole new situation—even for him.

It is reassuring to know that he has promised to consult with all the statewide officers on matters of importance until Dr. Wenzl is able to resume the office. One of his first actions as acting president has been to call a meeting of the statewide officers.

"Each night I say a prayer for Ted Wenzl's speedy recovery," Mr. McDonough has said. We add our Amen to Mr. McDonough's prayer, and assume he would appreciate a few remembrances for himself during this period when his decisions can affect the destinies of nearly a quarter-million public employees.

Tax On Pensions

HOW MANY people realize that retirees who move out of the state must pay taxes on their pensions to the states in which they live?

This is a situation recently uncovered by Cathryn Magenheimer, a long-time Civil Service Employees Assn. activist who works for the Long Island State Park and Recreation Commission.

It seems Ms. Magenheimer decided to move to North Carolina for reasons of health after retirement, and then found out that because New York State does not have a reciprocity agreement with other states, retirees' pensions are taxable elsewhere although tax-exempt here.

State Senator Owen H. Johnson (R-4th SD, Nassau-Suffolk) is sponsoring a bill (Senate Bill 10295) to rectify the situation.

The Legislative session is fast coming to a close, so public employees who intend to retire within the next year had better get those letters and telegrams off to their legislators while there is still a chance for action on the bill this session.

Don't Repeat This!

within a month after his removal as Governor that he would be elected as a member of the State Assembly.

Governor Sulzer was a remarkable man. He was barely 30 when he was elected Speaker of the Assembly. Thereafter, he was elected to the House of Representatives and by 1912, at the age of 50, he was chairman of the prestigious House Foreign Affairs Committee. As a Congressman, he was the author of the law that established the U.S. Department of Labor; he was a key element in obtaining American recognition of the Republic of China, and he pushed through Congress an anti-Czarist Russia law because of oppression there of the Jewish people.

Proclaimed Independence

As a member of Tammany Hall, Sulzer became the Tammany candidate for Governor, was nominated by the Democrats, and elected in November 1912. However, Sulzer promptly proclaimed his independence of Tammany, denied the organization patronage and sponsored the direct primary law, which would have deprived Tammany of its power to nominate candidates for public office. This brought Sulzer into conflict with Charles Murphy, the leader of Tammany, and Murphy's two powerful lieutenants, the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who was then the Assembly Speaker, and the late U.S. Senator Robert F. Wagner, who was then the State Senate Majority Leader. Depending upon which paper was read in 1913, Smith and Wagner were charged with dirty politics or performing a public service.

At a special session of the Legislature called by Governor Sulzer on July 23, the Legislature authorized a joint legislative committee to investigate financing in Sulzer's campaign for Governor. That committee reported to the Legislature on Aug. 11. Thereafter, on the morning of Aug. 13, at 5 a.m., the Assembly, with 79 favorable votes, approved the adoption of articles of impeachment against the Governor. Twenty-six Assemblymen were absent and 40 voted against impeachment.

In some respects, the impeachment of Governor Sulzer raises issues that may set a precedent for events now taking place in Washington. Sulzer reported a total of $5,700 in campaign contributions against evidence that campaign receipts were well over $60,000. He was charged with using campaign contributions to engage in excess of $40,000 of currency transactions in Wall Street speculations. He was charged with inducing his intimate advisers from testifying in response to subpoenas issued by the investigating committee. He was further charged with blackmailing two Assemblymen by threatening to veto their bills unless they agreed to support legislation sponsored by the Governor.

Court Of Impeachment

As the Senate Majority Leader, Wagner convened the Court of Impeachment, which consisted of the State Senate and the Court of Appeals. As Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, Judge Edgar M. Cullen became the

A Duty To Negotiate

In a recent improper practice case, a teachers' union charged the school board with a violation of Section 209-a.1(d) of the Civil Service Law, alleging that the Board abolished eight teaching positions and refused to negotiate with the charging party as to the impact of such action.

