JUNIOR NEWS

PET SHOW ARRANGED

Milne Junior High is planning to hold a pet show some afternoon in the near future.

Parents are requested to bring the pets to school for the pupils at two o'clock. Pets of all kinds will be welcome, but none, however cute, will be allowed to attend school.

The assembly committee, consisting of Janet Clark, John Hawkins, and Robert Wheeler, is in charge of the show.

GIRLS' SPORTS CHANGE PROGRAM

The girls' sports schedule has had to be changed for lack of a place to play basket ball.

The ninth grade basketball practice will be held on Monday and Wednesday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:10 instead of Tuesday and Thursday.

Instruction in life saving will be given on Thursday afternoons at 4:30 instead of on Monday.

BULLETIN BOARDS WHERE ARE THEY?

Students have been wondering about the location of the different bulletin boards. To settle any difficulty, here is a list of "what and where."

Junior High bulletin board - first floor by front entrance.

History bulletin board- first floor by auditorium entrance.

Senior High bulletin board -second floor.

Latin bulletin board - third floor.

STUDENTS MAY PETITION FOR FACULTY ASSEMBLY

All the assemblies for the first semester are filled, both Tuesday and Thursday, John Hawkins announced in Student Council meeting. He said that this year, the supervisors may be asked to put on an assembly. A petition is being considered for that purpose.

CAST OF CHRISTMAS PLAY IS ANNOUNCED

The cast for the Christmas play, "Bimbo the Pirate," which is under the direction of Miss Ruth Reiner, has been chosen. The play will be given on December 17, in the Page Hall Auditorium.

According to Miss Reiner, director, and Miss Conklin, supervisor of English, the following cast has been chosen:

| | | |
|----------|-------|---------------|
| Robert | ----- | John Hawkins |
| Lydia | ----- | Marjorie Pond |
| Gunner | ----- | Erastus Davis |
| Bimbo | ----- | Wilson Hume |
| Driscoll | ----- | Herbert Marx |

The time and place of rehearsals will be posted on the Junior High bulletin board.

CHEER LEADER TRYOUTS ARE TODAY

Tryouts for assistant cheerleader will be held today at 2:00 in room 135. Both boys and girls of the eighth grade may try out.

The people assisting this year will become the cheer leaders of next year.

There are places for two regular boy cheer leaders. It is requested that these boys be ninth graders.

NEEDLECRAFT CLUB PLANS PARTY

The Needlecraft Club has elected their officers for the term. They are president, Jean Best; secretary, Susan Poole; and reporter, Miriam Fround.

They have been making plans for Thanksgiving party. The refreshment committee is Jane Phinney and Harriet Gordon. Susan Poole and Doris Welsh are on the entertainment committee.

Everyone in the club is working on some definite project such as knitting, crocheting, and embroidery. The sponsors of the club are Miss Unger and Miss Cunningham.

LOST - NOW FOUND

PAY YOUR STUDENT TAX

Your student tax is needed! Parades, basketball games, the excursion, the murals in the library, and money for your clubs, all come out of it.

The latest date on which you can pay your tax is December 3. It would help the Student Council with their budget if you would pay it before that date.

Out of all the homerooms in Milne Junior High, there is not one with 100% student tax paid. Are you the "Piker" that's keeping your homeroom from having its tax 100% paid?

MILNITES AND BROKEN WINDOWS

Smash! Bang! Crash! Forty feet rush down the hall but only find another broken window. That makes two in one week! Oh, well, Milnites are noted for this "fad." Two janitors walk leisurely up the hall, armed with dust pans and brooms. They are just waiting for the next crash.

We've earned the name of "window breakers." Let's fool them and be careful. At least, we can try to keep glass on our classroom doors. After all, "It's papa who pays."

CHARACTER SKETCH SOLUTION

For last week's "Character Sketch" solution was Shirley Baldwin. The first in each homeroom, as handed in, were; Lois Nesbit 124, Jack Crawford 130, Harriet Gordon 127, Carl French 121, Louise Rothmund 129, and Evelyn Wilbur 227.

(Note. Character sketch will appear next week.)

ARE WE GOING TO THE DOGS?

Or is Einstein's Theory wrong? Last Friday morning just before eight a little brown dog managed to get through our estimable portals.

Was he looking for the Latin room, or was it just all Greek to him? We cannot answer that one; for when the dog was asked, he just said sadly, "It's a long tale." When we asked him what it was about, he only turned around and said, "I couldn't tale you," and then walked away. All at once, he put on full speed and dashed for the back door (he must have seen an algebra teacher).

As the old saying goes, "Out of our midst stepped a hero." Out of our midst stepped "Radical Robert" Gale, who gallantly stood at the doorway to help get rid of our pup. It was a wise old doggie, for the moment he saw "Radical Robert" he turned tail and ran the other way (nor do we blame him).

After much commotion, Puppy finally took the hint and left. I believe he was looking for money because I heard someone say that he (the doggie) was on the (s)cent of knowledge, a fact which further proves Ixnay's simplified theory of the Gold Standard.

BOOK REVIEW

"PEARL LAGOON"

A young California boy goes on a long voyage with his uncle down to the South Sea Islands to hunt for pearls.

They reach a cove, and the divers begin their search. The only trouble they experience is caused by the sharks, which often kill the natives.

There is a spectacular fight between a native woman and a huge shark, during which she stays under water over four minutes without breathing.

The boy and his uncle collect many pearls and return successfully.

This is a book which boys will like.

CAN YOU IMAGINE

- 1. Not having any algebra or English homework for one night?
2. A good attendance at a basketball game when there is no dance afterward?
