PLEASE TURN OUT

About every week the Milne basketball team ventures or stays on the home court to play an opposing high school. The pupils of Milne are expected to turn out and support the team. There are cheer leaders there ready to cheer, but there isn't anyone to cheer with them. How can you account for this? If you have not already made too many New Year resolutions I suggest that you resolve to come to all the home games, and if possible go to the games at the high schools away.

Tonight Milne will venture to Renssclaer to play Rensselaer High School. Let's support them and turn out a victory.

IMPORTANT FOR EIGHTH GRADERS

You know that next year one of you may be editor of this newspaper. You will be responsible for getting out a good Junior High paper. You will have to know quite a bit about writing and managing a paper. After being in Milne for a year and a half you know that this is true.

Yet there is not one eighth grader on the newspaper staff. Without exper-ience you will not be able to have a good newspaper every week.

semester The beginning of next gives you a grand opportunity to join the newspaper club and get experience for next year.

LOST AND FOUND

The following articles are in the Found Department: 1 white compact, 1 gold plate ring--initials A S, 1 black glove, 1 silver chain with cross, many pens and pencils, 3 key holders with keys, many keys, 1 circle compass, 1 silver bracelet with name Dinne, and Mathematics of Everylay Life.

The New Year has been welcomed in and with it the always present New Year resolutions. Here are some of our own students' resolutions. Marilyn Potter-not do diet in a day again. Tommy Dyerto grow up. Dr. Fredericks -- (he's made this one annually, so he says, and it's broken after the first week)-In every way, every day, to go slower. Arthur Ferguson's resolution is not to date tirls this year. We wonder if he keeps this? Jean Hevenor's resolution is already broken as "he" is back, but here it is. "Not to talk so much in English cless, until 'he' rets back." Joyce Standon's is not to eat so much candy. Laura Fay Dancy is not going to make any more New Year's resolutions. We hope all these resolutions will last and everyone will have a very happy New Year.

REMEMBER WHEN?

- - - - -

- Lois Ambler and Guy Child were picked as the "cutest couple" at one of our Junior High dances? Another prize should have been offered for the "forgotten man," Lo's original escort.
- That thrilling assembly when all our beautiful leas were broken and a campaign manager was elected president of the Senior High Student Council?
- Two, now ninth graders, tried to outdo each other in sending girl friends flowers? One of the girls couldn't wear the evening dress she had intended to, because the flowers did not match.
- Those "beautiful" pictures that were taken so we, the students of Milne, could see how we looked after eating a lemon?
- Mock marriages and Woolworth wedding rings were the fashion? If they had been real, Reno would have been kept busy later on.
- fIf there ever was such a time) when boys of Milne called taxis to escort their girl friends to the school af-fairs? Now they bring an umbrella when it rains.

LHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF ---

- --Bert Freedman walked home from school? --Flossie H. didn't ask so many questions?
- --John Wilson didn't play "hookey?"
- --Dick Shepard didn't throw spitballs?
- --Lois Katusky woren't always fighting with Bob Ball?
- -- The Junior Crimson and White increased its staff? ---The Magazine found a name?
- --Everyone came to school on Nev Year's day?
- --Gerald Plunkett and Ethel Baldwon -skipped a day and dimn't have an ice cream cone?
- --Marion Horton published some of her "poems?"
- --Claude Vagner danced in dancing club? --Jim McClure didn't try to be funny?