The Board of Education admitted it had abolished the positions. It defended the allegation that it had committed an improper practice by pointing out that no clear demand for negotiation had been made; that the jobs were abolished during the contract when no negotiations were in progress, and finally, the Board had made a determination that there was no impact on the terms and conditions of employment of the remaining teachers.

The decision to abolish the eight positions was made by Board resolution dated May 30, 1973, effective July 1, 1973. Following that decision, the respondent offered other vacant and different teaching positions with the same salaries to all of the affected teachers. It was testified on behalf of the respondent that there were no changes in the hours of employment, lunch hours, preparation period, or any other term and condition of employment of the remaining teachers covered by the contract.

The charging party testified that there were a number of areas in which the duties and responsibilities of the remaining teachers were significantly changed by the reduction in staff.

THE HEARING OFFICER found that the respondent had a continuing duty to negotiate during the existence of the contract with respect to terms and conditions of employment not covered by the contract. The hearing officer also decided that even if the respondent unilaterally determined that there was no effect on the teachers, that if the charging party does not agree, the question of whether or not there has been an impact becomes an issue to be resolved through the negotiation process.

He concluded, therefore, that the respondent had an obligation to negotiate with the charging party concerning the impact of its decision to eliminate teaching positions, including the question of whether or not there was any impact on the remaining teachers. New Bill Extends Veterans Benefits

WASHINGTON — Legislation to extend from eight to ten years the period during which veterans may qualify for educational benefits was introduced by Rep. Mario Biaggi (N.Y.) last week.

"The urgency of this legislation is dictated by the fact that almost 300,000 veterans stand to have their educational benefits expire on May 21, 1974, unless this extension is granted," he said.

Although this extension was included in House-passed legislation, major differences between the House and Senate over other provisions of the bill makes it appear unlikely that the issue can be resolved before May 31.

Presiding Judge of the Court of Impeachment.

After a month of hearings, taking of testimony and argument of counsel, the Court of Impeachment found Governor Sulzer guilty of blackmailing Assemblymen and guilty of inducing his subordinates to refuse to testify before the investigating committee. The Court of Impeachment acquitted him of filing false campaign reports because those acts were done while Sulzer "was not in office."

The Court of Impeachment voted to remove Sulzer from his office as Governor. However, on the motion of Senator Wagner, Sulzer was not disqualified from holding further public office on the theory that this was a matter to be left to the discretion of the voters. So Sulzer ran for the Assembly the following month and he was elected.

Sulzer Removed

When Sulzer was removed, he was automatically succeeded by Gov. Martin H. Glynn. As Senate Majority Leader, Wagner became the acting Lieutenant Governor.

Sulzer was tall, attractive, an excellent public speaker, with a patriot's bearing that contrasted with his populist instincts. During the period that he served as Governor, the Executive Mansion was open to anyone in Albany who wished to partake of his hospitality. He left the Mansion surrounded by his loyal followers in what might be described as a parade of triumph.

Letters To The Editor

Letters To Prison Firefighter Defends Right To Dissent

Editor, The Leader:

In the face of our massive and often unresponsive bureaucratic system, many people feel helpless in effecting a measure of change. But individuals can help and are helping, by reaching other individuals and providing hope.

Many prison inmates spend years—some their entire terms of incarceration—without getting any mail. To work on this problem of isolation and try to build greater understanding on both sides of the bars, the Fortune Society last year established a correspondence program. Matching inmates with interested and concerned civilians, we now have over 6,000 people involved.

We still have over 500 inmates waiting to be matched with someone in the free world, and the number grows daily.

If you are interested in exchanging letters with an inmate, please write: Correspondence, The Fortune Society, 29 East 22nd Street, New York, N. Y.

GORDON BARNHART
The Fortune Society

Editor, The Leader:

Mr. T. J. Shea's recent resentment to my letter and his statement that I presume to interfere with the internal affairs of the Uniformed Firefighters Assn. could not be more childish or unacceptable, since, obviously, he does not know the facts.

At the end of December 1973, I received, in the mail, a letter together with a column from a civil service paper.

The letter, dated Dec. 26, 1973, on UFA letterhead and over the name and signature of Richard J. Vizzini, President, stated: "obviously wrote the article as an objective professional analysis . . ." and concluded with "your thoughts on this matter are requested, either through communication with this union, or through any public statement you may wish to make."

Now, if you don't want the apples, don't shake the tree.

Mr. Vizzini had already received a copy of my letter before it was published in The Leader.

If Mr. Shea thinks I have lost touch, perhaps he should inquire of his president as to how many times I was their principal witness at arbitration, and how many such procedures they won.

As for "wrong information," let him realize that all I have is public facts.

Furthermore, he should realize that dissent does not have to be disruptive, or destructive, and although the majority may not always be right, when he and I took the oath of office as an executive board member, we swore to uphold the majority, and this I am trying to do with my writing.

Urges Reciprocity On Pension Taxes

Editor, The Leader:

I call attention to Senate Bill 10295 "to amend the New York State tax law in relation to exemption of pensions paid by foreign states from personal income tax, under reciprocal agreements."

This bill was introduced by Senator Owen H. Johnson of the Fourth District (Nassau-Suffolk), N.Y., at my suggestion on account of the following personal experience:

Because of the reasons of health, I am planning to retire to the western part of North Carolina in the fall. I was curious as to whether or not my state pension, which is exempt from state income tax in New York, would be exempt from North Carolina state taxes. I was advised by its Department of Revenue that it would not be exempt because of the absence of a reciprocal agreement between New York and North Carolina. North Carolina, however, does have such agreements with states such as Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Hawaii, and others and thus exempts state pensions of former employees and teachers of said states.

Thereupon, since in the absence of such legislation, New York State employees and teachers are penalized if they find they must, for reasons of health or otherwise, settle in another state upon retirement, I wrote Senator Johnson asking that he introduce legislation that would correct this inequity. His bill No. 10295 is the result.

The legislative session is soon coming to a close and we hope that this bill will pass. At my latest check, the bill is in the Tax Committee; and Assemblyman Robert C. Wertz of the Fourth District (Nassau-Suffolk) N.Y., wrote me that he has consulted with Senator Johnson and that he "will certainly be most happy to co-sponsor this measure in the Assembly . . ."

For their own sake, New York State employees and teachers should write immediately to their representatives urging them to push this bill through to passage during this legislative session.

Mr. Grossfield read a communique from the Office of the Executive Deputy Industrial Commission in which it was stated that as of Jan. 11, 1974, all intradepartmental permanent and contingent permanent promotions are subject to the same 12-week probationary period as interdepartmental (and inter-institutional) promotions.

A motion was made by James Moore, president of Utica State Hospital chapter, and passed by the delegates, that Headquarters Research staff look into ways of having this edict revised. Mr. Grossfield also suggested an intense letter-writing campaign.

Election Procedure

CSEA was "reaffirming our support" of its original bill.

However, at Leader presstime, a still newer version of legislation to include Waterfront Commission employees under the Taylor Law was rumored to be gathering support. It reportedly offered an alternative arrangement whereby the agency could either establish its own collective bargaining procedures by a stipulated deadline, or if it failed to do so, automatically come under the Taylor Law—a kind of compromise plan to which it was apparently felt the Legislature would be more receptive.

benefits to June 30, 1976—continue to June 30, 1975, the right of local government employees to negotiate for more liberal retirement plans available within the present system—and grant certain other benefits.

In the area of supplemental pension benefits, a new bill has replaced the original CSEA-proposed legislation and, although the new measure falls short of what the original would have provided, CSEA felt its chances looked "hopeful" and was supporting it.

A bill to implement a recent CSEA-negotiated pay raise for the commissioned officers bargaining unit of the State Police "appears to be favorably received by the Legislature," the report said, adding that passage is expected.

The report itself was not overly encouraging regarding the fate of the Waterfront Commission issue, noting that, again, a later form of the bill had surfaced which included a provision on an unrelated matter which was totally unacceptable to CSEA. Along with launching strong opposition to this bill,

Pension Danger Seen In Ruling

POUGHKEEPSIE—John Famelette, president of the Poughkeepsie School District's Non-Teaching Civil Service Employees Assn. and chairman of the unit's political action committee, believes members of the State Legislature should take action to offset a recent State Court of Appeals decision that could injure retirement and pension benefits for state employees.

Mr. Famelette cites a recent decision throwing out a state law that permitted three cities to exclude payments for retirement and pension benefits from their constitutional debt limits.

He believes the decision will affect many small cities throughout the state and if carried out it could seriously undermine pension and retirement benefits.

Mr. Famelette and Gary Marquette, co-chairman of the chapter's political action committee, urged all CSEA members and state residents to send letters and telegrams to the Governor and members of the Legislature informing them of the seriousness of the situation and asking that they do something about it. Mr. Famelette has also notified the CSEA executive director in Albany "regarding this serious situation and its threatening possibilities."

"As a past president of Dutchess County Educational Chapter, I urge all members of school chapters and units to write or telegraph Governor Wilson because this matter is grave and concerns all of us all over the state," Mr. Famelette said.

Dobstaff Cited On Retirement

WEST SENECA—Robert Dobstaff, who organized the West Seneca Town chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., retired recently from his town job but remains as chapter president.

Mr. Dobstaff and three other town retirees were honored at a dinner at which William Mc-

ROBERT DOBSTAFF

Gowan, Western Region CSEA president, was toastmaster.

Victor Marr, chairman of the region's county organization, presented watches to Mr. Dobstaff; Dolores Peterson, a clerk for 14 years; Howard Earsing, a dog warden for 13 years, and John Muehlbauer, a custodian for 14 years.

Mr. Dobstaff also has been first vice-president of the Erie chapter, CSEA, for 14 years.

Albany Group To Pick Slate

ALBANY—The Albany Retirees chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., has selected a nominating committee to choose a slate of officers to serve one-year terms.

Blanche Wright, chapter president, who conducted the meeting, said it was decided to do this rather than to extend the terms of the present officers until the summer of 1975.

The membership met at Luizi's Restaurant, Albany, for their April meeting.

Among the featured speakers, statewide executive vice-president Thomas McDonough discussed unionism, and Albany Region secretary Nonie Kepner Johnson spoke on the new Region office and the work of the Albany downtown committee.

Mary Weidman gave a convention report.

APPRECIATION TIME — Margaret Cyrus, retiring after 31 years of service to the state, is honored at a dinner at the Jamaican Restaurant, Manhattan. Here, William A. Gaines, director of the Bushwick Community Rehabilitation Center, Brooklyn, presents her with a citation and a gold watch from her fellow employees. For the last several years she worked with the Drug Abuse Control Commission, and before that for the Department of Mental Hygiene.

Probation Meeting

ROCHESTER—The Statewide Committee to Study Probation, Civil Service Employees Assn., has scheduled an open meeting for 7 p.m. May 20 at the Flagship Hotel, 70 State St., Rochester. All probation officers from the following counties are urged to attend: Allegany, Livingston, Monroe, Ontario, Orleans, Steuben, Wayne and Yates.

Prob Officers Air W'chester Woes

(From Leader Correspondent)

EAST MEADOW—Major problems of understanding and lagging salaries for probation officers in Westchester County were spotlighted at a downstate hearing here by the Statewide Committee to Study Probation.

The hearing drew a strong delegation from Westchester consisting of one-third of the county's 70-member staff of probation officers.

Their leader, Westchester chapter third vice-president John Whalen, reported that the county was lagging behind in salaries while caseloads were mounting. James Brady, chairman of the special committee on probation, indicated he was seeking to schedule a hearing in Westchester.

"Westchester seems to be out of synch with the other counties," said Nels Carlson, staff coordinator with the committee.

The Westchester delegation reported that the caseload has risen to 85 supervision cases and seven or eight investigation cases per man, while the caseload in Nassau was 60.

In addition, promotional opportunities are limited by the fact that there are only three titles in the department, compared to seven in Nassau.

Also, they said, the salary scale was once among the highest in the state but has slipped far down the list. Starting pay, they said, is about $4,000 below the scale for state employees with comparable duties.

Long Island Region president Irving Flaumenbaum opened the meeting by commending the committee for its extensive schedule of on-the-spot hearings.

The committee had earlier found "shocking" treatment of probation officers in Onondaga County.

Mr. Carlson said the hearings were pointing up inequities that the state should remedy.

"Since the state pays 50 percent of the costs of probation services, the state is the 'silent partner' with the counties," he declared. "We're tired of the state being more silent than partner, and we expect the state to mandate consistent and equitable practices." The problems, he indicated, must be faced not only by Westchester Probation Director Raymond C. Rieger, but also by State Probation Director Walter Dunbar.

Millbrook Bd. Nixes Aides

MILLBROOK—The Millbrook School Board has rejected a request of teacher and library aides to join with other civil service employees now represented by the Millbrook Central School unit, Dutchess County Educational chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn.

Gene Klein, unit president, and Frank Grubel, a unit officer, called the board's action "unfortunate," and said, "The function of the union is to give representation to all civil service employees who ask for it, without question; freedom of decision is a constitutional right."

The unit turned the matter over to CSEA headquarters in Albany for further action.

Washington Picks Defabio & Wilson

HUDSON FALLS—The Washington County chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. has a new secretary and a new delegate to CSEA's statewide board of directors.

Recently appointed as chapter secretary is Martha Wilson from the Cambridge School District.

The newly appointed delegate who will represent the Washington County chapter on the CSEA board of directors is Frank Difabio, an employee of the Greenwich School District.

Petitions Make It 4-Way Race For Suffolk Leader

SMITHTOWN—A total of 28 names will appear on the ballot for the Suffolk chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., following withdrawals and a series of petitioned nominations.

The ballot, which is to be mailed out May 13, leads off with four candidates for president: James Corbin, Peter D'Albert, Jr., Ewa Reid and Arthur Wegman.

Donald Gallerani, who had been nominated by the chapter nominating committee, declined to run. Mr. Wegman had also been nominated by the committee, while Mr. D'Albert, Ms. Reid and Mr. Corbin were successful in having their names added to the ballot by turning in petitions.

Running for other posts are: First vice-president — George Harrington, Felix Livingston, William Arthur and John DeSola.

Second vice-president—Thomas Kennedy, Roy Deale and Frank J. Parker.

Fourth vice-president—Lillian Pully and Fred Macchiaroli.

Fifth vice-president — Hank Pactow and Edward J. Valder.

Treasurer—Dorothy Goetz and Charlotte E. Walsh.

Executive representative — John Bogack and Edward J. Valder. Mr. Valder had been nominated for executive representative but submitted petitions for fifth vice-president and the nominating committee left the name in the executive representative slot rather than leave one candidate unopposed and deprive the membership of the choice.

Corresponding secretary—Barbara Rotunna and Frank Locorriere.

Recording secretary—Patricia Rotunna and Frank Locorriere.

Recording secretary — Patricia Cruz and Mercedes J. Koslosky.

Sgt.-at-arms — Eugene Cockshutt and Louis Morici.

LOCKPORT DOT DANCE

LOCKPORT — Lockport Department of Transportation chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., will gather for a dinner-dance May 11 at Pekin Fire Hall, Lockport. Cocktails will be from 6 p.m. and dinner from 7 p.m. Tickets are $3 per couple and no charge for retirees.

PLEA FOR LETTERS — Harold Krangle, standing at desk, president of the Waterfront Commission chapter, CSEA, discusses bills before the Legislature to amend the Taylor Law to extend provisions to bistrate employees. The chapter met at 260 Hudson St., Manhattan.
